LOCAL NEWS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.
Howari.
Money to loan on easy terms.

Rev. C. G. Vardell killed an opossum in his garden yesterday—knocked him on the head with his umbrella.

Representative Grady has secured the appointment of Dr. N. H. Street of this city as local pension examiner.

Tuesday night will be the regular monthly inspection of the Naval Reserve. All members must be present or subjected to a fine of $1.00.

Rev. F. D. Swindell, presiding elder, arrived last night to hold quarterly conference in Centenary M. E. church. He will conduct services today, preaching at both the morning and evening services.

Thieves are no respecters of person. We see in the Kinston Free Press that a Kinston policeman an official paid to protect people from their deprivations has himself been a sufferer at their hands. They robbed his house in broad daylight of $60, entering it and breaking open a bureau draw to secure it.

Mr. J. T. Daniels living at the former Henry Miller place across Neuse river opposite New Berne tells us of a fire which destroyed two of his small buildings used as a shop and blacksmith together with all his carpentering, stables and farming tools, entailing a loss to him of about $125. The fire occurred in the afternoon and its cause is not known.

Coming and Going.
Miss Hattie Lane, of Hickory Grove, and Miss Janie Rhen, who have been visiting in the city left to visit near Fort Barwell.

Big Ike left yesterday afternoon for Wilmington on business. He seeks to another stock at a bargain.

Improving the American House
Mr. O. Marks who recently purchased the Nelson Whitford property in front of Hotel Albert will shortly change and improve it considerably.

The piazza which now occupies a portion of the front will be abolished and the piazza and that portion of the lower floor back of it (except the passage) will be changed into a store. The present store will be retained. The passage will remain where it now is, between the two.

Repairs to the whole building wherever needed will be made and it will be repaired and put in good order throughout.

Shad Fishing Near the City
The number of fishermen who annually congregate along the southern banks of Neuse river in temporary buildings for the shad season is this spring greater than usual. They commence near Mr. G. L. Hardison's and extend on downward. There are a dozen or more of the little groups in the space of a few miles.

Probably the largest one is at the mouth of Otter creek. There are about a dozen and a half of the little dwellings there.

The majority are occupied mainly by men, but a few of the fishermen have brought their families along with them. January is the time of the coming and April of their departure.

Among the candidates for Congress from the sixth district is Mr. W. G. Burdette, son of the late Hon. Dr. L. S. Burdette.

A Runaway

While standing in the alley at the rear of Hackburn & Willett's store yesterday the New Berne engine horses took it into their heads to have a run according to their own will so they started. When they emerged from the alley into Middle street the sudden turning they did upset the city wagon and broke the tongue.

Freel from the incumbrance they kept on their course without it until the market dock was reached, there they stopped and were captured.

It being in a crowded part of the city some of the passers were endangered, but fortunately no one was injured.

A Whale Caught.

The bold fishermen of Morehead and Beaufort have captured another whale.

Three of these monster fish were sighted and boatmen at once went in pursuit and with a united effort one of them was caught, a gentleman by the name of Willis being the one to fire the successful bomb.

The large disputer of the deep measured 45 feet long and yielded a large quantity of oil to the captors.

No more skilled and daring boatmen can be found than those of Morehead and Beaufort. It requires no little nerve to chase a whale, but it appears to be only sport to these brave fishermen.

A Coincidence.

On yesterday, which was St. Patrick's day, there arrived at this city a young gentleman of Irish descent, who comes to make New Berne his home.

The stranger is stopping at the residence of Mr. R. B. Nixon, who is a near kinsman.

"Forcing the Season"

The temperature Friday was 76, and the water looked so tempting that a citizen of Wilmington took a surf bath at Ocean View. He found the water comfortable, says the Wilmington Messenger, and enjoyed his bath. Surf bathing is something unusual at this time of year.

To Re-model O. H. Guion's Future Residence.

Mr. O. H. Guion is preparing to make great changes in the Kilburn house on Broad street which he recently purchased and after they are finished he will make the place his home.

