The painters were at work on Mr. L. Schmitt's & Co's store front. This considerable amount of repainting that has been done on Middle street stores recently and the tearing down of the dead ivy from the Baptist church leaving only the fresh green portions adds much to the good appearance of the street.

Good work was done at the Fair grounds yesterday. When our people make a start they drive ahead lively. The walls were made pretty with evergreens and other decorations, stands and show cases put into position and the exhibits that arrived properly placed.

Let every one send up all he can this morning and this afternoon that the preparatory work may proceed with all the expedition possible. It is important to get everything made ready to save from too great a rush towards the end, so send everything this morning that you can.

They shot down Frank Newell, who was severely more than a lad, for beating off a dog belonging to them.

A FAIR CONVENIENCE.

Information Bureau and Check Room for Accommodation of Visitors.

The need of one prominently, always accessible spot at which individuals of a great and protracted gathering of people can obtain desired information and leave parcels with which they do not wish to be encumbered is perfectly apparent. While some accommodation along these lines has been afforded at each New Berne Fair, the service has not heretofore been worked up to that degree of efficiency which would make it the high est value. This year the service will be systematically conducted in a prominent and convenient location—it is to be run by Mr. John Dunn in connection with his cigar stand.

At the start information will be freely furnished at any hour while the Fair is in progress either on matters pertaining to the Fair or on outside matters—that is information pertaining to the finding of boarding houses, arrival and departure of trains, steamers, &c.

Mr. Dunn will also have a check room in which articles may, with perfect safety, be left as long as desired, the using of checks obviating the possibility of mistakes occurring, and as extra help will be required to attend to the business a small fee will be charged for the care of the articles left, but remember that any information you will be cheerfully furnished throughout the day without any charge whatever.

A Strong Sentiment for Simmons.

STATESVILLE, N. C., Feb. 14.—H. Simmons should be declared for confirmation by the Senate. I predict the people of North Carolina will have two claims upon them which they will rush forward to pay. Vance's warrent friends, who of course will not desert him, will crowd each other in their efforts to reward Simmons, both for his noble, courageous fight for Democracy and for this last mark of disapproval which the entire Democracy of the State will resent, for if he is defeated he will resent it, not with a feeling of desire to ensure Vance, but with that higher and greater desire to defend themselves, as it is looked upon as a defiance of Democracy to defeat Simmons.

Ex-convict of Simmons in Vance is the whole talk of the town and the cry is if he is defeated now, we will reward him yet—Speed to the Charlotte Observer.

JOHN L. WEBER.

Professor of English Literature in Trinity College, a Defaulter.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 14.—John L. Weber, ex-School Commissioner of Charleston and now Professor of English Literature in Trinity College, N. C., is a defaulter in the sum of over $1,200. Weber left Charleston about a year ago to go to Trinity College. When his annual report reached Superintendent of Education Mayfield last fall that officer found a discrepancy in the financial part of it and began a quiet investigation, which resulted in the discovery of the shortage. Weber raised a number of school certificates, a species of forged common in cases of that kind. The defalcation extends over a period of more than a year. Efforts were made to suppress the facts and prevent criminal proceedings being instituted, but the State authorities declined to do this. Weber will be prosecuted. He was quietly arrested over a week ago and gave bond in $1,500 for his appearance when wanted.

Weber was at one time on the staff of the News & Courier and was a writer of considerable ability. He is the author of a school book on the history of South Carolina. An official report of the defalcation was today made by the State authorities.

A Three Round Contest at Jacksonville, N. C.

The following is in a note signed W. O. P. sent us from Jacksonville, N. C. "We had a prize fight here the 8th inst. There was lots of people here to see the fight. James Davis the champion from Ohio to fight J. M. O. Quinn, the light weight North Carolinian. Quinn clubbed Davis on the third round. They are under a $300 bond."

Fine N. C. Granite.

The Charlotte News says that Mooresville, a progressive little town near Charlotte, is the location of the Charlotte Granite company, and that some of the finest gray granite in the world is now being taken out. This granite is used in some of the finest buildings and monuments in the country, is subject to a very fine polish and has an enormous sale in the North.

The shipments have become so great that a private railroad track is being built from the main line of the A. T. & O. railroad to the works where cars will be loaded, thus saving the expense of wagons and teams. The granite there seems to be inexhaustible.

"Trifles light as air."

Have you ever noticed how persistently some people's neckties ride up on their collar. This is only a "trifle" but it detracts more from an otherwise dresy appearance than any little thing that is neglected about your apparel. We have a remedy for it, a collar button, made for the purpose. They are made out of the new metal Aluminum, and it is almost as "light as air." They are Cheap and always get there, when it comes to holding down your neck tie.

