 Entered the Post Office at New Bern, N. C., as second-class matter.
 That "almost anything is possible with science" is proved by the fact that while experimenters the world over have been trying to get rid of the smoke nuisance by appliances attached to the smokestack or the boiler furnace a German scientist comes forward with a chemical that actually prevents smoke at the time of fuel combustion. It only costs about twelve and a half cents per ton to use this chemical now when its production is limited. It is believed that it can be profitably produced in quantities so that it will only cost two cents per ton for coal so treated. Tests of coal which has been given a bath of this solution prove that its heating qualities are in no way curtailed and that the fire is clean, bright and well maintained.

THE COLQUITTS OF GEORGIA.
 The country is informed from Washington that "Senator Colquitt is dying." When it is announced that the great good man, whom we have ever been proud to call our friend, is dead, we shall speak more at length of him, but it is to the family of which he is a member that our thoughts now turn, as they have appeared to us in early childhood and through subsequent years. It was composed of five persons: Walter T. Colquitt, and his children Alfred, Peyton, Lizzie and Emily. Walter T. Colquitt was the most distinguished Georgian of his day, Toombs and Stephens reaching their meridian as his sun went down. He was a great lawyer, an impartial judge, a powerful preacher and able United States Senator.

A good man once said of him "I am afraid that brother Colquitt does as much harm as a lawyer he does good as a preacher, for the biggest rascal and worst criminal in the State is perfectly safe if he can get Colquitt to defend him." It is related of him that on one day, in Washington, he "married a couple, officiated at a funeral, made a speech in the Senate, argued a case before the Supreme Court and preached an old-fashioned, shouting-methodist sermon at night." Judge Colquitt—he was oftener called Judge than anything else—was the readiest of men, which induced his bosom friend—the father of this writer—to say of him, "Colquitt is like cold some, mighty good and always ready."

It is very unusual for a devoted father to see his fondest hopes realized in all his children, but such was the good fortune of Judge Colquitt. Miss Lizzie usually accompanied her father to Washington, and for several winters she was one of the belles of the capital. She married a congressman named Fecklin and went West, where she became a power for good in the church her father loved so well. Miss Emily, the younger and more beautiful of the sisters, married a Mr. Carter, a rich Georgia planter of culture and refinement. There never was a finer specimen of manhood than Peyton Colquitt. At the time John Brown captured Harper's Ferry Peyton Colquitt was captain of the Light City Guards of Columbus Georgia. As soon as he heard of the John

Brown movement he telegraphed to Gov Wise offering the services of his company, and in response the Hero-Governor sent the characteristic message, "Virginia can defend herself."
 Early in the spring of 1861, Har-diman's Georgia Battalion, composed of the Light City Guard, Capt. Colquitt; The Macon Volunteers, Cap Smith; the Floyd Rifles, Capt. Rose; and the Griffin Guards, Capt Doyle, was sent to Norfolk; but in a short while Colquitt was made colonel of a Georgia regiment and went to the Army of the Tennessee.
 He distinguished himself greatly in battle, and was killed on the day he received his appointment as Brigadier General.
 The Colonel never lost a pur-er gentleman or more knightly soldier than he did when Peyton Colquitt died on the field of battle.
 As already intimated, what we have to say of Alfred H. Colquitt, the dying senator is reserved for a future occasion.

A Fountain for Dogs and Horses.
 Mrs. Marie Guise Newcomb, who ranks high among the artists of New York city as an animal painter, some time ago painted a picture showing two horses drinking at the fountain in front of the S. P. C. A. headquarters on Fourth avenue. Mrs. Newcomb, in accordance with her previously declared intention, ordered a drinking fountain, to be paid for from the money received for the painting.
 The fountain will be placed at the junction of Third and Fourth avenues, in front of Cooper Union. There will be a basin for the horses, and alongside of it a smaller one for dogs. On the other side will be a drinking place for persons. Mrs. Newcomb comes from French stock, but was born in Newark, N. J. In 1885, after studying for some time in this country, she went to Europe, living in Paris for a year and studying under Details and other celebrated masters. She then went to Ecouen and became the disciple of the famous animal painter, Schenck. She has exhibited her work frequently in this country.

A Witty Irish Priest.
 Father Healey, of Bray, one of the very few avowed unionist priests in the distressful country, has been in great form lately. Known for a long while past as one of the greatest Irish wits, he has fairly excelled himself during the last few weeks. The other day an ardent politician asked his reverence: "What do you think now, father? Tim Healy will be in the first Irish parliament, lord chancellor, attorney general or what?" "Shure, he will be a very old man," was the reply. At Corless' restaurant the other day Father Healey's attention was drawn by the proud proprietor to the fact that Miss Corless had gained some great distinction at the Milan conservatoire of music. "And what are you going to do with your daughter after all this?" asked the priest. "Oh, I shall hope to see her on the operatic stage soon," replied Mr. Corless, who is the owner of the most extensive oyster beds on the Irish coast. "You want to turn her into an oyster Patti, then?" said Father Healey without a moment's hesitation.

From Woodchopper to President.
 A short time before the war a stranger, giving his name as Frey, asked assistance and lodging at the house of a farmer, John Gratzold, who lived near Middletown, O. Frey said he had been exiled from Germany for some political offense, and claimed to have been a student in that country. He was taken into the family of Gratzold, where he engaged as a farmhand and staid two years. In '61 he enlisted in an Illinois regiment, had quite a brilliant military career and was promoted to the rank of major. He was taken to Libby prison, and was paroled in 1865. His health was broken, and he went back to his native country, where he recovered, and in 1869 he was sent to America as Switzerland's representative. Later he became highly successful in politics, holding the position of secretary of war and other offices in Switzerland. The other day Gratzold received a letter from his former wood-chopper, who is now M. Frey, the president of the Swiss republic.

THERE'S DISCOMFORT, pain and griping, with the usual pills. Take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and there's nothing of the kind. You regulate the bowels according to your needs—one little Pellet for a gentle laxative or corrective, three for a cathartic—but it's all perfectly easy and natural. And the help that comes in this way, lasts.
 These tiny, sugar-coated granules are the smallest in size and the easiest to take. They absolutely and permanently cure Constipation, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Dizziness, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels.
 For the worst cases of chronic Catarrh, for Catarrhal Headache, impaired taste, smell, hearing, and all the troubles that follow Catarrh, there's nothing so prompt to relieve and so certain to cure, as Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Its proprietors offer $500 reward for any case of Catarrh which they cannot cure.
