A convention of sportsmen will be held in Atlanta on the 17th of the present month, and it is to be hoped that the attendance will be large enough to make the body a representative one. The convention will meet for the purpose of considering and recommending to the attention of the legislature such changes in our game laws as will add to their efficiency in preserving game and preventing its extinction.—Constitution.

John Snelling, who is a firm believer in the efficacy of the rabbit-foot in promoting luck, explains the success of the Vigilant upon the theory that he paid a negro boy to place right under the Vigilant's job-box more than a week ago, while she was in dock, the foot of a rabbit which was slain in a graveyard at 12 o'clock at night, dark of the moon. This incident is likely to increase the demand for the rabbit-foot talisman.—New York Advertiser.

The Pottawatomie chief whose father gave Chicago her name explains that it signifies "where the skunk dwells." A few resentful people, who in the first rush of the World's Fair were unmercifully overcharged for roller-chairs, may sniff a lingering fitness in the name; but, on the whole, it will be agreed that, barring such times as the sewage-laden winds blow in from her lagoons, Chicago is in as fine odor as any city on the top of the earth.

North Carolina has mined nearly $10,000,000 worth of gold since 1874.

Last year there were 4,719 State pensioners. This year the number will probably reach 5,000.

The storm in Wilmington we learn was quite severe on wharves and other property bordering on the water.

The residence and store of Mr. Win. Fleet at Wilmington was burned yesterday. Loss probably $3,500.

Secretary Barnes, of the State Farmers Alliance, says there are now 1,500 subscribers in North Carolina.

Mr. J. W. Smallwood has been getting in and arranging his stock during the week. It is making a very good appearance. Mr. Smallwood will be ready for customers this morning.

The Supreme Court takes strong ground against usury. It decides that where over 8 per cent. interest is charged all interest is forfeited and any payments made are to be credited upon the principal.

The percentage of the condition of crops in the State for October were summarized by the Agricultural Department as follows: Corn, 84; cotton, 70 1-2; peanuts, 87; field peas, 81 1-2; tobacco, 78. This is the last report of the year.

Because of the inclemency of the weather the reception exhibition which was to be given for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. last night by Mr. Geo. N. Wynnan was postponed until Monday evening next.

Five hundred horses were caught in the flaming barns of the Chicago city railway company and either suffocated or burned to death. The loss on the building was $25,000. The total loss about $110,000.

The comprehensive bulletin of fruit and fruit culture of the State experiment station, is in the hands of the printer and will be out in a few days. It covers about 100 pages. This will be the complete bulletin on the subject that has been gotten out by any station.

Lottie, the three year old daughter of Rev. J. A. Rouse, of Manteo died on Wednesday, the 11th, inst., of congestion of the brain. The remains accompanied by the parents were brought to the city by the steamer Nouse and taken on by rail to Techeys, Duplin county for interment.

The one hundred acre vineyard being planted at Southern Pines by New Yorkers is composed entirely of the Niagara which has proven to thrive best in the light sandy soil that prevails there. Also arrangements are about completed for the construction of another new hotel there to cost $175,000.

Designs for the State Confederate Monument are rapidly going in. Mrs. Armistead Jones, president of the Monument Association, says it is the purpose to meet within 10 days and select a design. There is a general desire that work shall soon begin. The monument will cost about $35,000 of which the association is confident of raising $15,000. The issue of certificates of membership have already begun. These cost $1 each and are to be souvenirs. They contain all the four designs of the Confederate flag, the Confederate seal and the seal of the association. Under the latter is a piece of ribbon from the funeral car of Jefferson Davis, used in Raleigh May 30, last.

Card of Thanks.

Cotton Movements and Fluctuations.

Latham, Alexander & Co., bankers and cotton brokers, of New York have issued the twentieth edition of their annual book on "Cotton Movements and Fluctuations."

This work has become a standard book of reference all over the world. It gives an interesting review of the cotton trade of the whole globe written expressly for this edition by the distinguished statistician Thomas Ellison, of Liverpool.

It also has the recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States touching business contracts as conducted by the New York Cotton Exchange and the usual tables of receipts, stocks, exports, consumption, passage, total visible supply and fluctuations and such original matter that can be found nowhere else in so concise a form, though the book is very valuable to all cotton men. Messrs. Latham, Alexander & Co. do not publish it for sale but for gratuitous distribution among their customers, which shows their devotion to the patrons interested.

Coming and Going.
Mrs. G. W. Wallace and children left yesterday morning to visit relatives at Goldsboro.

Mrs. D. T. and Master Goellet Carrigan who have been spending the summer with relatives in the western part of the State returned home last night.

Mr. Herman Clark, of Pantego is visiting his brother Mr. Jas. B. Clark.

Miss Augusta Crapon, daughter of Capt. Crapon of the W. N. & N. Railroad came in on yesterday morning's train from Wilmington and is stopping at Hotel Albert. The remainder of the family were expected on the afternoon train coming by the storm.