The building now sets far removed from the street and very high from the ground; it will be lowered to a moderate height, moved back forty feet from the street, an addition built at the rear of the same size as the present building, all be connected together as one building and a mansard roof similar to the one on the court house put on, and, lastly, that indispensable adjunct, a new kitchen, in keeping with the rest of the house will be built at the rear of all. It will rank among the prettiest residence in the city when completed.

Messrs. R. W. Pugh and W. F. Hodges are the contractors who will perform the work; it is intended to begin it this week.

Triumph of a Kinston Boy.

The Kinston Free Press tells of the success attending a Kinston youth, Mr. J. M. Parrott, a medical student of the Louisiana University, New Orleans, in a contest in which fifty two of the students entered. The contest was for appointments for two years in the Charity Hospital of that city, nine of the students to be selected for the purpose and to go on duty April 1st.

Though Mr. Parrott had attended only one course of lectures while most of the other contestants had attended three or more courses, he stood the finest kind of examination and was one of those selected.

The Inscription on Gaston's Monument

Hon. Walter Clark in his admirable review of the "Supreme Court of North Carolina," makes a slight mistake in speaking of the inscription to Judge Gaston's memory in Cedar Grove Cemetery.

We copy from the plain sarcophagus which is the last resting place of this most illustrious North Carolinian, the inscription upon it. It stands on the west side of the main walk. On the eastern face—that is fronting the walk—is the following:

"Wm. Gaston, who departed this life Jan. 30th 1844. Aged 65 years."

On the opposite side is this inscription:

"Near this lie the remains of Alex. Gaston and of Margaret, his wife; of Hannah Gaston; of Hannah M. Manly; and of Jane Manly."

The Situation in Colorado.

At an early hour Friday morning the State troops at Denver were ordered to retire to their armory.

The Governor announced in the evening that he would probably submit to the proposition to leave the matter to the Supreme court, but at a late hour had done nothing. The Governor had a long conference with Gen. McCook. The latter says the Federal troops will remain in the city until peace is restored.

On request from Governor Waite to withdraw the troops, Gen. McCook said he could do nothing more till ordered by the President.

The question of the Governor's sanity has been raised.

Troops all over the State are being assembled at their armories.

RECORD BREAKING IN BUTTER

A Remarkable Yield from a Lenoir County Dairy.

The Goldsboro Argus says that Capt. W. L. Kennedy, of Falling Creek, one of the most prominent and affluent farmers in the South, and who frequently visits Goldsboro to trade, is said to have a Jersey cow from the dairy milk of which 3 1/8 pounds of butter is secured.

This is a record breaker and speaks well for the kind of stock Mr. Kennedy raises and the attention paid to them on the farm. In fact, it is the intelligent and watchful superintendence that Mr. Kennedy gives personally to every branch of his farm that has brought him such splendid returns from field and pasture dairy.

A great many of THE JOURNAL readers are familiar with the prominence of Mr. Kennedy's famed and raised of fine stock helps an annual visitor to the New Berne Fair and never fails to take off a goodly number of the premiums. He is a typical business man and makes money.

In referring to the record of this cow the Kinston Free Press comments on the fitness of the record by calling attention to the fact that the best in the entire country is twenty-seven pounds in several days.

POINTED POINTS

For Week Days and Sunday.

Contributed.
In every department of life—among the lawyers, business men, preachers, newspapers and private individuals, are to be found men so puffed up with the air of self conceit they are constantly making a spectacular display of their ignorance before a disgusted public.

Possibly this is more frequent and more noted in the young lawyers and young newspaper men who imagine when they have tarried a sentence in true sophomoric style—when they have tickled the ear with some rhythmic sound without making any impression on the understanding—when they have exhausted the rhetoric of a new and false departure from time honored custom and right, to follow the ignis fatuus of a new freedom they would spring upon the world—when they attempt to make balloons of themselves in which to raise all the wrongs and sufferings of human depravity and human care into an elysium of perfect peace and happiness, what a pitiable mistake they make.

