THANKSGIVING THOUGHTS

A turkey stood in a cranberry swamp,
And sang till his throat was sore,
For all day long, he sang this song:
"We shall meet on that beautiful shore,"
Be thankful that no speculator has thought to corner the cranberry crop or the turkey product of the land.
Brown—Do you think there will be enough pumpkin pie for Thanksgiving?
Mrs. Brown Yes unless Johnnie finds we went out and left the pantry unlocked.
Hungry Hyslop—Can't you help me a bit, boss? I hadn't had nothing to be thankful for to-day. Mr. Delmonico Savarin (who has dined too well)—Be thankful that you haven't an indigestion!
Rejoice that so far not more than 90 per cent. of the college football players have been seriously crippled in the pursuit of sport.
She (gratefully)—Well, everybody has something to be thankful for. He (casually)—Except the turkey.
Charles—Have you anything to be thankful for to-day? Frederic—Hoops, I've contrived to break off all my engagements to marry.
Rejoice that the spirit of progress that sneers at the doings of our fathers has not yet been able to affect the mince pie of our mothers.
Little Johnnie—Was it right to ask Samba if he had a turkey for Thanksgiving? Brown—Yes, provided you didn't go further and ask him where he got it.
"Yes, we should all thank of the poor
on Thanksgiving." "So we should.
Did you give anything this year?" Oh
yes. "What?"
She—Isn't it a pity that they don't have mistletoe on Thanksgiving, as they do at Christmas? He—Do you think, Miss Maude, that it is always—ahem—necessary? She—It seems to be for some men.
Major Pickett (at the Thanksgiving reunion)—Well, my little man, do you know what you have to be thankful for?
The Little Man—Yes, indeed, sir. I am thankful that there is some Jamaica ginger in the house.
Colonel Grey—Well, Uncle Jasper, I see you have your turkey. You must have been working right hard lately to be able to get such a fine fellow as that.
Uncle Jasper—Yes, sah, I might work
mol'ly.
"This is a hard fate," said the roast turkey to the carving knife. "It isn't as hard as you are," retorted the knife, as his edge was turned back by the turkey's breast.
"I heard little Johnny say that Thanksgiving day would be here soon," said a young turkey to its mamma. "Do turkeys have Thanksgiving days ma?" "Yes my dear," replied the mamma turkey. "We will hold ours after the folks at the house
have had theirs—if we live."
Mr. Brady (surveying the scanty repast) —'Tis devilish little dinner we have to be thankful for this day, Nora! Mrs. Brady —Whist, Mollie! Yes do be forgettin' that she should be thankful there do be no more here to ate it!
Bloodsucker—I suppose you will repair to your place of worship on Thanksgiving day, as the president recommends in his proclamation. Spats—Yes I expect to eat my dinner on that day at my best girls house.
Mrs. Tomdik—We ought to be happy on this Thanksgiving day. I'm sure we have much to be thankful for. Tomdik
—Yes but I feel that I could be thankful for a great deal more if we had it to be thankful for.
First Small Boy—I can't play any longer. "Time to go home to Thankgiving dinner." Second Small Boy—Thank-giving dinner was over two or three days ago. First Boy—We always have our Thankgiving a few late. Pop says turkey isn't as cheap as then, and there's nothing to be thankful for.
"Have you any special reason to give thanks?" asked Mrs. Bonnet, as her husband packed his surgical case on Thanksgiving day. "Have," replied the doctor putting in an extra roll of plaster; we should be thankful for the invention of football.
We pulled the wishbone, Sus and I—
"I wish to kiss you!" my hearts sigh—
She won; but I've since understood.
That she was wishing that I would!

COTTON SALES

Wednesday—290 bales, 6.75 to 7.35.
The gymnasia races have been postponed.
Base ball and foot ball at the Fair grounds to-day.
There will be Thanksgiving services held at the Jewish Synagogue this morning at 10 a. m.
Trenton is getting to be quite a cotton market for a village. 225 bales were sold there yesterday.
Thanksgiving services will be held today at 11 o'clock in Centenary M. E. church, the Episcopal church, the Baptist churches and some others.
The repainting of the Baptist parsonage is nearly finished. The new colors make the house look almost like another building. They are beautiful, and contrast well. The improvement is striking.
The evening entertainment to be given by the ladies of the Working Society of Christ Church will be held Wednesday, December the sixth. The proposed program will be new and novel, and is to be followed by an oyster supper.
The gates at the Fair grounds will be open at 3 o'clock for the base ball match game. The players are expected to be on the grounds for a practice of 10 minutes before the game begins at 3:30 sharp.
It behooves "all good citizens," according to the proclamations of the chief authorities of our State and country, and according to the bountifulness of their blessings, to observe today. Those looked up to by others should set the example.
Goldsboro is doing something at increasing their supply of shade trees. Now is the time for setting them out. There are numbers of vacant places on our streets that ought to be filled and some old trees doing but little service that ought to be removed, and their places filled by vigorous young ones.
The Progressive Age says that crops of all kinds have been good this season fully up to the average. The fall crop of potatoes is very fine and no seed will be imported for spring planting. This will be a great saving to farmers and truckers and a dollar saved is a dollar made.
Thanksgiving service at the Presbyterian church at eleven o'clock this morning conducted by Rev. F. W. Farries. A box will be in the vestibule to receive contributions of clothing, food, books, toys, &c., to be sent to Barium Springs Orphanage, and a collection will be taken for same cause. No prayer meeting at night.
We will, according to North Carolina newspaper custom give all our employees holiday that there may be no hindrance to their proper observance of Thanksgiving Day set apart by proclamations of the President of the United States and the Governor of North Carolina. On account of this there will not be another issue of the JOURNAL until Saturday morning.
The Monroe Enquirer makes a correction on a big hog story as follows: "It has been going the rounds of the State press that Mr. Lewis Williams, of New Salem township, has killed a hog which weighed 750 pounds. Mr. Williams is a good farmer and has killed a good sized hog, but it did not weigh 750 pounds. The exact weight of the hog, so Mr. Williams says, was 537 pounds."

