

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria. "Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular Castoria, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it." UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY, Boston, Mass.
"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children." Dr. G. C. Osceola, Lowell, Mass.
"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope they do not forget that when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack remedies, they are preserving their loved ones, by fastening upon morphine, soothing syrup and other harmful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves." Dr. J. E. Kinchloe, Chicago, Ill.

THE JOURNAL.

A FAMOUS WAR SONG.

"This man Lamm Fontaine," continued the General, "is famous through the South for two things. It was he who, in May, 1863, undertook the seemingly foolhardy but nevertheless successful exploit of carrying a supply of percussion caps from the beleaguered General Pemberton, in Vicksburg, when that commander was entirely out of caps, and consequently could not fire a gun."
Fontaine—who then, as now, was a Mississippian, had horses shot from under him, and any quantity of bullets fired at him, making numerous holes in his clothes and equipage, besides other frightful dangers in that terrible experience. He is the hero of twenty-seven hard-fought battles, came out of the war minus a leg and bearing other evidences of his war experience. He is still living in his native State, where, at the age of 60, he works hard at his profession of surveyor and civil engineer.

"The other thing for which he is celebrated is the real author of the popular war song, 'All Quiet Along the Potomac Tonight.' To be sure, that fact is disputed, but I notice in a book of war songs recently published he is given the credit which to him rightfully belongs."
The following is a copy from the original poem:
"All quiet along the Potomac," they say,
Except here and there a stray picket,
Is lost as he walks on his beat to and fro
By a rifleman hid in the thicket."
"Is nothing—a private or two, now and then,
Will not count in the news of the battle
Not an officer lost, only one of the men—
Meaning out, all alone, the lonely rattle,
All quiet along the Potomac tonight,
Where the soldiers lie peacefully dreaming;
Their tents in the rays of the clear autumn moon
Or in the light of their camp-fires gleaming."

A tremulous sigh as a gentle night wind
Through the forest leaves softly is creeping,
While the stars up above with their glittering eyes,
Keeping guard over the army while sleeping,
There is only the sound of the lone sentry's tread,
As he tramps from the rock to the fountain,
And thinks of the two on the low trundle bed
Far away in the cot on the mountain.
His musket falls back—and his face, dark and grim,
Grows gentle with memories tender,
As he mutters a prayer for the children asleep—
For their mother—may heaven defend her!

The moon seems to shine as brightly as them,
That night when the love yet unspoken
Leaped to his lips, and when low murmured vows
Were pledged, to be ever unbroken.
Then drawing his sleeve roughly over his eyes
He dashes off tears that are welling,
And gathers his gun close up to its place,
As if to keep down the heart swelling.
He passes the fountain, the blasted pine tree,
His footsteps are lagging and weary
Yet onward he goes through the broad belt of light,
Toward the shade of the forest so dreary.
Hark! was it the night wind rustled the leaves?
Was it moonlight so wonderfully flashing,
It looked like a rifle—"Hal Mary, good-by!"
And the life blood is ebbing and plashing.

All quiet along the Potomac tonight,
No sound save the rush of the river,
While soft falls the dew on the face of the dead.
That picket's off duty forever!

There is nothing I have ever used for muscular rheumatism that gives me as much relief as Chamberlain's Pain Balm does. I have been using it for about two years—four bottles in all—on occasion required, and always keep a good thing in my home. I believe I know a bottle of it in my home, and Pain Balm is the best I have ever met with. W. B. Deany, dairyman, New Lexington, Ohio. 50 cent bottles for sale by J. V. Jordan.

Early self-denial is the upward step to success in life.
Col. L. J. Alfred Writest
I am in my seventy-third year, and for fifty years I have been a great sufferer from indigestion, constipation and biliousness. I have tried all the remedies advertised for these diseases and got no permanent relief. About one year ago the disease assuming a more severe and dangerous form, I became very weak and lost flesh rapidly. I commenced using Dr. H. M. Moziey's Lemon Elixir. I gained twelve pounds in three months. My strength and health, my appetite and my digestion were perfectly restored, and now I feel as young and vigorous as I ever did in my life.
L. J. ALFRED, Door-keeper Ga. State Senate, State Capitol, Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 5, 1891.

