NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Howard.

B. Swert—Extra fine beef.

S. Cohn & Son—Another lot fine beef.

The work of driving the piling for the foundation of Messrs. Watson & Daniels' half-dozen stores at the market dock is in progress.

Mr. Josephus Daniels of Raleigh, N. C. has been selected by Secretary Hoke Smith as appointment clerk of Interior Department, vice A. C. Tourner resigned.

The foundation plates and bolts, which arrived a few days ago for the water-works company, have been hauled out where the work is in progress. 20,000 brick have also arrived for the work.

Mr. Thomas O'Shea, keeper of the National cemetery, was out yesterday looking after the gutters and pits along the macadamized road, seeing that they were all made clear and in good working order.

The fire in the Welch mine has been virtually quenched, but the fumes of gas are so noxious as to drive out those who undertake to explore the mine in search of the dead, and to rescue those, if any, who are living.

Rev. W. Matthias, formerly of Mantua N. J., the new rector of the Beaufort Episcopal church, has gone down to enter upon the duties of the position commencing Sunday the 19th inst. The time appointed was the previous Sabbath, but an unavoidable delay prevented his being there at that time.

Every evening at dusk hundreds of swallows can be seen circling many times around the chimney of Mr. Geo. Bishop's factory; their flight ceases by the whole number descending just before 7 o'clock into the chimney for their night rest. Their movements are watched with interest by passers at that hour.

There will be a picnic and foot tournament at N. B. Ippock's store, three miles below Vanceboro, N. C., on the 5th of May, also a ball at night with a good band of music for the occasion. Everybody is invited to attend with a well supplied basket and join in the good time. The managers announce that they will furnish all entertainment for those bringing refreshments.

Good meetings are being held at both the Centenary M. E. church and the Church of Christ. Rev. Mr. Bagby of Greensboro is delivering very fine sermons to large congregations in the former church through the week. Rev. R. A. Willis, the pastor, and Rev. J. R. Sawyer of Manteo also made remarks last night. Considerable interest is being awakened. At the Church of Christ there were two more accessions.

An exchange says: "The plaigner becomes the fact that a big crop of cotton will be planted this year, the lower goes the price. Many farmers who have been holding their crop for higher prices now realize this more plainly, as they are the only losers. It is generally conceded that the crop planted this year will equal in acreage, if not exceed, that of 1891, and a crop of nine or ten million bales will be made."

An entirely different version of John L. Sullivan racket at Greensboro is told. It is to the effect that a tough belonging to Sullivan's company attempted to raise a row with the private secretary of ex-Gov. Holt, when Sullivan rebuked the offender, apologized for his employer's conduct, and then took him by the collar and led him to the second class car as if he had been a child. The statement is made that the people cheered "John L."

The work in progress by the A. & N. O. R. R. and the New Bern, Wilmington & Onslow railroad on two streets of the city fits in very nicely together. The former is lowering their track as it passes through the city and the latter needs dirt for filling in Queen street for their grading. Consequently a kind of "coalition" movement has resulted for mutual benefit. The new railroad firm is cutting down a portion of Broad street to the depth required for the sake of grading the line and the A. & N. O. R. R. firm is relieved of that much work thereby.

Ravages of the North Western Storm.

The terrific hurricane on the night of the 11th inst carried general and wide spread destruction in the States of Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri.

Two whole towns were wrecked and farm buildings, fences and bridges swept up. The storm travelled two hundred miles in an hour and a half. Particulars are not obtainable on account of the prostration of telegraphic wires.

Big Cattle and Big Prices.

Wednesday Mr. B. Swert bought the largest steer on Messrs. Hackbun & Willets stock farm and killed him yesterday. Mr. Swert informs us that it is the largest beef animal ever killed in the city. The dressed weight was 1322 pounds, and as the rule of calculation is that beef loses one half in dressing it will be seen that this animal alone would have tipped the scales at nearly 8100 pounds! The price he brought was $100.

Chronological.

Several papers having made the statement that the 9th of April had not fallen on Sunday since 1865, the date of Gen. Lee's surrender.

