COTTON SALES.

Tuesday— at 7 to 1-4.

The new life saving station at Portsmouth is being constructed. It is the finest on the North Carolina coast.

Our townsman, Mr. W. B. Boyd, has been commissioned a deputy marshal at New Berne by Marshall Carroll.

The Choral Club meets tonight at eight o'clock promptly at the Collegiate Institute.

The New Berne Reserves have invited the Wilmington Reserves to the Fair as their guests.

Season tickets. Have you secured yours? It will cost you a half dollar more after four days than if purchased today.

Members of the fire companies are requested by an officer to look after their uniforms now and see they are in perfect condition for the parade.

The Department of Agriculture says that the farmers are now more forward in their work and are working harder than in many years.

B. J. Keech, an aged and feeble citizen of Edgecombe county, went over to Pitt county and sold some lands belonging to Ferdinand Brown. The latter, while Keech was returning home, pulled him out of his buggy into a creek, beat and nearly drowned him before help came.

Madame Ramor has it that Capt. Mike F. Motion, of Harlowe, is dead, the result of diving to stop a leak on the tug Irene. We are glad to inform any of the Captains friends who were made uneasy by the report, that it is not correct, he was sick only two or three days and is now his as regular employments as usual.

Little Sadie, infant daughter of Rev. G. W. Starling, died at Mr. D. W. Aman's, Palo Alto, Onslow county on the 8th inst, she was the only child and not quite five months old, but had won the affections of her parents as nothing else could. The parents are comforted with the thought that she is now an angel of light, and as such they will again meet her.

The Cullinary Department.
The following Ladies on the Cullinary Committee are requested to meet at the Fair grounds Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. O. Marks, Mrs. W. B. Swindell, Mrs. John Dunn, Mrs. U. S. Mace, Mrs. S. H. Street, Mrs. T. A. Green, Mrs. J. W. Biddle, Mrs. Joel Kinsey, Mrs. Enoch Wade, Mrs. Miss Maria Kuhn, Mrs. George Gaskill, Mrs. Boyd, Mrs. Blunt, Mrs. J. E. Latham, and Mrs. Tommans.

A Narrow Escape.
An alarming runaway took place on Green street yesterday but fortunately without serious consequences.

Mr. J. E. Korussey of Dover and Mr. Wright Moore of the city were occupants of the buggy, the horse hitched to which became unmanageable. Mr. Moore was thrown out as the horse turned the corner at Broad street. The fall was dangerous and Mr. Moore provisionally escaped serious injury.

Half a square further on the horse was brought to a stand still without additional damage except a broken shaft.

Arrested For Store-Robbing.

A young man named Chasney Gore, was arrested yesterday charged with larceny. Witnesses were examined on one charge against him, he waived examination by two others and was bound over by Mayor Ellis to Court in the sum of $400.

Our readers will recall that several show windows in the business part of the city have from time to time been broken at night and a portion of their contents stolen. The store of Messrs. L. Scults & Co. was thus served recently and among a lot of clothes taken was a pair of shoes or rather one shoe was taken from each of two pairs.

Mr. Gore was seen wearing a mismatched pair and was arrested on suspicion and upon searching his trunk the other articles were found, also two pistols belonging to other parties. The shoes are mates to the ones at Mr. Schultz.

Mr. Gore claims that he is innocent—he says he bought all the clothing from a colored man Saturday night before last at a very low price, the man claiming that they did not fit him and he wanted to get out of town. He says further that he obtained one of the pistols by swapping and the other by purchasing it from a man he does not know except by sight—the same being the case with the one from whom he got the clothing.

Illusion Entertainment For the Fair.

Prof. W. R. Lynn, the illusionist, who showed Galeton at the Fair three years ago arrived by str. Albemarle accompanied by his wife.

Prof. Lynn brings with him a fine line of illusions for the Fair. He has the Goddess of the Sea. This part of the exhibition is going on continuously while any one is in the building.

He will show, also, the electrical station—a beautiful exhibition of electrical figures playing around and adorning a living lady.

Galeton will also be brought out again on the same plan as before, but with different changes, and this does not exhaust the list of marvels.

Notwithstanding the increase in what he shows, Prof. Lynn holds to same old low price, 10 cents.

Those who have ever seen one of his exhibitions know that he has something good in store for all.

They are Coming.

A private letter we received yesterday from Beaufort, announcing the coming of the writer and a friend to the Fair adds: "There will be a good number from this place."

In correspondence we received yesterday from Swainboro occurs the following paragraph:

"Well, next week is Fair week at New Berne. We are coming and everybody around, both in Onslow and Carteret county are coming, so they say."

