DRINK TO HER.

Drink to her who long
Hath waked the poet's sigh,
The girl who gave to song
What gold could never buy.
Oh! woman's heart was made
For minstrel hands alone;
By other fingers play'd,
It yields not half the tone.
Then here's to her who long
Hath waked the poet's sigh,
The girl who gave to song
What gold could never buy.

BEAUTIFUL WEDDING.

Popular Young Couple Joined In Wedlock.

Never in the history of New Bern, has a more elaborate home wedding taken place, than on Wednesday evening at nine o'clock, when Miss Lisette Bell Hanff, wedded Mr. Thurlow Allen Kearns, of High Point, at the home of her aunt, Miss Anna L. Pearce, only the bridal party, relatives and a few friends being present to witness the ceremony which was most impressively performed by the Rev. Euclid McWhorter of the Centenary Methodist Church.

Mrs. Jane Meadows, presiding at the Piano, assisted by Miss Jessie Wyatt, violinist, rendered with rare expression, previous to the entrance of the bridal party "Loves Old Sweet Song," after which she gave the processional to the strains of the well-known Mendelssohn's Wedding March. As a recessional she played Lohengrin's Wedding March.

The West parlor was in white and green, the southern smilax running along the walls, over doorways and windows.

The home, throughout, was beautifully decorated in a profusion of southern smilax, bamboo, potted plants, hyacinths, narcissi and carantions, with hundreds of candle lights.

The ceremony was performed in the West parlor, which was a perfect bower of carnations, ferns, hyacinths, narcissi, southern smilax and bamboo. The improvised altar was beautiful with its background of white lillies, narcissi and hyacinths, the many candle lights adding to the enchantment of the scene.

The order of approach was very effective, the two groomsmen, Mr. Robert L. Amos and Mr. P. Ward Eshelman, both of High Point, entering from an alcove in the south of the room and crossing in the centre just in front of the altar, were followed by Mrs. Owen G. Dunn, the dame of honor, handsomely gowned in white charmeuse, trimmed in duchess lace and pearls, and Miss Leonora Greenabaum, in maize satin, draped in chiffon with pearl ornaments. Next came the groomsmen, Mr. Henry Kearns, a brother of the groom and Mr. Mitchell Rountree, who were followed by Miss Faith Willis, of High Point in white crepe meteor, lace and pearl trimmings, and Miss Eula Cole in white crepe de chene trimmed in real lace.

The bridesmaids carried exquisite spray bouquets of Killarney roses and ferns, tied with streamers of pink chiffon.

The bride entered with her sister, Miss Anna Hanff, maid of honor, from the east doorway, the bridal party having formed where they were joined by the groom and best man, his brother, James Kearns of High Point who acted as best man, an isle leading to the altar. The maid of honor wore a most exquisite gown of blue crepe meteor and chantilly lace, ermine trimmed.

The bride was most gorgeously gowned in ivory satin with a court train, with a bodice and trimmings of Rose Point lace, her veil of French tulle effectively caught with the bride's flowers, orange blossoms, and carrying a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lillies of the valley. Her only ornament being the gift of the groom, a handsome brooch of amethyst and pearls.

Miss Pearce, was attired in black crepe de chene, hand embroidered, with trimmings of real lace.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the bride and groom were showered with the sweetest of blessings from all present.

Immediately following which a reception was held, the hours of the reception being 9:30 to 11, during which time the home, so artistic in its decorations was thronged with the coming and going of the many, many friends of the bride, and the Misses Pearce and Hanff.

The little Misses Laura Roberts and Elizabeth Ashford, in their most endearing way received the cards at the door, and they were indeed a picture in their lingerie dresses and pink ribbons.

Mrs. James Howard, attired in black crepe de chene with gold lace trimmings, and Mrs. L. G. Daniels, in white lace over satin, welcomed the guests in the reception hall, in their most genial way. Mrs. Thomas P. Williams in white charmeuse and lace, ushering the guests, into the parlor, where they were received by the bridal party, and then ushered into the dining room, which presented to the guests a picture that will linger ever in the minds of those present, so beautiful and true to nature was the running of the many vines, of bamboo and southern smilax over the windows and doorways of the rooms. The vines of smilax entwined with white roses, carnations and hyacinths were suspended from the corners of the room to the chandelier above the artistic wedding bell of hyacinths, tulle and ferns, which hung over the old mahogany table and from which vines trailed to the corners of the table at the termination of which were large butterflies of tulle. The many candle lights in their crystal and silver stands decorated with sprays of lillies of the valley and hyacinths, tied with tulle adding the finishing touches to the decorations of this room. A most delicious ice course, in which was carried out the color scheme of white and green, with white and green mints, was served by Miss Mollie Heath, assisted by Misses Myrtle Disosway, Charlotte Howard, Bessie Hollister, Hattie Bell, Sarah Richardson, Mrs. Dan Jones and Mrs. Carrie Cole, all of whom were handsomely and becomingly gowned.

