Good and better roads—Have you heard anything on the subject lately? Well, we'll give you a rest when we get them.

Mr. Chas E Nelson took a run down to Jones County yesterday and bought 37 cattle for his beef business. He purchased from Messrs John Simmons and Himan Bell.

The small boy is ever ready to try what he sees others doing. Three of the shows recently in the city had slack wire walking and now the youngsters on the street can be seen trying their prowess in that direction.

Rolla's Royal Entertainers played last night to a very small audience and also gave a matinee in the afternoon. The performance was about the same as on the previous night, but somewhat abbreviated.

Mr. L. K. Gotler, head clerk of "Big Ike" who has been off with him a couple of months at Fayetteville and Wilmington disposing of a portion of a large stock which Mr. Humphrey bought at the former place returned home yesterday leaving the stock all packed up ready to come on to New Berne. It is expected to come up to-day.

Messrs Holland and Jarvis are having the front of their store tastefully painted and made more inviting to the business trade. The interior of the JOURNAL Office is also undergoing a similar change. Keep the ball moving all ye owners of property. Paint is a preservative of property and a terrible enemy to dilapidated appearances.

Work of renovating, painting and papering the interior of Hotel Albert is being continued, and when completed will give it as bright and tidy appearance as the day of its first greeting the public. With the recent addition of the Chatawka New Berne now boasts of two modern hotels.

Master Joel S. White, the twelve year old son of Mr. E. J. White of Port Barnwell, had the good fortune to kill a bear last Thursday. The bear was only a small one, such as is commonly called a hog bear, but nevertheless the little fellow is quite proud of his success. The bear was crossing the field and the dogs got after and ran him up a tree. Master Joel seeing this got his gun from the house and dispatched the animal with one load.

Subscribers who do not get their papers properly put under their doors or scoured in some way from the wind, rain or theft, will please inform us at this office and we will do all in our power to have them satisfactorily delivered. Carriers have strict instructions to abide by these rules except where they are afraid of dogs. Also carriers are strictly forbidden to sell or give away papers outside of the office of publication.

Capt. W. W. Curaway is in the city in the interest of that admirable paper the Richmond Dispatch and is at the Raleigh House. The Capt. with his usual genial attentions and with information, speaks in happy terms of the prospects of the Dispatch for the South. He is sure that the subscription of the Dispatch will be a great success. Capt. Curaway's health is so good, it is a pleasure to see him in the city of his birth.

Coming and Going.

Mr. J. B. Holland is back from his northern trip after full stock.
Mrs. Sallie Duguid has returned home from Baltimore.

Mayor Wm Ellis, went down to Wilmington to examine a crusher for road work which is for sale there. Mr. Jas. W. Moore accompanied him.

Mr. J. M. Howard left for Chapel Hill on a business trip.

Capt. Reid Whitford, of Georgetown, S. C., who has been making a brief visit to relatives in the city left to spend awhile in the western part of the State.

The family of Dr. E. W. Hughes returned home last night.

Mrs. Fred Thomas of Rocky Mount arrived to visit relatives in the city.

Mr. Jas. Kagle of Durham who has been spending about a year in the city following his trade of painting went up to Raleigh to take regular employment for awhile with a firm there.

Mr. C. E. Foy who went up to Mt. Airy to meet Mrs. Foy and their daughter, Miss Annie, who have been summering at Fancy Gap Hotel, Va., returned home in company with them last night. Miss Augusta Crapon who has been spending the summer in Asheville and Black Mountain also came back with them.

"Big Ike" to Take a Partner.

Mr. Hill Humphrey who is widely known and even more extensively known by his business name of Big Ike, than by his real name, has, as our readers know, been spending two or three months away on business, but he has now disposed of whatever interests he has elsewhere by selling out or shipping the goods to his headquarters in this city.

