ONE OF the most satisfactory things about a Columbia Bicycle is the price. Owners of this school know they own a bicycle worth the price. $150, because Columbia are never at an advantage for less. Heavy elements are given on many other schools listed at $150, because they are not worth the listed price. The discount varies as does the patience and persistence of the prospective purchaser. Buy a Columbia, and know that you're beyond the shadow of a doubt in the Post on Earth 100,000 wheelable dummies. W. T. HUNT & Co., Sole Agents.

DIFFERENT Dishes. A preparation which has been used for many years, either for medicinal purposes to all who have used it. Compound of Vegetable Aromatics, Astragalus, Camomille and Angelica. Pleasant, Harmless and Effective. For Dyspepsia, Dizziness, Sickness, Constipation, Cholera, Gravel, Pain in the Stomach. This medicine is used and endorsed by Judge H. R. Bacon, Mr. W. H. Harvey, Mr. John B. Young and a number of other citizens of this and surrounding counties. For sale by dealers in the adjoining counties. F. S. Duff.

A FULL line of Spring and Summer Supplies, consisting of Cheviots, Black, Blue and Brown Serge, Fine Cashmere, Imported Suits, Worsted in all grades. Satisfaction guaranteed. F. M. Chadwick, Tailor, At Hall's book Store.

GET T. Sargent's Horse Show for Liberty Fine collection at Street's Horse Store. ELEGANT Saddlers at Street's Horse Store.

In 1873 silver was worth 132 cents an ounce. Cotton brought 29 cents a pound in Atlanta, and wheat 150 cents a bushel.

Hon. Charles F. Crisp is the recipient of considerable advice. Persons who have advice to offer are seldom stung.

Editor Watterson has discovered that he cannot use a hyphen in the title of his lecture on "Money and Morals." The truth is the two cannot be put in the same barrel.

A lack of capital is no excuse for idleness. The individual who is dead broke can always discuss the financial question in a fluent manner.

The Washington Post says: "Those statesmen who don't want offices for their constituents will hold out against the repeal of the Sherman law."

How does it happen, if business be going to the dogs, that the railroad companies are earning more money this summer than in any preceding summer? Railroad business furnishes a very good indication of the general situation.

It is astonishing how the call for an early session of Congress has revived the hopes of the financial world, who entertain the opinion that the silver question will be settled shortly after Congress meets and in a way that will greatly benefit the country.

Why not print the pension list. The Government has its own printing establishment, and the cost would be little. If the pension list is a roll of honor it would be an act of justice to men of merit. But, what a revelation it would be of fraud and rascality! Turn on the light.

One of the most infamous things we ever saw in a Republican newspaper is the N. Y. Advertiser's bid for the assassination of President Cleveland. It quotes a Wall Street broker as saying that this country needs another Giteau. That incendiary Cockrell ought to be punished severely for such an utterance of anarchy.—Wil. Messenger.

It is worthy of note that Iowa's dead eye cyclone closely followed the route of the Illinois Central Railroad. The identity of paths may have been a coincidence; but it will probably be seized upon as confirmation of the theory that such manifestations are of electrical origin, and tend to follow the metallic pathways of the railway and the telegraph lines.

It strikes as that in a country where 95 per cent of the business is done on credit, and where checks are so largely used in the transaction of business there should be no objection to state banks acting. The idea is simply to afford means of wealth additional facilities for using their credit in a way that will be a public convenience. The New York inventor is very much mistaken if it supposes that a man on no capital can issue a state bank note that will get into circulation and never be redeemed. The American people are not easily deceived in money matters.—C. Stanton.

The extreme of the thermometer yesterday was 85-1-2 and 69-1-2 a minimum of 25-1-2 degrees.

Look out for the State Guard! They pass through today enroute to the camp.

Would not New Berne be a good place for the W. N. & N. R. R. to establish their shops?

Colonel Allen Whittington, of Wake county, at 64 years of age, a married man, still attends the meetings of the justices and travels twelve miles from home to do it.

The Adjutant General of the Army has obtained Lieut. R. P. Dixon of the second artillery for duty at the command of the State Guard at Marshfield City.

The singing class in Y. M. C. A. Hall was well attended. Mr. H. B. Hardy, of the North Carolinian, being present, delighted all with specimens of his musical abilities.

