LOCAL NEWS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

HOWARD.
N. Whitford.—Tallow.
W. D. Wallace—Delinquent Taxes.

The repairs to the roof of the Episcopal church were finished yesterday by Messrs. R. W. and M. P. Pugh.

At the next social given by the Y. M. C. A. strict measures will be adopted in prohibiting small boys attending and those who do not know how to keep quiet at the proper time.

The Reichville Review says: Ransom has on hand 900 bales of last year's cotton. The senior Senator is something of a hayseed, after all.

The negro, Chas. Mann, recently convicted in Pamlico Superior court of an attempt at rape was taken up yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Campen to the penitentiary. An appeal was taken in the case, but the appeal was afterwards waived.

Our townsmen Mr. Jonathan Havens has just unearthed at his residence a red cedar post somewhat above the average size from a depth of about three feet in the ground, in a state of solid preservation. How long it has been there, there is no means of telling. Mr. Havens built on the lot and made it his home 30 years ago. The site was the garden of John Wright Stanley 135 years ago.

Mr. R. B. Young of Concord, one of the directors in the penitentiary, arrived last night from Jones county where he is planting a crop, with the expectation of moving his family to New Bern this fall. He leaves for his home this morning where he will remain a short time and then return to Jones county to finish planting.

The last issue of the Kinston Free Press completed its 12th volume. The editor announces that the business of the paper has grown continuously for the past eight years and that last year it did a larger business than ever before in spite of the depression. The Press is a good paper, a credit to the town in which it is published and deserves the success that is coming to it.

From the Washington Gazette we learn that a negro has been placed in the Washington jail for killing another in the Roper Swamps. The negroes were "fooling" and Flynn snapped a pistol, supposed to be unloaded, at the victim, and as is nearly always the case it was loaded and the bullet took effect in the other darkey's stomach and he died in a few hours.

The Salisbury Herald says there is a freak of nature near Big Creek, Stokes county. It is a white negro girl who is about six years old and in good health. She was born to parents of black as the "acc of apes," so to speak. While the child is as white as any Caucasian, as far as the cuticle is concerned, she has all the regular features of a full blooded African, flat nose, thick lips and kinky hair. The lat. er is as white as wool.

A correspondent writes ironically of those at the postoffice who persist in blocking the little space there by dilly-dallying, instead of getting their mail in the shortest possible time and then making way for some one else. People should be considerate where many are in waiting, and never cause any one to undergo needless delay. Read the communication and if you happen to be one of those aimed at, take the lesson and profit by it. By off repetition these become quite vexatious.

Hon. Thomas B. Reed and Hon. David B. Hill agree in opposing the nomination of a western man by either party to the Senate, although they do not as a rule think in the same groove.

AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Pleasant Social Event—Music, Recitations, &c.

Though gotten up hurriedly and on short notice, the social at the Y. M. C. A. last evening proved a delightful success. The splendid and spacious hall was filled with appreciative hearers and they were furnished a most enjoyable program consisting as follows:

Overture, Loves Sign Waltz—Y. M. C. A. Orchestra.
Vocal solo, Spring is Only Love—Miss Etta Nunn.
Piano duet, Qui Vive—Misses Agnes Foy and Mary Guion.
Orchestra—Sweet Heart of Mine.
Recitation, Kate Shelly—Miss Bessie Tucker.
Piano solo, Polish Dance—Miss Carrie Claypool.
Cornet duet, Annie Laurie—Messrs. E. E. Harper and H. D. Wood.
Piano and violin duet, Love's Old Sweet Song—Messrs. C. L. Gaskill and C. M. Keboe.
Vocal solo, Tit for Tat—Miss Stella Roberts.
Orchestra—Cadet's March.

At the close of the program confectioneries were distributed among the audience and all seemed to have enjoyed the occasion. A great many expressed themselves wishing that the Association would have them more often, especially as so little work was required in the arrangement and general make up of such programs. It not only affords a pleasant pastime, but is helpful in the accomplishment of those taking part.

The Ransom Farm Sold.

The McKelipp Bros. of Pittsburgh, Pa., have purchased the Ransom truck farm, a fine plantation of 400 acres 1 1/2 miles from this city. The sale was effected through the Watson and Daniels Land Co. One of the new owners is now on the place and has gone right to work—the other one will move down in August.

These gentlemen spent quite a little time in the city before purchasing—we noticed their arrival and intentions at the time they came—and they looked well to what they were about and have invested wisely.

We are glad to have them with us. Good citizens such as they will make us ever welcome.

Coming and Going.

