EASTER.

Fair Hies wet with pearls of dew
Look up through fragrant tears,
The morning stars are shining through
The clouds that woke our fears.

Then shout on earth: "God I will to meet!"
While "Peace" the angels sing—
Our Saviour, He is King!
—Ellen K. Bradford.

The start has been made towards a shell rock road pavement in front of the Gaston House.

The annual election of vestry men for Christ (Episcopal) church will be held to-morrow from 10.30 a. m. to 12 a. m.

President Bates, of the broken Bank of Hanover, Wilmington, was acquitted. The cases against the other officers and directors were not prosed.

Easter-Day will not occur again in the month of March during the nineteenth century. Its next occurrence in March will be on the 30th of that month in 1902.

Broad street is now laid with the water pipe and the connecting link between the foot of the street and the point on East Front at the commencement of the rock wall to which the pipe was previously built is now being laid.

According to the Fayetteville Observer, the farmers of that section are making a very sensible move, putting their land in better shape than for many years past and making most of their own fertilizers too, instead of making mortgages for the imported goods.

The young men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A., will not be held this afternoon on account of the meeting in the Baptist church at 4.30 o'clock. The young men are cordially invited to attend that meeting.

Messrs. Bryan & Smith displayed their sign yesterday—a large one in three divisions. The central one bears the name of the firm and the representation of a bale of hay; on one end sacks of feed and on the other of fertilizer. It was executed by Mr. E. T. Berry.

Pressed into service.

Quite a large pile of rocks were taken from in front of Col. J. V. Jordans drug store when the excavation was made along there for the water works' pipe. They are portions of the foundations of the old market which stood there before the war and was burned, or of the rock driveway which ran on the east side of the market.

The rocks are once more to be turned to use. They have been hauled down to South Front street and will be used in making two walks across the street, one at the main entrance of the Gaston House, the other in front of Mr. Suter's furniture store.

The College Boys Thursday Night.

Let every body turn out and give the Glee Club from the University of N. C. a routing welcome on the above. They have been spoken of in very complimentary terms wherever they have appeared as may be seen from the notices given them by the press in different parts of the State. The people of Wilmington and Raleigh look forward for a rare treat, and in the appearance of the Club in their midst a few days previous to their visiting New Berne. They have visited both places before and the people know what to expect.

The club will reach here on the W. N. & N. R. R. at noon of the 30th.

The Board for reserved seats will be open at 12 o'clock Wednesday the 29th at Nunn & McSorley's.

A young lawyer of Raleigh of a prominent family has eloped with a degraded woman. They are supposed to be bound for Oklahoma.

MR. ROYALL'S BODY FOUND

Will be Brought to the City this Morning for Immediate Interment.

The body of young Mr. Wm. S. Royal who was drowned Monday was found yesterday afternoon about 8 o'clock up Trent river by Foy's mill by some colored women. The place where the body was found is six miles from the city and five miles from where the accident occurred.

A colored man, upon receiving the information made the body secure and brought the news to the city.

Coroner Primrose immediately impounded a jury and proceeded in buggies to the place Messrs. H. E. and G. M. Royall, brothers of the deceased, were in the party. The body was viewed, cared for and left there until this morning.

It was in a remarkably good state of preservation considering the length of time that has elapsed since the drowning occurred. It was only swollen some—not mutilated in any way.

The inquest was postponed on account of the difficulty of getting the witnesses at the time.

The remains will be brought to the city and buried this morning.

The plan is for the boat going after the body to leave the market dock this morning at 8 o'clock with both the coffin and box, in which the body will be brought on the return to the foot of Metcalf street. No more time will be consumed in the trip than necessary and, upon the return, everything will be in readiness and the procession will move at once from the wharf to the cemetery.

The Annual Fair Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the East Carolina Fair comes off next Tuesday night and it is hoped that the attendance will be good.

As strange as it seems there is more indifference to this part of the Fair work than any other. Each stockholder seems to be content that some else shall look after the business affairs and he is willing to abide by their action—or at least this is the position of a good many of the stockholders. To such an extent does this go that there is actual fear at each meeting that not enough will attend to make a quorum and carry on the business; it takes about seventy votes for this, so the question is not simply whether the absentee is willing to abide by what is done but also whether anything can be done without him.

This one meeting a year is all the stockholders have and each should be present and aid in shaping the policy of the Association for the next year as far as can be done at that time.

Attend the meeting Tuesday night in full force, and out the results of the exhibition just held and give your voice and vote in the transaction of the business.

Capt. W. W. Carraway.

ED. JOURNAL.—I see from your paper that Capt. W. W. Carraway of Lenoir county is suggested as a candidate for congress from the third District.