Mr. Humphrey, however does not intend to return home immediately. He had decided to take a partner. He and Mrs. Georgia Ward, of Jacksonville, are to be married this morning. They will then leave for a Northern bridal tour via Wilmington; Washington City will be the first point visited.

After Space in the Fair.

Mr. J. W. Vernelson representing the music house of Ames & Burke, Norfolk in the city at Hancock's Boarding House. A part of the business which brought him was to arrange for space for his company to make an exhibit at the New Berne Fair. They were misled as to the time of holding it by the mistake which has crept in of some of our exchanges which in publishing the list of Agricultural Fairs in the State have us down for October 23, 24, 25 and 26, which is the date of the State Fair. Ours is a winter Fair and there is no suggestion or inclination to change time of holding it.

Mr. Vernelson proposes all the same to go ahead and make his arrangements now for the space wanted.

Northern Methodist Conference.

Rev. W. R. West of Swansboro, Rev. C. S. Canstevens, of Morehead city accompanied by his wife, ministers of the Northern M. E. Church, passed through yesterday morning to attend the State Conference of the church which meets on the 27th inst at Concord. Rev. J. T. Hardisty from the coast also passed through to attend, and take work from the conference.

Mr. West does not expect to return here. He came from the western part of the State about three years ago and means to again take work among the mountains. This is not the Mr. West about whose conduct such a discussion arose. That was Rev. W. E. West of Ocracoke. His route in going to the conference will be via Washington.

Road Construction Committee Meets This Morning.

SUCCESSFUL ROAD MEETING.

Well Attended and Strong Enthusiasm Displayed.

The Fine Subscription List Still Further Increased—Construction Committee Appointed—The Other Business.

A good proportion of New Berne's most intelligent and progressive citizens assembled promptly at the City Hall yesterday afternoon in accord with the call of Mr. W. W. Clark for a good-road meeting.

Mr. E. H. Meadows called the meeting to order and upon his motion Hon. C. C. Clark was made chairman. The organization was then perfected by electing C. T. Hancock, Secretary.

Mr. Clark with a few apt remarks about the unanimity of purpose of those composing the meeting and expressing the hope that everybody would give free expression to their opinions declared the meeting opened for the transaction of business.

Mr. W. W. Clark stated that the object of the meeting was to hear the report of the subscriptions that had been made and to organize for the further prosecution of the work.

He then read the list of subscribers. The subscription footed up $1,200 in cash in addition to the marl, all of which Messrs. Hackburn & Willett donate and which is estimated to be worth $900 to the road. $2,000 in cash was the amount which it was stated that it was desired to raise.

Mr. Clark after reaching the list and making statements of the work made a fine argument in behalf of good roads.

At the conclusion of his remarks the list was placed on the desk of the secretary for additional subscriptions or for any subscriber who desired to do so to increase his subscription. The following increase was made:

The Clark Lumber company increased their subscription from $10 to $25; J. W. Biddle, from $5 to $10; O. H. Guion, from $5 to $10; P. H. Pelletier, from $10 to $25; J. S. Manix, from $3 to $5; and Hackburn & Willett subscribed $25 in addition to donating all the marl, Geo. H. White, $10; and W. T. Boyd, $1. This made an increase of $79 in the private subscriptions, raising the list to $1279. Counting the county's subscription of $250, the total cash subscription is now $1529, adding the estimated value of the marl donated $900 and we have a total of $1829 now subscribed for the road in addition to labor and service of the teams which some offer instead of cash. This is indeed a fine start and makes success assured.

On motion of Mr. E. H. Meadows, a construction committee was appointed to take charge of the subscription list and of the general management of the construction of the road.

The committee consists of six enterprising and influential citizens of the county, viz: W. W. Clark, J. A. Meadows, Enoch Wadsworth, W. C. Willett, Wm. Ellis and J. W. Stewart.

R. P. Williams moved that the committee be requested to begin work at the edge of the city and work in the other direction. After discussion the motion was withdrawn and on motion of Robt. Hancock the matter was left entirely with the committee.