These are specimens of what is being heard on every side. Join the multitude and be at the Fair, see the exhibits and attractions, and meet your friends from every direction at the same time. It is an opportunity that no one should neglect.

Mill Burned.

On the night of the 2nd inst., the saw and grist mill of Dr. W. J. Montford of Ward's Mills, Onslow county, was burned with all the appurtenances thereto belonging, consisting of saw and fixtures, four large rocks, a lot of corn and meal, lumber and logs on hand, &c., also cotton gin and fixtures. The loss to the doctor was over $1,500 with no insurance at all. It is a serious blow to him.

The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary—when first seen it was on top of the roof. It occurred in the night when no one was there, hence the loss of everything. If it was a set fire it is hoped the incendiary will be caught and dealt with according to law.

Dr. Montford is one of Onslow's best citizens, a very good man, and it is said that if he had an enemy anywhere it was not known publicly.

The loss not only falls heavily on himself but also on the citizens around for many miles, who depended on the mill.

We understand the community have offered to help Dr. Montford re-build and it is hoped he will do so.

St. Valentine's Day.

St. Valentine, according to some ecclesiastical writers, was a bishop, who was beheaded at Rome in the year 270.

He was said to be such a good man, and so famous for love and charity, that the custom of choosing valentines on his festival day, February 14th, took its rise from thence. Others derive the custom from the alleged fact that birds choose their mates on or about the 14th of February.

And still other authorities say it comes from an old heathen custom, prevalent at Rome, which was celebrated early in February, and during which the names of young women were placed in a box from which they were taken by young men, as chance directed, and the one who drew a girl's name was supposed to have influence upon her affections, and the upon his.

Coming and Going.
Mrs. W. H. Cadbourne returned from Wilmington last night.

Miss Annie Street returned from Halifax where she has been visiting Miss Jennie Rham.

A Victory for New Berne Poultry.
Mr. W. H. Bray, proprietor of Green Place Poultry yards, recently sold a pen of Brown Leghorns to Mr. R. E. Steed, Secretary and Treasurer of the Dunlap Hardware Company of Macon, Ga. Mr. Steed was more than pleased with the "birds" and exhibited them at the Atlanta Poultry Show, the greatest exhibit of the kind ever held South. Mr. J. H. Drenstedt, editor of the American Poultry Fancier, one of the highest authorities of the country on poultry was judge of the poultry.

A letter from Mr. Steed to Mr. Bray tells the result thus:

"The chickens I got from you swept everything in Atlanta."

The record of the score taken from the Southern Fancier is as follows:

Southern Leghorns.—R. E. Steed, Macon, Ga., cock 1st and 2nd 94 1-4, 94; hen 1st 2nd 93 95, 93 1-4, 93; pullet 1st (tie) 2nd and 3rd 95, 94 1-2, 94; pen 1st and 3rd. Fred Klooz, Nashville, Tenn., cock 1st 93; pullet 94 94.

New Berne poultry is making a great reputation and Mr. Bray's yards are doing their full measure in bringing the result about. No one visits his place without expressions of high admiration at his large flocks of all the most popular breeds and the great beauty and excellence of the specimens composing them.

AGAINST CONSOLIDATION.

Report of the City's Proxy from the W. & N. R. R. in favor and action of the Council.

At a special meeting of the Board of City Council the above report of the City Proxy was adopted and resolutions passed protesting against the consolidation and notifying that step would be taken to restrain it.

The city now owns one fourth of the stock in the portion of the road between New Berne and Jacksonville, considered the most valuable part and not only a fourth of the railroad, but a fourth also of 80,000 acres of peccan land that goes with it.

To the Hon. Mayor and Board of City Council of the city of New Berne.

Gentlemen—I have the honor to report that in obedience to your command, I attended the annual meeting of the East Carolina Land & Railway Company which was held in the Company's office in the city of Wilmington on the 8th day of Feb'y 1894. All the stock, aggregating $200,000 was represented.

A proposition (a copy of which I hand you herewith) was made to consolidate and merge the East Carolina Land & Railway Company and the New Berne and Norfolk Railway Co. into one corporation to be known as the Wilmington New Berne & Norfolk Railway Co., conditioned so that the W. N. & N. Railway Co. should assume all liabilities of both companies and own and enjoy all resources of both companies. The capital stock of the W. N. & N. Railway Company to be $1,200,000.

The following are some of the arguments advanced by those favoring the proposition:

1st. It would do away with a large force which is necessary to keep the books and accounts even of a small railway company.

