

STRONG LETTER FAVORING THE STOCK LAW.

From a Farmer Who Once Opposed It—City and Country People Should Both Read It.

N. F. D., Maysville, N. C. July 22, '14
Editor New Bern Journal—

It has been a long time since I have seen any communications in your paper regarding the Stock Law. These letters have been very interesting to me, especially those written by Mr. Daniel Lane of Bellair in your county. I was formerly opposed to the Stock Law, but the more I read about and study the question, the more convinced I am that it is to the interest of we farmers and the public generally to have a Stock Law. I know the average politician says he is opposed to it, because he knows of the ignorance of some of our people, and the vote of the ignorant man counts as much for him as the vote of the intelligent man, and he can generally arrange to control the ignorant voter.

Suppose your people in the city of New Bern allowed cattle and hogs to roam over your streets. What a filthy town you would have. Our little villages and country towns ought to be as clean and as sanitary as the bigger towns. We are human and appreciate cleanliness and good health as much as others do. Our hogs are being killed on the public roads by the automobiles. Some of our best people are automobile owners and are entitled to the right of way on the public roads. The hogs and cattle have no right to be laying around and rooting up our public roads. The vicious cattle are liable to run over our children and often endanger their lives while attending the country schools. It is filthy and indecent to allow the animals to run at large. You are liable to run over an old cow lying in the public roads at night while returning from church with your wife and children in the buggy or automobile and kill or injure your family.

The amount we have annually to pay the U. S. Steel Corporation for wire fence and staples, to say nothing of the valuable wood furnished for pastures to keep cattle and hogs from destroying our crops is more than the value of the hogs and ticky cattle. Look at the car loads of wire our merchants are forced to buy for us, timber is too valuable for rails any more. Wire costs more than the ticky cattle and hogs are worth.

Do you consider, the doctors bill we have to pay for eating such unwholesome food and producing flies and filth, typhoid fever and hookworm by allowing these animals to roam freely in our village streets. Do you know that the law prohibits the sale of meat from the tick infested districts to the cleaner districts. It is true we can sell our ticky beef in New Bern, but we cannot sell it in Raleigh, Greensboro, Charlotte, Asheville, Norfolk, Richmond, or any of the cities in the Stock Law territory, and we have seen some suggestions that the Woman's Club of New Bern might build up a sentiment which would cut the sale of it out of that city. Do you know there is cannot buy any blooded stock and breed them with any success in our ticky woods. Do you know hog cholera is more prevalent in our territory. Do you know there is a big profit in cattle and hogs raised and cared for in enclosed pastures. Do you know we send lots of money from our community to pay for milk, butter, lard and meats that we ought to produce here and save that money at home. Do you know in the Stock Law districts our farmers are more prosperous and their families more healthy, lands are higher and the rural life is happier. If you don't know these things, get out among the folks and inform yourselves. These conditions certainly exist.

TIN ROOFS ARE FIREPROOF

Target and Arrow

Firemen always consider safe vantage points for fighting a nearby fire. With a good tin roof over your head you need not fear flying sparks from any cause.

They also give protection from lightning and all attacks of the weather.

If made of Target and Arrow tin they commonly outlast the buildings they cover.

We recommend this 50-year old, handmade tin because we know it lasts.

Let us tell you more about good roofs if you are interested.
