It is understood here that Cleveland and Carlisle are in perfect, accord as rerords the amended tariff bill. Senator Hill has regained much of his lost popularry by his efforts in regard to having Senacoral investigations made with opetoors. It he would now abolish executive sessions of the Senate he would win he gratitude of the country.

The best informed politicians here think the truff bill will become a law by July 1st. But the passage of the tariff bill amout be immediately followed by the present board were re-elected by acthe adjournment of Congress, as a good many people seem to think. On the contrary, some time must be occupied in the consideration of the appropriation bills of which twelve have been sent over to the Senate from the House. Of these twelve only three Military Academy, pen-sions, and fortifications have been report ed, leaving nine still in the Committee o Appropriations. The House has two still to pass—the Indian and toe General

While these bills will undoubtedly be burried through when they are reached, they cannot be passed much faster than one every two days, and this will occupy all the working days of a month. The bills are now being put in shape by the Senate Appropriations Committee, so that they can be rapidly reported whenever the way is made clear for them.
