THE McNAMARAS HAVE A RIVAL

Another Iron Worker Says That He Is A Dynamiter.

PRISONER TELLS VIVID STORY

Secretary-Treasurer Of The Union Is Placed Under Arrest.

New York, Oct. 3.—Dynamite outrages that rivalled the exploits of the McNamara brothers and Ortie McManigal, were confessed today by George E. Davis, a union iron worker. Davis who was arrested here today was the George O'Donnell, who figured in the trial at Indianapolis that resulted in the conviction of Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers and 37 of his assistants. His arrest and its consequent round up work the federal government started more than two years ago when the dynamiting of bridges and steel frame buildings all over the country became a national scandal.

All the explosions that Davis says he caused were referred to at the dynamiter's trial in Indianapolis, but the fact that Davis caused them remained unrevealed until he himself today told of it.

Davis' confession resulted today in the arrest in Indianapolis of Harry Jones, secretary-treasurer of the Iron Workers Union. The confession supplements the evidence presented at the Indianapolis trial, and makes fresh charges against some of the men there convicted and now in prison. Some of his revelations concern President Ryan who is now out on bail pending appeal from a prison sentence of seven years.

Davis says that he was the man chosen in December, 1911, to kill Walter Drew, attorney for the National Erectors' Association, after Drew was charged with kidnapping John J. McNamara. It was suggested also that he try to "get" William J. Burns, the detective employed by Drew and his assistants to unearth the dynamite conspiracy. The price on Drew's head at that time, Davis said, was $5,000. "I told them," his confession continues, "that I didn't want to mix up in such business."

Davis consented to return to Indianapolis, without extradition. His bail was fixed at $10,000.

The conspiracy, thought to have been broken up by the conviction of Ryan and others, still exists, according to Davis' confession. With the exception of Harry Jones, the men he mentions in connection with his various dynamite jobs already have been arrested, although his confession indicated that the government had not obtained all the incriminating evidence against these defendants.

The apprehension of this McManigal of the East was due to Robert Foster, a Louisville detective, who shadowed the ironworker through Eastern cities. Finally, when Davis was displeased with his treatment by the union, Foster persuaded him to make a full confession.

This was on September 26. For a week Davis had been working in Pittsburgh for the Thompson-Starrett Company. Then the local delegate of the Iron Workers' Union told him he must pay a $25 initiation fee to the local union or quit work. Davis quit. The detective told him he knew all about his deeds anyway, and Davis feeling that the union had deserted him, accompanied Foster to New York. Here, in the presence of representatives of the Federal district attorney and the National Erectors' Association, he dictated and swore to the long detailed confession which was given out by the district attorney's office today.

Davis said he had been an ironworker since 1900 and had been employed at Birmingham, Denver, Pueblo, St. Louis, New York, Washington, Providence, Cleveland and Pittsburgh, in the early days of the troubles between the union and the bridge builders he was a member of the entertainment committee, whose duty, he said, was to assault non-union workers. He began his career as a dynamiter at Trenton, N. J.

In careful detail the confession describes how Davis blew up or tried to blow up buildings and bridges in various cities and towns of the East. It was during his preparations of plans to destroy a new building at Fall River, April 26, 1908, that Davis first came into communication with Harry Jones. Davis asserts that Jones was familiar with the work he was doing.

RECORD BREAKING CROWD EXPECTED

Believed That Five Thousand Visitors Will Visit New Bern Today.

ALL CORDIALLY WELCOMED

Many Attractions Have Been Provided For The Pleasure Seekers.

New Bern will, today, have within its borders a larger number of visitors than have been here at one time in many years. Circus day is always a big day and when the aggregation is such as one as Barnum and Bailey's, which is one of the largest in the entire world, it can easily be seen why so many people are desirous to be on hand and see just what is going on.

The crowds began arriving yesterday afternoon. The trains from the East and the West and from Pamlico county carried a large number who want to be on the ground early in the morning and see everything that is going on. Naturally the majority of the visitors will come in this morning. The Norfolk Southern Railway Company, and also the Atlantic Coast Line Railway Company have arranged to have extra coaches added to the regular trains and, if found necessary, special trains will be operated.

It is estimated that there will be at least five thousand visitors here and the citizens of New Bern, the merchants and the business men extend a hearty welcome to each to make themselves "to hum" while in the city. The parade will begin about ten o'clock and the route mapped out for the line of march leads from the show grounds to Pollock street, down Pollock to Middle, down Middle to South Front, South Front to Craven, Craven to Broad, Broad to Queen and from there back to the circus grounds.

