The Atlantics Back From Winston

The Atlantic Steam Fire Engine Co. arrived back from Winston yesterday afternoon, leaving Winston at 7:25 a. m. They passed their apparatus in Goldsboro; it will arrive Tuesday on the freight train. The horse "Jim," who made such a fine run in the race, will also arrive Tuesday. Jim, it is said, made his run to the hydrant two seconds quicker than any other horse in the race.

The members of the New Berne Steam Fire Engine company met the Atlantics at the depot on their return and escorted them to their hall.

The boys all say they had a fine time. They came back in high spirits and hope for a big representation of the fire companies of the State here next year.

Reduced Sewerage Rates.

The Sewerage company has made a reduction of about thirty per cent in its rate of charges as first established.

The old rate was $2.50 per quarter for a five room dwelling house, now it is $1.75; an eight room house was formerly $4.00--it is now $2.80, and the charge for a ten room house has been reduced from $5.00 down to $3.50. Houses of intermediate size scale down in the same proportion.

We believe the sewerage company is acting wisely in establishing low rates. All should make use of the sewerage service who can, and to bring about its general use the rates should be as low as they can be made consistently with profit. In fact we believe low rates and many consumers will be more profitable than high rates to the company itself.

School Opening--Enter To-morrow.

Nearly all of the schools of the city open to-morrow. The Collegiate Institute, the Academy, and Mrs. Jerkin's school all begin then. Miss Ola Ferree also commences her music teaching at the same time. Miss Mollie Heath's school will begin a week later, Monday the 10th inst.

Those who have students in their charge should remember that it is important for them to enter at the very start, not only that they may obtain a sound foundation for their studies through the term but to facilitate classification. The state of advancement of each scholar has to be determined and this can be accomplished more easily and with much less loss of time when the scholars all make their appearance the first day than if they come in stragglingly.

Not only should this be borne in mind by the patrons of the pay schools but also by those who attend the public free school. All should co-operate with the teachers in their efforts to give the best service possible.

Collegiate Institute Prizes.

This school offers three prizes this year. One to that pupil who shall attain to the highest average grades on recitation and examination during the scholastic year.

One to the scholar who shall make the greatest progress in all the studies.

Another to the pupil who makes the greatest progress in Elocution and Recitation during the year and on the Commencement.

No pupil can compete for these prizes unless in school the first week and who shall be in school the entire scholastic year--also must sustain a good report. E. P. MENDENHALL.

THOSE BRAY MELONS.

Attracting Attention In Several States From the Journal Notice--The Gauntlet Thrown Down to the State of Georgia to Compete With N. C. at Atlanta Exposition

ED. JOURNAL--Some few weeks ago at the opening of our melon season, your Local in search of items worthy of mention, gave incidentally one or two short notices in the columns of the JOURNAL of some very fine melons that were raised and being marketed by Mr. Charles W. Bray.

These notices did not only allow us to say, create any great commotion among our citizens, as they do to speak, or many of them at first had been accustomed when they wished anything nice in the melon line to make their purchase of Mr. Bray whenever he had any on the market. It seems however your brief notices went far and wide, and to use a local vernacular, got things hot on the melon question abroad as the sequel will show.

A day or two ago Charlie walked into our office and asked us if we could assist him in a little correspondence. Quoth we "Yes, reason-so." Upon this he ran his hand in the pockets of his coat and began to hand out letters. Quoth we "Hold up, hold up." We read the first one. It was from a Dr. K. Wilson, El Reno, Oklahoma. This gentleman had your local notice and was most anxious for one hundred seed of Mr. Bray's "Iron-rod water melon" offering to exchange one hundred seed of his White Persian musk melon. The next letter was from James B. Simpson, Cotton Factor, Dallas, Tex. This gentleman had enclosed a clipping from the JOURNAL, and was most anxious for some seed.

The next letter was from W. P. Burdette, Batesville, Miss. This letter had clipping from JOURNAL, and also a remittance for some seed "sure." The next letter was from W. R. Hays, Rock Hill, S. C., and had remittance for seed.

