The waterworks proved of valuable service yesterday for the firemen. Four hydrants were brought into service which enabled the firemen to easily apply water from any direction.

When the fire was raging at the burning still yesterday and near-by residents were moving out their household affairs little Ada Basnight, four years old, was very soothed that her doll be saved from the flames.

The fire had one interested spectator yesterday, Sing Lee, the Chinaman. When it broke out he mounted to his house top and from his high perch, a straddle of the roof and leaning against the chimney took in a full observation.

There will be a partial eclipse of the moon to-morrow night commencing twenty-one minutes after ten and ending just after midnight. The middle of the eclipse will be seventeen minutes after eleven.

There was a misunderstanding as to the time of Rev. J. Ross' appointment to give, at the Baptist church in New Berne, a review of his recent work among feeble congregation near the city. The statement of the work will be at the regular prayer meeting to-night. All are invited to attend.

Emerson Walker, col., was placed in jail under a hundred dollars bond for stealing chicken from Mr. Benj. Carraway. He stole twice but the last time Mr. Carraway detected, and with the assistance of others ran him down and captured him. He got back his own chickens and also two others, one alive and one dead stolen from some one else.

Hotel Charitawka Arrivals
J. W. Mason, N. C.; F. P. Gates, Bayboro; J. F. Somers, N. Y.; W. H. Jackson and L. C. Tilly, Jacksonville, N. C.; J. W. Martin, Wilmington, N. C.; W. G. Forlong, city; Leopold Cohn, city; E. Oesler, Richmond; L. A. Coulter, Charlotte.

Miss Hatchie Harrison
Miss Hatchie Harrison has decided to engage in the teaching of music in this city. Miss Harrison is well known to our citizens; she taught music here most successfully five years ago. Since that time she has taught in Boston, Mass., giving entire satisfaction, in which she has many testimonials, also studying under the best masters with success.
If a sufficient number of pupils can be obtained to justify it she will remain in New Berne.

Not Correctly Quoted
ED. JOURNAL.—The communication in your paper on September 6th relating to Rev. W. E. West, misquotes me somewhat. I did not say he was drunk in my barber shop or that he got drunk there but simply that I bought whiskey and beer for him and put them in a back room for him. I said he threw up but did not say it was because he was drunk.

I hope the writer will show on my name and conclude on somebody else's name.
W. H. SURMAN.

No wonder Berne is a quiet city. A man was fined by one of the courts for leaning on the street at night.

Distillery Burned.

About 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning the distillery belonging to Mrs. E. B. Ellis, was discovered to be on fire. Two buildings were burned—the distillery itself, and the storage house.

Mr. John Ellis, book-keeper and manager of the business roughly estimates the damage at a thousand dollars. There was no insurance.

Seven or eight streams of water from the water works played on the buildings. The fire was a remarkably quick one, owing to the strong east wind which prevailed—but the firemen worked well, as they always do, and all the property on the opposite side of the street was saved, though it seemed impossible at one time to do so. A little loss was suffered by the people moving out and the residence of Mr. Basnight caught, but was extinguished. The water did some damage.

A visitor to the city said he never saw volunteer firemen work as "dus" did yesterday. They worked as hard as the occasion demanded, but we have seen them work just as faithfully when much more ardent and risky service was required. Our firemen are rightly the pride of our city.

Coming and Going.

Miss Mollie Crede who has been very ill in Hyde county has returned home recovered.

The Speaking of the Populist Convention
After the business of the People's Party convention was transacted there were three addresses made.

The first was by Mr. E. L. Franck of Onslow. He gave a condensed history of financial legislation since the war. He said some people declared you could not legislate money into the pockets of the people but that the Republicans had legislated it out and that if it could be legislated out it could be legislated back into them. He found fault with the financial action of the Democrats and attacked appointments that had been made by Cleveland and confirmed by the senate, and also the Tariff legislation.

In the main the speech was a good, sensible one, with very little to which a Democrat would object, except that if Mr. Franck could draw off enough votes it would result in placing the Republicans back in power with all the evils we endured when they had the reins of Government.

But there were a few things which Mr. Franck did not tell. He failed to say that the Democratic majority in the Senate was so small the defection of two or three from a measure would ensure its defeat and that it was owing to one or two in the Senate that the bill was not better than it was, and he failed to say anything of how much lower the tariff had been made on many articles in common use.

