

The Constitutionals To Send Delegates To The Mediation

Such Are The Intimations Coming From El Paso—The Issue Yesterday was Clearly Drawn Between American Government And The Mediators

(Special to the Journal) The mediators at 3:30 p. m. today gave out the entire correspondence they have had with General Carranza and his representatives.

Reports from Saltillo, that General Carranza's answer to the last communication of the mediators had been transmitted to Niagara Falls aroused keen expectancy among members of the mediation conference today.

Intimations have come from El Paso that the constitutional answer will refuse the declaration of an armistice, in that the subject will be ignored, but that the note, will announce the intention of the constitutionalists to send delegates here to discuss the Mexican problem, leaving indefinite the nature of the instructions given to the delegates.

What the mediators would say to such a proposition is not difficult to conjecture, for they have taken a stand that unless an armistice is declared there will be no admission for the constitutionalist delegates.

The issue today is clearly drawn between the American government and the mediators. The American government is asking that an out and out constitutionalist be chosen for president, but a man broad enough to respect the rights of the other political factions, and in objecting to having Huerta literally appoint his successor by permitting him to name as foreign minister the man who would be chosen for succession as provisional president.

The American government is insistent that the triumph of the revolution should be recognized. The alternative, it believes would be a constitutionalist march on Mexico City.

Neither General Carranza nor General Villa is desirous of being named by the United States for provisional president nor is any of the prominent military chiefs.

No names have been exchanged, but if the constitutionalist representatives arrive soon the Americans feel confident rapid progress toward an agreement on the personnel of the new government would be made.

Railroad To Fair Grounds Assured

Committee Appointed To Sell Stock For It's Construction Are Meeting With Great Success Less Than Three Thousand Dollars Now Needed

The committee of directors from the Eastern Carolina Fair Association, who were several days ago appointed to go out among the business men and citizens of the city and solicit subscriptions for stock in the company, the proceeds from which will be used in the construction of a car line from a point near the former West Lumber and Box Company's plant to the Fair grounds, are meeting with much success in their work.

So far fifty-three hundred dollars have been subscribed by the business men of the city. Eight thousand dollars are needed for this work and it is absolutely necessary to secure the remaining twenty-seven hundred before the work of construction on the new line can begin.

Purchasers of stock in the Fair Company to be used in constructing this new line, over which the Norfolk Southern Railway Company is to operate and broad control of the industries of the nation as the Interstate Commerce Commission has over the railroads.

The President's position was stated to Louis Brandeis, of Boston, Senator Hollis and Representative Stevens. As the Covington measure will be amended in the Senate accordance with the President's desires, it will provide that the Interstate Trade Commission have power to initiate court proceedings against offending corporations, instead of waiting upon the Department of Justice. Unfair practices also will be more clearly defined, and means of fighting it in the courts will be made easier.

MISS BELLE WYATT WILLARD BECOMES MRS. ROOSEVELT

Brilliant Marriage Yesterday In Madrid.

KERMIT ROOSEVELT GROOM. The Colonel Was On Hand To Witness The Impressive Ceremony.

(Special to the Journal.) MADRID, June 11.—In the presence of a brilliant throng with the uniforms of diplomatists and army and navy officers forming an attractive contrast with the elaborate gowns and jewels of the women, Miss Belle Wyatt Willard, daughter of Mr. Joseph E. Willard, the American Ambassador to Spain, and Mrs. Willard, today became the wife of Kermit Roosevelt by a religious ceremony at the chapel of the British Embassy.

Madrid was much interested in today's ceremonies and crowds thronged the streets through which the carriages with the bridal party passed. Colonel Roosevelt, father of the bridegroom, was a center of interest. The favor which King Alfonso and Queen Victoria have showered so liberally on the young couple was mirrored apparently in the sentiments of the multitude.

There was activity about the American Embassy at an early hour today. The hour of noon approached automobiles and gala carriages drew up at the Ambassador's house. A dense mass of people thronged the nearby streets when the occupants of the carriages took their places.

Prominent in the procession at the church door was the highly decorated court equipage which brought the dignity which served as the representative of the Spanish Monarchs at the wedding. The chapel, the scene of the wedding is in a pavilion which is only one of several buildings in the extensive embassy grounds.

Promptly on the stroke of high noon the bride entered the chapel leaning on the arm of her father. She wore a dress of ivory satin and tulle. There was a court train of considerable length. Her veil was of tulle and lace and her orange blossoms were also interwoven with rare lace.

Following her came the maid of honor, Miss Mary Elizabeth Willard, the sister of the bride. She wore white satin with a tunic of exquisite pale blue tulle.

The bridesmaids were clad in dresses of white tulle, with tunics. They were Her Serene Highness, the Princess of Thurn and Taxis, Miss Katherine Page, daughter of Walter Hines Page, American Ambassador in London; Made-moiselle Gilone de Veneurs de Tillieres and Miss Virginia Christian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew H. Christian, of Richmond, Va. They carried bouquets of yellow orchids and wore lace with touches of yellow and yellow ribbons tied under the chin.