2d. That the charter of the E. C. L. & Railway Co. was very narrow and undesirable.

3d. That it would be impossible to ever extend further north under the E. C. L. & Ry. Co's charter as that provides only for the expenditure of $200,000.

I was informed that the bonded indebtedness of the W. N. & N. Ry. Co. was $18,000 and of the E. C. L. & Ry. Co. $132,000.

I did not think it to the interest of the city of New Berne to make the proposed consolidation and the following are some of my reasons for it, viz:

1st. The E. C. L. & Ry. Co. traverses by far the best developed and most valuable of the territory and I believe the 38 miles of the E. C. L. & Ry. Co. capable of earning considerably more than the other 50 miles of the W. N. & N. Ry.

2d. The city of New Berne now owns 25 per cent of $200,000 based on 38 miles of road whereas by consolidation it will own but 4 per cent of $1,200,000 based on 88 miles of road.

3d. To take the bonded indebtedness of the two roads as a basis it would seem that by the consolidation we should own 11 3/8-100 per cent of the stock equal to $138,500.

For these reasons I opposed the consolidation and voted the 500 shares of the city in the negative.

The results stood:
For consolidation 1,500 shares
Against 500 shares.

I have to report that I received most courteous treatment from the officers of the road. I especially refer to Mr. Whiting, the genial manager and Mr. Whitlock, the treasurer.

I am your obedient servant,
J. E. LATHAM.

Timely and Interesting Articles by Chas. Hallock.

Mr. Charles Hallock has a timely article in the February number of the "Southern States" magazine entitled "New Berne in Bloom," which describes the sequences of blooming in forest, orchard and garden from January to June and which the editor declares is "a very delightful paper, carrying with it the odor of the flowers, causing one to forget, while reading it the raw east winds and the grip-laden atmosphere of the north."

Mr. Hallock has also two other articles on the South in the current magazines, one of which appears in the "New England Magazine," (Boston) for February, bearing the title of "A Southern Gentleman's Estate" and describing the plantation of Dr. Capelart at Avoca, N. C. from earliest colonial times to the present.

The other is printed in the Chicago "Sports Afield" and relates to truck farming around Norfolk and the shooting premises of Currituck Sound. It is entitled "Ducking and Trucking."

Mr. Hallock is now systematically working up Southern industries and business openings through the northern and western press and has printed seventeen articles already.

The coming of Mr. Hallock to New Berne was worth much to the city and section. He loves the South and is delighted with New Berne. Being a valued correspondent of a number of leading magazines he has brought the region before the country in a way that cannot fail to redound to its advantage.

We are glad to learn that Mr. Hallock will be at the Fair next week.

PLEASE SEND ME A VALENTINE, SOMEBODY.

BY M. E.

St. Valentine's day is now here. And I'm an old woman, I know. Who ceased thinking of poetry and Cupids.

And true-lover knots long ago. My autumn is very near winter. I've almost forgotten the Spring. But please send me a valentine somebody. Just for the fun of the thing.

That the women still youthful and pretty. Whose lives are yet happy and bright. Should get all the rhymes of the season. Really does not appear to me right. Let them take the love poems. I ask but a verse that will pleasant thoughts bring.

So please send me a valentine somebody. Just for the fun of the thing.

A Fable for the Times.

BY QUINCY QUILLDRIVER.

Once there was a great king who ruled over a great city on one of the islands of the Ocean. The king took a great fancy to a rat which he had seen in his boyhood on the continent. He therefore purchased it and imported a vast number of rats. After thirty years the rats had so multiplied that they became an intolerable nuisance. Then the people in their wrath detested the king and set up a new ruler. The new king appointed a number of policemen to kill the rats, but the rats continued to multiply.

Then the people demanded to know why the rats were not destroyed. The king replied "we cannot destroy in one year the evils which have been thirty years accumulating." Then said the people give us liberty to import terriers, and the king consented. The terriers were imported and soon all the rats were choked to death.

Moral. A few democratic terriers turned loose upon the republican rats that infest the government warehouses would soon and the government of an intolerable nuisance.

Extract From Moody's Sermon.

Mr. Moody said in one of his sermons in Washington City, on whisky selling.

"And if any of you rent your property to whisky sellers you are just as bad" he continued. Look to your houses. I am talking facts, not poetry, but pose. It may hurt, but look to your houses. As you sow, so shall you reap. It is God's desire, and it is inevitable."

During Fair Week.

The Banks of this city will close at one o'clock p. m. except on Tuesday the 20th and Thursday the 23rd when they will be closed all day.
