LOCAL NEWS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.
Howard.
Citizens Bank.—Statement.

The Weather Bureau continues to predict fair weather.

Remember the Vance monument meeting tomorrow noon.

The hour for the Presbyterian excursion to leave this morning and the Episcopal tomorrow morning, is 8:40.

Sunday there was quite a good rain at Newport. It extended up towards New Berne some miles but none of it reached here.

Palmer, Rivenburg & Co., of New York, wired the following truck quotations last night: Cabbage, $1.00 and $1.50; peas, half barrel, $1.50, bushel, 5c., to $1.00. Strawberries 4 to 8.

Mr. George Watts of Durham, a member of the firm of W. Duke, Sons & Co., branch of the American Tobacco Company has donated to Durham a $25,000 hospital, and endowed it with $25,000 more.

Bean picking is likely to begin on a small scale next week. They have been blooming about a week and young beans can now be seen on the vines. W. H. Shepard, col., showed us a sample about half grown from his garden Monday.

Timothy Bow, one of the colored barbers of the city, had a chicken to hatch out, natural in every way, except that it was double headed. Each head was perfect. The chicken died and was placed in alcohol yesterday for preservation.

Miss Mary Bryan will leave this morning to visit her sister, Mrs. C. H. Rhom of Halifax, N. C. During her absence Mr. W. M. Webb, of Morehead City, will take her place. He came up yesterday morning for the purpose and was at his post of duty through the day.

The Presbyterian excursion leaves this morning giving the parties who go on it an opportunity to visit either Wilmington or Wrightsville or both in a single day including a visit to the ocean if Wrightsville if the trip taken.

Centenary Methodist picnic will leave for Morehead Thursday morning at half past eight o'clock. As the number of cars is limited to six coaches, the fare for nurses will be 75 cents. Regular tickets to non-members will be $1.00. This entitles to dinner.

To-morrow morning the Episcopal picnic leaves, according to announcement already given, for Jacksonville by train; and from there by steamer to the noted farm of Mr. Thomas A. McIntyre, on New river, and then after dinner down the river to the great Atlantic ocean.

The mission Sunday school of the Baptist church, was opened at the corner of Pollock and Norwood streets (near McCarthy's store) Sunday with a satisfactory number for the first meeting. It is intended, however, to work the school up to larger proportions. There will be services in the same room to-night.

The turn table of the W. N. & N. R. and the side track from it to the main line now stands ready for use. It was put to use for the first time yesterday at eight o'clock. Engine No. 2, of gravel train was the one turned upon it. Those in charge were conductor J. T. Dooley, engineer J. W. Wallace and foreman W. T. Oatsday.

The Coney army moved out of Washington and the District of Columbia Saturday to Bladensburg, just over the Maryland line. The governor of Maryland has been telegraphed asking that he do not allow them to camp there, to which no answer had come at latest advices.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON

At the Y. M. C. A.—Large gathering—Interesting Exercises.

There was a large gathering of people at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon, it being the regular monthly meeting at which ladies are invited to attend. A varied and well arranged program had been prepared and it was carried out in a most acceptable manner.

The address of the evening was by our townsman, Mr. John Stanley Thomas, recently connected with the New York Trades schools, and former secretary of the Washington Heights Y. M. C. A. The address was about twenty minutes in length and had a splendid flow of language and was delivered in his usual vigorous and forceful style.

All the seats in the large hall were occupied, and on the spacious platform were members from the various choirs, and more spirited and delightful singing was never heard at one of these meetings. A number of special pieces were sung that were highly complimented.

Messrs. Stallings, Harper, Clark, and Hartsfield sang "Jerusalem, My Glorious Home," a very pretty quartet.

That popular song "Come," which is usually sung as a solo was this time rendered as a duet by Miss Stella Roberts and Charita Clark, with full choir in the chorus.

Only one other special piece, a bass solo—"The Beacon Light," by Mr. H. L. Taylor, accompanied by Miss Roberts, and Clark, and W. Koch in the chorus. It was a pretty air and well sung.

Mr. Payor has been a resident of New Berne but a short while, and to the greater portion of the audience, was the first time he had been heard in solo. He has a very deep, full voice and admirably adapted to pieces medium high in register.

Coming and Going

Rev. J. T. Jenkins, who has been conducting a revival meeting in Beaufort passed through yesterday morning en route to Winston. Mr. Jenkins' home until recently was Wilmington. Through this summer it will be at Winston. His family have already gone to the latter place.

