COTTON SALES.
Wednesday—19 bales, 7 to 7 4-5.

The Board of City Council will hold its monthly meeting tomorrow night.

Mr. John W. Jenkins, the new proprietor of the Durham Globe, took charge Jan'y 1st.

Fish have been quite scarce for several days, but oysters are abundant and delicious. Clams are also on the market.

A fifty foot whale has strayed up into Chesapeake bay. The whale was shot at from an oyster boat with a rifle but with out doing him serious injury.

The first pair of white shad of the season, two bucks, put in their appearance Jan'y 2d. The sold for $1.25. They were caught by Capt. Mason at Swift Creek.

Students of the University tell us that at the commencement of the Christmas holidays there were about 400 students at the State University and that a large number were expected to enter at its reopening.

The steamer Neuse brought in the remains of Mr. Louis Scott. The body was taken on to Bayboro his home for interment. He died at Fortress Monroe. Two soldier comrades accompanied the remains.

The Fair ground race track has been put in fine order and practicing is now the order of the day. Several new horses have been purchased with special reference to the coming Fair, and a number were on the track yesterday.

Henry M. Stanley has made a collection of 19 legends that were related to him during his African travels, and they are to be published under the title of "My Dark Companions and their Strange Stories."

Col. J. S. Carr of Durham entered upon the duties of President of the State Fair with the incoming of the year. Confidence is felt that he will throw the same clear-headed energy into it that has characterized his private business and that the next Fair will be a great one.

The News Observer-Chronicle says: "A third death has occurred in Bishop Lyman's family. Saturday we mentioned that of his brother, who was born in 1818; and yesterday news was received of the death of his sister, Miss Louisa Lyman, aged eighty-three years, at Govanstown, near Baltimore."

The work of building a track inside the regular race track at the Fair grounds exclusively for bicyclod races was begun Tuesday. It is being built by sub-cription and more money is needed for it. Mr. W. T. Hill who is the strongest mover in the work feels confident in the matter however and tells us the work will be pushed and the track be in readiness by the Fair.

The Durham Sun says: "The revenue stamp office here will close up the month and the year's business today. The sale of stamps for this December makes a good showing for our manufacturers. The amount is $57,970.18. December of last year the sales amounted to $44,865.20. From this it will be seen that the tobacco manufacturing business has been greater this year than last for the same length of time."

There is quite a wide difference now in the price of Bahamas and yam potatoes. Numbers of boats have been lying in the market dock with the former and yesterday they sold by the cargo at 25 cts per bushel. Not many yams have been coming since Christmas and they are getting in demand. They commanded 40 cents yesterday at wholesale from the boats.

Coming and Going.

Messrs. Chas. Scott and Otis Griffin left yesterday morning returning to the Agricultural and Mechanical College. They tell us the college now has about 300 pupils and they are highly pleased with its equipments and facilities and with the instruction given.

Mr. Jas. Simmons has returned to Horner's school, and Messrs. Guion Dunn and Will Hay to Davis school.

Mr. F. S. Aldridge, of Pamlico county and Mr. Will Weeks of Harlowe who have been spending the Christmas holidays at their homes, passed through returning to Trinity College.

Miss Nettie Tolson left for Augusta, Ga., to visit her uncle, Mr. Geo. Ferguson.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Solinger who have been visiting at Mr. M. Hahn's left returning to their home in New York.

Lieut. Winslow went down to Wilmington on a business trip.

Mrs. J. T. Wetherington who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Stewart, left, returning to her home at Cove.

The Steamer Neuse took out the following passengers: Mr. Matt Manly on a trip to Baltimore; Mr. Melzor returning to Norfolk from a visit to relatives in the city; Rev. D. A. Watkins and family returning to their home at Hatteras and Mr. John C. Thomas of Riverside leaving for Washington D. C., to take a position in the printing Department of the Government.

Mrs. O. Shanklin who has been away since the spring returned to the city last night from Durham where she has been visiting relatives.

Mrs. J. W. Watson and Mrs. Hortense White who have been spending a short time in the city returned to their homes last night.

The Work of Rutherford College

The report of Rutherford college, for the year just out, shows an enrollment of one hundred and seventy three students, sixteen of these were theological students and four medical.

