The Duke's New York Factory Burned.

The seven story factory of New York, formerly run as a cigarette factory by W. Duke & Son, but more recently by the American Tobacco Company of which W. Duke is President, as a smoking and chewing tobacco factory was burned Sunday morning. The loss was $400,000, fully covered by insurance—the insurance is said to be $750,000.

The flames lighted up the city for miles around. The building burned was valued at $100,000; the stock at $60,000, and the machinery at $40,000.

The building was filled with the valuable patented machinery, which made the Dukes master of the situation when the cigarette trust was formed, and there were tons of tobacco in the building.

Between 500 and 600 girl operatives were employed in the factory. The managers of the factory made immediate arrangements to take them to Baltimore for temporary employment in the factory of Gail, Ax & Co.

First or Second Ward.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—Will you please give us through the Journal your opinion which ward the man who was dug up in the middle of Broad street is entitled to vote in. Of course he will be claimed by the parties who found him but the question is, was he over the line in the 1st or 2d ward.

It may be that he will not want to enter ward politics; he may be an applicant for the custom house. If so the ward politicians should let him alone and not offer him City marshals place or pump-fixer. He is desiring something better—he has not done or said any harm of any person and has not been lying still to these many years. If he is a mechanic in my opinion he should be allowed to vote in the 2d ward where he can find a candidate to his liking. His name does not appear on the registration books, but that ought not to make any material difference in the convention he will have lost at a good right to vote as some others. So give him a chance he may be all "O. K."

AWFUL ACCIDENT.

A Collision on the Raleigh Fair Grounds Switch-Back Terribly Injures Young Lady Pupils of St. Mary's School.

Pupils of St. Mary's, Raleigh, the leading Episcopal school of the State met with an awful accident Tuesday, which resulted in severe injuries to eight of them, and probably fatal injury to two.

The disaster was caused by a collision on the Fairgrounds railway. Miss Bessie Patterson of New Berne was one of the injured, but she fortunately escaped with nothing worse than bad bruises and a sprained ankle—no bones were broken but she was rendered helpless by her injuries.

The list of the injured is:
Miss Mabel Green, daughter of Col. Wharton J. Green, of Fayetteville, one leg broken, the other badly injured, possibly fractured. She is said also to have her collar bone broken.

Little Florence Boylan, daughter of James Boylan, of Raleigh, had her face crushed in above the nose and body injured; she sustained the most serious injury of any of the victims.

Miss Adele Martiniere, of Columbus, Ga., severely bruised and cut, but no bones broken.

Miss Bessie Patterson of New Berne. Slightly hurt—ankle severely sprained.

Miss Sadie Johnson of Asheville, wrist sprained and cut.

Miss Addie Snow, daughter of Geo. H. Snow, of Raleigh, bruised and cut, and it is feared internally injured.

Miss Annie Root, of Raleigh, leg broken and face bruised.

Misses Mary and Helen Smedes, twin daughters of Rev. Dr. Bennett Smedes, were both severely injured. Miss Mary was cut and bruised and Miss Helen had her thigh crushed and leg broken.

At this last accounts Miss Boylan was very low and the possibilities of her survival very doubtful. One of Mr. Smedes daughters has been unconscious ever since the accident and it is thought to have concussion of the brain.

The school was taking a holiday and Rev. Alfred Smedes, rector of the school, some of the teachers and about fifty of the young ladies were at the Fair ground, their principal amusement being the switch back.

The switchback consists of two elevated parallel undulating tracks, constructed so that a car started at one end will run down a grade over a curve and down the other side gathering momentum by its gravity half of the length of the track as it proceeds and then diminishing the speed, till the end of the track opposite the starting point is reached. The two extremities are of the same height. The cars, through a portion of the trip go with startling velocity. There are two of them and one is meant to run on one track while the other is on the track along side—they are never meant to be at the same time on the same side.

One of the cars was beginning its journey from one end of the switchback when the other was turned loose. The last car instead of taking its proper course jumped the switch, for some inexplicable cause and tore downward towards the other car, meeting at the lowest and swiftest point, when each of the two were going at the rate of a railroad train. The result was terrific. The cars were telescoped and wrecked, seats were torn off, the wood work twisted and thrown all around, the iron bent and the fronts of the cars locked together. The little girls and young ladies were hurled out upon the iron tracks and upon the ground where they lay in helpless agony, cruelly cut and mangled by the splintered wreckage of the smashed cars, and touching the steepest hearts with their cries.

Blood was on the cars and on the wood work of the switchback, and under one car was a horrible mass of it. The sight was terrible.

A courier was dispatched post haste to the city, and in a short time nearly every physician in the place and throngs of citizens were on the ground doing all in their power for the sufferers.