Rev. C. G. Vardell returned last night from Kingston, at which place he took part Sunday in the installation of the officers of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hallock went down last night to spend a few days in Beaufort.

Mrs. James A. Bryan left on the steamer Neuse to visit friends at the North.

Mr. Hiram Bell of Pollocksville left on the steamer Neuse on a business trip.

Mrs. Jos. B. Clark and daughter left on the Neuse to visit relatives at South creek, Washington and Elizabeth City.

Miss Lillie Benton of Smithfield, arrived to visit Miss Clyde Benton.

Mrs. H. R. Bryan returned from Fayetteville where she has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. B. Broadfoot.

Mr. Hill Humphrey returned from Jacksonville.

Dr. E. L. Cox and wife of Jacksonville are registered at Hotel Albert.

Messrs. Jos. and Benj. Hahn, of the city, Mr. I. H. Hass of Texas and M. Strasburg, of New York went down to Morehead to take a fishing frolic.

Before the Mayor

Hearing was had yesterday morning before Mayor Ellis in the case of the affidavit against Mr. Wm. Watson and Dr. Jos. W. Duguid, and in the case of Jos. W. Watson for assault on M. F. Ulrich. All three submitted and judgment was suspended upon payment of cost.

Still another disturbance grew out of the affair Sunday night. Mr. Will Watson, Jr. passed Dr. Duguid who was standing on the street back to him, and upon recognizing him, he struck him on the side of the head with his walking cane and then attacked him further. The two were quickly separated.

The walking cane being considered a deadly weapon Mr. Watson upon a hearing before the Mayor was bound over to the Superior court in the sum of $50. Mr. Watson apologized for the attack and he and Dr. Duguid made friends.

We are very glad indeed to see this unfortunate affair so amicably settled and the parties concerned willing to resume their customary friendly relations.

The Epworth League Entertainment

The Epworth League rooms were filled last night with an appreciative audience to hear the result of the efforts of the members at raising money to pay for their piano. All the members who made money for the purpose didn't try to make a poem but a number of them did, and the reading of them was an amusing feature.

Miss Leah Jones was awarded the prize (a scarf pin) for the best poem, Mr. Will Stallings the booby prize for the worst one, and Mr. Jas Gaskins took the prize for raising the largest sum—six dollars. This prize was a bright penny for seed money. Refreshments closed the evening's enjoyment. $37.00 was raised.

Test Cases

Two of the muzzled dogs had a fight yesterday. They could growl and bark and poke their noses at each other but could not inflict any damage.

One of the dogs with a muzzle on was seen to catch a bird. He held him, killed and managed to eat him even if he was muzzled. Right good work for him.

CARVER COUNTY REVIVALS.

Forty Accessions to Beaufort Baptist Church in Two Weeks—Work in Other Churches.

One of the most successful revivals ever held in Beaufort closed Sunday in the Baptist church of that city. It was of two weeks duration, and the results are forty accessions to the Baptist church, and a few to the Methodist.

Twenty-four of the converts were baptized Sunday—thirteen men and eleven ladies. Twelve more have made application for church membership, and are accepted and will be baptized next Sunday. In addition to these, four twos had once been members but had wandered off were reclaimed and are again in the enjoyment of religion and in fellowship with God's people. There were also a number of church members who had grown cold brought back to their first love.

In addition to the above, two of the converts united with the Methodist church Sunday, and the pastor has the names of about half a dozen others who intend to join.

The meetings were held twice a day for two weeks. Rev. J. T. Jenkins assisted the pastor, conducting the meetings and preaching. He preached simply, plainly, and in a direct, and unequivocal manner, and seems to be a firm believer in thoroughness in whatever is done. Nearly all, if not every single one, who has made a profession during the meetings has either already united with some church or given his name to some pastor for that purpose. Mr. Jenkins told his congregation that he would not give anything for a hand-slaking religion which would not carry the professor into the church and into heaven.

A feature of the meeting was the whole souled manner with which other Christians of the city worked in the meetings. Rev. Mr. Bumpass of the Methodist church and his people worked regularly in them, and numbers of the best Episcopalians also co-operated heartily.

There was large attendance from the beginning of the meetings but no special interest was manifested until the sabbath following their commencement. The plan on which they were conducted was for the Christians to work among the unconverted in after meetings.