About this time we began to find that we were in a little snap, and said to Mr. Bray, "Have you any seed?" "I do not keep seed for sale," said he, "but have saved a few pounds of course." Well then, gentlemen, "take your letters for the present and call again with some seed and we will assist you to answer same."

When Charlie returned, he handed us another batch of letters, some from Illinois, Arkansas and other States all anxious for seed.

In conclusion allow us to say, the State of Georgia seems to claim to take her own skill in the raising of melons, but notice is hereby served upon her to look to her laurels at the Atlanta Exposition. Mr. Bray claims that he will produce another year melons weighing from 100 to 120 lbs. He has made it a study for years, and has a formula of manures and method of applying that will produce melons, not only of large size, but of delicious flavor.

Yours for betterment, JAMES FOREMAN.

Beeswax Stolen

Armistead Jones, col., was tried yesterday before S. R. Street, Esq., and bound over to Superior court in the sum of one hundred dollars, on the charge of stealing beeswax from J. D. Dinkins.

Jones sold the wax to E. B. Hackburn, Mr. Hackburn sent it down to Mr. Dinkins to re-sell it and Mr. Dinkins recognized it as a piece he had bought the previous day and sent it over by Caesar Williams, col., to where he keeps his purchases in this line stored. The next known of it was when it was offered for sale again.

Jones told two stories about its coming into his possession, the last being that he bought it from Caesar. Caesar is held as a witness.

Proposed New Steamer Line.

There is a movement on foot for a new Northern steamer line from New Berne. We understand that if it is established it will be on a thoroughly solid basis--ample capital being back of it.

The anticipated consolidation of the two steamer lines now doing business here was what originated the idea of the new line.

The Firemen's Tournament.

The beautiful championship belt presented by the State Firemen's Association was won by Greensboro. The distance run was 300 yards--200 below the hydrant and 100 above. Greensboro's time was 50 seconds, Salisbury's one minute.

The grab reel race 100 yards was won by Greensboro; time 26 seconds. Salisbury was the victor in the hand reel race of 300 yards making the race and throwing water in 45 seconds, thereby winning the first prize of $40. The Greensboro company were the fastest runners but lost by their coupling blowing off the hydrant.

The Winston Hook and Ladder company raced against association time for the championship gold medal and $35 in cash. They beat the previous time by one second and won.

The horse reel race was considered the "crowning event." Greensboro won in 56 seconds.

Winston Co, No 1 Deceived the silver trumpet which was awarded by vote to the most popular company. The Winston Co. got 542 votes, Salem Rough & and Ready 588.

The quick steaming time, 3 minutes and 17 seconds made by the Atlantic Company of New Berne was the quickest ever made at a tournament. Every other company took more than four minutes, from that up to more than six minutes. The other boys can't understand what it is that enables the New Berne engines to be so much quicker than any other every time.

IMPRESSIONS OF CYRENE.

Press Notices Speak of Her Performances in Admiring Terms--Their Grace, Attractiveness and Freedom From all Coarse-ness.

The scrap-book of newspaper notices of Cyrene's performances is now at Nunn & McSorley's open to the examination of everyone. It contains hundreds of clippings from reliable newspapers in prominent cities as well as those of medium size. They, without exception, speak in very commendatory language of her performances and very many of them lay great stress upon the fact that dances exclusively in long skirts of almost gasconner's tightness and state that while the dancing is of an athletic nature it is of an elegant type and that everything calculated to offend the fastidious is carefully excluded--that ladies need never be at all anxious on any performance. The following are a few extracts from two or three of the papers.

"Her acts are all refined, with but one suggestion of coquetry."--Pensacola News.

"Such a combination of grace and athletic training has never before been seen on the English stage, and though the idea is daring there is not a suspicion of vulgarity. The only fault, if so it can be named, is that the performance is over in the twinkling of an eye before one has had time to realize the charm and cleverness of the idea."--Reynolds Weekly.

"Her dancing is preeminently athletic and graceful."

