Services at the Presbyterian Church 4:45 this afternoon preparatory to the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper which will be celebrated Sabbath morning.

Mr. John C. Thomas of Riverdale, who holds a position at Washington City in the House Folding Department, is home until after the election. He will do some canvassing while here.

Dr. F. A. Whitaker of Bonus, Democratic candidate for the Senate, was in the city yesterday. He and Capt. Swift Galloway, the other candidate, will soon be canvassing in this vicinity.

The fall crop of Irish potatoes and garden peas are looking fine. There are young peas on the vines and the young potatoes are forming. The stand is almost equal to what it is in the spring of the year and the growth is vigorous.

Mr. M. Blumgardt thinks the supposed burglar at his back door a few nights ago was done by some of his friends trying to frighten him. He wants us to tell "that person he'd better watch out, for I've got a pistol and it would be had for him to be killed dead instantly."

Mr. M. Blumgardt is going into the dry goods business again. His place will be known as The Bargain Store. It will be in the new Hanff building on Middle street. Mr. Joo, Hanff who was Mr. Blumgardt's salesman when he was in this business before, is with him again. They will be ready for customers to-day.

All the lumber for the Disciple church which is to be erected at the New Hope Mission near Reelsboro, is now on the grounds and some other material, and there is also some money in the hands of the committee, besides pledges which have not yet been paid. The work is to begin at once. The church is $0 x 45 feet.

Dr. Frank W. Hughes, the owner of the Chatawka Hotel Building, has purchased the interest which Mr. J. W. Stewart has heretofore owned in the business. Dr. Hughes is a man of force and determination and will make a good partner for his nephew Mr. N. C. Hughes who has been one of the owners of the business since it started.

Mr. Hall Ayer, the progressive young secretary of the State Fair very courteously furnishes complimentary to the Journal for the exhibition now so near at hand, and which gives such bright promise of a worthy State affair. With such men as Col. Carr and Mr. Ayer at the head, the Fair at our Capitol will no doubt exhibit the same pluck and prosperity that the New Berne Fair has built up on with its Dunn and Reizenstein at the helm.

A meeting of the executive committee of the eighth Senatorial district was held at the court house yesterday. Mr. J. A. Bryan was made chairman, and W. L. Arendall of Carteret county secretary. Onslow county was represented by Mr. F. W. Hargett, Green by Mr. S. R. Street, as proxy for Mr. G. W. Sugg. A quorum being present, Mr. F. M. Parnall was allowed to represent Jones county. The two candidates in the district, Messrs. Galloway and Whitaker were present. After transaction of all business before the body, the meeting adjourned at the call of the chair.

FAIR DATE FIXED.

The East Carolina Fair to Be Held February 18th to 25th, Inclusive, 1895.

Still Ahead—Largest Purses Ever Offered in the State—$3,000 in Race Premiums Alone—Other Premiums Increased in Proportion.

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the East Carolina Fish, Oyster, Game and Industrial Association was held last night. The date of holding the next exhibition decided upon, and also the amount that was to be given in race premiums fixed. The prizes for last year totaled up to the grand total of $2,500 which was the largest that had ever been given in the State up to that time. As a result of the meeting the directors have decided to raise this amount $500. The purses for next year aggregates $3,000. This makes a certainty of drawing very fine horses from outside North Carolina, as well as the best within our border from one end of the State to the other.

The general premium list was also ordered to be revised and increased in the many departments.

Action was also taken upon season tickets, the same rules and regulations will be used that were applied last year—they will be republished later.

The meeting was a very large and enthusiastic one—a great deal of interest was taken and we can safely say that indications point to having as heretofore the best Fair ever held in the State. Never were the officers and directors more enthusiastic on the subject and the people are ready as ever to back them up unconditionally in whatever they undertake.

Now that the date is settled, let every one take renewed interest, especially should the farmers remember and begin preparing their exhibits now, while the crops are being housed; they can do so better now than later and the abundant harvest gives every assurance they can make an agricultural exhibit beyond even what they have been doing, as fine as it was; save the best of every crop and compete for the liberal premiums.

