THERE is a noticeable falling off in the number of visitors at the White House.

MR. J. C. ELLINGTON, Raleigh, is elected State Librarian to succeed Mr. J. C. Birdsong.

IT has been arranged that Charles M. Basbee is to have the Raleigh postoffice.

THREE men are soon to leave Asheville in a boat, on the way to the World's Fair.

THERE was no truth in the report that President Cleveland intended to boycott the press.

THERE is little doubt that the Noranic has been lost at sea with many first class passengers aboard.

ALL the prominent officials in the Treasury Department have tendered their resignations to Secretary Carlisle.

A special election for a member of the New York Senate, who will serve but a few days will cost, $43,000. Doubtless more than the fellow is worth.

COULD Be Spared.—The famous watch-dog of the Treasury is not in any of the canine shows. He might as well be there's nothing to watch in the Treasury.

THE Baltimore Manufacturers' Record reports new industries established in the South for the week ending March 10th representing an aggregate investment of over $2,500,000.

IF the President and Mr. Carlisle succeed in rehabilitating the Treasury without increasing the taxes or continuing the customs duties for sometime to come, they will establish their fame as statesmen of the first order.—Norfolk Landmark.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has withdrawn from the Senate the Hawaiian treaty placed before that body by President Harrison. This indicates that he is not in favor of that treaty, but he may think that he can propose a better one.—Richmond Dispatch.

We don't want to scare anybody, but the Richmond States reports forty physicians of that city interviewed, as expressing the opinion that cholera would visit this country this year. Forewarned is forearmed.

A New Orleans man has secured the adoption of a gate invented and patented by him to be used at the World's Fair. There will be about seven hundred of these gates which take care of themselves, take the tickets from those who enter, register the number that pass, stamp and back the ticket so it can't be used again. According to a New Orleans paper, it is a gate that will do almost anything but talk. The inventor may yet hitch a telephone to it and make it do that.

LOCAL NEWS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Howard, Wanted Fifty good men.

N. Whitford—Beef and sausage.

Gladstone, about whose illness some anxiety was felt, is better.

The Y. M. C. A. gymnasium class will meet at 8:30 o'clock to night.

A violent snow storm in the northwest has blocked travel and caused considerable suffering and some deaths.

Mr. J. J. Wolfenden's lost watch advertisement in the JOURNAL has been recovered through the joint work of the advertisement and the efforts of City Marshal Hargett.

The Auction sale of the late Mrs. S. J. Dudley's furniture was very well attended yesterday and the articles as a rule brought good prices, yet as in all auctions some bargains were made.

The Carnegie Company has decided to give colored laborers first chance in its works in preference to foreigners, 250 arrived from the South Monday, and the managers expect nearly a thousand in a month.

Mr. Jacob Gooding has gotten in and arranged a good portion of his stock in the store near the Baptist church formerly known as the Green Front Novelty Store in which he is commencing a drug business again.

Mr. Thos. O'Shea, who has charge of National Cemetery, is adding a large number of evergreens to further beautify the grounds. There are about thirty varieties, nearly all of which are new to this section and are said to be very handsome.

The first issue of "Our Fatherless Ones" is at hand. It is the newspaper representative of the Presbyterian Orphans Home, Barium Springs, N. C. It is a readable four-page semi-monthly paper published at the very low price of 50 cts. a year.

Messrs. M. Hahn & Co. have received a shipment of mules over the N. N. & W. Line and expect two car loads from the West in a few days. Doesn't these constant large arrivals of horses and mules look as though there is a fine opportunity for some of our business men raising more stock.

The grading of Broad street from Hancock to Craven streets will soon be finished. The work is now in progress in front of the court house. The street being somewhat high there a pretty good quantity is being taken away. The removed shells and soil are being used to elevate the low part of Craven street near Col. J. D. Whitford's residence.

Miss L. Custis residence, at the foot of Pollock street caught on fire last night from a burning chimney, and the fire had got a pretty good hold on the roof before it was discovered. It was extinguished by Mr. J. M. Howard who gallantly permitted himself to be shoved through the scuttle hole by councilman Ellis, and then worked his way to a point where he could throw water on it from buckets handed to him.

Roebuck sold at $3.95 a pair yesterday. Those of our citizens who purchase fine ones at 50 cents a piece may be puzzled to account for this. It was simply competition between dealers to secure possession of a lot of shad, which were nearly all bucks. A price was agreed on for them and the question as to which dealer should get the load turned on the point of who would pay the most for the scant proportion of roebuck; hence the running of the price up to such a fancy figure.