Whether in the forum or pulpit, or the fastings or in the press, such action reminds one of his boyhood days at hog killing time, when every boy used to get a bladder, put a quill in its mouth and blow it up.

Here they were natural, and everybody knew what they were. Now, they are painted red. But they were bladders then and they are bladders now. It is only the wind that has extended them into notice and the prick of a pin point will dissipate their prominence.

But let such things be for today. It is Sunday, and Sunday is Lent. Whether Jew or gentile, saint or sinner, Democrat, Republican or Third party man, go to church—and behave yourself when you get there. Don't talk or go to sleep during service, and don't stand around the doors and stare at the congregation when it is over. Either is an unpardonable breach of good manners in a civilized country.

If you do not believe in the doctrine of the church—if you even doubt religion itself, go to church. Gentility, respectability, common decency requires it. It is educating, it is refining, it raises and ennobles that inexplicable inner self, and though not always conscious of it, you will always feel better for having gone. No matter how poor the sermon or how severely you may criticize it, go to church and go today.

Bought the Baby Grand Melina.

Mr. Edron, Dear Sir:—It has been of current report that Mr. T. A. Green had purchased the Steiff piano, but that is a mistake, as the fine Baby Grand Melina Piano which was on exhibition at the late East Carolina Fair at New Berne in competition with the Steiff Piano, (as are proud to inform the public that this fine piano which was exhibited by the A. Cohn Piano & Organ Co.) was sold to Mr. T. A. Green, President of the Citizens' Bank at New Berne.

Respectfully,
A. COHN.

Congress is to order a survey of the District swamp.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE.

Post Master's Commissions—Simmons' Confirmation—Settle to Appeal to the House.

The Bonds of the recently appointed postmasters at Durham, New Berne, Concord and Monroe have been approved and the commissions will be issued the latter part of this week.

The Postmaster General and Hon. John S. Henderson have been overhauling some old post office contracts in the extreme west and have found where they can save about half a million dollars.

Hon. F. M. Simmons is here on official business. The Finance Committee met Tuesday, and Senator Jones said his report, favorable to the confirmation of Mr. Simmons, was ready for the committee, but that he had heard that Senator Vance would soon be back and would delay a short time out of respect to him. The other members of the Committee acquiesced in this as Mr. Simmons was already in the office, performing his duties, etc. Mr. Simmons naturally regrets this delay as it is somewhat against him in the successful discharge of his duties, but he speaks most courteously of Senator Vance, for whom he has always professed to me to have only the friendliest sentiments. He has no doubt about his ultimate confirmation. Neither have I. In fact I have it today from one of the highest possible sources that his early confirmation is assured.

Messrs. Fab. Busbee and Augustus Craham are here to see about the contested election case of Williams vs. Settle. Mr. Williams will appeal to the house in a few days. He says he will get his seat if the democratic majority cannot be manipulated by outside influences against him. It is understood that Hon. Henry G. Turner of Georgia but a native of Granville Co., N. C., and one of the finest orators in the House will speak in his favor.

The Secretary of the Treasury has transmitted to Congress a communication from the Secretary of the Interior, submitted for the appropriation in the bill an additional provision for the North Carolina Choctaw training school. The former item was $14,560; the latter is $33,400. Two hundred pupils are to have $157 each and $3,000 is to be expended for a large two-story log school house recommended by Superintendent Potter and Commissioner Browning. Mr. Potter recommends the education of 250 of the 400 full-blood Choctaw now ready to receive instruction. The present rotten building only accommodates 80. He says that for the 1st time these Indians are taking interest in education.

Senator Sherman is going to Asheville, N. C., for his health very soon. Vice President and Mrs. Stevenson who have been there for the same purpose several days, are expected in this city tomorrow or next day.

I have reason to believe the President will veto the seigniorage bill if it should pass the Senate to-day. It looks this morning as if it would pass by a vote of about seventeen.

