NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Farmers and Merchants Bank—Statement.

The city electric railway will be a nice starter for the year 1894.

The days are gradually getting longer, but scarcely yet distinguishable.

Preparations for the East Carolina Fair are going on along all lines. Are you making ready for it?

Another auction sale of horses and mules will take place today in front of Hahn's stables at 11 o'clock.

Showers were predicted by the weather bureau for yesterday afternoon and last night, and fair colder weather for this afternoon.

Rev. John Sergius, a native of East India and Christian Israelite, will preach in the Baptist church Sunday morning and night.

It was a drag between the rain and street sprinkler yesterday as to which should lay the dust. The sprinkler came out ahead.

Rev. R. A. Willis and family left yesterday for Fayetteville. Numbers of friends were at the train to see them off and strong regret at parting was plainly manifested.

A case of love at first sight and a hurried marriage between a man 73 and a girl 23 is reported in the press. By an over sight the exact amount of cash owned by the groom was omitted.

The pair of horses on trial for the Atlantic engine have made a favorable impression in appearance. They are heavy dark bays, almost chestnuts, and are very docile and easily managed.

A row occurred at Pictou in Pitt county on Christmas day between some negroes. Dan Hart was shot in the head by Henry Miller. The murderer was captured and placed in jail.

The new year will be here Monday which we hope may bring a business change for the better. A good season among the truckers is one of the best means of bringing about the change in this section.

The appearance of the brilliant young violinist, Miss Ollie Torbett, accompanied by the Swedish sextette, will be one of the finest musical treats since the McGilgenny family.

The Beaufort Herald states that Rev. Hight C. Moore, former pastor of the Baptist church at Morehead City, has been called from the Theological Seminary where he has been taking an advanced course to the pastorate of the church at Winston.

Mr. Ellis Williams has never rode with Buffalo Bill, but the great western rider may yet find a subject in Mr. Williams. In making the circuit of the city renewing the carbons to the electric lights he never dismounts at all, either to lower, raise or trim the light, so well trained is his horse.

Another pleasant evening was spent at the Naval Reserve Bazaar last night. Lantern swinging, horizontal bar work and vocal selections were introduced to enliven the occasion. The members of the Division are under lasting obligations to the ladies who so kindly assisted in getting up the entertainment and to others for liberal donations. Miss Hattie Dahl received the high honor of getting every vote as the most popular young lady present.

OLD BAKER $1.00 per QUART AT L. J. TAYLOR'S.

Wants to Investigate the Phenomenon.

Mr. E. S. Martin, Attorney at law, Wilmington, N. C., is desirous of accounting for the remarkable celestial phenomenon of the 20th inst. To do this he wants as accurate statements as possible along the following lines:

- 1st.—Exactly what was seen.
- 2d.—The location in the sky when first and last seen.
- 3d.—Its apparent size.
- 4th.—If any noise was heard as it passed along. If so, what kind.
- 5th.—If it was seen to explode, and if so whether sound was heard, and how long it was after the explosion before the sound was heard.

Mr. Martin gives the above as special points that are essential to a definite investigation; but any and all information is acceptable as it may become valuable.

He considers the third point the most important one, and especially requests the location by the points of the compass when it can be given, or as near it as possible, both in its beginning and ending; how many degrees apparently each, and was above the northern or southern horizon, and east or west of a line overhead.

The Class of People that are Generally out of Employment.

One of our exchanges gets pretty near the real cause why so many people throughout the country generally are out of employment.

Of course it is not true in all cases, but it fits a great many, and you do not have to go out of New Berne to find some of them either. We quote from the writer:

"I seldom find any body out of work except those who are looking for some thing that they are incompetent to perform. A man who is able to adapt himself to circumstances and takes any job which offers is never out of employment, and it is only for a short time at most that he is obliged to do anything that is really beneath his ability."

As soon as he demonstrates to his employer his fitness for a higher position, he is sure to be promoted. Those who aspire to something above their ability, however, are very numerous. Many of these are actually ignorant of the fact that they are unqualified for the kind of work they are seeking.

It would be a mercy to many such men if some one would tell them kindly that their search is in vain, because other men are better qualified to perform the duty they aspire to than themselves, and will therefore be preferred. There is many a man who would make an excellent workman if he were not so full of himself as to fritter away his life as a lame excuse for a book keeper."

Goldboro's Paper School.

The last issue of the Round Table we consider the best one we have seen. This is the Educational Paper proceeding from the Goldboro Graded school conducted by the teachers actively engaged in professional work and giving productions of pupils.

The statistical matter relating to the school, the history of the building, the library, whereabouts and occupations of former pupils and matter of local history show manifest industry in research, and the articles are well written and very interesting. The paper would be a decided credit even to a college much more to a public school.

During the past year sixty-one persons were killed on railways in this State and 362 injured. There were 11,840 railway employees in the State.

Agents are in New York and Pennsylvania enlisting men for the Brazilian war. They have not reached North Carolina yet.

Both Corbett and Mitchell have been arrested in Florida. The arrest was made to test the validity of the state law relating to glove contests. The Dural Club is still confident that the fight will take place.

In a recent graduating class at Amherst College, it was found that the non-users of tobacco had gained twenty-four per cent in weight, thirty-seven per cent in height, forty-two per cent in chest girth and had eight cubic inches greater lung capacity than the users of the weed.

