Mr. M. Manly took the official oath as post master yesterday before W. H. Oliver, Esq., and forwarded his bond to the post-office department. He now awaits the coming of his commission to take possession of the office.

A large three mast schooner, unknown, has been sighted off Beaufort harbor anchored and battling with the heavy seas. When last seen she was slowly dragging her anchors towards dangerous shoals.

The travel on Broad St. during Fair week did effective work in parking down the oyster shells and which has now resulted in a good street from Craven to George. If the good work is continued on to the Points we will then have a splendid thoroughfare leading out of the city.

Farmers coming to New Berne continue to complain of the bad condition of the roads, and especially those near the city. We have repeatedly called attention to this fact, but unless some definite plans are adopted to improve them, the next fifty years will see no change.

Rev. W. S. Blank, of the Oxford Orphan Asylum has been appointed presiding elder to succeed the late Rev. S. D. Adams. It is not known whether he will accept or not. His acceptance would involve his withdrawing from the Asylum which would be much regretted.

One noticeable exhibit in the Poultry Department of the Fair was the breeding pen of Brown Leghorns shown by Mr. B. A. Fox, of Richmond, Va. It is intended next year to enlarge on this feature and have pens of several breeds, close together. They will make a pretty sight.

The publication of the premiums awarded at the exhibition of the East Carolina Fair just held will be commenced in to-morrow morning's JOURNAL. The premiums will be paid when published as soon as called for at the office of Mr. C. Reizenstein Treasurer, near the foot of Craven street.

It is very gratifying, that the water works having been so far advanced are now to be completed at so early a date as they are. The work was put into good hands when Messrs. Dunn & Green were placed at the head of it, and what remains to be done may be relied upon to be finished in the same excellent style as that already built.

We have received a copy of the last issue of the New York Trade School Journal. It contains a good deal of interesting matter on the advantages of knowing a trade and the arrangements for instruction along this line at the New York Trade Schools. There is also an extract from an address by Mr. John B. Thoms.

Coming and Going.

Mr. T. K. Bruiser and Messrs. Brimley and Greene who have been in charge of the State exhibit at the East Carolina Fair left for Raleigh.

Rev. F. D. Swindell, P. E., returned to Goldsboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid Whitford returned to Georgetown, S. C.

Mr. Alfred Brewer who has been visiting at Mrs. Howells returned to his home in Danville, Va., and Miss Rachel Brewer to her home at LaGrange.

Miss Lizzie Howell left to visit relatives at LaGrange.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Gorham who have been visiting relatives in the city left returning to Fayetteville.

Miss Mattie Wood left to visit the family of her uncle in Appleton, S. C.

Mr. W. W. Ballou of St. Louis, arrived last night with his family moving to the city.

Mrs. Hetty Davis, who has been visiting Mr. Saml Parsons, left returning to her home in Morehead City.

Mr. W. C. Miller who has been attending the Fair and visiting friends left yesterday morning for his home at Rocky Mount.

Death of Dr. Chas. E. Mann
Dr. C. E. Mann of Beaufort died in New York on Monday, the 26th inst. of pneumonia.

Dr. Mann was a native of Hyde county and was a brother of our recent townman, Chief Shell-Fish Commissioner J. S. Mann, and his wife is a sister of Mrs. S. L. Dill and Mrs. G. K. Bagby of this city.

Dr. Mann lived and practiced his profession for several years past in Beaufort. He left his home two weeks ago to attend a course of special lectures.

He was suffering from the grip when he left and soon afterwards the illness assumed the dangerous form which ended his life.

Dr. Mann was about 43 years of age. He will be missed in the places that have been accustomed to know him. He was a skillful physician, a true friend, a perfect gentleman and a good and valued member of the Episcopal church. He leaves a wife and eight children.

The remains of Dr. Mann will pass through the city tonight en route to Beaufort for interment.

Exhibits Showing Results.
Mr. W. H. Bray of Green Place Poultry yards who took a number of premiums at the Fair was shipping yesterday seven coops of chickens to various points as a direct result of his exhibit at the Fair. The shipment embraced Buff Cochins, Minorcas, Leghorns, Langhans Partridge cochins and Plymouth Rocks.

Messrs. Wood Bros., of River View Poultry Yards, winner of first premium on buff cochins pullet and 21 premium on buff cochins cock, made sales on that breed reaching as far as Virginia, while the Fair was going on.

Union Point Poultry Yard's proprietors also took orders. Among their sales were some of their beautiful Plymouth Rocks to Mr. F. E. Hoge & Co., the noted breeder of Salem who made such a remarkable exhibit at the Fair and who took the first premium on Buff Cochins cock.

