There were eighteen lawyers at Trenton court—almost more lawyers than there were other people, was the remark of one who was there. There were ten from New Berne, five from Lenoir county, two from Onslow and one from Wayne.

The News-Observer-Chronicle gives the following snappy item: "One of our gardeners informs us that that cold snap Tuesday morning took snap judgment on his snaps and left them with very little snap in them."

The thermometer record for the 24 hours ending at six o'clock last night was: Highest 58, lowest 23 1/2, range 35 1/2. Tuesday night was 3 1/2 degrees colder than the previous night. The lowest point reached then was 26.

The sign "Claude M. Benton, M. D., at the door of the Bangert building on Middle street near Broad now tells the passer that Dr. Benton who has moved here from Newton Grove, is now ready to serve the public in the line of his profession. His office is very neatly furnished.

The Kaiser Choral Society held their regular rehearsal last night at the College Institute. While the attendance was not so large as at some other meetings, the interest manifested was unabated. Two solos were kindly sung by Mr. Kaiser and Miss Rachel Shultz.

Messrs Hackburn & Willett took warning from the Weather Bureau telegram which predicted the frost, and covered 50 acres of their potatoes which were up, by throwing dirt on them with a turn plow, thus saving them. A large proportion of their crop, escaped by not having come up.

Capt. David Mason from Smith's creek informs us that ice was found at his home Oriental, Monday night a half inch thick. He left for the city the next morning too early to see what the effect on the truck was, but it can be imagined from the above statement combined, with the fact that the peas there were so far advanced that they were expected to be picked next week.

Mr. A. Gallup of Jones county has an order for 50,000 express shingles for Greens, Connecticut. The purchaser, Mr. E. A. Card, also bought a car load of lumber for immediate shipment, and gave orders for a cargo to go by vessel. On his return he expects to make investment in real estate in this section. He says the Northern demand for North Carolina lumber is on the increase.

There will be no prayer meeting in the Presbyterian church tonight, it being omitted to give the congregation opportunity to unite in the services in progress at the Baptist church. There will, however, be services on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock and Saturday afternoon, preparatory to communion on the Sabbath. The Church of Christ and Hancock Street Methodist church also omit their usual prayer meeting tonight on account of the same services.

CREASING INTEREST.

Large Attendance at the Revival Meeting—Many Penitents and Eight Converts.

Rev. P. G. Elsom's sermon last night was exceptionally interesting. The text was Daniel 5: 27, "Thou art weighed in the balances and found wanting." Mr. Elsom first divided the people into two great classes, the saved and the unsaved, and then subdivided the first class into the following divisions: Doubting christians, croaking or fault-finding christians, gossiping christians, drinking christians, card playing christians, and covetous christians. All these were weighed by the bible and found wanting. The remedy offered was Christ.

The sinners were all weighed together as they all stood on the same platform. The weight used in the opposite side of the scales was the 20th chapter of Exodus containing the ten commandments. Each one was shown to be guilty of breaking the commandment.

The weight they needed to make them balance was Christ—he was to be taken in the scale with them.

A score or more manifested their desire for salvation by going forward when the invitation was given. Several also in the audience requested the prayers of the congregation. There were eight conversions.

The meetings in the afternoon are also very beneficial to those who attend; at the one held yesterday more people were present than at any previous meeting. The talk, based on Peter 1:19, was on the precious blood of Christ.

It is desired that the business places of the city close during the hour that the afternoon service is in progress. Each one seen yesterday acquiesced in the request, and the hope is felt that every one will do likewise.

Three churches omit their prayer meeting tonight to unite in these services.

Coming and Going.

Mr. Chas. S. Hill and Miss Lizzie Howell were married at 8:30 o'clock last night at the residence of Mr. W. P. Marshall, brother-in-law of the bride, Rev. Rufus Ford officiating.

The bridal couple entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march performed by Mr. J. Willis Stallang, and every thing passed off beautifully. Refreshments were served after the ceremony.

A large number of friends were present on the interesting occasion and presents were numerous and pretty.

THE JOURNAL extends its best wishes to the happy pair.

Week-Day Sunday.

Business houses are asked to close for an hour, from 4 to 5 o'clock p. m., to-day so that all may attend the revival in the Baptist church at that hour. Some firms have agreed to close and all others are asked to do so.

APRIL WEATHER.

The Outlook for Next Month as Forecasted by the Weather Bureau

The Chief of the Weather Bureau directs the publication of the following data, compiled from the record of observations for the month of April, taken at the station for a period of twenty-three years.

Craven County Schools.

The public schools of this county are closing an unusually brilliant and successful term, which will average over three months in duration.

The superintendent has raised the standard of scholarship from year to year and the colleges and high schools have furnished much excellent material for teachers and the county now possesses the finest role of teachers it ever had some of the most accomplished women of the State are engaged in this work in Craven county, and in many instances the rural districts have contributed some of the most useful members of this body.

House Burned.

A dwelling house on the farm of Mr. W. M. Gilbert, of Adams creek, was burned Sunday night. The place was occupied by a colored tenant, named Joe Mundy. It is supposed to have been caught from the stove pipe. No one was in the house at the time, the occupants having gone to church. Consequently nothing was saved. We are informed the house was worth three or four hundred dollars and Mundy says his loss was about $125 in furniture and $14 in cash.

The Glee Club To-Night.

No one should miss the entertainment to be given tonight by the University Glee Club. The young men are from our own State University, an institution dear to the heart of every loyal North Carolinian, whose record gives it an honorable place among the prominent educational institutions of the country and which is keeping pace with them at the present day.