Sixty-one of the students were instructed in free tuition charges. During the forty-two years of its history the college has always been conducted on generous lines, in all 2,200 poor students who otherwise might have had no education have been given free tuition. Ten thousand students have been enrolled and instructed at the college.

Though the college, its apparatus and libraries were once destroyed, we are glad to see that the President, R. L. Abernethy, pronounces it to lay on the "up grade" and that the spring term opens with a remarkably promising prospect.

Fire Department Officers

The representatives and officers of the two fire companies met last night and elected the following general officers of the New Berne Fire Department for the ensuing year:

W. D. Barrington, Chief; J. M. Hargett, Assistant; L. J. Taylor, Secretary and Treasurer.

The Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee have decided to recommend a two per cent tax on all incomes over $4,000. Those favoring the move argued that the $4,000 exception would limit a class amply able to afford it and that it would yield an annual revenue of $30,000,000. Mr. Cochran of New York thought that discrimination was unwise and undemocratic and that it ought to fall on all alike.

We are pleased to see in the Goldsboro Argus the following appreciative reference to Rev. F. W. Farries, the estimable Canadian minister who after a six months sojourn in New Berne moved to Goldsboro: "A large congregation worshipped at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening, and the sermon of the pastor Rev. Mr. Farries, on "Life," appropriate to the closing year and the new, was one of the finest, in conception, diction and delivery, it has ever been the pleasure of this reporter to listen to."

Mitchell, the English prize fighter, has absolutely refused to sign amended articles of agreement in the contest planned between himself and Corbett. The change was that instead of saying "within two miles of the city of Jacksonville," to say "within the State of Florida." This was in order to dodge the authorities. Mitchell said he would not sign unless the place was stipulated. The general opinion is that he is showing the white feather and wishes to crawl-fish out of meeting Corbett by any loop-hole possible.

From Russia

The Swedish Quartette answers almost to the claims which you are entitled to put on a classical vocal interpretation. The amount is $57,970.18. December of last year the sales amounted to $44,865.20. From this it will be seen that the tobacco manufacturing business has been greater this year than last for the same length of time.

There is quite a wide difference now in the price of Bahamas and yam potatoes. Numbers of boats have been lying in the market dock with the former and yesterday they sold by the cargo at 25 cts per bushel. Not many yams have been coming since Christmas and they are getting in demand. They commanded 40 cents yesterday at wholesale from the boats.

The Value of Constancy

The constant drop of water
Wears away the hardest stone;
The constant gnaw of Towser
Masticates the toughest bone;
The constant cooling lover
Carries off the blushing maid;
And the constant advertiser
Is the one who gets the trade.

Brazilian War Horrors.

A British steamer which spent twenty three days at Rio Janeiro has arrived at New York. She left Rio Janeiro Dec. 6th.

The captain gives a bad account of the horrors which are developing in the war there. He says the rebels are of a better class than the upholders of the Government, and that their side is the popular one.

Peixotos army has poor discipline and shows the utmost brutality. In Pernambuco martial law is strictly enforced and no discussion whatever of a political nature are heard. There is an uneasy feeling noticeable among the inhabitants.

Capt. Richards on a recent car conductor shot and instantly killed by a soldier for simply asking him to stand and give his seat to a passenger who had paid. Little notice was taken of the affair and the soldier was not brought to account.

Twelve naval cadets were executed by Peixotos's soldiers. They had been stationed on a guardship and were arrested one evening, accused of conspiracy against the government, it being alleged that they intended to turn the guardship over to Mello and were shot the next morning.

A number of people gathered to see the execution. The cadets were escorted to the place of death by a body of soldiers. The drums rolled mournfully. The young men were placed in line and handkerchiefs covered their eyes. By the first volley seven fell dead, pierced by many bullets. The others were only wounded. One of the wounded cadets started to run but he was quickly brought to earth pierced by half a dozen rifle balls. The rest of the condemned men were killed by the second volley. This execution deeply affected the populace and filled the people with great fear as to the power of the government. Martial law was enforced and had been for three weeks previous to the shooting of the naval cadets.

Teacher's Assembly.

The Executive Committee of the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly are in session at Raleigh arranging for the next meeting to be held at Morehead City.

Dr. Winston made an effort to get it at Chapel Hill but the committee decided not to change.

