Lansas raises lots of grain, but it can also upon occasion raise its share of Cain.

The "I-don't-want-office" man is turning up with sufficient frequency to suggest "sour grapes."

A girl less than 15 years old, in St. Louis, has been already married divorced and remarried.

Ell Cole, a Middletown, N. Y., octogenarian, came out of a trance the other day just in time to save himself from being buried alive.

When a man qualifies a statement by saying that it is bound to come sooner or later, it is usually safe to count on his thinking that it will be later.

It is a great pity that some of the aerial lines of travel could not get ready for business in time for the World's Fair. Then railroad tickets would be cheaper.

The muzzling of the press, by the appointment of editors to office, goes merrily on. Editors now look under the bed before retiring, to see if a muzzler has been secreted there.

Near the equator and towards the poles the ocean is less salt than in other parts. This is no doubt owing to the abundant rain at the equator, and to the melting of the ice in the polar regions.

It has been estimated that a ball of common size, whose sound would penetrate a distance of three to five miles on shore, could, if submerged in the sea, be heard over 60 miles.

After 35 years' absence Irvin S. Merrill has returned to New Brunswick, N. J., where he has two sisters residing. They supposed until recently that he was dead. He is in the real estate business in Kansas City, Mo.

The girls of sixteen who consider themselves young ladies should not snub the ugly-looking boys of the same age. When the girls are twenty-two and a trifle shrewd, the boys will be young men and may remember the snubs. It pays to be polite all the time.

It is surprising what an aroused public sentiment can do. A citizens indignation meeting, recently held in Detroit, affected municipal legislation as mightily as if it had been a dictator. Street-car franchises were called back at once by the common council. Aldermen experienced a change of heart. The street-car company wheeled into instant retreat. The will of the citizens was counted supreme. In St. Paul, Minnesota, a similar uprising overhauled a body of spirits who had arranged for a prize fight, and the fight was suspended.

LOCAL NEWS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Howard.
S. Conn & Son—Beef, mutton, etc., on market this morning.

While we are enjoying balmy spring weather the western part of the State is having killing frosts and snow.

The reported attempt on Mr. Gladstone's life while walking through St. James' Park, is denied by some of the London press.

Still other reports of storm and flood come from the West, in which there has been much loss in life and property. These casualties have been unusually large recently.

In the quit of $10,000.00 brought against the Illinois Central Railroad for ejecting a colored man from one of the passenger cars the railroad was sustained.

The naval reserve is still on duty. On the eve of the departure of the troops they were given orders by General Cotten to report to the Sheriff for his assistance if wanted, which they did yesterday.

The train that pulled out of New Bern yesterday morning taking away the troops and the members of the Press Association was an unusually long one for this place. It contained fifteen cars. The train that brought the military down was composed of fourteen cars.

Messrs. M. Hahn & Co. have received another supply of stock—40 fine big Kentucky mules and horses. Recently they made additional room in their stables and they seem determined to keep filled up even if their customers do buy the animals out quick when they arrive.

An excursion is being arranged by the citizens at and near Jacksonville, Onslow county, to be run to New River banks on the coast, Tuesday, May 13th. The steamers Blanche and Louise have been chartered and will leave Jacksonville at half-past eight o'clock. Refreshments will be served on board. The public is invited.

Washington advices say the contract for the erection of a public building at Reidsville, N. C., has been awarded to Brown & Cater, of Wilmington, N. C., at $12,195. We would like to be able to make the announcement that the contract was let for the erection of the $75,000 public building in New Bern, which ex-Congressman Simmons secured the appropriation for.

Mr. J. J. Baxter, of the firm of Barrington & Baxter, has taken another run down to Beaufort looking after their interests there. We are glad to learn that their business affairs have been so arranged that they will continue at the old stand in this city as before. Mr. Barrington is now north buying goods with which to replenish the stock.

A finer body of gentlemen never met in convention than those who were in New Bern this week. They left well pleased with our city and its cordial people. Our citizens were profuse on every hand in making their visit an enjoyable one and was warmly appreciated by the knights of the quill. Messrs. Nunn & McSorley extended them the privilege of their soda fountain and others were liberal in the distribution of cigars and other courtesies.

The banquet of "Farewell Supper" given to the members of the Press Association was all that could have been desired. Mayor Manly, who was in charge, proved the right man in the right place as chairman of the committee on the banquet, which the ladies of the Memorial Association got up so elaborately and handsomely. The speeches both on the part of the citizens and editors were excellent and received yesterday their due meed of praise.

Messrs. Miligan and O'Sullivan, who were here yesterday inspecting cameras, inform us that this was their last trip here, a change having been made in the division of the districts. New Bern has been taken from the Norfolk District and placed in the Charleston District. Washington is left in the Norfolk District, that is in the dividing line. We and friends of the gentlemen regret the taking of them from us. "Good-bye" and we wish them every success in their new station.

JAMES CITY.

Leases Signed With Celerity—The Trouble Virtually Over.

Mr. Robert Hancock, agent for the James City property, has been quite busy in conjunction with his clerical force in getting the leases signed by tenants. Exactly 400 were taken out yesterday which leaves only some thirty or forty more to be taken out. The people show no hesitation in signing and some of them even seek those having the leases to get them. This being the case and it further being true that the people have manifested an interest in the classification to the extent of getting their house put among those of as cheap a rental as possible, leaves good reason to believe that they were sincere in their promises made and that they will give no further trouble.

