Mr. A. C. Pryor, Gen'l Agt. of the commercial Building and Loan Association, who has been spending several days here in the interest of the Company, left for Petersburg. He did a large and satisfactory business in the city.

Mr. W. B. Swindell with the firm of J. J. Baxter of this city, has received the sad news of the death of his mother at Swan Quarter, Hyde county. She died Friday, the 15th inst., in the 75th year of her age.

We publish this morning a newspaper carriers address eighty years old furnished us by Maj. Graham Daves. The fact that it was published while the war of 1812 was in progress lends it its chief interest.

A large shipment of horses and mules arrived on the steamer Neuse, for Mr. J. W. Stewart. There were about fifty head in the lot and some of them were fine looking animals. It is astonishing how much stock our enterprising dealers are handling—Pluck and Printers Ink will tell the tale.

Mr. John W. Smallwood, the new Broad street grocer, has put up one of the prettiest signs in the city. It is the full length of the store and in several colors with that harmonious combination and artistic finish which Mr. E. T. Berry, who painted it, understands so well how to execute.

Harlowe is now pretty well supplied with post offices. One at Mr. O. G. Bell's store, the neighborhood in which it has been held for many years retains the old name Harlowe, the new one near Morton's mill, J. R. Bell post master, has the name of North Harlowe.

A new post office has been established in Craven county across Neuse river from the city. It is named Askins, Miss Laura Askins as Postmistress. It is directly on the Washington road about five miles this side of Ernul. Post Master Clark has been endeavoring to get it established some time and we are glad to know that it is now secured.

At a special business meeting of the New Berne Naval Reserve Capt. Matt Manly was elected Lieutenant Commanding. Hearty applause was given his election as an evidence of appreciation in which he has been regarded by the Division. Mr. Manly is the right kind of a man to urge forward the efficiency of the company second to none.

A WONDERFUL METEOR.

The Fiery Trail That Followed Did Not Disappear Till Sunrise

Truly a marvelous sight was witnessed in the eastern sky yesterday morning between the hours of six and seven. It was a large and beautiful meteor, the luminous trail of which was plainly visible for over half an hour. The length of time it was visible was the most astonishing feature of the phenomenon.

Many saw the trail, and we have conversed with several who viewed the commencement of the remarkable event and watched interestingly until the last sign of it had faded away.

Descriptions vary somewhat, those living a number of miles west of the city do not describe it as appearing as large as those who saw it from points several miles east of us. The average description would be about as follows:

All at once it flashed out in the sky "as big as a cart wheel" "about six feet across" and seemed to drop directly downward, not scowling as the generality of shooting stars do. At one point in its descent it flew round and round like a whirligig and continued its descent apparently getting smaller as it went until it disappeared. Some who saw it think it disappeared by reason of distance while in the line of vision, but every one of those east of New Berne who witnessed the fall, are quite confident in their opinion that it fell in the ocean.

The bright line left after the meteor fell is generally spoken of as being six or eight inches across and contrary to what would have been supposed smaller at the top than at the bottom. At first, it was perfectly straight, and with the red, fiery appearance left in the track of the ordinary shooting star. This, however, soon changed to a silvery color, and more remarkable still the line instead of remaining straight, became bent, assuming a zigzag shape and taking on a slight wavy motion as though some influence, as wind, were affecting it, the head of it bent toward the south and the whole length seemed to be slowly driven in that direction.

The luminous appearance continued until the bright rays of the morning sun caused it to gradually fade from view.

Coming and Going.

Miss Mollie Heath left on the steamer Neuse to spend the Christmas holidays with Mrs. M. H. McBurney, of Alexandria Va.

Miss Sadie Whitford who has been spending a couple of weeks with relatives in Kinston returned home last night.

Miss Annie Mcbane returned from Wilmington.

Hon. T. G. Sparrow of Aurora and sons are in the city. His son Charlie arrived from Guilford College en route to his home to spend the holidays.

Mr. Thomas F. Simmons, who is attending the University, a member of the class of '97 spent yesterday in the city, and left on the afternoon train for his home near Pollocksville to spend the holidays.

Train Robbers Again.

Train robbers were successful in robbing a Union Pacific train on the night of the 18th inst. between Houston and Dayton.

They brutally murdered the express messenger by shooting him in the head from behind while he was at his desk. They then turned his body over and fired four more shots into it to make sure of their desperate work. The safes were broken open, and the robbers escaped with their plunder.

The robbery was committed while the train was running at a high rate of speed. Train robbers are becoming fearfully common events.

The A & N C R R Company has commenced building its side track at the foot of Hancock street. It is to run from the south side of South Front street into the vacant railroad lot on the opposite side. The purpose of building it is that car loads of merchandise may, for the convenience of merchants, be turned aside there to unload freight instead of being taken to the warehouse on the other side of the city. It is a convenience that will be appreciated.

In the Supreme court on the 17th an oil portrait of Justice William Gaston was formally presented. Fab. H. Busbee Esq. made the speech of presentation in behalf of Mrs. Bronson and Miss Donaldson, grand daughters of Judge Gaston. Chief Justice Sheppard accepted the portrait. The latter has been for sometime on the walls of the court room. Judge Gaston whose body now rests in the Cedar Grove Cemetery, was one of New Berne's most distinguished citizens and it is a pleasure to see honor bestowed upon his memory.

Suspension of Freight Trains.

A. & N. C. Railroad Co., Superintendent's office, Newberne, N. C., Dec. 20th, '93. Circular—To employees and the public: No freight train will run over this road on Monday, Dec. 25th as above. Agents will post this notice in two or more conspicuous places at their depots and call attention of same to shippers as far as possible. S. L. DILL, Superintendent.