Maj. D. T. Caraway, of this city looked the matter up with the following result: April the 9th, 1865, was Palm Sunday and the 16th Easter.

April the 9th, 1871, was Easter. April the 9th, 1876, was again Palm Sunday and the 16th Easter.

April the 9th, 1882, was again Easter. April the 9th, 1893, was the Sunday after Easter.

And the calendar shows that in 1793 Easter Sunday fell on April 2nd just as it did in 1893.

Convention of Southern Governors.

Twelve governors have assembled at the convention in Richmond. The following states are represented in the convention: Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Louisiana, West Virginia, Missouri, Arkansas and Mississippi. The States without representation are Kentucky, Florida and Texas.

The meeting began at noon, it was opened with prayer and Gov. Fishback of Arkansas was temporary chairman. A committee on permanent organization and mode of procedure was appointed with instructions to report at 11 o'clock the next day.

Coming and Going.

Rev. J. R. Sawyer, of Manteo is spending a few days in the city, the guest of Rev. R. A. Willis.

Capt. W. W. Caraway, traveling agent for the Richmond Dispatch arrived last night and is registered at the Gaston house.

Miss Susie Danen-burg returned from a visit to friends in Goldsboro.

Mrs. J. S. Manix returned from a visit to friends in Goldsboro.

Mrs. W. P. M. Bryan left yesterday morning to visit relatives in Washington.

Mr. Benj. Hahn returned yesterday. He purchased a supply of mules for H. Hahn & Co., during his trip. They will arrive in a few days.

The Home Paper.

It is almost a universal rule that a newspaper is indicative of the place in which it is published, and to make it a worthy exponent it should receive the united support of the home people. It should always have the first consideration.

The Atlanta Constitution very aptly put the question when it says: "A man should always get the best in the newspaper line, but where a man cannot really afford to take more than one newspaper, we say in all candor that one should be his home paper, whether it be daily or weekly."

We mean what we say. A man's first duty is to build up and sustain the enterprises which contribute to the growth of the community of which he is a part, and of all the enterprises the local newspaper is the best; no town can enjoy perfect prosperity without a representative paper loyally sustained by appreciative citizens.

"There is not a weekly newspaper in the smaller towns of this State which has the patronage it deserves. With few exceptions the testimony of the editors is that they are working 'up hill'; their labor is great and its rewards small. And yet the weekly newspaper does more for a town and people than any other agency."

"If the citizens are wise, they will stand by their editor and second all his efforts to enlarge the influence of his newspaper; and just here let us say another word to subscribers who assert that they can take one newspaper only."

"Newspapers are now published at rates which one within the reach of all, and we do not believe there is a man in any kind of business who is not fully able to pay for two or more newspapers. The press is a great educator, and on that line alone his money would be well invested. The more papers with which he surrounds himself, the greater will be the benefits derived. But the Constitution, for reasons given, repeats that if there be a man who is too poor to patronize any other than his home paper, that is this paper for his money, and may fortune increase his store!"

A WAR INCIDENT.

Some History of the Attempt to Capture New Berne in the Winter of 1864 by the Confederates.

CONTINUED.

The following letter bears same date as one heretofore published though written later in the day:

Petersburg, Jan. 23d, 1864.

Col.—I send you a letter to Gen. Barton which please send him. I wrote him to meet me in Goldsboro Sunday morning but circumstances are such as to prevent my reaching there before Monday morning. We have just gotten information from the President that Corcoran's Brigade was not at Bristol as was supposed, and would have to march there, which will cause delay. We will not now be able to leave here before Thursday or Friday, will let you know the day certainly. My brigade will collect at Garysburg which is being done and with out causing the slightest suspicion. If you can spare your flats it would be well to have them here subject to the orders of Gen'l Pickett. Every thing is working finely. We will have 30 rifle guns in all. Our horses have gone. The impression that my Brigade is going to the Western part of N. C., is well calculated and believed.

Respectfully yours, R. F. HOKE.

Col. J. D. Whitford.