EDWARD MURPHY

Steak's Another Watch—Is Cracked on the Head and Dangerously Wounded.

Edward Murphy, the vagrant, tough, and thief who for nearly three months has been in jail to the tax-payers of Craven county and who was finally run out of New Berne as a dangerous character by the city authorities has been cracked on the head and is now in a Richmond almshouse, likely to die. He says that the blow was given by a piece of iron but he doesn't know how he came to receive it.

It will be remembered that he was recently arrested on two charges, highway robbery and prize fighting but evidence was not obtained sufficient to convict on either. The Richmond Dispatch tells of his last fair as follows:

Ed Murphy, of pugilistic fame, who came here from New York some weeks since, and has figured in Police Court records since the fight at the Turf Exchange on the night of February 1st, now lies at the almshouse in a precarious condition.

Murphy was arrested Tuesday by Sergeant Alex. Tomlinson and lodged in the Second Police Station on a warrant charging him with stealing a watch chain and chain, valued at $13.50, from Allen McIntosh, a fellow-prisoner in the city jail.

When committed to jail February 24 by Justice Crutcherfield to await examination on the charge of robbing F. C. Mitchell of $100 in cash and a gold watch, Murphy made the acquaintance of Mr. McIntosh. It is alleged that on the day that he was discharged from the prison he borrowed McIntosh's timepiece, promising to return it in a little while. In stead he pawned it.

When the officer arrived at the station with his prisoner yesterday he complained that he was badly hurt. An examination showed that he had a deep cut on his head, and Dr. A. Morison was called in. He pronounced the wounds serious and the wounded man was removed to the almshouse. Before being moved Murphy stated that he got into a fight Friday night, and was struck on the head with a piece of iron. He declined to give the name of his assailant, and would not discuss the matter further with the police.

Reports at the almshouse late last night showed the information that his wounds were not considered dangerous.

WAS IT THE OLYMPIA?

The Unknown Steamship Which Sank on the Dreaded Diamond Shoals.

The unknown steamship which foundered on the outer Diamond Shoals, Cape Hatteras, is believed to have been the British steamship Olympia, which sailed from Manhattan on February 1, for Philadelphia, consigned to the Earn Line Steamship Company. The descriptions furnished by the life savers tally with the vessel in the opinion of those who know her life, where she has been repaired, having traded between Philadelphia and Cuba for several years past.

The life savers along the North Carolina coast and vessels arriving at Beaufort and Norfolk report having seen the unknown vessel on Sunday, February 4, drifting in a broken, down condition on the shoals, which run seaward for at least 14 miles from Cape Hatteras. She soon struck, and being unmanageable and helpless, sank immediately.

No one at the time was able to ascertain her name. Those who saw her state that she had a light-colored smokestack, which corresponds with the Olympia's, which was built colored. She was two-masted, schooner rigged, another point of resemblance. The unfortunate craft was deep laden, and the Olympia's hold was filled with 2,000 tons of sugar, consigned to the Franklin Sugar Refinery. The tops of the masts on the wreck are now visible above the water on the shoals.

Captain Coleman commanded her, and had a crew of 33 sailors. The Olympia was built in Stockton, Eng., in 1882.—Philadelphia Record.

SPIRITUALISTIC SPIRITUALIZERS.

Tonight, Friday, Feb'y 16th, at the Opera House.

Dr. Slade, who has recently returned from a five years' tour of Australia, India, China and Japan will give a seance for the purpose of demonstrating spirit power in the light. The following are among the demonstrations given.

Slade's open seance, as presented by him before the leading scientific societies of England, Austria, Germany and France. Slade was by them subjected to the most critical test conditions. There is not one member among them but acknowledges that in the presence of Mr. Slade there is a wonderful power and intelligence outside the body that can assume a human form and annihilate distance. But what this power is there is a diversity of opinion. A table rises and floats in light, flowers are brought and passed through the audience by invisible hands; spirit light writing; questions written and retailed by the interrogators will receive full and intelligent answers.

This gentleman has acquired a wide celebrity as a medium. His seances are given on the open stage in the full glare of the gas lights. The wonderful power displayed by Mr. Slade can be explained by no other theory than that which he assumes, that he is capable of invoking departed spirits. Sergeant Cox, president of the Psychological Society, Great Britain, says: "I have been an advocate of spiritualistic phenomena for thirty years, and in the manifestations of Mr. Slade are not genuine, and if it can be proven they are not, then I will never more believe in spiritual manifestations." A small admission fee will be charged.
