Americans will produce 26,000,000 gallons of wine this year. The exact number of headcases this output will produce is not stated.

There are in this country about 106,000 Chinamen subject to deportation, but as it would cost, as figured out, $3,745,000 to send them back, the probabilities are that John will continue to linger with us for an indefinite period. There is now about $15,000 on hand, to which Senator Dolph, of Oregon, wants $500,000 added by appropriation. But while Uncle Sam is as hard pushed for cash as he now is the Congressional solons will conclude to put up with the presence of the festive celestial a little longer.—Star.

Our merchants are beginning to receive their fall and winter goods in large quantities.

The days are gradually becoming cooler and the leaves beginning to fall are evidences of approaching fall.

The enrollment at the Agricultural and Mechanical college on opening day reached 118. This surpassed all expectations.

Another sad case of "didn't know it was loaded" has occurred at Columbus, Ga. Tom Fletcher shot and killed his brother.

Another series of heavy pension frauds are being unearthed in Baltimore. Some of them are of a most startling character of fifteen and twenty years standing.

The cotton crop in most of the States has been considerably cut off by excessive rain. In some sections the estimate is placed at one third less than a month ago.

The Neuse returned yesterday with her hull entirely repainted and elsewhere where needed and with machinery put in first class order for the busy winter season.

The window-sign painting has extended to Broad street. Mr. C. E. Nelson's meat market and W. R. Barrington's sewing machine supply house were thus ornamented yesterday.

Rev. J. W. Farnies is holding two services a day in the Presbyterian Church at Croatan, one at 11 a. m., the other at 7:30 p. m. They began Sunday and will continue through the week.

In turning corners vehicles should always be careful. Drivers and riders should be compelled to slow down and always turn to the right. It is the only sure way of avoiding collision.

Mr. J. R. Philots, a corporal from the Artillery School at Fort Monroe, Va., is stopping at Hotel Albert. He will receive recruits for the 1st artillery. Any one wishing to join will call at the hotel between the 14th and 25th of this month.

The sidewalk of the McAdams road which had been allowed to grow rank in weeds beyond the city limits is being cleared off by the United States Government to which it belongs. Uncle Sam has not looked after his sidewalks this year as early and well as he might.

Mr. A. L. Heath of Croatan and Miss Alice V. Kubank were married at the residence of the bride's parents in Jones county, near Trenton Wednesday afternoon, September 13th at 3 o'clock. Rev. Geo. Harrison officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Heath passed through on route to their home last night.

Two boys, Henry and Milton Barnes, cousins, were playing with a gun at Averbore, Harnett county, when Milton pointed the gun at Henry and asked the owner of the gun, a Mr. Lucas, if it was loaded but before he received a reply the gun was discharged and the whole load went into Henry's right breast, passing through the lung. The boy died.

First Cotton Seed.
Wednesday, Sept. 13th is the date of the selling of the first new cotton on the New Bern exchange this season. Nine bales were sold—all except two bales brought 7 1/2 cents, they brought 7 1/4. Our enterprising young townsman, Mr. J. E. Latham, was the purchaser of all. He immediately shipped it by the N. N. & W. line along with a lot of old cotton to the Philadelphia mill.

This is the first of cotton brought down by the steamer Howard the previous day. The freight is a few cents yesterday.

Believes Col. Harrell innocent.
Presiding Elder E. A. Yates, of the Western North Carolina Conference is out in a half column card in the News-Observer-Chronicle. In the card, though giving due credit for honest opinion to those believing in Col. Harrell's guilt, Dr. Yates announces his belief that the innocence and admission in both these papers will be investigated before the Teachers' Assembly. Harrell's committee which was appointed by the conference on the 13th of August, 1893, and which Col. Harrell has since announced he will attend.

Two Sneak Store Thieves Caught.

Two negro girl shop-lifters were caught stealing shoes from Messrs. Hackburn & Willett yesterday. The older, named Maria Bryant, is about fifteen years of age—the younger, named Mary Johnson appears to be about eleven.

Three visits were made to the store. The little one would get waited on, making some trifling purchase or pretending she was after samples for citizens; and while she was engaging the attention of the clerk the older one would do the stealing.

On the first trip two pair of shoes were stolen; on the second a single russet shoe of a five dollar pair was all that was secured. This was missed and when they entered the third time suspicions were aroused against them and Mr. Charlie Roberts kept a sharp lookout though not seeming to do so. The girl stole another russet shoe, not a match however to the one previously taken, though no doubt that was what she was after.

Having got the shoe, she left rapidly with Mr. Roberts after her. Seeing him, she quickened her gait to a run and turned the corner of Hancock street and entered the back door gate of the corner house, before being caught up with.

No doubt she expected to elude pursuit right there, but she hid the shoes in an out-house and asked for work of the lady of the household.

Mr. Roberts assisted by Mr. Bates Lawrence soon found where she was and captured her; also found and recovered the two mismatched shoes.

The small girl had in the meantime escaped, but after the arrest of her companion she came up to the police station and was herself taken. She confessed to having left one pair of the stolen shoes at a restaurant and they were recovered—the remaining pair is missing still. The preliminary trial will be held this morning. From the girl's own statements they have been operating similarly at other stores. It can be a matter of conjecture how much our citizens have suffered at their hands.

Coming and Going.

The steamer Neuse brought in the following passengers: Mr. H. B. Duffy and family returning from a trip to the World's Fair and a visit to relatives in Norfolk; Mr. Jos. B. Clark and wife returning from a visit to relatives; Mr. A. M. Baker returning from a business trip and Misses Hattie and Lena Dal returning from the World's Fair.