The Academy Green presented a gay scene last night lit up as it was with a hundred Chinese lanterns and enlivened by numerous merry groups—almost exclusively young people enjoying the lawn party. The attendance and receipts were both satisfactory.

A prominent Philadelphian who is spending the season at Morehead pronounces it one of the finest resorts on the Atlantic coast. He says the breezes there are exceptional and not equalled in their uninterrupted play by any other place along the coast.

The fourth number of "The Southern States" is out. This is a fine, well-illustrated monthly magazine devoted to the South as relates to both its past, present and future, historically, industrially and otherwise. It is a publication that will be beneficial in any home.

Prof. E. M. Koonce, Principal of Jacksonville High School, announces the opening of the school on Monday September 18th. It holds nine months. This is the first session of this school at that place. A well equipped building has been produced for it and there is no reason why it should not prove a first class one.

The growth of the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts has been very remarkable. Starting four years ago with one building and five professors present, and with little equipment, it now has six buildings, fifteen professors and teachers, and a complete equipment in many technical lines. It graduated its first class in June, but in one many of these young men stepped into lucrative and responsible positions. The establishment of this school is one of the grandest moves ever made by North Carolina and we wish it all possible success. Its announcement appears in this issue.

House Burned.
A small house belonging to Dinah Morning, col., was burned in Pavia town Tuesday night near midnight.

The fire department responded very quickly after the alarm was sent in but owing to the distance and the hold the flames then had the building was destroyed.

The place was of small value but the fire was plainly an incendiary one. The house was empty at the time—the owner lived in one near and was more over off on the excursion to Goldsboro at the time.

A woman taken to be Henrietta Crawford, col., was seen running from the scene, but on the examination held yesterday morning Henrietta proved in undoubted alibi.

Coming and Going.

Prof. G. T. Adams left yesterday morning. He will first spend a week of vacation at Four Oaks. Then a fortnight at his home at Little River and a fortnight for which he will enter Vanderbilt University, Knoxville, Tenn., to study for the Methodist ministry.

Pay Your Bills.

If there is one fault in mankind more detestable than another, it is that of indifference towards meeting an obligation.

It is no rare occurrence to hear drunkards, the tobacco habit, and many other vices boldly attacked, but the gentleman who dead beats a newspaper, creates bills at livery and hotels to settle, runs store accounts with no intention of paying them except where he intends to gouge them deeper and for oars from each row whom that he can possibly get in with is no better than the thief who would break into a bank under the cover of night.

If there is any difference between the thief and the man who dead beats, the difference is the matter of the law.

How these vile wretches come by, and instances be received into good society, when it is publicly known that they have not alienated their contemptible practice, is more than we can understand.

Good society, if it wish, can obtain an excellent position, must treat in relation. It is not only the most specific, but the surest remedy.

There are others who do not intend to defraud their creditors. It is usually wishes to settle his indebtedness dollar for dollar, his creditors can easily find it out and generally this class of men are dealt with much leniency. Again there is a class of men who are plenty able to pay and have no inclination to do so. Their fellowman, but delay paying their bills, simply because it is a terrible struggle for them to turn a dollar loose. It goes like drawing eye teeth and they hold their fingers almost cramp. This class may not be guilty of a willful crime, but they are committing serious injury to the business public. The Philadelphia Record letter explains it says:

It would be impossible to estimate the harm and confidence is to be lost in conditions of stagnation and paucity of man and woman owing small bills. In the grocer, the doctor, the miller, the baker, the butcher, the carpenter, and the hundreds of persons in other callings who minister to our daily wants, should make prompt payment.

If the ten dollar debt owing to the grocer should be paid, to him he could settle his debt due to the doctor, and the doctor's wife could pay her milliner, the milliner the baker, and so on.

The ten dollars once started on its onward of liquidation might satisfy hundreds of dollars of indebtedness as fast as it could be passed from debtor to creditor. The man who thrusts it in his pocket and lets his creditor wait, contributes his share toward augmenting business distress. When thousands of men, actuated by fear or careless disregard of serious duty, begin to hoard money, instead of paying their debts, distress, must result. When millions lose confidence and pay only when they are only forced to do so, further business is impossible. All the wealth of the millionaires thrust into the breach could not make good popular default.