Mr. W. H. Smith made a very brief address.
Dr. Cyrus Thompson, the Third party candidate for Congress, spoke at considerable length. One of the leading features in his speech was talking about Democratic majorities in negro counties in Alabama and elsewhere, and charging the Democrats with fraud. He also advised the colored people not to be led off by what Isaac Smith or anybody else might say.

The merchant tailors of Gratz, Siberia, have sent a petition to the authorities of the university, asking that hereafter no student shall receive a diploma until he has proved that he has paid his tailor bills. Some of the students say that this is a deadly blow at the higher education of young men.

Joint Discussion.

Only an address by Hon. H. G. Shaw, Democratic nominee for Congress, was announced for last night, but Dr. Cyrus Thompson, Third Party candidate for the same office, being in the city the speaking was turned into a joint discussion.

The discussion was opened by Mr. Shaw. He showed up the absurdities of the Third party very strongly and defied any one to show any good done by any populist in Congress. He showed that on the other hand they had introduced bills which would have called for 85 billions—not millions, but billions of dollars, showed also that Populists would all taxes upon real estate, a pretty strong reason against any farmer's wanting such a party in power.

Mr. Thompson talked on many lines and covered as much ground as any speaker could have done in the same length of time. He said among things that he had been asked if he would vote for a negro if nominated and that the purpose of the question was to drive off white men if he said yes, and colored voters if he said no, but he said he would tell it honestly, that he did not believe the colored men wanted him to vote for them, that with rare exceptions he did not think they were fit to hold office and that for these reasons he would not.

As in the daytime before the congressional convention, Dr. Thompson charged election frauds upon Democrats and predicted revolution unless they were stopped.

His speech abounded in wit and was enjoyed even by those who did not agree with him at all.

Each speaker ably championed his party, showing up its merits and the demerits of the other. They were speeches from which voters could learn, but then there were more personalities indulged in by each speaker than we liked to see. A broad discussion of the issues upon a high plane is preferable.

Democrats have much to gain from these discussions. They bring out the truth and present it forcibly to the voter, and with a proper understanding of what the Democratic party is accomplishing in the face of manifold obstacles, the victory that will be achieved in November will be all the more grand and glorious.

North Carolina's Need of a Reformatory.

THE JOURNAL has, in a number of articles in the past, called attention to the fact that the present system of treating all convicts, youthful offenders and hardened criminals alike was calculated to produce more hardened criminals out of some who might be saved from their evil career if a reformatory were established for them. We are glad to see that the subject is attracting notice both from thoughtful educators and the press. We clip the following bearing on the subject from the North Carolina Baptist:

Capt. C. B. Denson, of Raleigh, is striving to get North Carolina to establish a reformatory for young criminals. He says:

"There are now sixty institutions in the United States for the reformation of young offenders. One of these alone, the New York House of refuge, which takes the worst class of young criminals, has received 25,000 since its establishment in 1829, of which more than one-half have been restored to society as useful members.

We have a great need in our own State of such an institution. Carefully gathered statistics from the several counties of North Carolina by the Board of Public Charities, shows three hundred minors are annually committed to the jails. Can't the next legislature make provision for such a needed institution?"

Y. M. C. A. Director's Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the Directors of the Y. M. C. A. to-night immediately after prayer meeting. State Secretary L. A. Coulter will be present and a full attendance is earnestly requested.

By order of the President.
Dr. J. D. CLARK.

The dairy industry in North Carolina within the last ten years has increased to a remarkable extent, far more than is generally supposed. Bulletin No. 101 of the N. C. Experiment Station treats of the state's progress in this direction and gives several reasons therefor, one of which is the adoption of the "no-fence" law in so many of the counties, and another is the determined progressiveness of citizens in so many localities.

A plausible argument is sometimes offered in favor of closing a church or a Sunday-school for a season. But if that argument be valid and feasible, and there is no good reason for keeping open the place of religious instruction, why should the workers assume their toll? Six days and twenty hours out of seven days would seem to be vacation enough for anybody. Yet there are those who want more—and take it.—Sunday School Times.

Dr. Thompson moved that in case of vacancy of candidates that the nominating power rest with Executive committee. Second and carried.

HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

A sea tricycle has been made and has carried its inventor across the English channel.

France has a submarine boat. Owing to the assistance furnished by Japan, China has a number of submarine boats.

The Emperor of China has ordered the bankers to send in the money he needs or lose their heads. It is a matter of heads or tails with him.

Gabby and Sapy are two candidates for office in Kansas. It strikes us that we already know these two Kansas statesmen under the names of Puffer and Simpson, respectively, says the New York Advertiser.

An artesian well at Pierre, S. D., spouts a combination of water and gas at the rate of four hundred gallons a minute. The water blazes for a time when a light is applied to it.

How to escape payment of the income tax is the most absorbing question among the wealthy landlords of the country, and there is little doubt that many of them will find a way.

A chemist has discovered a process for solidifying whiskey and other liquors into tablets like chocolate. You can thus eat your booze or dissolve it into liquid form at your pleasure.

The Jewish Messenger says, not without truth: "It is remarkable that a good many wage-earners who deplore the want of bread find no difficulty in supplying their craving for beer."

French physicians report remarkable satisfactory results in prompt relief of obstinate nose-bleeding by injecting lemon juice, freshly squeezed out, into the nostrils, after first cleansing them with pure water.

It is sometimes stated that none but low caste Hindus have accepted Christianity. This is combated by the Rev. H. L. Mukarjee, who gives a list of twenty-seven Indian men of position who within fifteen months have adopted the Christ of the New Testament.

The Louisiana sugar planters who decided to flop to the Republican party because the Democrats stopped the two cent bounty the Government had been paying them on the sugar they made, are called by the Philadelphia Record "the bounty jumpers of politics." It seems to be an appropriate name.

Stokes county has had a big hail storm which damaged crops more or less, over an area of 75 square miles. A special to the Charlotte Observer says that "many of the hail stones were as large as hen eggs and fell to the depth of six to ten inches between cotton and tobacco rows. In many places the crop of tobacco, almost ready for the knife, is entirely destroyed and some farmers are plowing the mangled leaves under to improve the ground. Timber is almost as bare as in winter, all the leaves been beaten off."

The Chinese authorities promised the American Consul at Shanghai not to treat cruelly those two suspected Japanese spies who were turned over to them. They didn't treat them cruelly; they just chopped their heads off. When the Chinese want to treat anybody cruelly they only disembowel him, run hot irons through him, cut him in pieces and take their time about it so he may have the full benefit and note the methods of operation. But when they want to deal kindly and gently they just chop the head off.—Wil. Hear.

THE COTTON OUTLOOK.

Estimates of the Crop—It May Be 10,000,000 Bales, but Likely Much Less.

The factors expect to do a larger business this year than formerly, says the Augusta Chronicle, and are sanguine that last year's receipts will be over-reached if the present crop prospects hold out. And unless some unforeseen disaster occurs before the crop is gathered, it will exceed last year's crop by a million or a million and a half bales.

These are the figures of conservative cotton men who have studied the situation, and who for years, have made a business of studying the crop. They believe the outlook is a great deal better than at this time last year; but disagree with the somewhat exaggerated reports that have been sent out from various points in the South.

One report which gained currency through the press—it was given out by some cotton firm—placed the estimate of this year's yield at 10,000 bales. This, conservative cotton men believe to be extravagant. Last year's yield reached seven and a half million bales, and it was not such a bad crop; but this year the best estimates are that the total yield in bales will be between eight and nine million bales.

Of course there is a great deal of uncertainty attached to any estimate that might be made of the coming crop. While it is practically made, a storm or an early frost might destroy at least half a million bales.

Said a prominent cotton factor yesterday: "No cotton man, no matter how well posted, can talk with certainty about the cotton outlook. The possibility and probability of rains and early frost furnish so many wide opportunities for a change in the situation that it will be several weeks before anything can be said with definiteness."

"The greatest danger which we have to fear is an early frost. Such a calamity might cut off the crop to the extent of a half a million bales; therefore in speaking of it, it is necessary to allow a wide margin for such occurrences."
"It is just simply guess work to talk about what the crop will be. We can only tell what it is now. Speaking from the present outlook, the future will be good." I expect a crop of between eight and nine million bales.