Mr. Sol Cobb left yesterday morning for the northern markets to lay in his spring stock.

Miss Hattie Speir of Goldsboro, and Miss Carrie Rosenthal of Raleigh who have been visiting Mrs. M. Marks, left returning home.

Miss Annie Borden who has been visiting Miss Augusta Crapon left, returning to her home in Wilmington.

Prof. Eugene Wallnau who has been attending the Fair, left, returning to Tarboro.

Mr. Walter Carstarphen, the popular drummer whose home is at Plymouth, N. C., was in the city yesterday.

Water-Works—Pipe Laying Began.

The work of laying the water-works water pipe commenced yesterday with a small force which will be increased today to fifty. The start was made on East Front Street exactly at the W. N. & N. depot.

The work will be extended directly on down that street to Broad then up Broad and elsewhere. The working force will be kept together, not separated into divisions at different points.

At the stage to which the work has now advanced it will not take very long to complete the system.

J. W. Mesic and His Improvements.

Mr. J. W. Mesic's store now has one of the prettiest fronts of any on Commercial Row.

The front has been changed to slope inward giving room for outside display of stock and the windows and door combined present a full length glass front.

The painting is almost finished; each window has been daintily lettered in colors and another sign is above the door in addition to the regular one hanging over the sidewalk. These things make the exterior present a bright and inviting appearance and the anticipations raised thereby are realized when the store is entered; Mr. Mesic carries a good stock.

We are glad to see that he pulled through the financial straits which came upon him recently with satisfaction to his creditors and with credit to himself. Though forced, by not being able to raise certain money just at the time he needed it, into making an assignment, there was no compromising with his creditors. He had more than assets enough to settle, everything he owed and he honorably arranged to pay dollar for dollar.

Through all the financial depression that has swept over the whole country this is the only assignment there has been in New Bern.

That there has not been any more and that it ended so well is a very creditable showing for the city.

We are glad to see Mr. Mesic resume with a good prospect before him.

The U. S. Senate is "the beltwork of the nation" or "the pilot boat of Davy Hill," just according to what paper you happen to consult as authority.

Sewerage Service Will Soon Come.

The work on the sewerage system which has been suspended for some months has not yet been resumed—but now that the water works will soon be in operation it may be looked for the remainder of the work on the former (which is mainly to connect the mains with the places wanting the service) to be done at an early day as the water works will furnish the needed water for flushing the sewers as often as may be necessary.

This water works and the sewerage are two good improvements, the convenience of each will be fully appreciated.

Introducing the Home Comfort Range.

Mr. Wm. Darden and quite a number of business associates have arrived to introduce in New Bern and surrounding country—embracing several counties—a range which from personal inspection strikes us very favorably. It is the Home Comfort Wrought Iron Range, No. 64, of St. Louis, Mo. After making an examination we departed with a much higher opinion of it than we expected to acquire when we began the investigation.

Unquestionably the range is very substantially built. It is constructed of malleable iron and steel, and the range and its several parts admit of repeated strong blows and rough usage, which would make an ordinary stove fit only for scrap iron—we saw this tested.

The same can be said of the ware—the cooking utensils are of malleable iron and steel, coated with English granite, making them very strong and durable.

The range appears to be constructed throughout on sound principles, so as to be easy in operation and to possess every convenience wanted in the way of water reservoir, warming closets, shelves, &c.

And, it seems to bear out the good name expressed from its appearance for it was awarded two first premiums at the World's Fair—one for being so constructed as to give increased strength and durability and the other for excellence of design, and first class material and workmanship.

Eight men and two ladies compose the party that have arrived to work with Mr. Darden in canvassing for the range. They work with five sample wagons and three delivery wagons. Mr. Darden tells us they expect to remain in this vicinity about three months.

"Do Unto Others as You Would Have Them Do Unto You."

Ed. JOURNAL.—The bad manners of some people's ardent belief and did not experience the annoyance of them on all sides, one would be skeptical in regard to them.

MR. JOURNAL, you see this yourself nearly every day at the post office one can get his mail from his box without being jostled, crowded and jammed; it is delightful and gives one a highly trained business air; to take one's letters one by one from his box and read them carefully and then place back such as do not need attention till morning; when one is carefully noting the fine points of his correspondence people try to shoulder him away from his open box, in their greedy haste to get at their own boxes; while had they only the complaisance to wait half an hour or more they need not be guilty of the impoliteness of displacing one already in position at the boxes, to the utter disregard of the rights of the first comer; who, having the precedence, should be allowed to hold it just as long as would be necessary to read all his letters and papers.