There still remains some thirty or forty leases to be signed but this is simply because the proper one to affix this signature thereto has not been gotten up with as yet by the agent and his help.

Come to Morehead.

The State Guard Grounds at Wrightsville were recently reported by Adjutant Gen. Cameron to be unfit for the encampment this year. About three weeks ago Col. Eugene Harrell and Gen. Lewis went down to Morehead on an unofficial visit and we learn reported the place about two miles above Morehead as very attractive, with a fine water front and facilities for bathing at all times. This location is a beautiful site known as the Cedars on Mrs. Oaksmiths place. There is an expression of desire on the part of several papers for the encampment to be held there.

Immediately after the troops who were ordered to New Bern to aid the sheriff in enforcing the law on the James City people left for their homes, a special train left for Morehead with officers to officially investigate the suitability of the proposed place. The party consisted of Adjutant General F. H. Cameron, Major Wm. Grimes, Col. E. G. Harrell, Gen. Gaston Lewis, Capt. T. W. Jones of the United States Army.

From the Charlotte Observer.

We quote a few lines from the Charlotte Observer as wired by the representative of that excellent paper:

"Last night a very enjoyable concert was given by local talent to the editors in the opera house. Mr. Jerome Dowd read his poem, which brought down the house. The people of New Bern are doing everything possible for the pleasure and entertainment of the editors. Their hospitality is unbounded."

"The press convention adjourned this morning, sine die. The session was occupied with spirited discussions and some sharp debates. More interest was taken than in any of the former sessions. During the afternoon the editors were driven over a number of the truck farms and saw hundreds of acres of peas, potatoes, cabbage, beans and strawberries. These farms are beautiful."

An Ancient Table.

At Bellair, one of the closest postoffices to New Bern, Mr. Daniel Lane, one of our most worthy and industrious farmers, has a dining table, the history of which may interest some of our readers.

"It is a plain walnut table, was made in 1780 on the north side of Neuse river 18 miles above New Bern by a carpenter named Mitchell, who also the same year erected the house which still stands on the Lane farm."

The frame of this table has sixteen mortices and tenons, which fit as neatly as if just made, and is as solid and steady as ever.

This table has for more than one hundred years been in use as a dining table, most of the time for a large family.

Mr. Lane has entered from from it for more than fifty years, and its traditional history for the period before he knew it, justifies the conclusion that it has held food for, at least, an average of six persons for one hundred and twelve years.

Based on these facts Mr. Lane has made the following curious estimate of the amount of food that has been served on it: "Eighteen meals a day for this period would aggregate 795,840 meals, what an amount of food—more than $60,000 served on one table not less than twenty thousand dollars each, for the three generations that have feasted from it."

Coming and Going.

Mrs. L. C. Yeoman and child left on the steamer New Berns to visit Mrs. W. M. Moore of Norfolk.

Mr. S. M. Hancock, of Clubfoot Creek, who has been north on a business trip, came in on the steamer Neuse on route to his home.

Messrs. Jan. P. Milligan and Patrick O'Sullivan came from the steamer Neuse on official business, and left on the return trip.

Mrs. J. H. Benton, who has been in Sampson county visiting relatives, returned home last night.

Col. Deland left yesterday morning for Palestine, Texas, where he will be engaged a few weeks in getting the construction of a sewerage system started.

The refreshing rains have given truck a rapid growth, and the prospects are very favorable for a good yield. Prices are believed to be falling fairly well. Indications are that potatoes are going to bring good prices.

COL. D. N. BOGART.

His Remains Taken to Washington—A Few Further Remarks About His Death—Points in His Career.

The remains of Lieut. Colonel Bogart, who was accidentally killed by a fall from his horse Thursday evening, were taken to his home in Washington yesterday for internment, leaving on the morning train. They were escorted to the train by the Washington Light Infantry, assisted by the New Bern Naval Reserve Company.

The death of Col. Bogart was a sad ending to the stay of the troops in our city. He was a fine man and one of the leading druggists in Washington.

Col. Bogart was 47 years old and was a native of Washington. At the time of the war he was of the junior reserve of the Washington Light Infantry and was afterwards promoted to the position of Lieutenant Colonel which he was holding at the time of his death. He has been an office in the State Guard since 1877. He was a deacon in the Presbyterian church and was highly esteemed by all who knew him.

Mr. W. Z. Morton, his brother-in-law, of Washington, reached his side very quickly after the accident and kept by him as long as he could be of service in doing so.

Hejnings as that Col. Bogart spoke but two words after he fell and that was at the house of Mr. E. B. Roberts, when he was first taken when the accident occurred and they were "Mary, Mary," the name of his wife.

His wife and oldest daughter being telegraphed for, drove from Washington here with all haste, bringing with them two favorite physicians, Drs. D. T. Taylor and W. A. Blount.

Nearly the whole night was consumed in making the trip and Col. Bogart had been dead about two hours when they arrived.

He was given the very best attention by the physicians of the city and nothing left undone for his comfort.

A military guard was kept on duty constantly from the time of the accident both before and after his death and citizens, some of them boyhood companions of the deceased followed his remains to the train. Floral tributes of respect were also bestowed upon them.

The bicycle interest is growing rapidly in this city. Mr. W. T. Hill, agent for the vehicles, received four yesterday and sold them all. He took orders for two more. He has six on the way that are already engaged. We notice at his place of business a bicycle for ladies' use, the first one that ever came to the city and it is one of the finest made—the Columbia with pneumatic tires.