The city authorities are endeavoring to keep the streets presentable, but unless they are aided by the citizens, it is almost a hopeless task to keep them in good condition. It is the duty of the owner of all property to keep the sidewalk fronting his place in order and free from trash or other unsightly garbage.

At Greensboro Thursday the revenue collector seized eighteen casks of contraband whiskey, containing in all 733 gallons. This liquor was shipped by a dealer at Shure, N. C. Near Manahoe, Chatham county, Deputy Collector Kilpatrick seized John Morton's sixty-five gallon still and 1,000 gallons of beer, all of which was destroyed.

Our colored citizens have circulars out announcing the celebration of emancipation proclamation on New Year's day. Rev. A. J. Harris, of Rue's chapel is the orator of the day. The procession will form on George street in front of the Fair grounds and there will be considerable parading both before and after the ceremonies.

DIED.
On the night of Thursday, Dec. 28th at her residence on Hancock street, Mrs. Geo. D. Gardner nee Miss Ida Holland of Onslow county, aged 28 years.

SIR WALTER RALEIGH.

His Work For America and Prof. Daves' Lecture Upon It.

On last Wednesday night Professor Edward Graham Daves, a former resident of New Berne, favored a highly intelligent and appreciative audience with a sketch of the life and character of one of the most remarkable men of any age or of any nation, Sir Walter Raleigh.

Professor Daves is a born writer, the address is admirably written and gives evidence of great research, care and thought, his conversation is clear and distinct, his style of delivery graceful and impressive.

The march of his personality was steady and grand, when he spoke of the age in which Raleigh lived, the 16th century, an age more prolific of great men and great events since the last days of the Roman Empire. An age, when the human mind had broken its shackles, and thought became free, among which were born events that have shaped the destinies of the English speaking race for three centuries, an age in which this race commenced its rapid rise to the greatest and wealthiest and most successful nation of the world, and the present empire of Spain, whose power then overthrew the world and scattered to the winds her "Pinnacles of grandeur" destined to the destruction of the new birth of the English people.

His remarks on Raleigh were grandly beautiful in form, Raleigh, we claim as one of the greatest strangely and wonderfully combined, he was one of the most versatile geniuses that lived in any age, poet, navigator, naval architect, philosopher, author, statesman and soldier. North Carolina has commemorated his great name in our beautiful Capital City.

He rapidly sketched the several voyages made under his auspices for the purpose of planting a colony of the English race upon this continent.

The object of Professor Daves address is to make sufficient head to enable a complete of patriotic North Carolinians living in the city of Raleigh to purchase the site of the fort erected by the Colonists if Raleigh on Roanoke Island, known then as the City of Raleigh to rescue the spot from oblivion and to erect thereon some monument in commemoration of that great event, the first settlement of the English race in North America. It will be a sacred spot, for here a great general, brave and unflinching, and in the present day a reminder, that from this small beginning, has risen the mightiest nation on the globe.

It is the spot, where, Virginia Dare, the first white child born in the limits of the United States, saw the light; the first spot from which Christian prayers ascended to heaven, the first spot where the Christian rite of Baptism was administered and sought to give of our nation for the carrying out of this great project, as God has blessed us.

North Carolina is a grand old State, but she has been slow in commemorating great events that have taken place in her borders, and it is a reproach to us. Had the settlement of Raleigh been made on New England soil, every man and woman would have been told in song and story, and the name of Raleigh would have been throughout the land a household word. It is our duty to make that spot upon Roanoke Island, sacred ground, and to hold it in the same reverence that the people of New England hold Plymouth Rock; it will not be to us a "barren stone," as long as we keep in remembrance, Algonquian, Moore's Creek and Guilford Court House battle fields.

New England has her Bunker Hill upon which she has erected a tall graceful monument in commemoration of the great battle fought by her sons. A monument upon the plains of Lexington which tells of the first blood shed upon her soil. Connecticut her monument to the memory of the Christian soldier and Martyr, Nathan Hale, and throughout her borders, there are other tributes of gratitude to those who fell in the cause of liberty. Upon the soil of our State we have a monument on Guilford Court House but the ground that ever memorable battle was the turn in the tide of conquest that threatened to overflow our land. We have also one erected to the great and good Caswell.

The purchase of the spot upon which Raleigh's settlement was made and the erection thereon of a monument within sight of the mighty Ocean, which he loved so well, and upon whose bosom he achieved much of his greatness, will be a fitting tribute paid by a great people to the memory of a great man. Professor Daves has been selected for a praiseworthy task, he well deserves the thanks of every true North Carolinian for the efforts he is making to carry out the project; and we are proud that he is a native of New Berne.

Did From the Effect.
The Smithfield Herald gives the following item:

It will be remembered that we gave an account of the killing by lightning of John W. Holley and his wife in Beaufortville township last August. Mrs. Lydia Holley was in the house at the time. She was knocked senseless and badly shocked by the lightning. The shock caused an abrasion on her left leg. The place began to inflame, swelled, and after suffering for over three months, she died November 17th in the 61st year of her age, near Antioch church.

"The appearance without the cost."
When a man goes into a "ready made" clothing store now a days—he's generally looking for just what we describe above—that is appearance—clothes that look well—without the cost usually attached to good clothes. Sometimes he gets what he's looking for—not often—He generally gets "average" ready made clothing and gets left. Now the Clothes we keep are above the "average" and do not cost much more. When you need Clothing, Hats or Shoes try us.