Liberty in Rights For All

EDITOR JOURNAL—I, one of the second hand clothing dealers of New Berne, want to say the following of the fight against us:

First.—We were required to fumigate but not to tag.

Under the next ordinance our goods were tagged but not fumigated by the officer as they were supposed to be.

Third.—We were forbidden to sell in the business part of the city.

Fourth.—We have been ordered to pay fifty cents on each suit brought to the city.

Lastly a committee was appointed to reduce this levy upon us—I understand they were expected to take five or ten cents off of what they wanted to make us pay on each suit.

I say that if there is sufficient proof that there is danger of second hand clothing bringing disease, it ought not to be sold under any circumstances whatever; and if there is not such proof a man who pays for his city privileges and taxes, what is right ought not to be imposed upon.

Your Citizen,
L. ROSENBAUM.

Charlotte's Towel Factory.

One of the most bustling little manufacturing plants in this country is the Towel factory, located near the R. & D. depot in this city. It runs on full time and turns out an immense amount of goods which are manufactured at a great profit. The mill employs only about thirty hands, and manufactures 1, 200 dozen fine cotton towels every week.

Seven Springs Hotel This Season.

U. S. Marshall O. J. Carroll was in Kinston last Thursday. It will be remembered by the many who visited the Seven Springs last summer that Mr. Carroll ran the hotel there, and ran it to the entire satisfaction and comfort of his guests. Mr. Carroll has sub-leased these famous springs this year to Mr. James H. Fonville, of Duplin county, who will open the hotel May 1st.

Mr. Carroll remains the lessee and will still interest himself in the success of the springs and hotel. Mr. Fonville is proprietor and manager, and will be assisted by his two beautiful and accomplished daughters. Mr. Fonville's two sons play the violin and his daughters play the violin and piano both. They will have plenty of music at the hotel the coming season.

Next season will be the most successful by far the Seven Springs Hotel has ever had.—Kinston Free Press.

"An artist would call the hat the point of sight."

You may be dressed in good taste but if your hat is seedy the whole effect is spoiled. For this reason generally a man is harder to suit on his hat than any other article of dress. We are now receiving our new Spring Hats. We may have the very thing you want, do not buy until you see us. We have just received from New York our stock of Neigles Shirts, Collars and Cuffs.

J. M. HOWARD.

CULLED ITEMS OF NEWS.

Through all the trying ordeals which he has been put, the indications are that Governor Tillman will be re-nominated.

Vice President Stevenson visitedingham School on the 11th inst. The cadets gave him the Presidential salute of twenty one guns.

Jerry Roberts, yard conductor of the Cape Fear and Yorkin Valley Railroad at Fayetteville was run over by a shifting engine and killed.

Congressman Geary says American misadventures occupy the same position in China in the estimation of the people that anarchists do in the United States.

Postmaster-General Bissell has given up the spurt over the Raleigh Postmastership and will turn all the recommendations over without any suggestions to the President for him to untangle the skein.

A most distressing affair occurred near Fayetteville. Mr. Jas. Pate while shooting at a wild turkey on the wing, shot the little seven year old daughter. Though serious, the wound may not prove fatal.

A delegation of New York bankers visited Washington to urge the President to veto the Seigniorage bill. They say they subscribed the $50,000,000 loan on assurance that the President would not sanction any silver legislation at this Congress.

Our people are getting very anxious to see Simmons confirmed by the Senate. The sentiment here, almost to a man, is in favor of Simmons. They do not endorse Vance in opposing Simmons on personal grounds, when Simmons is the people's choice.—Tarboro Southerner.

An effort is being made to have an injunction served on the town clerk of Georgetown, Colo., re-training him from placing the name of Georgetown's secession Mayor, Henry Parker, on the People's party ticket to succeed himself as Mayor at the coming election, for the reason that he is an advocate of seceding from his country and uniting with the republic of Mexico.