From New Berne to Wilmington.

Road trips to Wilmington for pleasure
are getting to be the popular thing now.

Quite a number of our people, ladies and gentlemen, sixteen in all, took the trip yesterday, nearly all returning last night.

They report that great preparations are being made for Welcome Week, Wilmington has always had a great time on such occasions and she intends to spread herself again. It will be an event which it will repay all to take in and we think numbers of our citizens are looking forward to with pleasant anticipations.

Great Base Ball Match Game

There is no doubt but that the attendance at the Fair grounds this afternoon will be immense. The most interesting game of the season will be played.

Some good playing may be expected.
The single men's team expect to surpass any previous effort and no doubt they will.

The game will begin at 3:30 o'clock.
The admission fee will be 25c. for men,
15c. for ladies and 10c. for children under 14 years of age.

—Ral. Cor. Wil. Messenger.

A slight change of schedule will go into effect on the A. & N. C. R. R. next Monday. The passenger train will arrive and leave a half hour earlier in the morning than it now does and ten minutes earlier in the afternoon.

Low Rates to Wilmington.

Do not forget that the fare by the W.
N. & N. Railroad to Wilmington during Welcome Week will be but $3.50 for the round trip. This also will be the cost for visitors to the M. E. Conference which will be in session at the same time.

MOORE.

My friend you may think Moore was mistaken but this seems to be the conclusion of all wise heads.

Now, if we could interest the ladies in our favor, whenever their husbands or sweethearts wanted any clothing, hats or shoes, they would direct them right to Howards

That's what we want you to do.

They'll get good goods and their money's worth. So send them to us for anything they need to complete their wardrobe.

THYME AND SAGE.

Ode.

Hail to thee, O Turkey!
In November murky.

Thou alone art bird of birds,
Of all feathered tribes the king.

Oh, how weak are any words
When they praise we try to sing!

Eagles, with great outstretched pinions,
Soar at will o'er our dominions;

But they soar and glare and scorch
Out of every human's reach.

In the barnyard of the farmer
There's a greater king than he;

Tune for him thy harp, oh, palmer!
Chant to him thy minstrelsy!

Hail to him whose blood's the blis't!
Let Sir Turkey rule the roost!

Where's a braver bird in battle?
Where's a bird with redder wattle?

Where's a bird with loftier crest?
Where's a bird with tenderer breast?

Where's a bird with a wishbone finer?
Where on earth's a bird diviner?

Hail, hail!
Wass hael!

Keep, oh, Greek, your luscious honey
Made in aperties Attic
On the warm slopes of Hyettus.

Tuscan, keep your macaroni;
Frenchman blithe, of taste erratic,
Keep your frogs and snails and lettuce.

Briton, keep your goose divine—Hardly could you live without—
Keep your pudding and your swine;
Keep your ale and keep your stout
And capias.

For we need no importations
Of the crates of other nations;
While we have the bird respicient,
We shall never be dependent.

So here's to the bird
Whose gobble is heard
Through the nation from ocean to ocean;
Whose sibilant sighs
As he quietly dies
Prove his calm, gastronomic devotion.

OLD BAKER 1861 WILL MAKE YOU SMILE.

The woman who works, and is tired will find a special help in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Perfectly harmless in any condition of the female system.
It promotes all the natural functions, and builds up, strengthens, regulates, and cures. For women approaching confinement, nursing mothers and every weak, run-down, delicate woman, it is an invigorating, supporting tonic that's peculiarly adapted to their needs.
But it's more than that. It's the only guaranteed remedy for all the functional disturbances, painful disorders, and chronic weaknesses of womanhood. In female complaints of every kind, periodical pains, bearing-down sensations,
internal inflammation, and kindred affairs, if it ever fails to benefit or cure
you have your money back.