Why is it that dry goods merchants are not allowed to sell goods on Sunday as well as bar keepers to carry on their business? X. Y. Z.

A STATE EXHIBIT

SHOULD BE MADE AT THE NEXT EAST CAROLINA FAIR.

The Collection in the N. C. Museum Would be a Valuable Acquisition for the Purpose.

In the State museum at Raleigh there has been for years an interesting collection, showing to some extent the State resources on various lines but principally along those which for lack of development have not attracted anything like the attention in the public mind that they deserve, rich and minerals in which our State is rich from a conspicuous part of the collection.

The collection has been increased from time to time, this year it has had a valuable accession by the transfer of the exhibit made by our State at the World's Fair, which as our readers know was warmly commended on all sides.

There are hundreds, yes, thousands of people in Eastern North Carolina who did not attend the World's Fair and many, very many who have not visited the State museum, but who annually attend the Winter Exposition of the East Carolina, Fish, Oyster, Game and Industrial Association held at New Berne and who would view with delight the collection if the authorities in charge will authorize its removal to this city during the week of the Fair—Feb'y 19 to 24, '94.

Placing the State's collection on exhibit then would not only be a grand thing for the Fair, but for the State at large, it would not only attract the notice of all our people but of many from other parts of the State, and of numbers of prominent and influential men and capitalists from other States who come to our Fair in large numbers each year to investigate with a view to business investments.

To what better use can the State put its collection than to place it on exhibit then when as favorable an opportunity offers. We hope to see the exhibit made.

The North Carolina Fruit Fair.

The North Carolina State Horticultural Society is looking into the matter of choosing the city in the State at which its next exhibition, a three days fruit vegetable and flower show, shall be held. Nine Fairs have thus far been held. They were at the following times and places: Greensboro, 1882, 1885, and 1891; Wilmington 1883; Goldsboro 1884; Fayetteville 1886; Raleigh 1888; Winston 1889; Mr. Holly 1890.

The society as a matter of prudence requires the city successfully bidding for the fair to guarantee the amount of the premiums (these amount to $400 or $500) and to furnish free of expense to the society a suitable hall for the exhibit. For the proper carrying out of the local arrangements, the city must also appoint a local committee of responsible persons interested in horticulture, who will see that the exhibition hall is properly attended to and sufficient hotel accommodations assured for visitors. These are the requirements.

A city desiring the Fair usually makes application through its chamber of commerce. As we have not such an active organization we lay the matter before our citizens that they may take such action as they see fit. We doubt not the next exhibition can easily be secured for New Berne if they desire it.

Bishop Lyman's Will.

In reading over the will of the late Bishop T. B. Lyman we note among items which are of general interest the following: The Bishop bequeathed to St. Augustine School two hundred volumes of his Theological library and the remainder of his library is bequeathed to the Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina. Two houses at Winston are directed to be sold and the proceeds to go a permanent Episcopal fund.

The remainder of the real property of the Bishop is directed to be sold and half of the proceeds to go to the trustees and vestry of the Church of the Good Shepherd and the other half to the Thomson Orphanage, the money bequeathed to the church to be held in trust to aid in building a new and enduring church edifice. The residence and personal effects of the Bishop in this city are bequeathed to Mrs. Lyman.—News-Observer-Chronicle.

"Many gather what others will scatter."

PROVERB.

Do not scatter your money for things that are of no worth. Do not give a man something that will be of no earthly use to him, but give him something that he needs and can use. We have the things he wants. They are Clothing, Hats and Shoes, Neckwear and Underwear, Collars and Cuffs, Handkerchiefs in Linen and Silk, Gloves (new lot just in.) Boys Windsor Ties, Umbrellas, Hair Hose, &c.,

1785—CONFISCATED PROPERTY—1893.

How Some New Berne Tories Were Served by the American Government after the Revolutionary War.

The advertisement following is taken from the 1785 Gazette of South Carolina, paper published in Charleston in November 1785, and which was found on our shelves by Miss Palmer. Besides the fact that it is a curiosity, it is also offered for sale. Samuel Cornell, their owner had made property in Newbern, and was for some time a member of the Governor's Council. The "front of lot No. 8" is on East Front street, about where Mr. Edginghills mill now is.

Other property in Craven Co. is advertised, also in the town of Bath, and in Beaufort, Hyde and Wayne Counties, and the advertisement recites that the above property has been confiscated by some one of the "Confiscation Laws" promulgated because the owners had been friendly to the British Govt. in the war of the Revolution. The Commissioner, James Armstrong, was a Continental officer and at one time was Colonel of the 8th Regiment of the North Carolina Line. The advertisement given the advertisement would indicate that the sales were equivalent to every important.

CONFISCATED PROPERTY.

NORTH CAROLINA, Newbern District.

WILL BE SOLD,

At Public Vendue, to the highest bidder,

At the Court House in the County of Craven, the 15th of December next, at twelve months credit, payable in the current money of this State, or the certificate granted to the Officers and soldiers of the Continental Line of this State, the purchase-money, land with sufficient security, payable to the Governor for the time being, or his Successors, for the use of the State, in double the amount of the purchase money, conditioned for the payment of the principal and interest at the end of the time aforesaid.

One half part the front of Lot No. 8, situated in the town of New Berne on Front street, extending on said street 20 feet, and back from said street to river Neuse, improved with a still house, in which are two stills, late the property of Samuel Cornell, Esq.

Two tracts or parcels of land, each containing 640 acres, situate in the County of Craven, on Brice's Creek, at the Mt. Savannah, late the property of William Brimmgay.

One other tract of land, containing 640 acres, situate in the County aforesaid, on Ellis Lake, late the property of William Brimmgay.

JAMES ARMSTRONG, Commissioner. September 10, 1785.