One may sometimes have a cane or umbrella with him and of course has to place it under his arm that he may attend to his box; now in this case the inconsiderate crowders in upon him, get in the way of it and make it into their eyes, or other portion of the anatomy and one has to be placed in the anomalous position of apologizing to another for that others own inadvertence or heedlessness; not to say clumsiness.

One cannot even carry cane or umbrella under his arm on the street, without having some one run against it or get in the way of it, especially if one partially turns to say "howdy" to a friend.

When will a miscellaneous crowd learn to respect the rights of the individual. QUIX.

CULLED ITEMS OF NEWS.

Raiding illicit distilleries continues to be a dangerous pastime.

Virginia has determined to adopt the Australian ballot system.

The Blind bill was passed Thursday by a vote of 145 to 139. 49 Democrats voted with the Republicans against it.

Maryland is willing to unite with Virginia in concurrent legislation to stop oyster troubles.

Russell Sage will not press the mortgage he holds on Brooklyn tabernacle if Falgout will remain, and it is supposed that next Sunday he will withdraw his resignation instead of preaching his farewell sermon.

Mrs. Louise Beckwell, or Kellogg is believed to be dying. She says McNabb shot her through jealousy. It is believed he killed her and himself because he thought she was contemplating returning to her husband.

The steamer Violent left Long Point N. C. Wednesday, and proceeded south to Albemarle sound. It is thought she left the President's docking party behind with a small launch for daily excursions into the neighboring marshes.

Sentiments count for very little with Secretary Cattell, or he would not have recommended that the appropriation for lighting the torch of the Statue of Liberty, in New York harbor, be cut off.

Morans and Perris were chosen president and vice president of Brazil. It is thought that Peixoto will resign in May when congress meets, and enable his successor to take the office at once and that this will remove the last cause for disagreement among the Federalists who are now in rebellion.

THE SPIDER AND THE FLY

There's a famous dry good's store at the foot of Middle Street
Where the people from the city and country often meet.
On each side of the doorway a mystic sign we see—
And the letters are B. I. G. I. E. E. E. E.
These very potent letters seem to work a wondrous charm.
On every one who passes by—although they do no harm.
But the idle and the silly will often stop and gaze.
At that double row of letters, as if they were amazed!
I said the letters do no harm, yet they remind me well
Of the story which we all have heard, when first we learned to spell
Of the spider who spun his web, then placed himself near by
And kept a watch increasing for the gaily little fly.
With a "walk into my parlor,"—there told its treasures o'er—
Well—that tale is now enacted, by the letters on that door.
For if you stop to look at them, you'll surely take a peep
At the inside of the building, and there you'll see a heap
Of pretty things and nice things—your want can be supplied.
It makes no difference what it is, if you will step inside.
And Big Ike, like the spider, is ever standing near
And calls upon the passer-by to enter without fear.
But once he gets you in his store, he and the clerks will try
To sell you goods as very cheap, you cannot fail to buy;
Big Ike has spun out yards and yards of advertising web,
And many distant buyers, in answer to it is said,
When e'er they come to New Bern, have quickly asked the way
To Big Ike's store, and once they go—they never turn away
With empty hands, but true it is an empty pocket book—
In fair exchange for the bundle of dry-goods that they took
And the ladies too, are finding out that in the show-case, he
Has lace fine and dainty as one would wish to see.
The quality is questioned not when he tells them that he brought
The lace here from Wilmington from a firm who never had ought
But first class goods, of every style, to please the ladies taste.
And now Big Ike will sell them cheap, as all who want must haste
And buy, or they'll be gone, and again Big Ike will spin
Another web, about some firm who is lately fallen in!

The Wilmington Review tells of two shivers of that city who concluded that Wilmington was too dull for their cultivated taste and struck out for Paris unknown with what cash they could scrape together. Their parents got an understanding of what was in progress but it was concluded to let them proceed that they might learn a lesson. The parental eye followed their wanderings for 150 miles, until their money gave out, and in accord with instructions received, parties to whom they applied refused assistance and at last, still in accord with instructions the boys were tied, placed on a freight train and made to work their way back home. Their "awful" experience is expected to prove lasting in its benefits.

—MOORE.

My friend you may think Moore was mistaken, but this seems to be the conclusion of all wise heads. Now, if we could interest the ladies in our favor, whenever their husbands or sweethearts wanted any Clothing, Hats or Shoes they would direct them right to Howard's. That's what we want you to do. They'll get good goods and their money's worth. So send them along for anything they need to complete their wardrobe.