Many persons will attend the afternoon performance and will hardly care to see a repetition at night. For these New Bern's two moving picture and vaudeville theatres have arranged attractive programs. At the Athens theatre Jack Amick and his company of twelve people, mostly girls, are giving an up-to-date show for a small price. At the Star another one of those inimitable Warner feature pictures will be seen.

Many of the visitors will combine business with pleasure and will do a great deal of trading. They could come to no better place for the purpose. The New Bern merchants have a varied and extensive line of dry goods and merchandises and are at all times willing to serve the public to the best of their ability and those who purchase can feel assured that they will be fairly treated in every way and will get the full worth of their money.

DEVIL'S PICTURE AT TABERNACLE

REV. J. B. PHILLIPS WILL DELIVER POWERFUL SERMON TOMORROW NIGHT.

Rev. J. B. Phillips has returned from Beaufort where he has been conducting a revival meeting for nearly two weeks.

Mr. Phillips will fill his pulpit at both services tomorrow, the subject at the morning hour will be "The Results of a Spirit-filled Life." This will be the closing sermon of a series on the "Life of Power," which Mr. Phillips has been preaching for several weeks.

At the night service the theme will be "The Devil's picture and his Work." At this service the speaker will endeavor to present to his congregation the photograph of Satan as the Bible gives it.

The public at large are cordially invited to both of these services and strangers will be made to feel at home.

VISITORS WELCOME.

Hundreds of patrons of the Journal will be in the city today, and the management extends a cordial invitation to these to make the Journal office their headquarters while in the city. Come in to see us anyway, even if only to day "howdy do." We are always glad to see you and will do our best to entertain you.

RAILWAY OFFICIAL LOOKS OVER PROPOSED LINE

B. E. Rice Of The Norfolk Southern Railway Company Favorably Impressed With Plan To Operate Trains To The Eastern Carolina Fair Grounds

In company with Clyde Eby, president of the Eastern Carolina Fair Association Company and B. B. Hurst, one of the officers of the same company, B. E. Rice, Land and Industrial Agent of the Norfolk Southern Railway Company, yesterday morning went over the route which has been proposed for the operation of trains by the Norfolk Southern Railway Company to the Fair grounds.

Mr. Rice brought to New Bern with him plans and specifications which he had drawn up and they were thoroughly explained to Messrs. Eby and Hurst. The route as stated in the Journal yesterday, runs from a point opposite the coal chute, up in the rear of the National cemetery and then alongside the county road to a point opposite the Fair grounds and then curves in to the grounds.

SULZER WITNESSES WILL GO ON STAND MONDAY

Confidential Secretary Will Probably Be the First One Asked To Give Testimony—Anticipation Is Rife

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 3.—The first witness for William Sulzer will take the stand Monday afternoon. To that day the impeachment court adjourned today, because after Judge Cullen cut short the argument on a motion of the defense to strike out five of the eight articles D. Cady Herrick said it would be impossible to begin testimony before Monday.

Undoubtedly the first of Governor Sulzer's friends to testify in attempted refutation of the charges of perjury, larceny, and bribery will be Louis A. Sarecky, the mild appearing young man who, as confidential secretary, was a depositor of the candidate's campaign checks. On cross examination the prosecution's lawyers will handle this witness without gloves. Next to Governor Sulzer's own story, and that of his wife, if she appears, Sarecky's recital promises to supply most of the next week's fireworks.

Judge Herrick, obviously pleased by today's adjournment, said that the defense would move rapidly when it got started and prophesied that the end of next week would see the end of the trial. The nervous breakdown of Harvey D. Hinman, who is scheduled to make the opening plea for the governor was one of the reasons advanced by Judge Herrick for taking a recess until Monday. If Mr. Herman is not better tomorrow his task will probably be assumed by Austen G. Fox.

Technically, the defense lost heavily today when Judge Cullen ruled that decision as to striking out articles 3, 4, 5, 7 and 8 must be deferred to the close of the trial.

In effect the presiding judge said that every bit of evidence the prosecution has set forth must be met by the other side, and must be taken into account when the members of the court confront the final question, "guilty or not guilty."

Judge Herrick and his associates expected this. Apparently the ruling even pleased them. One of the group said:

"It would have taken only a majority vote, if the ruling had been submitted by Judge Cullen to the rest of the court to beat us. Now there will be only one vote, and that the last one. In the minds of the judges at that time will be not only the matter of how the governor has answered the charges themselves, but as to the impeachability of the alleged offenses. And the required vote for conviction is two-thirds, not a majority."

WORK ON BRIDGE IS PROGRESSING

STRUCTURE DESTROYED DURING THE FLOOD IS BEING REBUILT.

Rapid progress is being made in the work of rebuilding the Neuse river county bridge, leading from New Bern to Bridgeton and which was destroyed during the storm and flood which visited this section on September 3.