The Stock Market.

The year of 1893 has started out with fine prospects for still further development of New Berne as a point for distributing stock, not only in this and surrounding counties but supplying fine bred horses at a distance.

Messrs. M. Hahn & Co. have just shipped a blooded bay to a gentleman in Raleigh and only a few days ago disposed of three more splendid animals to a party living in Grifton.

Our other dealers, Messrs. Stewart, Street and Jones, are go ahead business men and it is through their effort that purchasers of stock are attracted here and New Berne made known as an exceptionally good place to select horses and mules for all the various requirements—farm teams, roadsters, saddlers, race horses, etc. There is scarcely no time during the year that these dealers do not have large numbers on hand to meet the demand, and their being liberal advertisers and men with plenty of push, accounts for the building up of this line of business.

Coming and Going.

Hon. W. T. Caho returned home on the steamer Neuse, of the E. C. D. Line.

Mr. J. Y. Gosler, a prominent lumber dealer of Philadelphia, came in on the steamer Neuse on a business trip.

The Neuse also brought in the following passengers: From Norfolk, L. Pumphrey, Mr. and Mrs. Walton and Mrs. Washington; from Elizabeth City, Geo. Evans and W. A. Russell; from Roanoke Island, Fisher Hyler and Dr. Van Dyke.

Miss Lucy Hishon left on the steamer Neuse for northern markets to purchase a spring stock of millinery for H. B. Duffy.

Mr. J. E. Borden left on the steamer Neuse for a pleasure trip to Elizabeth City, and to visit relatives in Berkley, Va.

Senator Parrott, of Lenoir spent the day in the city yesterday.

Messrs. H. A. Whiting and F. B. Morse of the E. C. L. & R. R. company are in the city.

A Fox Shot in the City.

There was a fox hunt in the city yesterday. Sir Reynard was discovered and killed in the yards of New Berne Lumber Company, centrally located and one of the most thickly settled portions of the water front. Mr. J. S. Basnight brought him down with a Flobert rifle after an exciting little chase, participated in by Messrs. Basnight, C. L. Hall and J. E. Borden of the mill and some of their friends among whom was Mr. J. L. Gosler of Philadelphia who was at the mill on business at the time.

The fox has been seen in the vicinity of the mill at intervals for two or three years past, but he has not been hunted before. He was fat, indicating that he had been faring well.

This is not the first instance of game around the mill—rabbits have repeatedly been seen there, also musk rats. Two opossums have been killed there and some 25 or 30 wild ducks were killed in the log pond during the cold weather.

How come the mill to have so large a share of game. Is friend Basnight keeping a menagerie and aviary in his hollow logs and are the animals and birds that have been killed in the yard and water about it, some that have come out from them for an airing.

Candy Stew This Afternoon.

The C. G. V. Society, of the Presbyterian church, will have a candy stew this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the residence of Miss Louise Dennison's a pleasant place for the young people to gather, and there will doubtless be a merry company there—the more the better. Admission and a large plate of candy, 10 cents.

The Naval Reserve.

Editor New Berne JOURNAL.

Dear Sir:—My attention has been called to several paragraphs in the Current which, probably unintentionally, reflect upon the military organization known as the Naval Reserve. Reflections of this character are at all times unjust and at this juncture untrue. The Naval Reserve is formally and officially part of the state guard and its members regularly enlisted and its officers regularly commissioned by the Governor. The organization is thus subject to the orders of the commander-in-chief as any other company of the guard. Should it be officially called upon for active service anywhere, its members will respond to the call, and should such a call be made the people of New Berne, will, in the opinion of the undersigned, have no cause to be ashamed of the efficiency of the company or the conduct of its members. Respectfully yours,

F. WRENLOW, Lieut. Com'd'g. 5th Div. Naval Art'y N. C. S. C.

Burn the Trash.

EDITOR JOURNAL.—Good roads, is a subject just now receiving musical attention, and the surprise is, that the general public so long neglected such an important matter, skin to this, is the keeping of the public streets of a city neat and clean, every citizen and especially every citizen and especially every merchant, ought to have local pride enough to suggest the propriety of not throwing paper boxes and refuse matter in the streets to be carried hither and thither by every gust of wind.