Securing of special attractions was left as usual to the president and secretary and Treasurer. They will have new features on this line, and also the one which was so pleasing this year the magnificent balloon ascensions both day and night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rieger who have been visiting at Mr. J. H. Davis' Beaufort, passed through returning to their home Kansas City. Their cousins, Misses Fannie and Bessie Davis, left with them for a protracted visit. Mr. Davis accompanied them as far as New Berne.

Miss Gertrude Bagby went down to Wilmington to take a position as teacher in the public schools.

Messrs. O. H. Guion, W. W. Clark and P. M. Parnall are back from attendance upon Supreme court at Raleigh.

The Wilmington Messenger notices an item in an exchange which says that in the Northern States, on land worth from $300 to $500 per acre, they make money raising cucumbers for pickles, and comments on this saying truly that if the South, with her vast and multiplied advantages, would but diversify its industries much more and give more attention to economy of time, labor and money it would soon go to the front as the land of Goshen, the most desirable part of this great continent. There is no doubt that nature has done more for Southland than for any other part of the United States.

Advices from Key West, Fla., say that fifty dead bodies, victims of the wrecks occurring on the reefs during the recent storm, have been washed ashore on the islands. The dead are evidently sailors from the vessels destroyed, although the length of time which has elapsed since the storm has rendered the bodies unrecognizable through decomposition. The probabilities are that many more of these ghastly witnesses of the hurricane's fury will be brought to light in a few days.

Mills Confesses the Murder.

George Mills of Wake County, who was on trial at Raleigh for the murder of his niece Lana Wimberly, has made a confession with revolting details.

The girl had been ruined—Mills says she declared her two brothers were the cause, and to prevent the fact being known, he, with the knowledge of the family, took her to an old hut and administered laudanum. The mother did not mean for the laudanum to kill her but the father had told Mills never to let her come back. The girl kept sleeping but did not seem about to die, and at last Mills deliberately and brutally beat her over the head until death ensued; then went to the home of the Wimberly's and hid the blood washed off of him, but a piece on his pants was missed. Then to hide the crime the story about her being attacked by another party was made up. This is Mills' story.

Wimberly the father of Lana has been arrested also.

HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

A sturgeon weighing 330 pounds has been caught in Narragansett Bay, Massachusetts.

A small horse-power engine, which is said to make forty-two cigarettes a minute, is the invention of a Frenchman.

The church of England is to have a college at Jerusalem. Bishop Blyth has received the firman from Constantinople sanctioning the erection of the proposed college.

Joseph Swilser is being patched with frog skin grafts in a Brooklyn hospital. If he should be something of a croaker hereafter it will be with some reason.

At Floyd Va.; a highwayman is under arrest. He is M. P. Odell, of Pulaskie county, one of the parties who a week ago robbed A. D. Barnett of $1,000 on the highway. Two others are implicated and one of whom has been arrested. The one whom Odell says planned the robbery has not been caught.

The Washington Post has a special from Newport News which states that in the county court Thursday James S. Hopkins was found guilty of dredging in the James River a few miles above that city. He was given one year in the penitentiary. Hopkins was arrested about three weeks ago by Oyster Inspector James Bonewell. A dredge was found on board his schooner when the arrest was made.

THE ROAD IMPROVEMENT.

Fifty Hands and Seven Carts at Work—A Letter From Geologist Holmes in Favor of Working the Convicts.

The force of hands on the portion of Neuse road between the city and the railroad has been increased; there are now fifty hands at work including the carters. Seven carts are in service upon the grading work.

The grade is one established by our civil engineer, Mr. H. A. Brown. He and his son Henry give their services to the cause and are finally doing all the surveying needed from one end of the road to the other. This is well. The foundation work should surely be correct so that there will be no occasion afterwards to make alterations.

The course of the road between Messrs. Crockett's and Bray's farms is being slightly altered, a part of it is now a little nearer Mr. Crockett's. This gives a perfectly straight course from Broad street nearly to Mr. Crockett's residence.

Nine men are at work on the road working from the railroad towards the city; the main force is working from the city outward.

