GIANTS HAVE BUT LITTLE CHANCE TO WIN SERIES

Have Won Only One Game Out Of Four—Defeated Yesterday By the Athletics, Score Was Six to Five—Game At Philadelphia

TEAMS JOURNEY BACK TO NEW YORK FOR FIFTH GAME
Matthewson Will Probably Pitch Today and McGraw's Men Put Forth All Reserve Strength—Score By Innings.

With only one game out of three to their credit the New York Giants yesterday afternoon failed to hold down the Athletic's heavy hitters and, as a result, they have but little chance left of winning the 1913 world's series. The game yesterday was played at Philadelphia and it was the general consensus of opinion that the Giants would take this game, the fourth in the series, and this would have put both teams on an equal footing. McGraw put Demaree in the box and during the first four innings he allowed the Mackmen to put four men across the plate. In the fifth inning Marquard was put in the box but the team had been partially demoralized and the Athletics got two more men safe at home.

Bender and Schang comprised the better for the Athletics and the Giants got eight hits off him. However, the Athletic fielders were right on the job and their playing was fast and snappy. Regardless of this the Giants made five runs during the game while the Athletics made six.

Today the game will be played in New York and there is every reason to believe that McGraw's men will rally and take this game. However, it is the general opinion of the local fans that the Giants have only about one chance in a hundred of winning the series. Three straight games would be required to do this and the members of the team have shown that they are not as strong by any means as the Athletics.

The following is the result of yesterday's game by innings:

Inning	New York	Philadelphia
First Inning	0	0
Second Inning	0	1
Third Inning	0	1
Fourth Inning	0	3
Fifth Inning	0	2
Sixth Inning	0	0
Seventh Inning	3	0
Eighth Inning	2	0

TOO MANY MARRIAGES PROVED HER UNDOING

Lenoir County Woman Deserted By Two Male Companions Decides That Life Is Not Worth The Candle And Attempts Suicide

Lenoir, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Chloe Crump who lives in the western part of town, attempted to take her own life yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock, when she placed a 38-calibre pistol against her temple and pulled the trigger. The bullet entered the right temple and came out near the eye, inflicting a most dangerous wound, and one that will likely prove fatal. A physician was immediately called and is doing everything possible to save the life of the unfortunate woman, but he states that she is in a most precarious condition. The attempted suicide was without warning to members of the family and several causes have been assigned for her desperate act at self-destruction. She has been married twice, and besides the elopement of her first husband, who is now living in the West somewhere, she has been having trouble lately with her second husband. Some time ago he left her, ostensibly to find work and with the promise that he would send for her, but he so far has failed to send for her, and he also carried their only child along with him. All these things are said to have preyed on her mind and are assigned as the cause for her attempted self-destruction. At times she is rational, and she expresses a desire to die because of her troubles. Mrs. Crump has for some time been living with her son, Haywood Jenkins, and she has always borne a splendid reputation, but has been unfortunate in her marriages.

CLAIMS FATHER-IN-LAW ALIENATED HUBBY'S LOVE

Pretty Young Philadelphia Matron Brings Suit Against Former Ambassador—Husband's Parents Decline to Recognize Her.

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—Charles Tower, former ambassador to Germany, and the wealthiest man in Philadelphia, is made defendant in a suit filed today by Mrs. Georgenna Tower, asking damages for alleged alienation of the affections of Charles Tower, Jr., the twenty-six-year-old son of the former diplomat. The suit comes as a climax to repeated reports current in this city that young Tower had been married while a student at Yale, and repeated denials by himself and his parents to the marriage. The suit was filed in court of common pleas by Harry D. Wescott, counsel for the younger Mrs. Tower, who is living with her mother, Mrs. George A. Burdick, at 115 South Twentieth street. Mr. Tower's home is with his parents at 1313 Locust street, but he is out of the city. The statement of claim is purely formal, alleging the marriage of the two young persons, and setting forth that through suasion and threats Mr. Tower has been induced to leave his wife, and to refuse to recognize her as such. Mrs. Tower was Georgenna Burdick more widely known among her friends by the name of "Dixie" because of her pronounced Southern accent. The marriage, according to Mrs. Tower, was performed at the home of her mother, 28 Whalley avenue, New Haven, Conn., June 7 1911. At that time Mr. Tower was a student at Yale, and Mrs. Tower consented, she says, to keep the marriage secret until he should be graduated, as there is a strict rule at Yale that students who marry while in the university must leave. Since then, she charges, both her husband and his parents have refused to recognize her as the wife of the young man. Mrs. Tower is twenty-eight years old, two years older than Mr. Tower, and is said to have been on the stage for a short while.