Two Children Burned to Death.
We learn of a most distressing accident at Cove sixteen miles from New Berne which resulted in the death of two small children of Mr. Brice Ipeck, one of the best known farmers of that locality. They were a boy and girl about five and six years of age.

Last Saturday, one of the children caught on fire and was badly burned as to die on Monday. The other in attempting to put out the first child caught also and was so badly burned that death resulted Tuesday morning.

In our allusion to the bell shown at the Fair by Col. J. D. Whitford which was used at the time of Gov. Caswell's first inauguration we should have spoken of Caswell as the first Governor under the State constitution instead of the United States constitution—the latter had not at that time been formed.

Our authority for the article on the severe weather that may be expected next month informs us that when the freeze which killed beans and other young truck two or three years ago occurred, five disturbing influences brought it about; and in the approaching period about the 21st of March six disturbing influences will be at work nearly a month sooner, hence the freezing is sure to be severe.

A mounted Wayne county gander of notoriety was in the taxidermy department of the Fair. The bird had been in the family of this owner for 70 years, and was grown when the last owner's father came into his possession. He was supposed to be at least 80 years old. The old fellow ran the gauntlet of Sherman's army when marauding parties killed out the other poultry on the farm and escaped with only a broken leg. After all his tough endurance he finally froze to death in the last cold snap before the Fair. On account of the interest that centered in him he was sent to Miss Alice Duffy of this city for mounting and placed on exhibition. O. W. Smith was the owner.

Notice.
Members of the Knights of Honor, and Good Fellows, will please call at my office to-day and pay their assessments.

REVERES THE OLD NAME.

The "Gaston House" Should Still Perpetuate the Memory of Judge Gaston the Eminent Carolinian and New Berne's Most Distinguished Son

EDITOR JOURNAL:—It was a pleasure to me to read what you said some weeks ago, in regard to the improvements being made on the Gaston House. It may not be known to you, sir, that the writer of this, established that well known Hotel, and named it after one of Carolina's noblest sons, the eminent Judge William Gaston, he who was the idol man of my boyhood, and as I grew to manhood, and perhaps was capable in some degree, of appreciating the grand qualities of that great man, yet, great in the noblest sense of the term.

Hence you cannot easily imagine, Sir, how severe was the shock I felt, when I read in your issue of the 15th inst., that the "Gaston House" is to be heard of no more, save as a thing of the past. Indeed, Sir, I cannot conceive how it can be possible, that an Indian name for the Gaston House, (though it may be the original name of the site upon which, New Berne stands), can be more pleasing, or attractive, to the sons of Carolina, and the general public, than that of the distinguished man whose name it bore when first opened in April, 1857.

There may be some palliation however (of what seems to me a discretion,) by the fact, that he whose purpose is to ignore the name of Gaston knew nothing of that noble son of Carolina, who had few equals, and no superiors.

While I was held in prison at Morehead City, the yankees took charge of the Gaston House, painted out the name of Gaston, and placed in its stead, "Union Hotel." At that time, sir, the distinguished Edward Stanly was the Military Governor of the New Berne Department and through the kindness of a yankee officer, I communicated with Gov. Stanly in regard to the matter, and he—yes, he, knew William Gaston, promptly had the name Union Hotel "blacked" out, and that of Gaston House restored.

And sir, I've long cherished the hope that the House may ever retain its original name.

Respectfully yours
THOS. L. HALL.

Looking Forward
Even before all the exhibits have left the Fair grounds, next year's exhibition is being looked forward to and planned for. Mr. J. S. Carr, of Durham, we are pleased to learn, is among the foremost in looking forward to next year.

He has removed the articles which he had on exhibition, but he leaves the machinery used in running them and has had accurate measurement taken of the building and of the space he used this time so that the exhibits can be adapted to the place without the necessity of investigating as the time approaches. The exhibit will be new, different in style and even finer than the one made this time.

All who exhibited at the Fair were pleased at having done so, and with rare exceptions, every one may be expected to be on hand next time and many new ones with them.

The Salem Runaways Caught.
H. E. Satterfield, the married man of Salem, who ran away with a sixteen year old girl named Miss Lula Shore has been caught. Both were arrested near Mocksville. The man is in jail. The girl's father attempted to shoot him but was prevented.

Satterfield says he was just going to take the girl to Yadkin College to try for a situation and shows a note purporting to be from her asking him to help her in getting work as she was abused at home.

