THE CRUISE OVER

The Reserves Come Back Delighted—The Good Record on the War-Boats.

The members of the New Berne Naval Reserves came back last night highly elated over their trip, and all in the best of spirits except Lieut. D. W. Roberts who was somewhat ill.

All the young men report the biggest kind of a time and say they would not have missed it for anything.

In addition to the pleasure they have had, the Reserves have the benefit of the genuine experience of life on board a battleship and though none of them allowed to it they bring with them the profound consciousness of duty well performed.

As the reports have shown they took hold of every portion of the work early on, late, away or hard, in good spirit which is the only proper way for a military man to do. The State has good cause to be proud of her Reserves, and every encouragement should be given them not only by the State and the general government, but by the cities and counties in which they are located to ever maintain a good organization and go forward to even higher perfection.

Working up a Telephone Service.

Messrs. P. H. DeBor and O. H. Ginn are now taking subscriptions looking toward the immediate establishment of a telephone exchange in the city, and they inform us that up to this time, after but little effort, they have secured fifty subscribers.

The rates are lower than any we have yet heard for a complete service being $30.00 per year for business houses, and $15.00 per year for private residences, and when these are consolidated by one subscriber the total rate is $12.00 per year.

We consider the establishment of a telephone system in our city is a greatly desired improvement and almost an actual necessity at this time, owing to our constant growth and increasing prosperity and we hope all will heartily cooperate with these gentlemen in their efforts to supply our city with the great convenience they are striving to establish here.

PUBLIC BUILDING AGAIN.

Correspondence Brought About by the Action of the City and County Commissioners—Favorable Outlook.

Treasury Department, Office of the Supervising Architect, WASHINGTON, D. C., August 18, 1894. Hon. Thomas J. Jarvis, United States Senate.

Sir:—In reply to your verbal inquiry and to the resolution of the Board of Commissioners of Craven County, North Carolina, in regard to the progress of work on the drawings for the United States Post Office, Court House and Custom House to be erected at New Berne, North Carolina, I have to beg to advise you that the same are now being prepared and are now in the hands of the architect in charge of the work. It is the desire and practice of this office to complete all work under its control and the rule is to take up the work of preparation of the drawings for public buildings in the order of date of authorization of the same.

Any delay that may be caused in the completion of the drawings for the amount of money which can be expended for the employment of architects and other technical forces is limited by law to two hundred thousand dollars per annum and no additional amount can be employed, no matter how many buildings may be authorized to be constructed, or how much money may be received in the construction of the same by lack of a sufficient appropriation. The only remedy for this condition of affairs would be for Congress to increase the amount authorized to be annually expended, or to increase the limit altogether, thus permitting the employment of technical forces in proportion to the number of buildings to be erected, and as all money expended on this account is paid for from the appropriations made for the several buildings, thus not causing any additional appropriation, the wisdom of such legislation would seem to be unquestionable. I have from time to time urged that this action should be taken, but hitherto in vain. I might state in this connection that I had been authorized to expend twenty-five per cent, or even less, over the present limit of two hundred thousand dollars the efficiency of this office could have been almost a doubt and greater satisfaction would have been given to the citizens in the several cities where buildings have been authorized by Congress to be erected, and a system of the Government could have been made in the past six months which would have amounted to more than the entire two hundred thousand dollars now authorized for the annual expenses of this office, by enabling it to take advantage of the low market rates for labor and materials which have prevailed during that period.

Respectfully yours, J. O. BOWMAN, Supervising Architect.

United States Senate, WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 20th, 1894. J. W. Biddle, Esq., Reg. of Dist. New Berne, N. C.

My Dear Sir:—I receive in the course of mail the certified copy of resolutions passed by Board of Com. of Craven County in relation to government buildings at New Berne. I called at once on an interview with the Supervising Architect and also went over part of the drawings with him and I enclose you herewith just received from him explaining the delay. He promised me to have the plans and specifications completed at the very earliest possible day and he thinks he will be ready to advertise for bids in about a month or so. I think the people of New Berne may now rest assured that the work on this building will be commenced at an early day.

It is proper for me to say that the practice at the Dept. is to take up the different building in the order in which the acts pass and that so far as I can see no blame for the delay is to be placed on the Dept.

I have the honor to be very truly yours, THOS. J. JARVIS.

HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

There were no labor unions in ancient times.

Going into politics has been the Jericho road on which many a man was robbed of the raiment of self-respect.

The old idea of a tax on bachelor's noses been revived, just as though the mere fact of being without a good wife were not a sufficient punishment for them.

The tariff stubbornness at Washington would be more excusable if it were not based upon personal feeling rather than any desire for the welfare of the people at large.

The average man may be half socialist in his ideas when poor, but let him get rich and he becomes an advocate of a strong, centralized government "able to protect vested rights," etc.

