EDITOR JOURNAL:-There has never been a period in the history of the financial policy of the Government of the United States of so much doubt and uncertainty as now exists. What will be the outcome, no man can predict with cerley which fronts the Baptist chuch is be- tainity-the future alone can reveal. At present, paralyzation of trade, riots, bloodshed, rebellion, the calling out of armies, and starvation exists in one sec-tion of this great country, and the richest 30 years of Republican legislation. The people in that section have been taught by Republican speakers and editors, that high tariff meant high wages, but trusts and combinations of wealthy manufacturers, followed by reductions in wages, together with increasing poverty have dis-pelled that delusion. They now see that a protective tariff benefits the few at the expense of the many, and that the col:sive power of the public plunder of one section at the expense of the other, is all that holds and has always held the Re-publican party together. Abe Lincoln once expressed the patriotic sentiments of that party in a few words, when he said "if we let the south go," where shall we get our tariff."
