Scramble Race .- A third mile dash, o-as-you-please,

Winner of first race F. Tisdale, second ace P. LaMontagne.

Saddle and Coat Race -In this race sch contestant had to take off the saddle is horse and his own coat, then put all on including the buttoning of his coat, then race.

1st.-F. Tisdale. 2d. - Ellis Williams.

Egg and Spoon Race.-Each rider was provided with a large wooden spoon ontaining an egg. A ribbon tied at the cutre of the handle marked the closest pot at which it was permissible to grasp the spoon. Thus equipped each man yas to ride around the track without dropping the egg. In case one was dropped the loser had to return to the tand, get another and start afresh. It was amusing to see the perplexity as to how first would be safe to go, the chagrin manifested when an egg would be dropped and the speed with which the hapless loser would rush back after The vellow lever is still gathering another, the others getting a big start on him all the time except when one would meet with the same misfortune, which would sometimes be done when the race was almost won. It was a matter of surprise, however, to see the speed that ould be maintained by some and yet mintain possession of the egg. The winners were