Rev. B. P. Matthews who has been visiting at his home in Asheville came in en route to a Theological Seminary of Philadelphia to pursue his theological studies further. He will remain in the city until Monday, the guest of Rev. Rufus Ford.

A Worthy Effort.
We publish this morning a card from Rev. Height C. Moore recently of Morehead City, in reference to his collection of the gems of North Carolina poetry.

The book will be one that every citizen of the State should feel proud to have in his library and there ought not to be the slightest difficulty in getting a ready response to the request for five hundred guaranteed subscribers for which Mr. Moore asks before putting the work to press. We are confident the subscribers could be secured at once by personal visitation but as the publications of the work is a patriotic one and not a money making scheme this will not be done and the slight trouble of writing a postal card by would-be subscribers takes its place. Speedy notification of a willingness to take the work when ready is earnestly desired by the author that the work may be pushed to completion.

Killed by a Carry Log.
A sad accident occurred Monday at Bell's creek six and a half miles from Beaufort on the New Berne road which resulted in the death of Sadie Guthrie, six years old, the daughter of Mrs. Sarah Guthrie, a widow lady.

Two loaded log carriages were being driven along and the child passed around the first one and got in the middle of the road, and probably engaged with looking at the first, and did not notice the second until the oxen were close upon her and then in trying to pass out the wheel of the carry log caught her and passed over her body and crushed her life out. She breathed her last about a half hour after the accident.

Soap Factories
The Winston Republican tells of good specimens of toilet soap made by Mr. Seward of that city for use in his own family and says further that quite a number of Twin-City house wives use for general purposes, both hard and soft soap of local preparation and urges this fact as an argument for a regular factory. We are of opinion that scarcely any factory could be established more cheaply than one for making soap and its product is one that is always in demand—there is no more article in more universal use.

Those with limited capital who are looking for something to do have a pointer here worthy of the consideration.

Keiffer Pears.
Mr. J. W. Franck, of Riehlana, Onslow County was at the city yesterday with a load of about fifty bushels of very fine Keiffer pears, a very late variety. He informed us that two trees about eight years old, yielded about thirty bushels. They were selling at the rate of $3 per bushel. This looks like it would be hard to find a better paying acre on any farm than one devoted to the best varieties of pears. They rank among the best of fruit and we never knew the market to be over stocked with them.

Attention Ladies!
Ladies, I wish to call your attention to my stock of millinery and ladies dress goods. It will pay you to come and look through my tremendous stock, whether you intend to buy or not, we wish to see you. One visit will convince you that there is no stock in the city to compare with Big Ike's in quality, and most assuredly in price.

THE PREDICTED STORM.

Very Little Damage in New Berne Except Along the River Front.

New Berne, as a rule, is exempt to a remarkable degree from damaging storms but yesterday's unusual considerable loss to mill and other property along the water front.

The tide had been high for several days, as high as it generally gets, and yesterday morning about 8 o'clock the strong wind caused it to begin rising rapidly and in a few hours it was exceptionally high, inasmuch that the water was over the market wharf as far up Middle street as W. P. Burris' store and in the rear of J. F. Taylor's store it stood four inches deep.

On East Front in the neighborhood of the rock wall it reached entirely across the street so that if any passing was done it had to be by wading or going into logs. Eighteen boats—cane, gulets and one large flat near 50 feet in length were washed up on the street and left in it. By the storm, white plank and other debris covered the street that passing along there with vehicles was an utter impossibility, even after the water receded.

Goods in warehouses of stamer lines and in some business places near the water would have been seriously hurt by the water but, for prompt removal to the upper floors or places farther removed from the river but the trouble and expense of moving was about all the loss involved in the way.

Wharves and six mills were the chief places to suffer. The damage to them seems to be between two and three thousand dollars.

The Mowbray Lumber Company faced bed. Some fifty or sixty thousand feet of lumber was on hand. Some of it was warped into the river and much of the remainder so soaked that it will blacken and have to be sold for about half price.

Mr. Mowbray's stable was undermined, log pond broke up a 300 foot long walk washed away and other damage done amounting in all to about $500.

Mr. J. M. Gosper suffered in the loss of logs and damage to lumber some two or three hundred dollars.

Mr. J. S. Basnight sustained damage to machinery and track at his mill stand to about $75. His mill and the other property on the James City side had not been heard from during the day.

A little of the railroad embankment at the foot of Hancock street was washed away but was promptly filled in by the gravel train.

The wharves at Watson & Daniels were washed away and also the ground beyond them up to the building entailing a loss of about $200.

The same result was shown at the New Berne Improved Cotton ginery opposite. The wharf logs and ground beyond were washed away—the engine room undermined, one side of it torn away, the pump washed overboard, etc. The damage will not doubt be as high as $600.

The Meadows grist mill yard and Ellis' coal yard were entirely submerged, and the wharves injured to some extent.

The wharf at Fowler's ferry was washed up, also the wharf at the former site of the mills of the New Berne Lumber Company; likewise the walk leading to the New Berne Yacht Club house and the wharf around it. This we judge will cost the club at least $200 to put it back as it was.