A feature of the morning business session was memorial service to the departed members. Mrs. Fannie Ransom Williams told the Daughters of origin of the Stars and Bars. Her address was replete with authentic historical facts setting forth the circumstances surrounding the creation of the accepted flag of the Confederacy and that the honor belonged to the late Maj. Orren Randolph Smith, of Henderson.

Mrs. J. A. Fore addressed the Daughters on the last full meeting of the Confederate Cabinet, holding that this honor belonged to Charlotte. Other addresses were made by Miss Carrie Leazer and Mrs. R. H. Davis. A facsimile of the original Stars and Bars was presented by Mrs. Gordon Finger, of Charlotte, to the Children's Chapter. From 5 to 6 the Daughters were tendered a brilliant reception by Mrs. Thad W. Thrash. The home was beautiful in its floral decorations. Mrs. Thrash carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums, the gift of Secretary of Navy and Mrs. Daniels. EMPTIED "BOOZE" INTO THE RIVER

One Thousand Bottles Of Beer Mingle With Waters Of The Neuse.

WHISKEY IS ALSO DESTROYED

Spiritus Frumenti Was Taken From The Yacht Gracee.

One thousand bottles of beer and twenty-five gallons of whiskey were yesterday afternoon emptied into the waters of Neuse river by Sheriff R. B. Lane, assisted by Jailor Bayliss. With such a large quantity of intoxicants floating around in the waters of the majestic Neuse there is little wonder that remarkable stories about "stewed" fish and "pickled" oysters were being told around the streets last night.

This whiskey and beer was taken from the yacht Gracee several weeks ago when George Marshall, a Gloucester county, Virginia, boatman came into port loaded to the gunwale with the spiritus frumenti. Marshall was put under a bond of fifty dollars to make his appearance at the term of Superior Court just passed to answer to a charge of violating the State laws by having more than a prescribed quantity of whiskey and beer in his possession. Shortly after putting up the bond, Marshall and his companions set sail for some unknown port. It was generally believed that he would not show up to stand trial and this belief was borne out when he failed to answer when his case was called.

It is probably well that the owner and proprietor of the yacht Gracee which was nothing less than a floating bar room, did not show his face in New Bern this week. Chief of Police Lupton had received word from the Virginia authorities that Marshall his father and his son, the three men comprising the crew of the yacht, were wanted there for a felony and a warrant would have been served on them as soon as they had landed in the city. There is not the least doubt but that George Marshall would have been found guilty of the charge against him here and would have either been heavily fined or sent to jail for several months. In either case the Virginia warrant would have been served at the first opportunity and the prisoner taken back to answer to charges against him in that State.

Marshall and his attorneys raised an awful howl when Mayor Bangert stated that he would hold the whiskey and beer. However, this did not the least good and the wet goods were placed in safe keeping at the jail and the entire consignment remained there until yesterday when Judge Whedbee ordered it destroyed. The whiskey and beer was taken into one of the rooms in the jail and in the presence of several witnesses was emptied into the sewer. More than two hours was required for this task, but the last bottle was finally opened and as its contents gurgled merrily down the drain pipe, those in charge of the work breathed a sigh of relief.

CO-OPERATIVE SUPPLY COMPANY HAS UNIQUE SYSTEM.

The Co-operative Supply Company (the consumer's store) has put on a unique scheme which will be of benefit to their customer and which will also do away with much inconvenience in keeping track of purchases made. Card of the value of $5.25 and of $1.05 have been gotten out by the company. These are placed in the hands of customers at a reduction of five per cent, and are then used by them in making purchases. The idea is a unique one and bids fair to be very satisfactory.
