The Republicans have never selected a President who had not seen military service.

Mr. Maxwell has well been well settled it that the County postmaster must be Democratic.

Sharp Kansas City negroes have started an emigration scheme to carry off a lot of impetuous darlings to Brazil.

The cry in Virginia is "grow less tobacco" and it will prove about as effectual as the cry further South "plant less cotton."

Andrew Johnson Patterson, grandson of the late ex-president Andrew Johnson, is to be made pension agent at Knoxville, Tenn.

Since the Homestead strike Carnegie has lost $1,270,000 by unskilled labor, besides the big government jobs which his old men are now working on in other mills.

Eidians can work sixty hours on a stretch. He says that variety is the secret of wire eating. The nations eating the greatest variety of food are the greatest nations.

Speaking of Andrew Jackson The Atlanta Constitution says: "The lesson of his political career is that the man who would lead Democrats, and hold their unwavering allegiance, must himself be a Democrat in his principles, and affiliations."

A Georgia paper says: A third party man and his democratic wife had a fight near Windsor, N. C. The woman had a razor, saying she would not allow a democrat to whip her, and considered it a disgrace to be whipped by a democrat. The man was worried in his turn.

The Atlanta Constitution says: Bill Nye is now "mentioned" for governor of North Carolina. Why not George Mack is as good a governor as Wisconsin ever had and George is funnier than Bill knows how to be.

The Indianapolis Sentinel calls Sam Jones a "ruffianly bully," and The San Antonio Express replies that "Sam may not be a seventh heaven angel with two pair of reversible wings, but he might be one of the devil's imps and will be persecuted by touching a copy of The Sentinel."

It looks as if there was much "serowing" and pushing and crowding and squeezing in store for the "Windy City" and its big fair—considering the fact that, although the Exposition is not yet opened, the gate receipts already amount to nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

According to the latest programme, the Cuban filibusters are to be made start from Key West on Monday night next, in the matter of pomp and circumstance and pretentious preparation the Key West filibuster parade gives promise of worthily holding its own among the naval pageants that promise to distinguish this era.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Howard.

C. E. Slover—Corned beef, &c.

S. Cohn & Son—Fine beef and mutton.

N. Whitford—Stall fed beef.

Churchill & Parker—A free sample, etc.

Maximum temperature yesterday 71, minimum 45-1-2, range 25-1-2.

The King's Daughters will meet at the usual place this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

All who are to take part in the Y. M. C. A. concert, and the members of the committee are requested to meet in the Hall tonight at 9 o'clock.

There will be no service at the Church of Christ tonight. The meeting will continue after tonight, however, for an indefinite length of time.

Mrs. M. D. Nelson is repainting her residence in light colors. It will be one of the brightest and best in appearance on the street when the work is completed.

The JOURNAL acknowledges receipt for complimentary tickets to the Columbian Exposition at Chicago and "May Week" celebration to be held at Savannah, Ga.

Representative Williams has presented as with a bound volume of the capitula of the acts and resolutions of the General Assembly of North Carolina passed at the late session.

As the trucking season approaches it becomes more important that all business interests should be represented in the advertising columns of the JOURNAL. Our rates are low and do not vary at any season of the year.

Mr. M. DeW. Stevenson has removed his dwelling house on South Front street below Mr. Whitty's store nearer to it and improved it somewhat and build another dwelling on the former site.

A colored man, named Andrew Williams, was killed on a log train of the railroad above the city Friday. As we understand it, the train came apart and the jar set came together knocked him from the box car with the fatal result.

The city scales, which have since 1887 been in the centre of Broad street just east of Middle, were torn up yesterday. It is proposed to place them alongside the sidewalk with the box at its edge and the platform for carts with loads to be weighed extending towards the roadbed.

From the News and Observer we take the following item: R. H. Wright of New York, late of North Carolina, has instituted an action in the Supreme Court of New York against W. Duke, Sons & Co., for $500,000, which he claims to be due him on a settlement of their old partnership. Colonel John W. Hinsdale, of counsel for the plaintiff, left yesterday to assist in the trial of the case, which will be tried the first of next week.

To Miss Annie Berry of New Berne, who is in attendance on the Art Students League of New York has come the honor of having two of her pictures selected for exhibition at the World's Fair by the New York State committee on Art which is composed of critical artists. This is a high compliment to her proficiency and though Miss Annie's skill is known here at her home it is still very gratifying indeed to have it so prominently recognized among disinterested strangers, composing a committee every way qualified to judge of the merit of her productions.