Mr. W. W. Clark made an argument showing that the county has the right to appropriate the money realized from the dividends paid to the county on its A. & N. C. R. R. stock to the construction of this road and that it could be used to no better purpose.

Jas. A. Bryan, chairman Board of County Commissioners, stated that at the last meeting of the Board this question was taken up and it was found that it would take all the available income of the county, including that of the railroad dividend to meet the expenses of the county since the county has purchased and is running the two free ferries, but that nevertheless the Board had ordered a subscription of $250 to the road fund.

Mr. Clark asked that in addition to this fund that the prisoners in the county jail be put to work upon the road and that the county furnish a guard for them.

Chairman Bryan, upon inquiry, was informed that the work might be in progress two or three months, and he objected to the county's furnishing a guard because a good one such as the authorities would be willing to trust the prisoners with would cost $50 per month and if it took three months this would take $150 and run the county's subscription up to $400.

On motion of Mr. O. H. Guion, a resolution of thanks from the people of the county was unanimously ordered to be spread upon the minutes of the secretary to Mr. W. W. Clark for his indefatigable interest, zeal and efforts in behalf of the road.

It was moved and carried that the proceedings of the meeting, including the list of subscribers be published. (The list will appear in our next issue.)

On motion of E. P. Williams the meeting took a recess subject to the call of the chairman.

Shell Rock is the Desired Material.

One of our leading citizens called in early yesterday morning to declare his hearty approval of everything said in favor of constructing our Public Building out of our native shell rock—as cheap a material as can be used for a building of its kind, and one that will make as handsome a building. He says truly that not only will it have all the points of superiority spoken of but that it will be a prominent standing advertisement of this section.

That this is the material of all others that ought to be used in the building is to our mind beyond a doubt, that most citizens coincide with us in this opinion we are satisfied, and we believe that all that needs to be done to get our wishes gratified is to bring the matter properly to the attention of Secretary Carlisle which we consider can easily be done by means of a petition, if any one will move in the matter and put one through.

It is not at all likely that Secretary Carlisle knows anything about our shell rock consequently that will not be the material chosen unless we ask for it. Action is necessary to accomplish the purpose.

Still there are some who think that harder rock, something like granite should be used, and who also believe that the shell rock is too porous. That matter we think can be easily settled. If any of our home contractors want to put in a bid for the building let them express themselves on it, and another good authority on the subject is Col. Owens, Superintendent of National Cemeteries, who has been out here a number of times in the last few years, and is familiar with the National Cemetery lodge constructed of it. He is, moreover, a civil engineer and a competent judge of building material. His opinion will carry weight with it.

His address can be obtained from Capt. Hyde, keeper of the cemetery and it may be that it will be well to work in the matter both directly with Secretary Carlisle and also with him through Col. Owens.

We hope it will be but a very short time before the advertisement for bids for the erection of the building will be published. This advertisement under the new regulations will specify what material is to be used, consequently whatever is done in the matter must be done promptly.

North Carolina Anti-Lynching Law.

The News and Observer calls attention to the fact that North Carolina has an anti-lynching law, that is the first state in the union to pass such a law, that it was enacted by a legislature composed entirely of Democrats and that not a colored person has been lynched in the State since it was passed; The bill was passed without serious opposition and almost unanimously. It was championed by many of the leading Democrats in the General Assembly. It was prepared and introduced in the House by that stalwart Forsyth Democrat, Hon. C. B. Watson. It was favorably reported by a committee, the chairman of which was Mr. Allen, of Wayne, now Judge Allen of the Fourth district. It was championed in the Senate by many of the Democrats and particularly by Senator Pou, now Chairman of the Democratic State Committee. It was enacted at the demand of the enlightened public opinion of the people of North Carolina. Since its passage not a single negro has suffered violence at the hands of a mob in this State. The law has come to stay—and no suggestion favoring its repeal has been heard.