The W. N. & N. Railroad has offered the use of some of the scrapers which they used for grading when constructing their road; the offer, of course, was gladly accepted and when the machines arrive—they are now at President McIntyre's Glencoe stock farm—they will expedite matters considerably.

Gentlemen who have been up to the State capital recently tell us our movement for better roads here is being watched there with a good deal more interest than they anticipated.

The public spirit manifested by the promptness and liberality of the subscriptions to the work took the public by surprise. They say they never before heard of road work being taken hold of by private subscriptions so unconditionally and enthusiastically.

It will be remembered that at first there was a statement made to the effect that the commissioners were not willing to work the convicts on the road, which we are glad to say however was an erroneous impression; the commissioners are in favor of it and have given an order for working them. But under the impression that the statement made Mr. Holmes wrote the letter. It contains points worthy not simply of a single perusal, but of keeping carefully in mind. We give the letter in full:

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 1st, 1894.

Mr. W. W. Clark, Newbern, N. C.

My Dear Sir:—I have been greatly interested by the recent Road Meeting held in Newbern, an account of which was published in the JOURNAL of Sept. 26th. I know of no case in the State in which private subscriptions have so liberally contributed toward the building of a public road, and your success there illustrates the principle for which I have been contending for some time; that just as soon as our people realize the financial advantages of a good road they will somehow or other raise funds for building it. One of your propositions interested me especially; that with reference to working the prisoners in the county jail on the public roads. The objection raised to this proposition was that it would make the work cost the county more than was originally contemplated. With regard to this point, I beg to submit the following statement: Craven county now pays, I am informed, 25 cents per day for the feed and guard of these prisoners in the county jail. The returns from something like a dozen counties in North Carolina which are using their convicts on the public roads, show that it costs to do this, on an average, 20 cents per day per convict, this cost including board, clothes, and the guarding of the convicts. An average of all of the returns sent in from the various counties of the State shows that it costs on an average 10 cents less per convict per day to work them on the public roads than it does to keep them in the county jail. The average cost being 30 cents per convict per day, in jail, and 20 cents per day per convict (including feed, clothes and guards' salary) on the roads. And in addition to this lessening of the expense in the support of convicts by working them on the public roads, in the one case the public gets some return for the injury done it by the crime committed and for the expense incurred in the capture and the conviction of criminals; in the other case the only return to the county is the additional expense of feeding the prisoners in jail.

The reason it is cheaper to work the convicts on the roads than it is to feed them in jail is because in the former case their provisions are bought for them in quantity, they do their own cooking, and their expenses are thus reduced to a minimum. And even in special cases it should cost more to maintain them on the roads it would be better to use them than to feed them in jail and hire other labor at 50 cents per day and board.

I beg to call your special attention to the experience of Lenoir county in this respect. This county which formerly paid 35cts. per day for feeding its convicts in jail is using these jail prisoners on the public roads at a cost not exceeding 15cts. per day per convict; they employ no guard, save that the superintendent of the work is also the guard. But he goes without arms; he leaves the prisoners whenever his duties make it necessary to do so; he allows them to go to their own homes on Saturday night and return to work on Monday morning. He is paid a salary ($1.25 per day) not as guard but as the superintendent of the work.

This is, I admit, a novel experience and I know of no parallel to it elsewhere, but I am informed that it has proved in Lenoir county eminently successful. They have built many miles of good road during the present year; they have not lost a convict and I am informed that in every way the experiment has proved a success and has greatly benefited the public roads.

I sincerely trust that some way will be found by which the Craven county convicts can be used in this work; and I hope that within the next few years we will see every criminal in North Carolina, whose term of imprisonment is for less than 10 years, at work on the public roads of the several counties of the State.

If a Committee of New Berne gentlemen could spend a day at Kinston and another at Raleigh, they would be thoroughly satisfied that the convicts are not only the cheapest but the best labor that could be placed on the public roads; and all the objections disappear at once when we appeal to actual experience, instead of to theory.

Wishing you the greatest possible success in this work, which means so much for the future of New Berne, I beg to remain,

Yours Obediently,
J. A. Holmes.