"It is certainly balletic but never coarse."--London Times.

Cyrene is one of the most perfect dancers the world has ever seen.

With the regard with the performance it can only be said that it is different from anything yet presented to an English audience. At the same time there is not the slightest suggestion of anything at all dance to which the most straight laced could take exception. The dances are indescribable and the advice we give to all is to go to the Alhambra and see Cyrene for yourselves. Labourers in "Truth."

HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

A case is recorded where a man's clothes were stolen while he was in bathing. This is a pretty safe business as the victim has no clothes.

Ladies waists reduced from $4 to $2.50 is announced in a local advertisement. We always had an idea that ladies waists were reduced from 36 to 29 inches.

The National Convention of Seceding Polish Roman Catholics at Cleveland, O., determined to organize a new church society under the title of the "American Catholic Church." Archbishop Villatte, of Wisconsin, is to be its head, but he will not have arbitrary powers. A motion to renounce all allegiance to the Pope of Rome was lost.

Col. Julian S. Carr, president of the State Association of Democratic clubs, is arranging for a brilliant opening of the campaign at Raleigh September 20th. Hon. Chauncey Black, president, and Hon. Lawrence Gardner, secretary of the National club, have accepted invitations to speak. Senators Ransom, Jarvis and other distinguished Democrats will speak.

We have it pretty direct that the recent visit of a number of the National Executive committee to the second Congressional District was not to bring about a retirement of the two colored candidates White and Cheatham and the putting up of a populist as one telegram sent out had it but simply to bring about an adjustment of the differences between the two, each of whom claims to be the nominee. Since that time we see a reiteration of the statement that Cheatham says he is in it to stay.

The Wilmington Messenger gives the following account of big fishing sport near that city: "The tug Alexander Jones which was chartered by Messrs. Ward and Branch for a trip to the blackfish grounds left Market street wharf yesterday at 5 a. m. and steamed twelve miles to sea. Only fourteen anglers were on hand to take the trip. They were repaid by having splendid luck, as they caught about 1,500 fish and brought back 1,362 by actual count. The average catch to the man was over 100 fish but some of them caught as many as 150 fish."

The cotton season of 1893-4 ended yesterday. Wilmington's increase in cotton receipts for the season of 1893-4 which ended Friday was 29,712 bales. Her total receipts were 189,840 bales. The exports were 190,728 bales against 160,728 the previous year. The naval stores show an increase also. As tabulated at the Produce Exchange, the receipts of spirits turpentine to September 1st, from the beginning of the crop year, April 1st, are 24,839 casks; for the same time last year, 24,660, Rosin, 82,805 barrels, against 82,353 last year; tar, 22,002 barrels, against 16,496 last year, and crude turpentine, 4,747 barrels, against 4,398 last year. We take these figures from the Star.

The Sioux City Club's offer of $25,000 suits both Corbett and Jackson and both have accepted. The club has forwarded a letter containing certified checks of $2,500 each to go as training expenses. The articles of agreement are likely to be signed within the next few days. Jackson said: "At last it looks like a fight. Of course I accept. But I must be guaranteed protection. That is they must assure me that I will not be interfered with. I only suggest this, as it is most likely that something might happen whereby I might be arrested or otherwise prevented from winning. If the articles are satisfactory I will sign them at once. As far as I'm concerned, there will be a fight."

ANNUAL MEETING.

Of the Roanoke Colony Memorial Association.

A Statue to Virginia Dare; the Patriotic Work of Ladies.

The annual meeting of the Roanoke Colony Memorial Association, which was incorporated under the laws of North Carolina, for the purpose of perpetuating and adorning the site of old Fort Raleigh, the scene of the first settlement by English colonists in North America, was held on August 18 at Nags Head, North Carolina, and a report of the meeting is furnished to the American for publication.

All of the Baltimore stockholders were represented by proxy. The association is in good condition financially, the purchase price and incidental expenses attending the transfer of the Fort Raleigh property has been paid, and there is still a balance of $400 in the treasury to serve as the nucleus of a fund for the adornment of the site of the old fort.

