This addition to his stock runs the number on hand up to 60, and there are some beautiful animals among them—young, full of life and yet gentle.

Among his three year old horses are some that would be very hard to beat. THE SONG OF THE SPINDLE.

How Factories are Multiplying Where a Beginning Has Been Made.

Here are items of progressive moves in the cotton manufacturing industry clipped from a single issue of the Charlotte News:

Messrs. Oates Bros., of this city, are contemplating a big addition to their already mammoth cotton mill. Just what enlargement will take place has not as yet been determined, but when the new addition has been completed, this factory will be one of the largest of its kind in the country. This firm is composed of three of Charlotte's most highly respected citizens, and prosperity that has met them throughout their business career.

The land has been purchased at Matthews, this county upon which a cotton mill will be erected this summer. The Matthews mill will cost $75,000 and will operate 5,000 spindles.

Just how rapidly Mecklenburg is developing into the greatest cotton manufacturing centre of the State is evident from a list of the mills already in operation. When this writer first began his labors on the daily press of this city, there was but one cotton mill in the county, the Charlotte Mills. The list at present is, in Charlotte: The Victor, 11,000 spindles; the Charlotte, 9,000 spindles; the Alpha, 5,000 spindles; the Ayla, 7,000 spindles; the Atherton, 5,000 spindles; the Highland Park, 500 looms.

The capacity of the Atherton is to be doubled, and 5,000 new spindles are to be put in the Alpha this summer.

At Davidson, the Cornelius Cotton Mills run 5,000 spindles, and the Linden 2,400.

The Virgin Mills at Ironsreville will put in looms.

The Pineville Cotton Mills run 3,300 spindles. With the 5,000 spindles of the new mill at Matthews, there will be a total of 51,000 spindles in Mecklenburg county.

When so many items of this kind occur in one paper it looks as if the people of that city have abiding confidence in the paying qualities of the factories. If they pay in Charlotte, why not in New Berne? If they will pay why do not some of our capitalists establish a factory?

A GOLDSBORO COLORED MAN

Stevens. He is a credit to his race and to our city, and he will take with him his laborious and self-sacrificing work in Liberia the best wishes of our people.—Goldsboro Argus.

A Delightful Book—1k Marvel's Reveries of a Bachelor.

Not many books by American authors will receive from book-lovers so nearly unanimous a verdict of "delightful" as 1k Marvel's (Donald G. Mitchell) "Reveries of a Bachelor," so the new edition of it, reduced in price from $1.25 to 20 cents (postage 5 cents extra) just now offered by John B. Alden, Publisher, is sure of an immense sale. It is a very pretty volume, large type and dainty cloth binding, notwithstanding its fabulously low price, which is accounted for by the expiration of copyright and the passing into Mr. Alden's hands from the higher priced publishers. Mr. Alden's Catalogue of Choice Books, 128 pages, issued monthly and sent for a 2 cent stamp is a veritable "Henny Golt mine." Address, John B. Alden, Publisher, 57 Rose Street, New York.

Japan May Annex Hawaii.

The Japanese cruiser is at Honolulu waiting the result of the negotiations at Washington with a view to taking possession of the islands should the annexation proposals be rejected. It is believed that Japan has designs upon the islands owing to the employment of a large number of her subjects in the sugar plantations and that she is ready to raise her flag the hour ours is hauled down.

Opposition to the annexation is growing among the Hawaiian natives with delay.

Convention of Southern Governors at Richmond.

The Washington Evening News thus refers to the convention of Southern Governors, which will be held in Richmond next month in the interest of immigration from other parts of the country, and other countries to the Southern States:

It ought not to take a great deal of urging to persuade multitudes of thrifty and desirable citizens of the overworked North to find new residences in the fertile and lovely South. Time was when that region was not so attractive, because it was so lacking in "modern conveniences." The Northerner, accustomed to rapid transit, frequent mails, electric lights and first-class newspapers, felt isolated at the South.

It is not so now. The transportation, mail and all other practical facilities of the present day have been greatly increased and improved in the South of late, until now that section is not far behind the North in this respect, and additional improvement is constantly being made. Thus has been supplied the only important thing which the South formerly lacked, while, on the other hand, it offers now to immigrants, as it always has offered, that marvelous climate, that fertility and productivity which, taken in conjunction with moderate cost of purchase and easy terms of payment, render the attractiveness of the beautiful Southland so irresistible to all who have once come within its spell.

BIG IKE IS STILL ALIVE.

Big Ike don't aim to interfere, In any plans you've made, He prints a lot, but he's sincere In most that he has said, He loves a joke, but who does not, In this blithe world of ours, A sweet sometimes today forget, And left, tomorrow sour.

He first looked out in fifty four, A man in seventy-five, Eighteen ninety-three has come, Big Ike is still alive, He never thought as some men do, To live an idle life, Nor did he think at twenty two He'd live without a wife,

He don't pretend to tell you what Goes on in worlds to come, He knows in this; hard is ones lot, If one is blind or dumb, He often grieves at what he sees, And wonders why 'tis so, That men two prices pay for these, Some things he sells so low,
