

TWO GREENVILLE MEN IN SHOOTING AFFRAY

J. M. REUSS USES WINCHESTER RIFLE WITH DEADLY EFFECT.

GREENVILLE, Sept. 6.—Yesterday afternoon about four thirty o'clock a shooting affray took place in front of the bakery of Mr. J. E. Williams between Third and Fourth streets when his baker, Mr. J. M. Reuss shot down Mr. Otis H. Smith with a Winchester rifle, the ball entering the body about an inch below the heart and lodging at some point that the physicians are unable to locate as yet, and though the wound is of a serious nature it is thought by the attending physicians that Mr. Smith has a fair chance for recovery.

When visited at the county jail by a reporter this morning and asked the cause of the shooting Mr. Reuss said that yesterday morning Mr. Smith brought a bottle of whiskey to the bakery and asked for it to be left there for him. In a short while he began to bring his friends in to treat them, and Mr. Reuss having his work to do and being annoyed by the constant visits of Mr. Smith and his friends asked Mr. Smith to take the bottle out as the callers interfered with his work. Mr. Smith became offended at the remark and cursed Mr. Reuss quite severely, and when leaving the door told him he would get him. Knowing the reputation Mr. Smith had as a dangerous man, Mr. Reuss said he went to his room and got his rifle, and on his return he met an officer, and asked him for protection against Mr. Smith, and then returned to the bakery to his duties. He then decided to take the rifle into Mr. Williams store, and as he stepped from the bakery door he spied Mr. Smith approaching with something in his hand and crying out "I'll get you." And it was then he shot to protect himself.

Immediately after the shot was fired Mr. Reuss walked to the office of the sheriff and surrendered telling the officers what he had done.

Owing to Mr. Smith's condition we are unable to get a statement from him.

PAIR WERE ENGAGED ONCE, BUT EACH TOOK ANOTHER MATE THEN OLD LOVE RETURNED

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 8.—Formerly a belle in Baton Rouge, La., of which city her father is Mayor, Mrs. Anna May Giffin Chennault has been found at Berlin, Wis. With her was her husband's brother, Claire L. Chennault, recently of the faculty of the University of Louisiana. They were working on a farm.

They were arraigned Judge F. A. Geiger in the Federal Court today and on his order they will be sent back to Baton Rouge, where Chennault will face a charge of violation of the Man "White Slave" law.

Mrs. Chennault is only seventeen years old, it is said. Claire Chennault is in his twenties. They had known each other from childhood, and became betrothed. Then the girl had a change of heart, or thought she had, for she told Chennault she was in love with another. He demanded the name of his rival. This she would not disclose.

Chennault seems to have found swift consolation, for he soon married and with his wife went to Oklahoma, where he became a professor in the State University.

Not long ago he returned to Baton Rouge with his wife and their baby. He was soon to learn who was his successful rival in his old love affair, for at a ceremony which called for the attendance of all the fashionable folk of Baton Rouge the Mayor's daughter became the bride of Chennault's younger brother.

But the bride seems to have regretted the choice she had made between the brothers, for a week after her marriage she disappeared. So did Claire Chennault, leaving his wife and child. They first fled to Chicago. They had so little money they looked about for employment to tide them over the period until a contract that Chennault had made as a high school teacher in Portland, Ore., at $1,800 a year should become effective in the Fall. An advertisement informed them that a married couple was wanted on a Green Lake County, Wis., farm. They were employed.

It was a strange transition—the young professor pitching hay and doing other hard labor till his hands blistered and his body ached; the former society girl up at dawn milking cows, feeding pigs and working a churn. And then came the discovery of their whereabouts and their arrest.

CAUSED PANIC IN BEAUFORT

JIM PARKER BECOMES MENTALLY DERANGED AND GOES ON WARPATH

Jim Parker, colored, of Beaufort county, was carried to Goldsboro yesterday, where he will be placed in the State Hospital for the colored insane.

For several months Parker has been mentally deranged, but only for the last few days has he been violent, and during these few days, his violence has been of such a nature that the people of the neighborhood in which he lived, were very much in fear of violence from his hands. In fact he did inflict painful injuries on J. M. Davis, superintendent of the county home of Beaufort county, when he caught him in his arms and squeezed him with a grip, which seemed to the victim almost equal to that of an iron clamp, and at the same time sinking his teeth into the flesh about his shoulders and neck. Although Mr. Davis did not sustain any injuries that are thought to result in anything serious.

After being chased for several hours by officers and citizens, Parker was finally captured yesterday afternoon about two o'clock. Although being a man of small stature and not being more than about twenty years of age, he gave five stout men a lively time before they succeeded in getting him handcuffed and tied. Deputy Sheriff C. E. Ricks and two colored men had the man in charge when they arrived at the Union Station yesterday. He was taken from the baggage car tied hand and feet, and in such a manner that his feet and head could be pulled together when he became violent.

UNUSUAL CASE.

Removal Of Logging Engine Causes Trouble

The removal of a logging engine from the timber holdings of the Buell-Crocker Lumber Company, near Chinquepin, to Wilmington after a restraining order had been served on the Company to prevent the removal of any of the Company's assets pending the outcome of an effort to have a receiver appointed for it, promises a possibility of developments in the way of contempt of court proceedings against those responsible for the locomotive's removal.

The engine is said to be worth between $8,000 and $9,000. It was carried to Wilmington on a barge. It is now being guarded by deputy sheriffs pending service of a restraining order on a man named Baker, who is said to have disposed of the engine to the Buell-Crocker Company some time ago, and to have taken it back Thursday.

JONES JAILED.

Negro Alleged To Have Stolen Galvanized Roofing.

Chief of Police C. Lupton received a telegram from Chief Smith of Greenville Saturday stating that they had Sonny Jones, colored, who stole seven rolls of galvanized roofing from a man by the name of Odum who had the contract of roofing two houses on West street.

Three rolls of the roofing was found in an out house on the premises of James Dawson, colored, and he was bound over to Superior Court, charged with stealing, but he will probably be released after the hearing of Jones.

Captain Bryan went to Greenville after Jones.

WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering, from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework."

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.