The east front rock wall was left in a little worse condition than before. The wharf around the Justice lot was injured and the Government wharf—a portion of the same property—to about the extent of $400.

The Clark Lumber Company suffered some, but the mills beyond at last account escaped with very little loss.

A portion of the tin roof of the gas works was torn up and a few trees and fences, and a good many limbs blown down.

The weather cleared at night and the wind moderated though still blowing pretty hard.

The Beaufort Cannery.
The Washington Gazette says the oyster cannery at Beaufort will begin work the 1st of November, and that the cans this year will have North Carolina labels on them, and thus not have the credit given to Maryland as heretofore.

We hope other canneries will follow suit, soon start up and then label the cans with the names of the State in which the oysters are produced and canned. The putting of Maryland or other State labels on North Carolina products is an injustice and we are glad to see the start made towards remedying it.

"Poor clothes make unhappy faces."
It is a well known fact that a man's emotions and surroundings will in time have an effect on his facial expressions. That is to say, if a man for any considerable time wears a raw edge collar he will look unhappy, or if his trousers are fringed at the bottom, or if his coat is too tight in the back it will have the same effect. In your trouble come to us, we will try and help you out in Clothing, Shoes and Hats, Collars, Cuffs and Ties. If you need anything in this line call and see us, we will do you right.

J. M. HOWARD.

IN MEMORIAM.

Whereas it hath pleased Almighty God, to take out of this world, the soul of our Father in Christ, Rev. Edward M. Forbes, who entered into rest, at his home in Beaufort, N. C., on the morning of September the 23rd, 1893, in the 83rd year of his age. Who was, for many years, the beloved Rector of this Parish, and whose name was familiar in the ministry and councils of the Diocese of North Carolina for over half a century, and of that of East Carolina, from the date of its formation. A faithful missionary, an able divine, a zealous and firm defender of the Faith.

Resolved, That while we are grieved at this sad dispensation, yet we rest assured that he has laid down the cross to receive the crown that his sufferings here have worked out for him a far greater and exceeding reward in the Eternal World, and that he has met that welcome, which he has so often quoted the pulpit, for the encouragement of other "Come ye blessed of my Father, inherit the Kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world."

Resolved, That the Parish of Christ Church will cherish in loving memory his faithful performance of duty as its Rector for a period of eleven years. His valuable services in organizing the congregation after the disturbances of the late war. The instituting of Memorial Chapel with the Parochial and Sunday schools, the organizing of Christ Church Relief Society, his zeal and energy in rebuilding the church after its destruction by fire in 1871 will always be kept in mind together with grateful recollections of his sincere and godly example in troubles; his encouragement in his affectionate appeals to bring out his admonition, advice and sympathy to all who were in sorrow, need, sickness or any other adversity; and especially his great interest in the training of the young and care for the temporal and spiritual necessities of the poor.

Resolved, That this preamble and these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Vestry and a copy be furnished THE DAILY JOURNAL, with the request that the same be published.

Ordered by the Vestry of Christ Church, at a meeting held October 23d, 1893.

T. M. N. GROVE, Rector.

Poets of North Carolina.

The first and only general collection of N. C. poetry was made by Mrs. Mary Bayard Clarke, of New Berne in 1874 and published in two volumes with the title of "Wood Notes or Carolina Carols." This was appreciated in the literary circles of the State. It included some thirty verses, but was chiefly hindered with material which was more patriotic than meritorious.

Our best poetry has been written since the war. The storm forced music from the lyre. About a dozen volumes of poems have been published and countless rhymes have appeared in the current magazines and newspapers of the day. It is needless to say that the great mass of our poetry is absolutely worthless—made of literary point of view. There is much chaff and little wheat. But the wheat should not be neglected. Because of the chaff why not garner the grain?

More than four years ago the writer of these lines began the work of collecting the cream of Carolina poetry. All available poems have been carefully examined and the best in my judgment retained. I do not claim great merit for all in the collection, and doubtless there is some valuable verse which I have failed to secure. Yet I believe that in this collection of eighty poems by twenty-eight writers is embraced, one choicest verse laborious research, extensive correspondence and help from high sources have been resorted to in the preparation of the work.

The book will cover about 150 pages, will be bound in cloth and sold at $1.00 per copy. I am ready to place the MSS. in the hands of the printers. But I cannot do this unless I secure at least five hundred advance subscribers. If the names come in rapidly the work can be sent out by Dec. 1st. Drop me a postal stating you will send me $1.00 for the book when notified it is ready for delivery. Ask your friends to do likewise. Write to me at once and do not let a home enterprise fail.

Sincerely,
HAROLD C. MOORE,

Is the True Benefactor of the Widow & Orphan?

E. B. HARRIS, President Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association of New York.

We speak of the life insurance the results of which are $2,000,000, through the policy of W. D. Pope, in payment of money No. 23851, held by a trust company, increased by a year's interest, and the chief fully reported, and we say to all who are interested in life insurance, about the same as the Mutual Life Company.