The guests on leaving the dining room, and entering the punch garden were again mystified at the skillful decorations, which scene presented a work of art in woodland effect, with many lights shining from without the ceiling of bamboo and numerous Japanese lanterns of varied colors lighting the way of the guests to the punch bowl, which was presided over by Mrs. T. D. Warren in rose colored charmeuse, and Mrs. Dave Congdon in yellow satin trimmed in duchess lace, Miss Bettie Bell, assisting, who was attired in red messaline, trimmed in marabou.

The gift room in a color scheme of pink and white, was no less artistically decorated, but the numerous and handsome gifts held the attention of the guests, who were received and entertained by Mrs. John Suter in white satin, Mrs. J. M. Spencer in black crepe de chene and lace; Miss Hatchie Harrison in a lace robe over satin; Miss Fannie Smallwood in black lace; Mrs. Charles Hall in white lace over satin and Miss Etta Nunn in pink crepe de chene.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. John F. Hanff, and is one of New Bern's most attractive young ladies. Miss Hanff has been an ardent worker in the Centenary Methodist Church, and she will be missed by all.

The groom is a young man of sterling qualities and is well known among High Point's most successful business men, the popularity of the couple being attested by the large number of useful and handsome gifts.

The happy couple left on the midnight train for points North, after which they will be at home in High Point.

The bride's going away gown was a tailored suit of blue chiffon broadcloth, with blouse of blue chiffon, with a jaunty hat of blue velvet trimmed in fur.

BRIDGE PARTY.

In Honor Of Miss Lucy Jarman.

Mrs. W. H. Henderson, delightfully entertained at Bridge last evening in honor of her guest Miss Lucy Jarman at her home on Broad street, which was prettily decorated in pink carnations and ferns. The color scheme of the evening being pink and white.

After a spirited number of games, a delicious ice course was served, which was also suggestive of the color scheme. Those invited to enjoy the hospitality of Mrs. Henderson were: Misses Mannie Baxter, Sarah Richardson, Miss Paschal of Wilson, Myrtle Disosway, Mary Nixon, Mesdames J. S. Cox, Geo. Stratton, Mrs. Thomas Perry, Messres. O. W. Lane, S. B. Whitehurst, Geo. Stratton, Thomas Perry, Hugh Taylor, Ray Taylor, Joe Anderson Hugh Tolson and Dr. Ernest Dunn

BEAUTIFUL RECEPTION.

Given Yesterday By Mrs. T. A. Uzzell.

A beautiful reception was given by Mrs. T. A. Uzzell yesterday afternoon in honor of her guest, Mrs. Rockwell Powell Stephens of Georgia, sister of the hostess.

The whole lower floor was most artistically decorated. Southern smilax trailed gracefully over windows and doors, the same vine with its cluster of dark berries festooned the chandeliers, tables and mantles.

In the parlor the color scheme was white and green, in the dining room pink and white, and in the punch room red and white; Master Uzzell received the cards at the door.

The guests were welcomed in the hall by Miss Mary Oliver attired in an embroidered voile over silk, and Mrs. Richard Duffy in hand embroidered green chiffon over satin.

Receiving in the Parlor were Mrs. T. A. Uzzell, in rose crepe meteor with a tunic of silver lace, Mrs. Rockwell Powell Stephens, in white satin, pearl ornaments, and Mrs. C. L. Abernethy of Beaufort, in pearl chiffon over green satin.

Miss Maragret Bryan, in black lace, and Mrs. Tom Roberts, in Nile crepe de chene, hand embroidered, invited the guests in the dining room where a most delicious ice course was served by Mrs. K. K. Chapman, in white satin, Mrs. Dave Congdon in white lace over satin, Mrs. S. L. Dill in black chiffon over American beauty satin with jet trimmings, Mrs. D. M. Roberts, Jr., in maize crepe de chene, Mrs. H. B. Craven in blue crepe meteor, and Mrs. W. L. Hand in maize crepe meteor with pearl trimmings, showed the way to the library. Punch was served by Mrs. Schollenberger in black crepe de chene, and Mrs. C. L. Ives in black lace over satin, assisted by Miss Mary Uzzell in white crepe de chene, trimmed in point lace. The music rendered during the afternoon was most attractive.

CHILDREN HATE OIL, CALOMEL AND PILLS.

"California Syrup of Figs" best for Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels—Tastes Delicious.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

One can't judge the dinner by the dinner bell.