P. S.—I have given the letter to Lieut. Ren for Gen. Beauregard.

Further Gen. Hoke writes: "Weldon, Jan. 28th, 1864. Col.—S of Faison in Goldsboro on 11 further orders. All is going on well. Send the trains back immediately. The Hawkins trains have gone to Petersburg. Respectfully yours, R. F. HOKE."

Col. W.—P. S.—A box goes on this train for the one this evening for "ool marked 'B' nkeys." Tell him to look out for it.

Never was a secret more sacredly kept than the preparation for the capture of Newbern and never was disappointment greater than with some at the failure. That Capt. Wood and his sailors played their part successfully and gloriously is a matter of history; and with the troops around Newbern with similar effort on the part of the commanding officer the town, with the immense stores in it would undoubtedly have been taken by the Confederates at comparatively small sacrifice. We know the plan has been imparted to Gen. Barton for his direct movement on the south side of Trent river and it was inexplicable, with the strong force he had, yet he might have been pushed up by those over him in command. The piece where the delay occurred was subsequently carried by a squadron of cavalry, in a later expedition, under command of Gen. Hoke, who just at the moment of ordering the combined assault upon the town was hastily ordered, with the entire command to Virginia in consequence of the threatening position of Grant's army and the weakness of Lee's as to men. Hoke had previously captured Plymouth by assault, caused Washington, N. C., to be evacuated and unquestionably, but for the reason alone, would have added New Berne to his very brilliant and important achievements in war.

Referring again to the secrecy of the Pickett expedition we will give an incident of some interest, at the time in North Carolina. The writer received a letter from Gov. Vance in which he stated he had learned from good authority, that Hoke's Brigade was going West. See Hoke alludes to it, and while passing some of the commands, at least, would pay their respects to Mr. W. W. Hobbins, at Raleigh, in a way that would not be appreciated; and which would compel him, as the chief executive officer of the State, to attempt to protect any citizen, under the law, even if he had to meet with a weak force a very strong one. Of course, the Governor had no troops that could contend with a Brigade of Veterans. Yet here we see the will to uphold the law at any hazard, even in the darkest days of the war. Did Gov. Holden forelect this and so act [when the opportunity was presented to him, no, no. But Gov. Vance was promptly notified. "Gen. Hoke will aid you in upholding the law with his entire Brigade if it should stop in Raleigh in passing West. This endorsement he has put on the back of your note." All felt sure, now, that the real destination of Hoke's Brigade was safe in hand. The greatest anxiety was relative to Capt. Wood's naval force. Certainly if the enemy obtained knowledge of its coming both the land and naval forces would be on the alert, and as Wood contemplated no surrender, the destruction of himself and men must have been inevitable.

But to make security doubly sure a number of very close and discreet gentlemen were allowed to read Gov. Vance's note with out Gen. Hoke's endorsement, each having enjoined secrecy for his life. Immediately afterwards it was, as expected then it would be, an open secret and every one seemed to know Hoke's Brigade was going West and with an eye a glance for Holden when about Raleigh. The story too was gathering weight with its frequent repetition until it soon got to be one of blood, death and destruction spreading out in long lines in every direction. The writer's father was doing good work unconsciously. "Lads often occur in peace as well as in war. Doesn't it?" W.

Good Hook and Line Fish'ng.

Messrs. J. F. Mewborne, John P. O. and Jesse Herbert, of Lenoir county came Thursday from a three day's fishing trip in Village creek about half way between this city and Kinston. They had abundant evidence of the fine quality of the sport they have been enjoying in the many large robins, chubs, jacks, whitefish, rocks, etc., that they brought with them. Mr. Mewborne tells us that it took about a quarter of an hour to land one big rock that they hooked. In his struggle he pulled the boat around two or three times and fearing he might escape they finally shot him.

THE ATLANTIC HOTEL.

Date of Opening—Preparations—Lower Rates Established, But High Standard Maintained.

Mr. B. L. Perry, of Beaufort, manager of the Atlantic Hotel at Morehead City, passed through yesterday morning en route to Raleigh on business connected with the hotel.

