Ohioan Is Hypnotized By a Necktie Display

COULDN'T SPEAK WHEN AD-DRESSED AND PHYSICIAN
HAD TO BE CALLED

Los Angeles, Oct. 4.—Rigid as a mummy, Louis A. Albright, a visitor from Canton, Ohio, was found gazing into a necktie shop at Fourth and Spring streets by the police early in the morning. He was apparently held in a hypnotic trance by an electric globe revolving before a reflector of many colors and many facets. It was only after hours of work by surgeons at the receiving hospital that Albright was restored to full consciousness.

Walking his beat, Patrolman Watson saw the man gazing intently into the window. Returning that way half an hour later, Mr. Albright held the same position. Telling himself that the stranger was a very deliberate "window shopper" the patrolman passed on. But when he came by the store a third time and saw that Albright had not budged he thought it time to investigate.

"Pretty ties, sir," he suggested with due respect.

He might have been talking to a rock. "Nice night, sir," ventured the patrolman once more. Again there was no response. Watson touched the window gazer. There was no movement.

The ambulance was called. Mr. Albright was tipped into a stretcher and driven to the hospital.

AUCTION SALE!

OF SMALL FARMS

Monday October 19th, 10:30 a.m.

This is 250 acres, the Jim Arnold property, now belonging to J. E. Morris, 15 miles west of the city on Neuse Road. The land is unusually rich and productive and the crops now growing on the land show what the land is. Located as it is on the Central Highway, near schools and churches, makes it very desirable for homes. It is divided into small farms, so as to make it attractive to all classes of buyers, and will be sold at auction on the land Monday, Oct. 19th at 10:30 a.m.

Clothes That Fit

It takes time to make my clothes. Every stitch is sewed by hand, painstaking and slowly.

When the garment is finished, it is right—and stays right 'till the fabric is worn out!

That's why clothing manufacturers and retailers order their own suits from the best tailor—they know clothes so well that nothing else is good enough for them.

Then too, you can't tell any other man—men differ in height of shoulders, in length of neck in arms and legs, even when the chest measurement is the same.

I emphasize the strong points. Bring out your better personality and make yourself stand out from the commonplace.

My Fall and Winter Woolens are exclusive—each pattern only large enough for a single suit.

You should see them now and give me time to do my best work.
