QUAKER QUIPS

Shaking dice for the drinks is a rattling of dry bones.

It's a good plan to weigh your words if you expect them to carry any weight.

You can sometimes make hay while the sun shines by cutting a grass widow.

If the gas companies can't make both ends meet, it's the fault of the meters.

The telephone is a great boon. It enables many a small man to talk mighty big.

The devil may have his faults, but he never puts off till tomorrow what he can do today.

Many a star has been eclipsed in the theatrical firmament that the astronomers wot not of.

Mrs. Gnaggs—Mr. Wigwag complimented me upon my even temper.
Mr. Gnaggs—That's odd!

The photographers wouldn't make so much money if the world wasn't so full of people who are perfectly satisfied with themselves.

Blobbs—Bjones is an awful scrapper. He reminds me of a plugged dime.
Bjones—In what way?
Blobbs—You can't pass him without raising a row.

Mrs. Buggins—When I suspect the dog catchers are coming around I always lock Fido up.
Mr. Buggins—On the principle, I suppose, that an ounce of prevention is worth a dog in the pound.—Philadelphia Record.

TOLD BY THE HANDS

When an oath is taken it is done by raising the right hand or laying it upon a bible.

Shaking hands when greeting was originally an evidence that each person was unarmed.

When a man is not telling the truth he is apt to clench his hands, as few men can lie with their hands open.

A man who holds his thumb tightly within his hand has weak will power. Strong willed persons hold their thumbs outside when shutting their hands.

When a man kisses the hands of a woman he expresses his submission. This is also the idea when kissing the hands of kings. By this act their superiority is acknowledged.

Among savage tribes when a man holds up his hands it is a sign of peace, an evidence that he is unarmed or does not intend to use weapons. An outlaw says "Hold up your hands!" meaning thereby to make his victim powerless to resist attack.

TO MUSE UPON

It's easy for a fool to fool himself.

Girls with the most cheek do the least blushing.

Nothing is the thing women cry over and men fuss about.

Beware of a girl who is a peach; peaches have hearts of stone.

Blessed is the man who doesn't expect too much from his friends.

It is easier for a country minister to earn his salary than it is to get it.

There are things that money won't buy—because nobody will have them.

When you feel in a scrappy mood don't try to take a fall out of an airship.

Small vices are sometimes useful in leading people off the trail of big ones.

THOUGHTS TO LIVE UP TO

It is a great thing in times of trial to have merged in some respects our private interests in the greater interests of the common life.—Horsfall.

Reflect upon your present blessings, of which every man has many; not on your past misfortunes, of which all men have some.—Charles Dickens.

We are never more like God than when we are doing good.—Calvin.

I am glad to think I am not bound to make the world go round; but only to discover, and to do, with cheerful heart the work that God appoints.—Jean Ingelow.

DEFINED

Chaperon—Between two fires.

Wife—One who always believes the worst.

Lovers' Eyes—Magnifying glasses; husbands' eyes—a microscope.

Bob—A sound made by women, babies, women, actors and drunken men, etc. etc.

The KITCHEN CABINET

THE man who has learned to do something better than any one else, has learned to do a common thing in an uncommon manner, is the man who has power and influence that no adverse circumstances can take from him.

TEMPTING HOT WEATHER DISHES

When arranging for meals, it is wise to cook enough vegetables for two days, as it takes very little longer to prepare and cook them.

Tomatoes are so wholesome and are such well-liked vegetables that a variety of ways in serving is always welcome.

Tomatoes Stuffed With Nuts—Scald, peel, core and scoop out the tomatoes, and fill them with finely chopped pecan meats and cold cooked green peas. When ready to serve, heap a tablespoonful of mayonnaise on each and serve on lettuce leaves for a supper dish. This is a dish high in food value.

Bean Salad—Drain a can of beans which comes with tomato sauce free from the sauce. Peel tomatoes, cut in halves, take out the seeds and fill each with beans, heaping them up. Place each half on lettuce and pour over a highly seasoned French dressing.

Banana Salad—Slice very ripe bananas over lettuce leaves, allowing one large banana for each person. Chill and serve with French dressing at serving time.

Nova Scotia Eggs—Prepare rounds of toast, and when well buttered, cover with codfish in a white sauce, the fish being soaked over night and shredded; then add to the white sauce. After placing the toast, put a poached egg on each and serve on a platter garnished with parsley.

Cold fruit soups are palatable to some, but fresh fruit is much easier to prepare and is always well liked.

Fresh sorrel shredded with lettuce and cabbage makes a most tasty salad, served with French dressing.

Nellie Maxwell

Amateur Gardener.
"You seem to display more respect for Wombat than you had."
"Yes; I used to think he was a bone-head, but his green corn is a foot higher than mine."

Its Perils.
"The worship of the sun must be a dangerous religion."
"In what way?"
"Doesn't it involve a number of heat prostrations?"

Seize on Opportunity.
There is no day too poor to bring us an opportunity, and we are never so rich that we can afford to spurn what the day brings. Opportunities for character always bloom along the pathway of our duty and make it fragrant even when it is thorny.—Samuel J. Barrows.

Modern Society Novel.
Somebody has discovered that on 12 pages of a modern society novel the characters indulge in strong drink. This, however, gives the bibulous baroness and the highball hero ample time to turn over a new leaf.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Where the Credit Belongs.
"I don't attach much importance," said Uncle Eben, "to talk about a man's being good to his family. Do credit generally belongs mo' to his family dan it do to him."

Words and Reason.
Men suppose that their reason has command over their words; still it happens that words in return, exercise authority on reason.—Francis Bacon.

Word to Husbands.
The man who praises his wife cheapens her, and he who criticizes her cheapens himself.—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

A Princess can get no romantic over a love affair that when she gets a letter from a mutt she can imagine the tobacco juice stains are tears.

A woman can't see why a man gets so worked up that he wants to kill the empire. And a man can't see why a woman hawls when she goes to the theater.—Chicago Journal.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

Banking people are protesting against the custom of washing money. It makes the detection of counterfeiters difficult.

The Barbadoes are said to be free from malaria because the tiny fish known as "Millions" devour the mosquito larvae.

The indications are that the Chinese will lead the world with their steam-plans, first in the course of a very few years.

The highest inland building is the new Chamber of Commerce at St. Louis, Mo. The height above the street level is 435 feet.

Don't lay your paper aside until you have looked over the "Classified."

Often it's as important as your morning mail.

A fortune may stare up at you from these columns any day.