Now if the next legislature will adopt Governor Carr's suggestion and provide more speedy trials for offenders, and our laws will be ample to protect the innocent, and punish the guilty. The law provides that it is a felony punishable by a fine of not less than $500 and imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than two nor more than fifteen years to either break into a jail or to conspire to break into one for the purpose of injuring a prisoner therein confined. A conviction of either offence also renders the criminal infamous and works his disfranchisement. If a prisoner is killed by a mob it is murder and the offenders are punishable with death.

Prompt Settlement.

Mr. E. B. Cox, who recently died at Newbern, N. C., had a policy of insurance in the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Hartford for $10,000. In less than ten days after proof of loss was received, Mr. William H. Oliver, agent of the company at New Berne paid the family of Mr. Cox ten thousand two hundred and sixty-two 70-100 dollars. The $262 70-100 being a mortality dividend or the insurance interest in the accumulated surplus.

Cost of the Policy—This policy had been in force 27 years, the premium on it was $231. age 37 years: 280 x 27 $75.87.00 Each and every year a dividend was paid, which amounted to 2769.70

Which reduced the amount paid to $4887.80 Being $178.90 per annum on $10,000, or $17.87 per annum on $1,000.

The dividends paid by the Connecticut Mutual are larger than those paid by any other insurance company. Consequently the same amount of insurance can be obtained for less money than from any other company as shown by above statement.

B. & L. ANNUAL MEETING.

To Be Held in the City Hall To-Night—Attend and Learn What it is Doing—Uphold the Local Association Always.

The New Berne Building and Loan Association is now completing its seventh year. The annual meeting to elect directors for the eighth year, and to hear the reports of the officers and transact whatever other business may come before the meeting, will be held at the city hall to-night.

Local building and loan associations possess some things in their favor that those with headquarters elsewhere do not. The money of the investing member is kept at home and helps to improve and build up the town or city in which he lives. The borrowing member has the advantage of dealing with men he knows and who know him and feel an interest in his success and both classes have the satisfaction of having a voice and of standing on an equal footing with any other member in conducting the association. It is a mutual organization to be run to the best interests of all.

The Charlotte Observer has an article about the Charlotte home association, the basis for which article was the advertisement the association carries in that paper. The Observer's comments upon the work of these institutions are so much in line with our own views about the matter that we copy the article. It reads as follows:

"At the risk of becoming tiresome on the subject of the superiority of the local building and loan association over all others, and over almost all other forms of savings institutions, we are impelled to refer to another one of the Charlotte associations—the Mechanics' Perpetual—a new advertisement of which appears in this morning's paper. It has been in business twelve years and has never lost a dollar. It has $839,000 lent out and is doing a business of $125,000 per year. It has only one salaried officer, pays no rent, and a safe constitutes all of its visible belongings. It is conducted with the most rigid economy and pays its shareholders 9 3/4 per cent. interest per year. While no similar association anywhere is perhaps better conducted, it is a type of many others here and elsewhere and is a good illustration of the beneficence of these institutions. There is no telling how many homes it has built or how many dollars which would otherwise have gone for naught it has saved to its stockholders. The building and loan association is one of the greatest of earthly institutions and the man who thought out the idea should have a monument as high as the trees. But to get the best results from it it should be localized—every town should have one or more of its own, and when this is the case there is no sort of excuse for citizens becoming stockholders in those away from home. The great profits that these latter promise are imaginary, and not only are they never realized but the principal money invested with them is often imperiled and often lost."

His address can be obtained from Capt. Hyde, keeper of the cemetery and it may be that it will be well to work in the matter both directly with Secretary Carlisle and also with him through Col. Owens.

We hope it will be but a very short time before the advertisement for bids for the erection of the building will be published. This advertisement under the new regulations will specify what material is to be used, consequently whatever is done in the matter must be done promptly.