The cleanliness of a town is an index of the dwellers therein, and there is no use in waiting until an epidemic invades a place and then begin a spasmodic effort to do what ought to have been done before such invasion.

Cremation is the remedy in the case of papers, etc., and the city authorities ought to rigidly enforce such rules and regulations as will secure this most desirable condition.

Respectfully,

Magistrates of Craven County, Present and Past.

The appointment of magistrates for this county by our recent legislature, calls to mind the appointment of similar officers for the "Precinct of Craven," by Gov. George Burrington and Council, sitting at Edenton, on the 20th of May, 1781. After a lapse of 162 years names of many of them are still known among us, and the lineal descendants of some of them are with us to this day. Their names and the order for their appointment are as follows:

"Ordered, That a commission of the peace issue for the Precinct of Craven, directed to Capt. Wm. Hancock, Capt. Daniel Shine, Thomas Martin, John Powell, Capt. Thomas Masters, Jacob Miller, Jacob Sheets, Martin Frank, John Foville, Jr., Wm. Brice, Simon Bright, Geo. Whitaker and Walter Lane, constituting and appointing them Justice of the Peace within the said Precinct." (Colonial records, Vol. 3, p. 244.)

At that time there were but two counties, so called, in the Province of North Carolina, viz: Albemarle and Bath. Albemarle county included all the region north of the sound of that name, and the present counties of Washington and Tyrrell, while Bath took in the remainder of the settled portion of the Province to the line of South Carolina. Chatham on and south of the Cape Fear river seems never to have been erected into a county. These counties were divided into several Precincts corresponding in jurisdiction, and to some extent in outline, with our present counties which have retained the names of the Precincts. In 1788 the Precincts themselves were made counties, and the old use of the term was abandoned.

In 1733 the same Justices, or most of them, were reappointed, and added to them are the familiar names of John Slocomb, John Bryan, Cornelius Loftin, and James Green.

In the General Assembly that convened at Edenton on the 6th of November, 1794, Craven was represented by Walter Lane and Daniel Shine, while New Berne, which was then entitled to separate representation, sent Mr. S. Powell to care for her interests. G. D.

A VALENTINE FOR BIG IKE.

Oh charming Big Ike I send you a letter, Expressing the wish to know you much better.

Its nothing in rhyme concerning the times Or your dealing in lineas and fancy trappings.

But I have noticed the poets who write in your praise, Says nothing of cupid or his charming ways, They tell you of Bargains, and how to make money, But you need love to cheer you, on life's sad journey.

Now be it my task to ask if your heart, Has ever been pierced by cupid's dart, Or is there a chance sometime in your life, For some nice little girl to become your wife.

Just try to imagine, oh charming Big Ike,

A dear little home and fireside bright, Where some one's waiting, with smiles so sweet, To welcome Big Ike from down the street.

Then you will see with girlish glee, She saucily sits herself on your knee, And tells you the news of the G's and the B's, And with a love of a bonnet, she bought of Mrs. D.

Then she will sing to you, soft and low, Of those who died for love long ago, And now that your curls are the color of gold,

Her love is as true, as the North Star to the Pole.

Then Noble Big Ike you look solemn and wise, When she tells of the Bargains at Holland & Ives, Of ribbons and laces both stylish and any size, Can be bought at H. B. Duffy's and O. Marks' likewise.

Oh charming Big Ike, if you should want a wife, Just write me a Billet deaux, I'm yours for life, I have no one to love me, but the man in the moon, Unless in your Big heart, you will give me room.

Or should you prefer my photo to see, Just say the word I'll hasten with glee To make myself sweet for charming Big Ike, In the latest from Redfern, Worth and Levite.

And how shall I say it, Oh charming Big Ike, You promised a prize, to those who would write, Of telling the story of renown and glory That justly belongs to New Berne's Big Ike.

I have not said a word about bargains, Where all the good people may find clothing and fashions, But I've told of a home and love that awaits you, If you will write me a letter, and say you will be true.

Oh, charming Big Ike what more can I say, Its St. Valentines eve and you far away I shall give up in despair to touch your hard heart, Unless naughty Cupid will take a girl's part.

Now hoping, Big Ike to hear from you soon,

Through the JOURNAL or mail either will do;

Just address your letter to Katie Melvine, And I am for life your Valentine.

This was written on St. Valentines day—unavoidable circumstances prevented its being sent to you sooner, really hoping to make your acquaintance, I am most truly yours,

MISS KATIE MELVINE, Wilmington, N. C.