Battered from the train, C. V. McQueen's New Bakery at the Market Street corner has been damaged and the constantly on hand and always on order.

Your patronage is solicited.

Charles Dry St. Philip's Church.

Direct Travel to Wilmington. The New Berne, Wilmington & Onslow railroad intends to have connection and daily communication between New Berne and Wilmington from next Monday onward.

The trains have been running no nearer here than Jacksonville. They will then begin coming on to Mayville and a stage-coach will ply twice a day between that point and Pollockville connecting at Mayville with the railroad and at Pollockville with the steamer Howard. The Howard is to leave New Berne in the morning and return at night. The bridge over White Oak river is finished and the bands are now working between it and Mayville.

Let us Get Ready.

All cities and villages of the interior, as well as those on the coast, should make every effort to be put in a cleanly condition before the arrival of summer. Cholera has made an early start in Europe, and while it has not manifested any serious form as yet, it is gradually widening out in its path, and is very liable to reach America, unless every precaution is used to keep it off.

With a most thorough quarantine service established it will still be possible for it to gain an entrance, but even in this event, if the country and cities are found in a perfect sanitary condition, there need be little to fear, for this dread disease can feed only upon the pollution of a careless people.

We can only speak for New Berne. It has made an excellent start, but is yet by no means in a complete state of sanitation.

In a few weeks the Press Association meets in New Berne and this should be an additional incentive to have our city looking as well as possible, and it behooves us all to put the best foot foremost. It is an opportunity from which every advantage should be grasped, and we cannot afford to be neglectful of these facts.

Our manufacturing is woefully behind other sections of the State, but we have other interests that are of the highest credit to any place, and there is no reason that we should be backward in letting them be known.

Enlargement of the Gas Works.

The additional plant of the New Berne Gas Works is now in position and with the completion of a little pipe work and the replacing of some small parts of the machines (which received injuries in transportation) by duplicates which have been ordered will be ready for use.

The new portion of the works have a capacity of 50,000 to 60,000 feet of gas per day on a ten hours run, and it can be run the whole twenty-four hours if necessary. The addition fully doubles the former capacity of the works.

The two plants are so arranged that one new one can be run alone, the old one by itself or they can be run together as desired. Each one has its own boiler and engine but the connections made are such that the motive power from either one can be used to operate either plant at will, which will give good opportunity for overhauling or repairs at any time, and assurance of uninterrupted operation even should an accident happen in either part.

The new plant is from the Commercial Gas Light and Fuel Company, of New York and is of superior kind. It will enable a better quality of gas to be made without any increase of expense in making it. The prime objects of the Gas Company in putting in this additional plant were to be able to furnish this better quality and also to be able to make such an abundant supply that they would feel safe by reason of the larger capacity pushing the use of gas for illuminating purposes, knowing that now there is no reasonable possibility of their ever having a failure in making or of the supply ever running short.

The gas for cooking purposes will be put at the low price of $1.00 per thousand, and it is claimed that 2,000 feet per month is a very fair average of the amount that would ordinarily be used in doing all the cooking for an entire family.

The ease with operating is a strong point in favor of the gas cook stoves, the ability to concentrate the heat exactly where required is another, and the ability to so control it that whatever heat is given out beyond the point of cooking can be directed to the fire so that it will not be felt in the room at all or it can be dissipated in the room at pleasure is a third. There are other points of advantage on which we may speak later.

Cooking by gas, we are informed is becoming quite popular wherever it is tried. Mr. J. G. Rowe, who has been engaged in putting in the new plant here informs us that in Springfield, Mass., he put in 128 of the gas cooking stoves in three months.

How handy the stoves are in emergencies, sickness or the non-appearance of the cook we leave for housewives to imagine. It is a good thing for the city to have the ability of furnishing such conveniences. It is cheering to note the progress in various lines around us on every hand.

Silver Plating.

I am prepared to plate your Old SILVERWARE at Harrington's Machine shop on Middle Street.

WALKER STALLING.

The family medicine of the world—TUTT'S PILLS.

Good Work of the Collegiate Institute. On whatever line they are tried the pupils of the New Berne Collegiate Institute show the good effects of the valuable instruction they are receiving and of the attentive application they give to their studies.