If one living outside of the District can be pardoned for putting in his mouth, permit me to say it would ensure not only to the credit of the third District but to all North Carolinians, to have such a man representing us in Congress, and for the following reasons:—

Capt. Carraway has ability and attainments not excelled by any congressman from this State. His constant contact with the people in every section of the State and knowledge of their needs is unsurpassed. His proverbial kindness, goodness, and integrity without the suspicion of a shadow, makes him available against any man of any party.

He is a man of the people, with character and brain to stand by them and their interest—a man all classes can implicitly trust.

DEMOCRAT.

Trying up the Whale.

Mr. H. H. Brimley, who has been down to the scene of the captured whale in the interest of the State passed through yesterday morning returning to Raleigh. Mr. Brimley secured pictures of the scene,—the whale with the men on his back cutting him up, the boats with the men in them and the equipments, the piles of blubber on the shore, the trying out scenes, &c. These will be added to the collection of State scenes now on hand at the capital.

Up to the time Mr. Brimley left on Friday the tongue was the only portion that they had finished trying out; it yielded six or seven barrels of oil.

It is found that there is from a thousand to twelve hundred pounds of the whalebone and that quotations range from $2 to $7 a pound.

Those interested have their estimates on this part of the whale on 1000 pounds at $1.50 per pound—$1500. It may be that the money value of the whale will prove greater than was at first thought.

In addition to the measurements we have already given Mr. Brimley gives us the following dimensions of the head: 12 feet long, 12 feet deep from top down, 14 feet across where it joins the back and about 45 feet in circumference.

It is believed that the whale would weigh one hundred tons.

The blubber was on an average of 12 inches thick; it was from 7 to 8 inches on the back and 18 inches on the breast. It was cut out in trenches or "ditches" with an implement a "spade" made for the business. Four men would be at work cutting, four more with hooks pulling the pieces out of the way and a number carrying them to the shore where they were placed in immense pile waiting their turn in the trying kettles. The tremendous mass of flesh is already becoming offensive, and yet it will take a week or more to finish trying it.

The Baptist Meeting.

Last night the attendance at the Baptist church was extraordinary for Saturday night.

Mr. Elsom's first talk was on the conditions to receive a blessing. He said the blessing could not be prevented by sinners, atheists or infidels—only by the failure of Christians to do their duty.

The sermon was from John 3:7, "Ye must be born again." The impression was very favorable. Some of the hearers remarked of it that it was as good as they ever heard.

There will be the regular services to-day at 11 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Also a service at 4.30 p. m. The subject in the afternoon service will be "The Work of the Holy Spirit."

Easter Services.

All are cordially invited to attend the Easter service this morning at Centenary Methodist Church. A chorus of 20 or more girl voices will lead the song service. The floral decoration of the church arranged by the young ladies of the congregation is beautiful and attractive.

In the afternoon the Sabbath School will make Easter offerings.

At the Episcopal church at 5 o'clock this afternoon, the children of the Sabbath school will, as usual, present their Easter offerings by classes, and, class by class, also present a portion of a design which will explain itself as it develops in the building.

According to custom, the school will, if weather permits, form a procession outside and march into the church.

The service will be a choral one with the presentation of the offerings and the building of the design coming in near the middle of the meeting and the address by the rector immediately following this part.

Commercial travelers and merchants speak very hopefully of the business outlook. Trade is better than at this time last year. Farmers in most cases have much more money. It is alleged that much cotton is yet held on the farms, and there is quite a disposition not to sell it at prices under 10 cents.

EASTER CAROL.

Ring out, sweet Easter bells, ring out!
The world to life is waking,
And heavenly hosts in triumph shout,
The joy of man partaking;
For He, Who died our souls to save,
The Lord is risen from the grave.
Alleluia!

Once more the sea its waves divides,
That we our Lord may follow;
Then o'er the foe in triumph rides,
The hosts of sin to swallow;
For He, Who saved us from our doom,
The Lord is risen from the tomb.
Alleluia!

The Roman guard in vain shall keep
The dark and silent prison;
No more sad Magdalene shall weep,
For Christ the Lord is risen;
The Savior, Who for sinners bled,
The Lord is risen from the dead.
Alleluia!

Then ring, sweet bells, the joy of earth
In Easter hymns to Heaven,
And tell the new, immortal Birth
To man by Jesus given;
For our dear Lord is risen indeed,
And lives on high to intercede.
Alleluia! AMEN.

Wilmington Convocation this Week.

The opening of the convocation of Wilmington, as previously announced, will be held Thursday evening of this week at 8 p. m.

The Bishop will make his annual visitation Sunday evening April 1st at 8 o'clock and administer the rite of confirmation. On the morning of that day he will consecrate St. Thomas' church at Jasper.

Maimed, Famishing and Awaiting Death.