Just a month ago yesterday morning this structure was torn away by the wind and water and in the few short weeks which have followed, wonderful progress has been made in its reconstruction. The County Commissioners lost no time in getting a force of men at work on the remains of the bridge a few days after the catastrophe and they have succeeded in relaying the flooring for about two thirds of its length.

Of course there is much work yet to be done, but there is not the least doubt but that the bridge will be open to traffic by November 1. In the meantime the ferry line is being operated between this city and Bridgeton.

GALLERY COLLAPSED AND MANY FELL.

New York, Oct. 3.—One hundred persons fell fifteen feet in a screaming mass in an uptown hall, being used as a synagogue, today, through collapse of the gallery. Four persons were seriously injured. Ambulances summoned were not needed.

MEN AND WOMEN SENT TO JAIL

Socialists Who Defied Washington Judge Are Severely Dealt With.

TWO LAWYERS ARE DISBARRED

Pandemonium Reigns Supreme During The Court Proceedings.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 3.—Superior court Judge J. E. Humphries today sent 12 men and 6 women to the county jail for contempt of court in defying him in his decisions against Socialists. Later a consultation of other judges of the Superior Court was held and Thorwald Siegfried, an attorney who had complained to the Bar Association of Judge Humphries' excessive use of the writ of injunction was requested to apply for a writ of habeas corpus for the prisoners.

Siegfried applied to Judge Everett Smith for the release of Glenn Hoover, attorney for the Free Speech Defense League and former assistant Attorney General of Washington, and G. M. Hodgson, one of the signers of the "resolutions of protest" against Judge Humphries' anti-street speaking injunctions. They were released on their own recognizance. Each had a short time before been sentenced to pay a $100 fine for contempt. In addition Hoover had "forever been disbarred" by Judge Humphries and Hodgson was sent to jail for six months. Judge Smith said he would release all the prisoners who sought freedom on writs.

Judge Humphries was angry when he heard of the consultation of his fellow judges and the release of the prisoners. He denounced the other judges and declared the right of habeas corpus did not apply in contempt cases.

Judge Humphries' court late today was jammed to suffocation and the crowd interrupted and applauded frequently. Most of the prisoners when arraigned expressed anew their contempt for the judge and defied him. Glenn Hoover, attorney for the prisoners, was fined, disbarred and ordered removed to jail as soon as he began to speak.

Attorney Hulet M. Wells, Socialist candidate for Mayor at the last election, was disbarred and fined without being permitted to speak. Mrs. Humphries, secretary of a Socialist local, was dismissed with a small fine, the judge saying he did not wish to humiliate a member of his own Scotch clan.

Mrs. William McNally stood up with a baby in her arms. The judge said he did not wish to send a boy to jail.

"Never mind," the woman said, bitterly, "the baby is as guilty as I am." She was fined $100 and sent to jail with the baby and a little boy. The woman's husband, also, was fined $100 and sent to jail. Six women and two children are in the county jail tonight.

FAIR GROUNDS TO BE ILLUMINATED

Officers Arrange To Get Current From The West Box And Lumber Company.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETS

Some Opposition To Issuing Any Passes For The Approaching Fair.

A very important meeting of the Executive Committee of the Eastern Carolina Fair Association Company was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms last night. One of the most important matters brought up was that concerning the lighting of the Fair grounds at night during the week of the Fair.

For the past week Clyde Eby, president of the Fair Association Company, has been working on this important matter and has made arrangements to get the West Box and Lumber Company to furnish current for use in lighting the grounds and buildings. The members of the committee thoroughly discussed this plan and came to the conclusion that it was entirely satisfactory.

The grounds and buildings have already been wired and nothing now remains undone but the erection of a line from the grounds to the plant of the West Box and Lumber Company and this can be done in a few days. This action of the Executive Committee of the Fair definitely assures patrons that the grounds will be open at night both during the Eastern Carolina Fair and also during the week that the colored people have their Fair.

During the past few weeks J. Leon Williams, secretary of the Fair Association Company, has been conducting an advertising campaign and he gave a detailed and interesting account of the work which he has done.

Mr. Williams is a publicity agent of ability and if the approaching Fair is not properly advertised it will not be on account of the fact that he has not done all within his power to let the public know that it is to take place.

The question as to whether any passes to the Fair should be issued, came up for discussion. This same matter was thoroughly discussed last year and at that time there were many who were opposed to it. The same opposition again exists. There are many who are averse to issuing passes to anyone while others think just the opposite. There was considerable discussion, both pro and con, on this matter but no definite decision was reached. Another meeting will be held next Friday night and the matter will be definitely decided at that time.