Morehead is the place for it sure. It is a fine pleasure resort where cool breezes abound, where fishing and sailing can be indulged in to the heart's content, where a mammoth summer hotel can accommodate all who come, and least then cheaply on sea delicacies and it is more over where the Teachers' Assembly has its own buildings for the meetings.

Kinsey Seminary Art Notes.

Visitors at the New Berne Fair can well remember the elegant displays of art work that has been made at it by Kinsey Seminary pupils. They have taken numbers of individual premiums, and once if no more the school has taken the premium for the largest and best school collection of paintings and drawing at the Fair. We are pleased to see that pupils of the school are also meeting with similar success elsewhere and hope they will be on hand again with a fine exhibit.

We copy from the Art Notes by Miss M.J.A. Day in the last issue of the "School Girl" the following:

"We recently received the gratifying news that Miss Lizzie Hodges, of the Class of '91, who is now teaching in Verona, Texas, has taken the first premium at the Dallas Fair, Texas, offered for the best oil painting under art amateur art work. Miss Lizzie does credit to our art department."

Misses Eva and Ina Kinsey received premiums for best oil paintings from nature and still life at the State Fair in October. The same Fair gave Miss Besie Rouse a premium for the best drawing from east, "Venus of the Bath." Miss Almata Kennedy was also awarded a premium on her crayon drawing of the "Horse Fair."

Miss Sadie Rogers, of the class of '92, received five premiums on her oil paintings at the Wood county Fair at Parkersburg, W. Va., and through the columns of the Parkersburg Sentinel, was solicited to add her paintings to the West Va. collection at the World's Fair. Thus from West Va., to Texas are our girls receiving recognition."

HANDSOME BISQUE LAMP $1.25 at L. J. TAYLOR'S.

DANCING CLASSES.

A dancing class will commence at Lorthrop hall next Tuesday evening at four o'clock for young ladies and children, and at eight o'clock at night for gentlemen.

PROP. BAGAR, Instructor.

"The appearance without the cost."
When a man goes into a "ready made" clothing store now adays—he's generally looking for just what we describe above—that is appearance—clothes that look well—without the cost usually attached to good clothes. Sometimes he gets what he's looking for—in it often—he generally gets "average" ready made clothing and gets left. Now the clothes we keep are above the "average" and do not cost much more. When you need Clothing, Hats or Shoes try us.

BELLAIR CORRESPONDENCE.

New Year and Christmas Soliloquies—Notes on Neighborhood Happenings.

January 1894 has very quietly dawned upon us around here. The quietness is almost painful, contrasted with last week. We had then two young lady teachers, and three other lady visitors in our midst, besides two or three young men, enough with the few young people of the vicinity to make a very pleasant party.

The weather was as near perfect for out-door or in-door amusements as a Christmas week has ever presented, and surely our young people availed themselves very joyously of the favorable season for innocent amusements, and when we say innocent amusements, we mean all dancing, card playing, wine drinking, etc., were entirely discarded.

From the way all the young folks, and many of the old ones, seemed to enjoy, day after day, the general festivities of Christmas week, we are convinced that questionable amusements are not necessary to real hearty enjoyment at any time. We had music—soul stirring music, but no "lugging set to music." Perhaps the reason why the association was so pleasant was because a real earnest prayer meeting Sunday evening in which a number of our young people took an active part, was taken as a suitable introduction to the joys of the week.

Well, Christmas is over and our visitors have now gone home and we are settling down to a routine work.

Only one casualty in our midst, a horse took fright Saturday at the raising of an umbrella, ran away and turned the buggy over, throwing out and slightly luring R. G. Lane who was driving; Ella Lane who was with him was also thrown out but unhurt.

There seems to be some real progress in our midst, a black-smith shop has been erected recently on Mr. G. T. Richardson's farm, and a workman secured, who works both iron and wood. This ought to be quite a convenience to the community.

Some cases of "grip" seem quite severe around here, but none serious. I have heard of two or three cases of "heart disease" but they were entirely with the young folks, and no serious results are feared.

Welcome 1894 with new and enlarging duties, expanding privileges and ever brightening prospects!

For pains in the chest there is nothing better than a flannel cloth saturated with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on over the seat of pain. For sale by J. V. Jordan.