Among those present it was thought that the objects of the society could be best met by having the site laid off and permanently marked, and a memorial to the colonists erected within the line enclosure.

The time and place for holding a special meeting were left with Vice President Prudden, who will issue the call. It will probably take place at Raleigh during the State fair, which will be held there late in October. Prior to this meeting the Baltimore stockholders will hold a meeting to discuss the best plans to be adopted by the association in the carrying out of its purpose, and will thus be in a position to go before the general meeting with some definite plans.

IN MEMORY OF VIRGINIA DARE.

Second to the patriotic work of the Roanoke Colony Memorial Association, and incidental to it, is the work of the Virginia Dare Association, organized among the women of North Carolina, with Mrs. E. P. Tucker, president, and Mr. S. V. Colten, secretary. As is well known, Virginia Dare was the first Anglo-American child born in this country. The place of her birth was old Fort Raleigh, and her fate was that of the colony. The object of this latter association is to commemorate by some memorial the birth of this child, and to render famous this fact in the history of the settlement of the country. At present the association is endeavoring to establish the fact that the women of the United States need a national school of industrial arts; and when established, this school could fittingly be dedicated as a memorial to Virginia Dare.

The association has already made much progress in this patriotic purpose. It has been presented with a statue of Virginia Dare by its sculptor, Miss Louise Lander, of Washington, D. C. This statue will be presented, when received by the association, to the state of North Carolina, and will be placed upon a pedestal in the State house at Raleigh. The statue was to have been in possession of the association last fall, but a combination of adverse circumstances prevented its delivery.

HISTORY OF THE STATUE.

The history of this statue is of peculiar interest. Its existence was not known to the incorporators of the Virginia Dare Association at the time of their incorporation. The idea of carving such a statue was conceived in London, the place where the letters patent for English discoveries were issued, and where the colonies were organized and chartered for settlement in the New World. It was carved in Italy, the birthplace of Columbus, the discoverer of America. When completed it was shipped from Italy to America, but was shipwrecked--just as were the hopes and aspirations of Columbus so long as he remained in Italy. This shipwreck, occurred off the coast of Spain and was rescued by underwriters, and, in accordance with some salvage law, publicly sold. Miss Lander being permitted to purchase her own property. It was reshipped to America from Palos, the very port from which Columbus sailed on his successful voyage of discovery. It reached America safely, and was placed on exhibition in Boston and sold, to be delivered at the close of the exhibition. The purchaser died suddenly before that time, and his executors declined to confirm the sale.

So the statue remained the property of the sculptor, although boxed and shipped to the purchaser in New York. There it remained in its box until the enthusiasm incident to the Columbian celebration was exciting the land. The organization of the Virginia Dare Association caused its resurrection, and the completion of this unique history lies in the fact that the statue was presented to the Association by Miss Lander. Miss Lander, considering that North Carolina was the most appropriate home for the statue, bequeathed it at her death to the association agreeing to deliver it before her death.

The association, will see that it is properly placed and cared for, and Miss Lander's name and memory properly honored.--Baltimore Sun.

HOW TO BAG COTTON.

Side Pieces and Headings Should Never Be Used.

Messrs. Alex. Sprunt & Son, cotton exporters, of Wilmington, have sent out a circular of which the following is a copy: To our Agents and Friends:

In consequence of very heavy losses sustained last season by the excess of bagging on cotton bales, the Liverpool Cotton Association has adopted rules which prohibit the use of side pieces and double headings. The rule is mandatory, and all bales not conforming thereto will be subject to re-bagging.

Our buyers are specially charged to exercise great care in the examination of each and every bale for excessive bagging and not to purchase any cotton with side strips or double heading. They are also directed to give preference to bales weighing 500 pounds and above, as nearly all charges are by the, and heavy weights are always preferable to producer and consumer.

Compliance with these requirements will prevent detention and possible the possibility of claims arising from this cause, otherwise the producer or seller will have to bear the cost.

Very respectfully, ALEX. SPRUNT & SON.
