THE WAY TO DO IT.

The business of the country is constantly retarded by absenteeism. When questions of great moment are to be acted upon it is impossible to get a quorum in the House. The Washington correspondent of the Atlanta Journal, writing on April 12 says, "The Democrats of the House are just twenty-four votes short of a quorum this morning. Yesterday the shameful number of seventy democratic absentees was recorded."

Many and various means have been suggested to produce a quorum, but the difficulty remained until the Atlanta Journal rose to the situation and announced that "the only way to produce a quorum for democratic constituencies is to send men to Congress who will attend to business and remain at the capitol."

This is very much like the assertion that "the way to get to the moon is to climb there."

If there is any meaning to the late elections, there is very little prospect of any more Democrats being elected, until those who have been elected attend to their business. The plan of our Atlanta contemporary won't work.

The people always try to send men to Congress who will attend to their duties, but how is it to be known that a man will do this. Every man who is a candidate promises to do it, but very many fall for short of the fulfillment.

It won't do to postpone matters until there can be another election. The responsibility on the present Congress.

If the present Democratic Congress fails, where is the promise of another Democratic Congress?

If we have to wait until "Democratic constituencies" send men to Congress who will attend to business and remain at the capitol, the apples of hope will turn to ashes on our lips.

"Now is the accepted time; Now is the day of Salvation." If present opportunities are wasted, it is useless to expect deliverance at the hands of the next or an subsequent Congress.

Gold Exports. New York, April 13.—It was announced in Wall street today that arrangements had been made to ship $3,200,000 gold to France on the steamer La Gascoigne.

Rapid Travel. A project is on foot to build an electric railway from Washington to New York upon which cars will be propelled at the rate of two miles per minute. It will be elevated about two feet in the open country and in the villages and towns it will be elevated so as to not interfere with the traffic on the surface. 60 miles an hour a few years back was thought to be flying through the air, but this rate of speed is entirely to slow for the progressive American.

A mile per minute is still fair traveling for the average citizen and we feel certain that the more timid will consider the new project entirely too fast for their nerves. However time softens all things and in a few years we shall behold the timid ones mounting the electric streak with perfect composure, and will join in the railway of the slow coach time of 1893.

If the project proves successful, this will certainly be a good beginning towards the annihilation of space, for in a few years thereafter two miles per minute will be but making trifling time and we will be rushing through the country at the slow rate of three miles per minute.

Think of it! Breakfast in Raleigh, go to Richmond and return in time for dinner. "The world do move!"—Raleigh Press.

The Washington Post writing of Stevenson's popularity in the South gives the following: "I have just finished a tour of the Southern States from Virginia to Texas," said Mr. George M. Hawkes, an observant commercial traveler, with headquarters at Baltimore, to a reporter at the Wormley "and I took some pains to size up the sentiment of people regarding the next Democratic nominee for the Presidency. The unanimity of sentiment in favor of Vice President A. E. Stevenson as the standard-bearer in '94 was wonderful. Every Democrat from the Potomac to the Rio Grande is even now yelling lustily for Stevenson. From Alexandria to El Paso his name alone seems to kindle enthusiasm in the Democratic breast."
