 need to postoffice box in Antonio, a box to signing herself "Mrs. ones" had ordered her from Atlanta a few his was the first time had been able to find writing or photograph who represented her- mes. This led more conclusively to the theory that Mrs. Innes, Mrs. M. M. Hardman and Margaret Mims were one and the same person.

 Mrs. Innes in Portland refuses to discuss this angle of the mystery. She has said that she was in Atlanta with Innes and that she went to San Antonio with him, but she has not admitted or denied that she was the woman who ordered mail for herself and Victor Innes forwarded from Atlanta to Box 1278 in San Antonio, where Eloise sent the telegram. Admission of this would virtually establish her identity as the mysterious "Margaret Mims" and "Mary Hardman", the so-called aunt of Innes, the detectives assert.
 Detective W. F. Harper has eliminated Professor LaVoux, the clairvoyant and fortune-teller who was in Atlanta in May, from all connection with the disappearance mystery. He was thought by Mrs. J. W. Nelms, mother of the sisters, to be Innes himself, but LaVoux's photograph was shown to J. W. Kreuger, a Federal employee, who worked at one time with Innes, and Kreuger declared that it was not the picture of Innes.
 Attorney Reuben Arnold, who has been advising Mrs. Nelms in the search for her girls, will leave within a few days on his vacation, which he will spend in New York State.

"MADE WHITE LICKER" MARSHALS GOT HIM

OLD CHARLIE MILLS BEHIND BARS BECAUSE OFFICERS GOT "DROP ON HIM."

WINCHESTER, Va., July 31.—Old Charlie Mills, one of the most notorious moonshiners who ever "biled" corn in West Virginia and made white "licker," was captured late last night near his home on Camp Creek, Mercer county, and is now in the county jail at Princeton.

For years United States marshals and deputies have been after Mills. They found his stills in the wilds of Mercer only a few months ago and destroyed them, but the old man always made his escape. He declared that he would die with his boots on and that no man would ever get the "drop on him". But they did get the "drop on him", and it took United States Deputy Revenue Officers J. H. Mitchell and Henry Lemon to make old Mills throw up his hands.
 For the past several days Deputy Mitchell and Lemon scoured the hills to land Mills. Their pursuit proved fruitful last night when they encountered the moonshiner. They introduced themselves with four guns pointed at old Mills' head. He reached for his gun when he saw the officers but it was too late.

They fastened his feet and arms, put him on a horse and the trio rode through the hills all night to Princeton jail, where they locked up old Mills, the man who had for years violated Uncle Sam's laws and who declared that no man could take him alive.

Mills will be taken from the Princeton jail this week to Bluefield, where he will be given a preliminary hearing before United States commissioner.

MRS. WAKEFIELD AGAIN ENDS BATTLE FOR LIFE

SECOND TRIAL FOR HUSBAND'S MURDER CLOSES WITH LAWYER'S PLEA.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 31.—Arguments were finished today in the second trial of Mrs. Bessie Wakefield for the murder of her husband. Judge Reed will charge tomorrow and give the case to the jury.

State-Attorney Alling, in his summing up, charged Mrs. Wakefield with being chiefly responsible for the crime. Her attorney appealed to the sympathy of the jury very strongly. Mrs. Wakefield sat through their arguments weeping and at references to her children could not control herself.

Attorneys Devine closed with this plea

Dr. J. O. BAXTER'S OPTOMETRIST

"Send this girl back to her children. She has been away from them long enough."
 The murder, for which James Flew was executed, was done June 22, 1913. Flew confessed. Mrs. Wakefield was found guilty in the first degree, but appealed to the Supreme Court, which granted her a new trial have been financed by Mrs. William J. Blenkinsderfer of Stamford.

LOW TEMPERATURE PREVAILS IN THIS SECTION.

No overcoats have been in evidence in New Bern for the past two days, but that is no reason why they have not been needed. The temperature took a sudden drop Wednesday night and since that time, the temperature has been low enough, especially at night, to cause some inconvenience. This condition is by no means local but prevails all over this and adjoining States.

FOR RENT—No. 5 New street, a desirable residence, furnace heated, electric lights and gas, good location. Apply to Mrs. Jno. Dunn, Phone 232, 100 Broad street.

CAVANAUGH SUICIDED

Belief Now Paramount in Duplin County That he Drowns Himself.

KINSTON, N. C., July 31.—A report from Beulaville today says the belief is now paramount there that Lawrence Cavanaugh, whose body was found in a mill pond a few weeks ago, was a suicide. When Cavanaugh's cap was found floating on the waters of the pond, leading to the recovery of the corpse, the neighborhood was rife with suspicions of murder. The dead youth had been in an altercation with other young men at Pink Hill a few days before, and news came to the solicitor here which almost precipitated the prosecution of several, including sons of one or two of Duplin county's most prominent families. It is learned now that relatives of Cavanaugh recall that he was downcast because his parents had refused their sanction of his marriage to a girl in the neighborhood. Cavanaugh contributed to the family's upkeep, and the withdrawal of his support was protested, the report states.

E. D. Kyle, Traffic Manager of the Norfolk Southern Railway Company, was a visitor to New Bern yesterday.