Our Cup of Happiness Full.
Thursday was a great day for North Carolina. Governor Elias Carr, of the multifarious and multicolored mustaches, ate a grand luncheon of New river oysters at Jacksonville, and then went on to New Berne and reviewed the Naval parade and the Wilmington Light Infantry, and inspected the Fish, Oyster and Game Fair. A thousand hearts beat happily. The fair was a great fair. The Governor was a great Governor. And, not least of all, the Hon. Winter Pippin, of Tarboro, had just got a job in the geological survey. The good old Tar heel State survey hiccoughed with happiness.—New York Sun.

A COSTLY FIRE.

A Wilmington Saw Mill Destroyed—Loss $30,000 - Insurance $13,500.

Fire was discovered Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock in W. L. Parsley's saw mill plant, in the extreme northern suburbs of the city.

The fire originated from a spark from the mill which flew into the two-story planing mill. The flames went thence to the boiler room and engine house, and then destroyed the three large dry-kilns. The above buildings were burned to the ground, and now not a vestige is left. The office was destroyed, and a residence back of the office was badly scorched and also damaged by water. The office furniture was mostly saved.

The mill proper was not injured, owing to the wind blowing in the opposite direction. There was altogether about six hundred thousand feet of lumber lost, mostly cedar, juniper and pine flooring. The loss is estimated at $30,000, and insurance about $13,500.

The destroyed property will be rebuilt.—Wil. Star.

WHAT OTHERS SAID.
Clippers From Exchanges in Reference to the Fair.

"Everybody who goes to the New Berne Fair and returns brings back fine reports of the various exhibits. It is without doubt the best all round exposition the State has ever known."—Goldsboro Argus.

"The city was crowded last night to its utmost capacity for accommodation. Wilmington people were found in every gathering. More men of prominence from different sections of the State were here than on any former occasion.

The exhibit is beyond question the best ever seen in the State, and quite a number of Northern gentlemen tell us that the poultry show exceeds anything had at the Philadelphia Centennial or the Chicago World's Fair, while a greater variety of water products, more artistically displayed than was ever seen on this continent, added largely to the interest of those wishing to take an object lesson in natural history, the wonderful productions of this God favored land."—Special Cor. Wil. Star.

"Practically the seventh annual fair of the Fish, Oyster and Game association of East Carolina came to a close today. The crowd in attendance being equally as large as that of any previous day during the fair.

All trains leaving New Berne during the day were crowded with returning sightseers, who were delighted with the old time hospitality of the "city of elms" and the magnificent display of the thousands of interesting and wonderful exhibits. It is useless to say that these visitors returned to their homes with a better idea of the grand possibilities and future of the State in general, and of Eastern North Carolina in particular, and the mere mentioning of the name of the people of New Berne will be to them synonymous of all that is good and noble.

The Fair has been a success from every standpoint.

The fair is now held in the month of February of each year, in the city of New Berne, and is considered by those who know to be the best fair held in the State, and as far as the fish oyster and game exhibits are concerned, it cannot be excelled in any other fair in the United States. The annual premiums aggregate between $5,000 and $6,000."—Wil. Messenger.

Permanent Fair Association.
In response to a suggestion in the Star of Sunday, that "a permanent Fair Association should be organized in Wilmington," and the inquiry, "What say the business men?" there was much favorable comment yesterday.

Many merchants who were approached by a Star representative Monday said they would either take stock or subscribe liberally to an association of that kind. One merchant signified his willingness to take five shares at a hundred dollars each, and another said he would subscribe one hundred dollars outright. Those who attended the New Berne Fair are enthusiastic, and say that Wilmington, with her advantages, should be able to support a permanent Fair if our sister city, New Berne, can do it, and make money, too, by the operation. A list will be circulated in a few days by some of the enterprising merchants to give those who wish a chance to subscribe or take stock.—Wil. Star.

CULLED ITEMS OF NEWS.
A Boston theatre is arranging to place upon the boards in that city the "Passion Play." It has been played in Switzerland, but was prohibited in New York a few years ago upon the charge of its being sacrilegious.

Among the contestants for the office of inspector of customs at Southport, we notice the name of Mr. C. L. Stevens, editor of the Southport Leader. Mr. Stevens would fill the position with credit to the government and we would be glad to see him get the appointment.

Through the carelessness of a sailor who was taking a shell from the magazine of the insurgent steamer Venus the shell was dropped and exploded, blowing up the magazine at the same time. The sailor who dropped the shell was instantly killed and several others wounded.

A FEW DON'TS.
"Don't let your heels get slanty" if you wish to keep your trousers in good shape.

"Don't strap your vest in tight if you want it to be smooth looking in front."

"Don't be eccentric in the matter of dress."

"Don't pie the ends of your scarf to your shirt bosom. Use a regular retainer, it is cheap and convenient."

"Don't wear loud buttons." And above all, Don't forget to try Howard for Clothing, Hats and Shoes.