A Mother's Report.
Mrs. N. A. McEntire writes from Spring Place, Ga.: For many years I have been a great sufferer from indigestion, sick headache and nervous prostration. I tried many remedies, but got no permanent relief until I used Dr. Moziey's Lemon Elixir. I am now in better health than for many years. My daughter has been subject to chills and fever from her infancy. I could get nothing to relieve her; the Lemon Elixir has restored her to perfect health.
Sold by Druggists, 50c. and $1.00 per bottle. Prepared by Dr. H. Moziey, Atlanta, Ga.

A pleasant word spoken at the right time from the heart of sympathy will yield a goodly fruit.
The promptness and certainty of its cures have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy famous. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and is the most effective remedy known for these diseases. Mr. C. B. Main, of Union City, Pa., writes: "My daughter has a cough which has never been cured by any other medicine. I have heard of one falling to give until I saw your 50 cent bottle for sale by J. V. Jordan."

THE CONFEDERATE WAR JOURNAL.

An Illustrated Magazine,
Edited by General Marcus J. Wright
(Agent of the War Department for the Collection of Confederate Records) Bon La Bros, Associate

The first number will be issued April 1st. Published by the War Journal Publishing Company, Lexington, Ky., and 110 Fifth Avenue, New York City. It will be devoted exclusively to the history of the Confederate side of the late War between the States, as the Vice President of the Confederacy, Alexander H. Stephens, chose to call this mightiest of modern Conflicts and most gigantic of all struggles.

The War Journal will be replete with Portraits and Engravings, made from Sketches made by a Corps of Artists, many of whom followed the fortunes of the Confederate Armies, and who justly rank among the Heroes of the War.

They give faithful and Authentic Sketches of places of note, of all Battles, Sieges, Charges, Vessels of War, Naval Engagements, Portraits, Maps, Charts, etc. To the Confederate veteran these scenes will recall memories of his life on the tented field or quarter deck, of many hard-fought battles, of Marches, Bivouacs, Camp Fires and the numerous scenes and incidents peculiar to the daily life of a soldier or sailor, while to his children and the present generation they convey the reality of war with a vividness which nothing else can convey.

The full history of the Confederacy has hitherto not been written, we have bits and hints, and lines and coloring—here and there, but of the real inner life, the main spring, the motive, the sentiment, of that vast uprising, of the South, how little can be known. It has been given to the world—the demanded history will be given in the CONFEDERATE WAR JOURNAL.

The history, in the broad sense in which it is planned, may take years and years, but each succeeding year will add richness and glow to the fruitage. The paper will be backed by sufficient capital, and the services of writers of authority of all classes who were actors in the terrible drama, from the General to the Drummer Boy, and to the daughter and wife and mother at home, will add to the Confederates' story of the War. A vast library of the correspondence and orders and despatches of the chiefs of the Confederacy will be thrown open to the public.

Chapters will be given upon the most brilliant and authoritative writers. These writings will be profusely illustrated not only the Army but the Navy of the South, which so largely helped to revolutionize the marine affairs of the nations, will be fully treated, and then for despite all the grimness, every regiment had its wags, its ridiculous situations, its blood and merriment, in whose presence the imaginative Charles O'Malley would seem a very grave individual. To the funny, and unspasmodic ridiculous side of the conflict, volumes will be given. All these are but hints of the wealth to be distributed through the issuance of the Illustrated "Confederate War Journal," which will be within the reach of all. The Subscription price will only be $1.00 per year. Published by THE WAR JOURNAL PUBLISHING COMPANY, Lexington, Ky., and 110 Fifth Avenue, New York City.