It is a pleasure to be at one of their opening exercises which consist of prayer, reading a selection from the bible and singing with organ accompaniment. The usual exercises are often followed by a short practice in vocal music in both sacred and national songs, sometimes as a solo or duet, &c., with chorus, whether taken as whole or by grades, the school sings well.

Every Friday a portion of the scholars in the presence of all declaim, read selections, &c. We had the pleasure of being present at these exercises yesterday and were particularly struck with the reading by little pupils of the primary department—reproductions in their own language of a simple story which their teacher, Mrs. A. B. Ferree, had read to them for the purpose. It was an exercise similar to those we recently spoke of as participated in by the literary classes of the school. Children from seven to eleven years old re-wrote the story with surprising accuracy and remarkably well chosen words and well constructed sentences for those of such a youthful age. The papers themselves were executed plainly and with more neatness than is often found many a time among advanced students.

But their efficiency comes from practice. The exercises are one in which Mrs. Ferree fills them regularly several times a week and the papers read were those produced in the regular morning exercises without any idea that they would be called for to be read before the whole school.

It would pay our people especially those who have children of school age to drop in occasionally and see what fine work the school is doing. Prof. Adams will gladly welcome any of them and the better informed our people become of the workings of the institution the prouder they will be of it.

Speak Well of Your Town.

That is what the editor of the Durham Sun says and he speaks correctly: "The town is what the people make it. If all a dozen chronic grumblers can undermine the walls of any town unless their influence is counteracted by the opposite course of better citizens."

"Whoop up your town. If it is worth less in your estimation, leave it, and it will be made better by your absence. He who sees evil in everything reveals his own nature. The noble and the generous find out the good and extol it, while the base and the ignoble revel in the corruptions of which they are an integral part."

When you hear a man say of every enterprise, "Nothing good will come of it," set it down there is no good in him. "Falsome praise is disgusting. It does no good, but rather injury, to parade imaginary excellences or to bolster up visionary enterprise, but it is the duty of every citizen to encourage the meritorious; and with genuine devotion put his shoulder to the wheel and press forward every good work."

We are to have in New Berne soon a large number of newspaper men from every section of good old North Carolina, and it will be an opportunity that our citizens should utilize and take every advantage of.

The members of the Press are gentlemen of character, and are thoroughly identified with the interests of all portions of the State. They are above anything that could be termed selfishness. Their meetings are not only in the interest of their profession, but to learn of the interests and resources of every section in the State and it is this point that the JOURNAL is desirous of seeing brought out. A splendid showing can be made if properly taken hold of.

The rapid development of our trucking lands. Our immense fishing interests here and at Morehead and Beaufort, also our lumbering trade is worthy of note. All these facts should be given where so good an opportunity presents itself. We should not be too modest in extolling these facts where they can be so simply justified. It is not American to stand in the back ground. You have only to spend a few days in Winston, Durham, Asheville or Charlotte to find these people have no hesitancy in proclaiming their advantages. They have no word for their city except in its praise, and the average gentleman of either of these places wants only a very few minutes to prove to you that it is his city that stands first in enterprise and that it is there that you should look to for the greatest future prosperity. We think no less of these gentlemen in their bolstering up their own homes. In fact the man who would speak disparagingly of his home is a poor shoot in our estimation and can generally be put down as a drag to any community.

The meeting of the Press Association with us means a great deal and it can be made of incalculable benefit if we only do our part—dress them closely, show them and tell them what we have NOW and are going to do in the future, and not deal too much with the past.

A Blockade Still in a Mill Pond.

There have been many novel locations for illicit distilleries, but it remains for Lawrence Goins, of Manly, Moore county, to break the record. Deputy Collector Hall captured Goins and his outfit in the middle of Tuckahoe mill pond.

Goins had built among the trees, in quite an ingenious way, a house elevated several feet above the water. In this shanty on stilts was his still, which had a capacity of 65 gallons and was well arranged.

A boat was the means of access to this place, and in a boat Deputy Hall approached the place. He found his man at work and bagged him. Goins has had the place several years. He kept many hogs in the woods near by, feeding them on swill from the distillery.—Charlotte Observer.

North Carolina Shipments for the World's Fair.

Mr. G. F. Green, shipping agent for the North Carolina World's Fair exhibit will send out a car load of materials today, to follow one he has already sent and which has arrived in Chicago. A car load of fine polished woods will be sent from Asheville this week. These exhibits will now be sent out as rapidly as possible. Mr. Peter M. Wilson is now in Chicago to receive them and superintend the putting them in place.—News and Observer.
