A Fire Quickly Extinguished.

About half past ten o'clock Sunday night the watchman at Moody's mill discovered a fire in the planing mill next to the dry kiln. It was extinguished with the loss of only about $75, the principal damage being to belts. In about five minutes from the time the alarm was given the fire department had a stream on the fire, but quick as they were it was being pretty well under control even then by the mill people with water kept accessible. The only way the fire can be accounted for is that it caught from a torch-light.

Hail Storm in Lenoir and Greene.

A severe wind and hail storm passed through Greene and Lenoir counties Friday evening, doing considerable damage to crops, and the gin house of Mr. Richard Hardy of Greene county was blown down.

Mr. Geo. Best's crop, near Baston, suffered so much that he thought he would have to replant his entire crop of cotton. Quite a heavy rain and hail storm passed through Griffon, Maysville, Dover and Cove sections.

A Small Fire in the Country.

Last week there came near being a serious fire at the large saw and shingle mill of Mr. G. J. Ippock at the mouth of Swift creek. The wind was blowing very strong at the time, but with the united effort of the laborers and all present, the mill property was saved. Three small shanties near by were burned entailing a loss of about $150.

HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

The Mississippi river is on a big taze, with water rising four feet a day. Politics in Virginia are woefully mixed, and the Democrats are apprehensive about existing conditions.

The recent earthquake in Venezuela was most disastrous. Several large towns were sunk and lakes of filled water now occupy their former sites. Some ten thousand people were buried in the eruption and thousands more left destitute. The minister at Washington of that stricken country has been asked to receive contributions for his destitute countrymen.

Hon. Harry Skinner, of Pitt county, leader of the North Carolina Populists, and father of the Sub-Treasury plan has been invited to speak, and has accepted, at Wilson, Oxford, Carthage, Statesville and Concord, during the first week of June. His speeches will doubtless indicate the lines upon that party will make the issues in the coming campaign.

Folk Miller.

Folk Miller, who is to appear at the theatre here on the 25th, in impersonation of the Virginia negro dialect, songs, banjo playing etc., is one of the leading dramatists of Richmond, Va. President of the Virginia Field Sports and Game Association, and one of the most popular and well known men of the State. Raised upon his father's plantation in Amelia county among the numerous slaves owned by the family, he is familiar with every phase and patois of the negro character, and his descriptions would make a man laugh.

Corn and Cotton Not Hurt Much.

Mr. W. A. Barrington, of Olympia, was up yesterday. He informs us that corn in his neighborhood is up to the average of previous years.

Cotton cannot be told about as yet because all is not up yet. He has some cotton on bottom land planted early that came up and stalks can be found among it now with as much as six leaves, while other cotton planted on higher land at the same time is not through coming up yet, being held back by the dry weather.

He now has over his entire crop about two-thirds of a stand. Some farmers are just planting, having waited for rain before doing so. This is about a month later than it would have been planted had the weather been suitable, but there is time still for it to come.

Irish potatoes fared worse during the dry weather than any other crop—they had a wretched appearance before the rain came and the crop will be diminished considerably, but in spite of all drawbacks, young potatoes can now be found on the vines as large as hen eggs.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Vance Memorial Meeting.—Resolutions and Enigmas—Other News.

The Democratic Senators, under the able leadership of Senator Harris, are making strenuous efforts to pass the tariff bill by June 15th. Senator Ransom is a member of the steering committee and will do his utmost to prevent delay in having this important matter settled.

Thursday night there was a large gathering of North Carolinians at the Vance memorial meeting in this city, besides many representatives of other states. Mr. Hugh Waddell introduced the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we sincerely mourn with the people of North Carolina over the death of the soldier and statesman whom they love and honor above all others, whose abilities and distinguished public services had won the respect of the country.

Resolved, That although the youngest governor of the state, on either side during the war, there was none who exhibited greater capacity or energy, or contributed more to the cause which he espoused than Zebulon B. Vance.

Resolved, That we will cherish his memory as a brave, considerate soldier, a great war governor, an able United States senator, and an honest and incorruptible man.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to his family with assurances of our tender sympathy.

Then Senator Jarvis was introduced by Mr. Robt. Hunter, the president of the association, in an elegant and gracefully delivered speech. Senator Jarvis read a carefully prepared and very eloquent speech on the life of our lamented Vance.

He said: "How shall I speak of his devotion to his life and his people, a devotion of the measure of which even the most ardent of patriots does not often fill. His love of home was almost as unique as was his matchless personality. It was not in the realm of place or power to shake that allegiance and whether surrounded by the stately grandeur of London or the dazzling allurement of beautiful Paris anywhere and everywhere in the history of our world, whose passions could be so readily transferred by a life-long student, his eyes were ever turned toward the new, and the burden of his song to the member of his family who remained at home was, 'I shall hail with delight the hour of my return, for there is no land so beautiful as ours, no music half so delightful to my ears as the rustling of the wind in the old pine trees in North Carolina.'

"We have laid his body to rest amid the mountains which were the place of his birth. They shall stand as a silent sentinel over his tomb till time shall be no more, and the waters of the French Broad, by the side of which he now sleeps, shall murmur over his hallowed grave a perpetual requiem. As anxious as we are to perpetuate his fame, we cannot lay our trophy at his feet which would add one iota to the towering monument which he has erected for himself. He was the architect of his own fortune. His own hands have lifted the architrave upon which time and circumstance must alike rest. 'His life is history's name and fame's. One of the few immortal names. That were not born to die.'

Let our hearts go out to the noble and devoted wife who is sitting in the shadow of a great grief, weeping in her widowed home; to the children to whom he has left the priceless heritage of a great and stainless name. May heaven comfort them, and give us strength to emulate his virtues, public and private, as far as in us may lie."

The senator's address was well delivered and loudly applauded at its conclusion.

Hon. Samuel F. Phillips then made an admirable off-hand talk on "Vance, the Business Man and Private Citizen."

He spoke as an intimate friend having full knowledge of the subject. Mr. Phillips, like Senator Jarvis, was warmly congratulated. His speech should be written out for publication, as it was eminently worthy of the occasion.

Among the public men present were Representatives Henderson, Alexander and Woodard; Gen. Harry Heth and Josephus Daniels, Mrs. Jarvis, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. N. Vance and Mr. Harry Martin were in the audience. Senator Ransom sent a letter stating that he was detained at a night session of the senate. Representative Bann also wrote a letter of regret.

The charges of an attempt to bribe Senators Hinton and Kyle to vote against the tariff bill will be investigated by Senators Grey, Lindsay, Allen, Lodge and Davis, all good men and not easily swayed from duty.

Representative Bryan, the eloquent Nebraskaian, who will address the Greensboro Industrial and Normal school next week, wrote to-day to his constituents declining to stand for re-nomination.

Some of the members say that it should be more widely known that it is, that even with the Senate's amendments, the Wilson tariff bill will reduce prices, that is taxes, 25 per cent, at least, and that is glory enough for a starter under the circumstances.

Unsurpassed Fishing—Hatteras Beats the Adirondacks—Birds Killed in Abundance.

Advises from Washington, N. C., state that President spent six hours there, Saturday.

Near Hatteras their catch of bluefish and drum surpassed anything Governor ever saw. It beat the Adirondacks.

Monday the President and party will take an other hunt on Body's island, and then go direct to Washington City.

The President has not been to Monticello at all. He is delighted with his second visit to North Carolina, and expects to return in the Fall and take a deer hunt in Hyde Park.

On points political, they were all present. As the Violet steamed out, they all stood on deck and acknowledged the salutes of the people who lined the wharf.