The boys have been the recipients of very complimentary notices wherever they have appeared and at Wilmington last night they were accorded a reception in the Y. M. C. A. rooms after the concert was over, the ladies of the city acting as chaperones on the occasion and making it quite a social as well as musical event.

For ourselves we can say that we heard the club two years ago at the Teachers' Assembly in Morehead City and never attended an entertainment similar in character from which we derived so much pleasure.

Those composing the club are not strangers; they are representatives of the promising youths of our own State; one of the number is of our own city.

We give one extract from an article on the club in the Wilmington Messenger which strikes us as very apropos: "Don't think of the boys as being off on a wild escapade, with no object save that of thinking duty. They represent a phase of college life which is seldom open to public gaze—a part, we might say, of an unwritten curriculum, none the less beneficial thereto, however! It is a relaxation from books and chemical laboratories, it is an occasion for the public to learn that there are other forces at work to elevate the mind than poring over many volumes, or the other extreme—than kicking ball."

Remember then what the Glee Club is, and what is its object; and give them a hearty welcome when they arrive on the noon train from Wilmington today. You'll be sure to do this after you've heard them sing.

Tickets are now on sale at Nunn & McSorley's. The general admission is 50 cents, gallery 25 cents and there is no extra charge for reserved seats.

The doors will be open at 8 o'clock but the performance will not begin until about 8:45 o'clock so as to keep the concert from conflicting with the church service.

The Passion revival meetings, at Anderson, S. C., says the Columbia State of Sunday, are still attracting great crowds of people, every service being largely attended. The evangelist is doing magnificent work, and a great many persons have professed conversion.

ANOTHER VIEW OF IT.

Here is a Man Who Thinks the Frost a Blessing to Truckers.

Mr. E. C. Palmer, of the firm of Palmer, Rivenburg, & Co., New York, was down in Charleston just before the present cold snap, according to his annual custom of visiting the principal points South about this time of year. The News & Courier published the following summary of the observations he made on his trip and of the results he thought would ensue from a partially destructive spell of weather.

"Florida, he remarked, has an immense truck crop, and it is well advanced. Strawberries, peas, cabbages and tomatoes are being sent North from Florida in great quantities. With the exception of cabbages all truck brings fair prices. There has been a very large crop, and it is being rushed on the market all at once. It is the fault of the remarkably forward season, and if there is not a cold change soon, the whole Southern belt from Florida to Virginia will be shipping at once, and prices will become almost nominal. In a normal season these crops come into the market in rotation.

A frost would be a blessing even if some smaller truck were killed, the difference that a cold snap would necessarily make in prices would more than make up for the losses."

A Fine Entertainment for Next Wednesday.

A canvass of the city yesterday resulted in securing subscribers for about 75 tickets for the Labadie & Rowell company's entertainment here on Wednesday evening next. The company has been consolidated with the famous Hollywood Celebrities and its entertainment will be one of the most novel of its kind ever given.

The subscription list has been left at Nunn & McSorley's store so as to allow any others who may desire to subscribe to place their names on it. Subscribers get the first choice of seats and as the general admission to the first floor of the house will be $1.00, it behooves all to get reserved seats at the same price. The reserved seats will be placed on sale at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Commander Coxey has left the army and gone back home. He says this is not on account of his financial troubles but to go from them by a later train to Chicago to attend an auction stock sale. He says he will rejoin the command later.

The Virginia courts are closed to Mrs. Lockwood the Washington female attorney, who applied to qualify to practice in the circuit court of Henrico county. The judge denied the application, holding that it was against all precedents for a woman to practice in the courts of the commonwealth. Two sessions of the Virginia Legislature have refused to pass a bill allowing women to practice in the State courts. The Judge however subsequently took the matter under further consideration.

The Washington Times of March 21st, has this to say regarding J. S. Carr: "Prominent among progressive and public spirited North Carolinians is Col. Julius S. Carr, who was seen by the Times at the Arlington last night. At 40 he is two or three times a millionaire, is president of the great Durham Tobacco company, president of the North Carolina State Agricultural society, president of the Young Men's Democratic club, and uses his big income liberally in building churches and endowing colleges. In the dead looking to the retirement of Senator Ransom, Col. Carr is a prominent Senatorial probability. He is rich, handsome, distinguished looking, easy natured, and one of the most successful business men in the South."

It is reported that under the leadership of Elder G. White, known as the "Mother of Abolition," the followers of that peculiar brand of religious faith at Battle Creek, Mich., were lately selling or giving away all their property, and preparing for their ascent to Heaven—believing that the end of the world is near at hand. At a recent meeting far from personal property, jewels, etc., worth $25,000, were donated to raise a fund for the spread of the gospel. The precise day for the "ascend" has not yet been determined upon.

The Charlotte News gives the following account of an uncommon scene in that city: "On Saturday evening a most uncommon scene occurred at the R. & D. junction, north of the city. Thirty-four tramps, a veritable mob, were led into one box car which was to go north. The tramping realized their inability to do anything with the gang and shut the door and scolded the car. It will be impossible for the tramps to get out before they get to Richmond, and they will probably be both hungry and thirsty before their destination is reached."

There is a big rumour at Raleigh university colored at Charlotte. The News says Professor Carson, of the university, and a student named Hawkins had a fracas. Carson accused Hawkins of telling lies to President Sumner, on him, and Hawkins called the Professor a liar. Carson then struck at Hawkins with a spade and ran into his room and got gun to shoot Hawkins. It is said that Carson was seen to put a cartridge in his gun, and that Professor Davidson got between him and Hawkins to prevent him from shooting. A warrant was issued out for Carson but the matter was quashed before it got to be public property. And now seventy of the tramps have gone home and the others intend to go south. It looks as if there would be, in the News intimated, a hotbed of war.