"Prof." Walters, the raft crank, who has made a precarious living along the ocean front near Atlantic City, N. J., for the past three seasons, was discovered by Officer Conley, of that place, Thursday evening in an almost famishing condition. He was in a little room back of the bath houses above Connecticut avenue and was barely able to speak. He was removed to the city hospital, where it was found that his left wrist was broken in two places and the arm black and swollen. He said he had been alone for two weeks past and was calmly awaiting death. A window had fallen on his wrist. Dr. Ulmer fears that blood poisoning will ensue.—New York World.

The whistling and swimming, eccentric but harmless individual spoken of above will be remembered by many New Berne people from several visits he has made here in recent years. Though with mind slightly impaired, he managed to make his living and was an object of kindly sympathy. Those who knew him will be sorry to hear of the poor fellow's added affliction.

CEDAR GROVE CEMETERY

On the 22nd Day of March, 1894

Two or three "Julias trees"—called by that name in accordance with an old legend which affirms that a tree of this kind the arch traitor closed his part in the tragedy of the betrayal—and completely covered with rather showy light purple blossoms which have great attraction for the "housewife bee," and others that love the sweet nectar of flowers. Many other growing plants deserve mention.

It may not be amiss in writing of the beautiful things of nature which have been gathered here, to refer to a work of art—the product of the mind and hand of man. Many large and elegant and costly monuments have been erected to beautify the places of the dead. We mention this because it is new, being placed in position as we write.

It stands upon the higher ground in the northern and western part of the Cemetery, and may be seen all along George St. from Queen to the Fair Grounds, but the best view is had in coming down to Queen from the last named place. The base is a fine block of Quincy granite—as the architect told us, "right from the home of John Quincy Adams." All above the base is marble, "uniform stock," of light color, from the quarries of Carrara in Italy, where it was made. It is at present without any lettering, except the one word, "Bryan," near the base on the north side. The height is some thirty feet or more, and the proportions and symmetry very pleasing. "The ornamentation is not profuse, but chaste and elegant. The beauty of the form is enhanced and set off by the statues, or as the sculptor calls them, "the figures." The figure on the west, placed at an elevation of perhaps fifteen feet is Memory. Standing, with folded hands, and head slightly bowed, her sweet face gathers an earnest, sad expression, as she recalls the past hours and "waka them what report they bore to Heaven." On the opposite side stands Hope. Laying her left hand upon her breast and with the right grasping her anchor, with radiant countenance she looks up into the calm heavens, to see "above a ruined world the bow of promise rise."

The crowning glory is the Recording Angel. We have heard of "smiles that might play upon an angels face," and of tears that would not stain an angels cheek," but being a "little lower" we cannot catch the expression of the face before us. But we are impressed with the sight of the extended arm and hand clasping the pen, and the open book ready to receive the record.

We have read too that "once upon a time, when the accusing spirit flew up to heavens chancery with an oath, he blushed as he gave it in, and the recording angel as he wrote it down dropped a tear upon the word and blotted it out forever." May he be as lenient toward our oaths and peccadilloes.

The Populists are circulating in Nash county the queerest political dodger ever seen in the State. It is printed on yellow paper and is an odd mixture of religion and politics.

CULLED ITEMS OF NEWS.

Half of the foreign trade of Brazil is done by English vessels.

The police census shows that there are 56,676 unemployed persons in Brooklyn. Some of the New York political bosses are partial to striped suits this spring. Most of the telegrams sent by the queen are in cipher.

Whether a man gets or fails to get an office is often an important factor in determining his opinion of the party in power.

The largest church in the world is St. Peter's in Rome, the smallest a church ten feet square in the Isle of Man.

Senator Colquhitt has relapsed and hope of his recovery are now abandoned.

A most remarkable mirage was seen off Hatteras on March 18th. About twenty-eight schooners were outlined against a fog-bank.

Advices from Norfolk state that Money Island, a suburb of Norfolk, was almost destroyed by fire Friday night. The plant of the Roanoke Lumber company, the Old Dominion crosscut works and the Tyler box factory and the three masted schooner Elias Moore, were destroyed. The loss will aggregate $300,000 with insurance about two-thirds of that amount.

Admiral Walker has received his formal orders. The statements is that Admiral Walker goes to Honolulu for no other purpose than to establish a naval station of the United States, and to provide against any possible attempt by a foreign power to secure influences in the affairs of the government there, the completion of his mission will involve the practical establishment of a United States protectorate over Hawaii by the occupation of Pearl harbor as a United States naval station.

The Rev. Father A. Lambert, a priest well known to the Catholics of this country, has withdrawn from the Catholic Church. He has sent his letter of resignation from the Rectorship order to the Rev. Father Raus, the Superior of the order of Rome, and a copy of the document of the Father in charge of the American branch of the order at Saratoga. He is now at Christ Mission, 142 West Twenty-first street, New York, with Father O'Connor, a former Catholic, and it is from this house that he sent his sudden note of resignation. Father Lambert has as yet made no plans for the future, but he expects to become an evangelist.