Work of repairing and repainting, etc., so that the hotel will be in first class shape for the coming season is now in progress—it was commenced about two weeks ago.

The date of opening has been fixed for June 1st over two weeks earlier than the hotel opened last season.

The meeting of the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly, ever a notable event, will begin on Tuesday, June 20th, and last just two weeks, ending on the 4th of July.

There will be abundance of delightful recreations this summer and there will be beyond question, be many visitors there to enjoy them.

Beardon's orchestra, of Augusta, a very fine one has been engaged for the season and the matter of providing special attractions of a new character is being looked into.

Every effort will be made to keep all the attractions of this famous summer home by the sea fully up to those of any former year and the efficiency of the service and quality of the cuisine will be raised to the highest standard under the unceasing attention of the experienced manager.

The rates for this season will be very materially reduced but this will not mean any diminution of the comforts, luxuries and pleasures. On the contrary, the new management announce that it is their intention even to enhance all its former advantages and to increase its prestige and eminently desirable features as the foremost seaside resort of the South.

Valuable Electrical Inventions.

One of the most delightful of the modern necessities that electricity furnishes is the electric light. This is a beautiful ornament for a parlor, dining room or chamber, always instantly responsive to a call for light and of valuable service in all ways to the family.

It is operated by passing the little bulb on a set at the top of the centre rod when the light instantly appears at the opening under the ornament upon the upper band. It is made of highly polished nickel plate, is four inches high and occupies only a square foot of the ceiling. Its construction is so simple that it can be taken to pieces and easily re-assembled or working over. It needs no wires or connections, an current of electricity being generated by chemical action within the cylinder. It is perfectly safe, always secure, and a child can operate it.

The material used in the battery is sold by every druggist, and a charge of only 10c. is sufficient to keep it in constant service for thirty to sixty days. With usual care it will last a lifetime, and if it should become discolored or in any way damaged it can be replaced at a trifling expense. Its construction is so handsome and ornamental it will readily find its place among the fine objects of the most refined taste and is easily portable from room to room.

It will be found a most desirable companion for the mechanic or lawyer in his office, the professional man in his study, the student in his loggings, as well as the horseman, and its neatness and quick responsiveness will recommend it to all.

It is made of steel and sold by the Barr Electric Light Manufacturing Co., at No. 17 and 19 Broadway, New York. It is a valuable article when its beauty and convenience are considered.

Though originally intended simply for a lighter, it has been found practicable to make several useful accessories. A Medical Coil with hand electrodes can be readily attached, by which either gentle or sharp electric shocks can be given to a member of the family afflicted with Nervous Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Sciatica, Headache, etc. This attachment can also be connected by wire to the doors and windows of the house, thus providing the homestead with a complete and perfectly reliable electric burglar alarm, or if in a city with a street wire to the nearest police station. The price of the medical coil is $3.50.

Another adjunct is the call bell, which is also easily adjustable and operated by pushing down the central rod, as in a dinner table or call bell. The price of this with 100 feet of wire, is only $1.25.

The merits of this invention cannot properly be described in a newspaper article. It needs to be seen to be appreciated. It is beautiful, quick service and simplicity of construction make it an instant favorite.

Already several of our large jobbing houses have added it to their non-stock and as soon as it reaches the retailer it will prove a "quick seller." For a novel and inexpensive present from "Pa to Ma" or to a bachelor friend it has no superior in the market. Retailers who carry a department should send to the Company for circulars and prices. We are convinced the Electric Lighter will find ready and constantly increasing sale in every section of the country.—Dry Goods Chronicle.

"Never had such a shoe in his life."

This remark made to us by one of our well known printers in speaking of a pair of shoes he bought of us some time ago. He said he liked them better than any shoes he had ever bought. We have just received a new lot of Shoes in Patent Leather, Kangaroo and Runset. Try us if you need any Shoes, Hats, Shirts, Collars and Cuffs. New lot Neckwear just in. Full line of White Boys.