Mr. W. C. Gage of Buffalo, New York, has arrived to put in the pumps of the water works and has commenced the work.

Mr. J. L. Fowler left on the steamer Neuse taking his little son who is crippled from an attack of spinal meningitis to Johns Hopkins Hospital for treatment.

Mr. S. E. Kirkpatrick, of LaGrange has taken a situation with Mr. J. E. Latham and was right in at the office at the opening of the cotton buying season yesterday.

Miss Lucy Rihnton left on the steamer Neuse for New York to purchase a fall stock of millinery.

Rev. W. T. Jones, who has been visiting relatives at Morehead and in New Bern left on the steamer Neuse for Norfolk.

Mr. J. J. Disoway who has been spending a few weeks among the Western North Carolina mountains returned last night.

Improving the Suburbs.

The outer limits of the city are receiving attention from the street working force. The upper portion of Broad street—from Reidsville up to the End street—is among the 'last gone over. It has been better graded than ever before since it was a street and the ditch on the north side has been so deepened where necessary as to make it drain the water from the upper end of the street to the junction of Garner Street.

The latter street, one of the centre ones of the new suburb, Reidsville, is likewise being graded and the water drained from a pond which formerly stood at one place in it to the same point on Broad street. From there it all enters in an aqueduct and is conveyed across to Queen street, thence to Moonshine Alley and then on by way of German street to Lawson's creek.

A number of places need similar attention and the work is going on as fast as the means of the city will pay.

Water Works Notes.

The second well of the water works had reached a depth of 289 feet at noon yesterday.

The brick boiler house of the water works is receiving a coat of white-wash. This will make it correspond with the tower which is painted white.

The two million gallon pumps are being put in this week—this work is in charge of Mr. W. C. Gage, of Buffalo, New York.

Believes Col. Harrell innocent.
Presiding Elder E. A. Yates, of the Western North Carolina Conference is out in a half column card in the News-Observer-Chronicle. In the card, though giving due credit for honest opinion to those believing in Col. Harrell's guilt, Dr. Yates announces his belief that the innocence and admission in both these papers will be investigated before the Teachers' Assembly. Harrell's committee which was appointed by the conference on the 13th of August, 1893, and which Col. Harrell has since announced he will attend.

Give Credit Where Credit is Due.

A Raleigh correspondent of the Norfolk Virginia mentions the failure of this State to receive that proportion of credit for one of its great Eastern products as follows:

"The oysters which were canned in this State have not borne any North Carolina marks. They were all shipped without labels to Baltimore and thence were put out as choice Baltimore oysters. At the World's Fair, for this reason, no North Carolina canned oysters are shown."

The fact that North Carolina canned oysters go out to the world labelled as though they were the products of another State is a fact which the JOURNAL has more than once alluded. The reason is that those who own the canneries, were in the business in other places before coming to North Carolina and they claim that a trade for their brands having been established a change in the label would result in loss to them.

We see only two ways for the State to get the credit that belongs to her for this line. One way is for the Legislature to pass a bill requiring all canned goods put up in the State to be thus marked before leaving, and the other is for our own people to engage in the business themselves. Why should not native capital be invested in this industry? The plants cost but little comparatively, the business is easily learned, and there is a good profit as abundantly shown by the great and increasing demand for canned goods and by the prosperity of those running canning factories.

We fully appreciate the moving of old established canners to our State and their developing the business among us. Without them it would probably have been many a long day yet before it would have attained the proportions it already has, but we think our State should have the credit for its products and we would like also to see the business continually developing under both local management and capital.

A Good Sign.

Native hay is coming in and judging from appearances the crop will be abundant. The growth is luxuriant, and near the city more land on almost every farm has "gone to grass" than ever before. If farms more remote have done equally as well the spectacle of a Craven county farmer buying forage this year will be a rare one. These neighboring farms not only have enough but to spare. The native crab grass takes the lead but attention is likewise being paid to clover, millet, &c.

The increasing tendency to raise is consumed on the farm is good. It insures comfort and safety should the usual money crops prove low in price and keeps the money that would otherwise be spent for them in the grower's pocket whether the prices of truck cotton, &c., be high or low.

And besides it must be borne in mind that while the products which are suited for home consumption are not considered among us as the standard money crops any surplus can be easily and very advantageously turned into money in short order. They are of a kind which people must have and for which there is always a market, and while they never command fancy prices there is always a demand for them at a sure profit. There is no risk in raising them.

MR. HARRELL ONCE MORE.

The Plan of Settlement Proposed
RALPHIGH, N. C. Sept. 11th.

Ten days have elapsed since the Board of Arbitration and Award was suggested by business men of Raleigh to settle all matters in dispute in regard to the Teachers' World's Fair party, and no response has been given by those who have made complaints in the newspapers, nor have they appointed any members of the Board, as was requested, and thus the proposed plan of fair investigation has been defeated.

In the meantime some paper published in Durham, which has been very active in leading the complaints, had demanded that all matters in dispute shall be investigated and settled by the Executive Committee of the Teachers' Assembly. I most cheerfully agree to and accepted this proposition, and have requested Mr. John J. Blair, President of the Assembly, to call a meeting of the Executive Committee, in Raleigh, on September 23d, at my expense, for the purpose of fully and thoroughly investigating all matters in dispute. Any persons feeling aggrieved may be heard before the committee. His decisions to be accepted by all parties as final settlement of every question in dispute.

E. G. HARRELL.
