know what to do with his pets. The W. N. & H. R. R. officials celebrated Thanksgiving by performing their day's duties for the first time in the new depot building. The office furniture was moved over the previous day from the building temporarily used. The new quarters are good, neat and convenient, and though a little work remains to be done to the building, they are glad enough to get into the permanent office.

Lieut. Daniels, from Wilmington was over Thursday with a cordial invitation to the New Berne Naval Reserves. We are glad to say they expect to be down in full force and do their part in the sham battle. The Wilmington Reserves have been very cordial indeed in inviting our boys over and we know they will appreciate their visit.

Bicycle riders will strike a stump some times. As a colored lad turned a corner on a wheel Thursday he ran into a man with a bucket of water on his head knocking him down-the water going up Wilmington's cotton compresses at in the air, and when it descended work turning out a bale of cotton about it ducked the poor fellow pretty bad one third the size that it was when it tumble on the ground. The scene would have made a good picture for Puck.

and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaine sent to the nearest drug store and get a hottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful sud in a short time he was breathing quite casely. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blaine regards his cure as simply wonderful. For sale by J. V. Jordan.

WILMINGTON'S SHAM BATTLE

Forces - The Monitor Nantucket.

Thanksgiving day we visited the North Carolina's Monitor Nantucket, lying at a programme. The following couples Wilmington wharf and were courteously shown all over it by Mr. S. P. Adams, civil engineer of the Atlantic Coast line and member of the Wilmington Naval Reserves

It could readily be seen that the iron clad would be a hard vessel to injure even as she stood with her deck nearly three feet above the water's edge, and when sunk by letting water into an inner LAYEST UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT apartment until her deck was on a level FOOD REPORT. with the water's edge leaving nothing to St. N. Y. fire at except the thick revolving iron tower containing the two great guns, the chance of harming her would be reduced to a very fine point. The tower shows indentations made by balls during the Fort Fisher fight.

Mr. Adams informed us that to fire one would cost thirty dollars and he ventured

The sham battle between the naval as narrated by a special from Elkin to the reserves of New Berne and Wilmington on one side and the infantry companies of Wilmington and Wilson on the other years, the first one being established in is to take place. Thursday afternoon at London in 1688, and during that time Hilton Park just outside Wilmington not one record of a failure among then who came with whetted knives declaring (the street cars run to the place.) The monitor with the naval reserves aboard will steam from where she is lying to the park, where the other two companies will be in waiting and open fire on them as they approach; to this the Montor Brownwood, Texas, suffered with the will respond and under cover of their heavy guns the Reserves will land and charge. It will be a realastic and intersting spectacle.

The New Berne Naval Reserves while in Vilmington will be quartered on the Nantucket as guests. Under the deck she is well divided off into suitable rooms 1861 for officers, men and stores,