The interest held to the last. Even on Saturday night the church was crowded and it was packed also on the sabbath to its utmost capacity, although the other churches were then holding their services. Seven of those who are to be baptized next sabbath were received last Sunday night, the very last meeting held.

At the latter part of that meeting the right hand of fellowship was extended by the other members to those who had been baptized that afternoon.

The music during the meetings is well spoken of. There were about fifty voices in the choir. Mr. J. S. Leonard, of Wilmington, was the leader in this part of the services.

Mr. Jenkins, was, until the 1st of April pastor of a church in Wilmington. At that time he severed his pastoral relationships to enter upon evangelistic work. He held his first series of meetings in Richlands, Onslow county, immediately afterward, and has since held two others all with large success, the Beaufort meetings being his fourth. He has engagements ahead reaching until near the close of the year.

Meetings have recently been held in the Baptist church of Morehead City by the pastor, Rev. J. H. Hayden, assisted by his father Rev. Jos. Hayden, of Richmond, Va. They resulted in additions to the two churches of Morehead. Sunday, six united with the Baptist church—four upon profession of faith and two by letter; and four with the Methodist church—two upon profession of faith and two by letter.

We are informed that the twenty-four baptized at Beaufort Sunday was the largest number ever baptized there at one time but we are told that about eight years ago at Morehead there were thirty-eight baptized at once. They were converted in a series of meetings conducted by Rev. W. T. Jones, a brother-in-law of Mrs. W. E. Clarke, of New Berne. Mr. Jones is now pastor of one of the Baptist churches of Goldsboro.

The Dog Muzzles.

The dog muzzles have arrived and 100 dogs were muzzled yesterday. Other muzzles are at the police station ready for the owners of dogs to buy them at 25 cents each. They are suited to dogs of all sizes from the large mastiff to the smallest pet dog.

Most of the dogs do not take kindly to their new ornament and pull at it until they find their efforts avail not.

Judging from the reports through the country generally the hydrophobia epidemic is increasing and ready acquiescence in the requirements of the ordinance should be given by all.

The Southern Methodists in Conference at Memphis, Tenn., are discussing with much warmth whether it shall be a violation of church discipline for a member to sign a petition to grant a liquor license. The indications are they will decide that it is.

The New York World closes a dissertation on the Kentucky prodigal in these words: "He is not a penitent sinner, but a detected wrong-doer. And it is obvious that his regret is less for sin than for being found out."

THE BROOKLYN TABERNAACLE

Again Burned—The Hotel Regent and Other Property Amounting to Over $1,000,000 Goes With It.

The Brooklyn Tabernacle, Dr. Talma's church, was burned to the ground on Sunday soon after the congregation at morning service was dismissed.

This is the third time it has been burned and each fire was on Sunday. It was new and cost $400,000.

The Hotel Regent next to it, estimated at $600,000 was also entirely destroyed, together with other buildings to the amount of $50,000.

Dr. Talma thanked God while the church was burning that the fire did not occur earlier while the 6,000 people were attending the services.

The Hotel Regent was insured for $500,000. No mention is made of any insurance on the Tabernacle.

U. S. LIFE SAVING STATIONS

Their Number—How the Work is Carried On

EDITOR JOURNAL—I follow up my last, in the Light House, with a few points regarding the U. S. L. S. stations, which began service on the N. C. coast, about 1874, mainly through and by the efforts of Hon. S. S. Cox, (Sun Set) N. Y., in grateful commemoration of whose meritorious and eloquent efforts the stations have caused a massive solid silver vase, 24 inches high, weighing 75 ounces, to be presented, with a graphic and appropos inscription, to "Mrs. Cox, Dec. 12, '91," a facsimile of which, partly framed conspicuously hangs in every station.

There are 24 between Cape Fear and the Virginia line, situated about 150 yards from the ocean and about six miles apart, with a halfway house between where the patrol—one from the station north, one from the south, meet and exchange their "checks," of brass, similar to those used by the fleet of a baggage smasher.

Each patrolman carries a (so I'll designate it) "machine," of tin, covered with canvas—wooden ends, shaped like a carriage-box, containing three what are termed "coston" signals, 3x3, something in shape like a shell, which on sight of hearing of a vessel in distress or wreck, are placed in a brass holder annexed, and by means of a similar "plunger" are exploded, emitting a light of a deep red hue, which being part of the International Code, are understood, as warning vessels to keep off, that the breakers synonymous with death, are near.