Many remarked the beauty of the bride. She is pretty, with a piquant charm of feature. Her clear blond complexion was heightened a trifle by the excitement of the occasion, and she smiled slightly as she saw her tall bridegroom approaching to meet her at the altar. Mr. Roosevelt was dressed in conventional garb.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel N. Watson, pastor of the American protestant Episcopal Church in Paris, officiated. He was assisted by the Rev. Herbert Brown, chaplain of the British Embassy in Madrid.

The full service of the Protestant Episcopal Church was used. Both parties made their replies to the questions of the clergyman in a clear, firm voice, which could be heard in every part of the room.

At the close of the ceremony the bride and bridegroom walked slowly down the aisle, followed by the members of the bridal party. All took carriages and automobiles for the Willard home. There was a scene of congratulation. The father of the bridegroom was a center of attraction almost as great as the newly married couple.

An elaborate wedding breakfast was served. More than a thousand guests attended the reception. Among those present was almost everybody of official importance in the life of the Spanish capital. There were members of the diplomatic corps representing every nation, a large contingent of Spanish grandees and their wives, and many prominent Americans who had come to

THE MOTORCYCLE AGAIN THE CAUSE OF AN ACCIDENT

Two Men Perhaps Fatally Injured Yesterday.

EDWARD BOWDEN THE DRIVER Both He And Travelling Salesman Were Horribly Mangled. Machine Struck Tree

Travelling at a speed estimated at between thirty and forty miles an hour, a motorcycle driven by Edward Bowden and on the rear seat of which was George Cabell of Danville, Va., a representative of the Liggett Myers Tobacco Company, late yesterday afternoon crashed into a tree on East Front street between Change and Union streets, injuring its occupants so badly that but little hope is entertained for the recovery of either.

Mr. Bowden, who owns and conducts the Hygeia cafe on Middle street had taken his machine out for a spin and had invited Cabell to accompany him. They had ridden around several streets and at last went down on East Front street where the bitulithic pavement affords an excellent speedway. There, according to the version of several persons who witnessed the accident, Mr. Bowden speeded up the motor and was covering the ground at a rapid rate.

The Accident

Just at the corner of Change street, East Front street takes a decided curve and only a few months ago Forrest Lee of Bridgeton lost control of his motorcycle at that point and was dashed to death against a tree. Upon reaching that point Mr. Bowden either lost control of the machine or the handlebars failed to properly respond to his effort to turn and the machine and its occupants were dashed against a large tree. Travelling with such force the men's bodies must have struck the tree a frightful blow, and in fact their injuries prove this to have been the case.

Both were knocked unconscious by the impact and persons who rushed to their rescue thought that both had been killed outright. News of the accident spread quickly and in less than five minutes a number of physicians and a crowd of several hundred spectators were on the scene. It was at once seen that both victims were badly hurt and every effort was made to get them to Fairview hospital as quickly as possible.

Mr. Bowden's Injuries.

Mr. Bowden was the first one taken to the hospital. There he was placed on an operating table and examination of his injuries made. It was found that his jaw was broken in three places. That his collar bone was broken, that his right leg was injured and that the top part of his head was badly hurt. However, it is not believed that there is any concussion of the brain and the attending physicians say that they hold out some hope for his recovery unless complications set in.

The Other Victim

So badly injured was Mr. Cabell, who was riding on the rear seat of the automobile, that some little time elapsed before he reached the hospital. Upon examination it was found that his right leg was broken, his head seriously injured, and in fact that he was very badly hurt. While there is a possibility that he will survive, he stands but little chance of recovery. However, at a late hour last night he was alive.

Fair Warning

Time and again have motorcycle riders been warned against attempting to make that particular turn on East Front street for it has been demonstrated that the wheels of a light machine will not "bite" into the bitulithic pavement when going at a rapid speed and there is always danger of an accident. This is the second serious accident to occur at that point but it will by no means be the last if motorists continue to disregard all warnings.

Madrid especially for the wedding. An orchestra played in a sideroom and there was dancing for the younger folks.

It is understood here that Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt will leave soon for Sao Paulo, Brazil, where Mr. Roosevelt for some time has been engaged in engineering. He left his business there to accompany the Roosevelt-Roaden exploring expedition through the wilds of the interior of South America.

Social Session For First Baptists

WAS HELD LAST EVENING ON THE LAWN—AN ENJOYABLE EVENT

Just after the regular prayer service held last evening at the First Baptist church on Middle street, the congregation adjourned to the lawn where a most social session which was greatly enjoyed by everyone present was held. An interesting talk was made by S. M. Brinson and Rev. L. B. Padgett, who applying the pulpit at the church just at this time, made a number of interesting remarks. Refreshments were served and the occasion proved to be thoroughly enjoyed by every way.