The ideal country would be that in which no man tries or expects to get something for nothing, but inasmuch as "there ain't no such place," the next best place is where the people are all too smart to exchange something for nothing. The latter place has not yet been located.

James Lindsey, the pugilist who killed his opponent in a prize fight in Nebraska, and Sandy Griswold the sporting editor and referee have both been found under heavy bonds charged with murder.

Lindsey's second says that Lindsey intended to kill Robbins if he could not win him, and that Griswold understood the scheme perfectly. This would make it deliberate murder. The feeling against the two men is very bitter.

The Raleigh News-Observer-Chronicle has changed. Rufus Amis, of Granville, charges that the convention that nominated Settle was packed. Amis will be an independent Republican candidate on a free silver platform. Settle's record is not acceptable to the free silver Republicans, and Amis is going to make the most of it.

The Charlotte Observer tells of a successful arbor meeting in Stokes county in which Mr. L. A. Coulter, Y. M. C. A. State Secretary, assisted the pastor, Rev. C. Miller. As a result of the ten days meeting fifty confessed Christ; twenty-nine united with the Presbyterian church, and $600 was subscribed toward erecting a church at Asbury.

EULOGY OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Remarks of Prof. Edward G. Davies at the Dinner of the Cincinnati Society in Boston Shortly Before His Death.

There is an interesting link of connection between the Mecklenburg Declaration and the annual Lexington, news of which reached Charlotte on May 19. A county convention was in session, which declared in Parliament that the colonies were in a state of actual rebellion. The thing from Massachusetts stirred the patriots to immediate action. Ephraim Ripcord should we forget his name, was appointed to draw up resolutions, and the next morning he reported his amended charter of freedom.

May I venture to read to you part of that Mecklenburg Declaration, bearing in mind the fact that it antedates by more than a year the great event which we celebrate today. It is brief, and some of its phrases are noteworthy.

Resolved, That whatsoever directly or indirectly abets, or in any way, form or manner, encourages the impudent and unprovoked invasion of our rights, as guaranteed by Great Britain, as an enemy to the rights of the American people, to the rights of man.

Resolved, That we do hereby declare ourselves a free and independent people, and of right ought to be so, and we do hereby sever all connection with that government, and we do hereby declare that we are now, and of right ought to be, a free and self-governing association, and we do hereby declare that the government of the Congress, to the maintenance of which independence, we solemnly pledge each other our mutual affection, our lives, our fortunes, and our most sacred honor.

Resolved, That as we acknowledge the existence and control of no law or force, military or civil, within this country, we do hereby ordain and adopt a new form of government, to be known as the United States of America, to be composed of thirteen equal, sovereign, free, and independent States, to be known as the United States of America.

From the spirit of these resolutions the Province never wavered, and his only manifestation of patriotic enthusiasm never less diminished. The blood of her sons reddened almost every little field from the Hudson river to the Savannah; from Stony Point in the North, where my grandfather was severely wounded, as a volunteer in the "fortion hope," to the Southern limits of Georgia, at Moore's Creek, Charlesston, Blandy's, King's Mountain, Cowpens, Guilford, Hillsborough, Eutaw Springs, her bones did splendor a scene, and of this great battle, Greene reported "the North Carolina brigade behaved nobly, and I am at a loss which most to admire, the valour of the officers or the good conduct of their men."

For the numbers engaged in battles have been bloodier than Eutaw, and victory was won at a terrible sacrifice of Greene's small group of officers very many were wounded and twenty-one lay dead on the field. But the success was permanent, and the three Southernmost Provinces were freed from the presence of the enemy. The genius of Greene, the valor and skill of his officers, and the splendid conduct of the Southern troops had brought the war to a happy close and won new ground for America. All our country's hearts were paralyzed, the British power in the colonies was utterly broken, and a month later the surrender at Yorktown closed the last scene in the sanguinary drama.

But I must no longer tax your patience at this late hour, and on this warm afternoon. I will conclude by asking the benefit of your aid and influence in my effort to restore North Carolina to her place in the Cincinnati, and I offer you a toast to our ancient and honorable Order, coupled with the hope that her galaxy may soon again be resplendent with all the thirteen stars.

A Voice From Families.

Mr. John W. Briddle of Pamlico county has a strong following from his county to be a candidate for Register of Deeds. Mr. T. D. Perkins, former incumbent, who has lately died had said several weeks ago that he did not expect to be a candidate for reelection, owing to his very bad health. If he had lived he would without a doubt have been nominated, to succeed himself, if he had wanted the place, he has been an efficient officer and was loved by every Democrat of his county, but after he made the declaration that he would not be a candidate Mr. J. W. Briddle was selected to become the candidate for the same.

Mr. Briddle is one of the best business men of the county and an extraordinary politician, a good Democrat and very popular. Vandenberg has had the effort ever since Mr. Campen has been sheriff and we want him again.

Mr. J. C. Holton is a good citizen but other have prior claims.