From each station about E. 60 feet is a pole 60 feet high, cleft to top, 40 feet to crossbars, 20 to topmast, on which flags and pennants of all nations are run up, when necessary, during the day. S. end of station is the boat room, containing a life car and surf boat, preservers and other appliances, including the brass "Lytle" gun, shooting a long iron shot, 2 1/2 inches round, over a vessel in distress, so that a line attached may be run by the sailors to be hauled as to connect them to the shore and many lives saved by the methods of the "lawyer" and "breeches buoy," which is successfully done on many occasions. A full description of my ability and your space alike forbids.

A few essential points though may interest the general reader.

A telephone connects each one from Cape Hatteras to Cape Henry, while there is also a telephone line from Cape Henry to Hatteras Inlet in the interest of the Signal service.

There are offices at Cape Henry, Currituck Inlet (in charge of Mr. Dozier, a clever, gentle, and a first rate checker, player Kitty Hawk, ending at Durant's Station and Hatteras Inlet). Each station is strongly built on four mud sills, necessary by reason of the winds and action of the sands, and, being constructed by Uncle Sam, it goes without saying that in design, execution, warmth and ventilation, the convenience and benefit of the crew, is assured. The crew numbering eight, is captain and six surf-men, beginning first, September; one extreme comes in first December and all leave first of May except the captain who remains on duty the whole time.

Much more could I write but the time for my Hegira is close by and my heart is too troubled at the idea of the fate that is before it to be indulging of ephemeral matter, though I will say that the captives of 7, 8, 9, and the crew also are, to my personal knowledge, gentlemen of experience, culture, ability, and knowledge, and act so as to make you feel at home. The beach drill is exceedingly interesting, and to a looker-on peculiarly intricate, yet order soon evolves from chaos, and as it would be in earnest—the man in the "breeches-buoy" reaches sand-bars and is saved, while they have now a new "machine," might term it a search-light indeed, for it is so arranged that the whole arrangement can be performed as correctly and minutely as by noonday, the light being vividly distinct ten miles.

I was not aquatically inclined sufficiently to venture out in the surf drill, though the evolutions were gracefully and thoroughly performed.

On the night of April 30th I was hospitably and kindly entertained by Capt. Corbet and crew, of L. S. S. No. 6, and noted with interest the departure of the crew on the stroke of 12, as their term of eight months meritorious service then expired, and they became relegated to private avocations until the hands of time point to 12 on the night of the 31st of August, next, and I was forcibly reminded of the olden custom of watching the Old year out and the New year in, and with sadness I thought of the chances that all those gay, clever, chivalrous protectors of property and saviors of lives in light ever return and their laughter, song and jest be forever.

CULLED ITEMS OF NEWS.

Genl. W. R. Cox has sent Gov. Carr a $25 contribution to the Confederate monument fund.

John M. Besnon, the ascending treasurer of Bladen county, was captured near his home on the night of the 11th, by W. D. May and O. A. Waddell.

Mr. Walter G. Sugg, a young married man living near Goldsboro, was accidentally drowned on Saturday while sailing in Stony creek.

A telegram says that Cleveland has left Washington on another fishing excursion in Company with Secretaries Crosham and Herbert. It is thought the North Carolina coast is their destination.

According to the opinion of the Supreme court of the State, recently indicated, four Justices of that court will have to be voted for at the November election this year.

Friends of Congressman Bowen in the Eight district are pushing his claims for reelection. He is a Democrat of the "straight for revenue only" type, and will have a strong following in the convention.

Indications point to the nomination of Gates over Johnston for Governor in the Democratic primary in Alabama on Saturday.

The Senate is making very slow if any progress with the tariff bill. The Democrats are differing with each other and the Republicans are all obstructing as much as possible.

Col. M. C. P. Breckenridge has the church, the ladies and the Press of Kentucky opposing his reelection three millions that are pretty hard to come by.

The hard times have struck Texas. For the first time in her history, she has not a dollar in the Treasury, and it is thought she will be several hundred thousand dollars in debt by the end of the year.

A Kentucky dispatch says that a half a dozen Covingtons have started for Washington in a balloon. The report originated at Harrodsburg, which, it is hardly necessary to say, is not a prohibition town.

The Convention of Southern Baptists that has been in session in Dallas, Texas, the past two weeks, adjourns today. About two hundred of the delegates will go on an excursion through Mexico before returning to their homes.
