

Advance of the Germans Toward Warsaw a Failure

For Four Hundred Miles the Russian Troops Are In Line and the Fighting Has Become Desperate. Roumania May Come Over to Czar's Side.

Petrograd, Nov. 21.—At both ends of the Russian front, stretching four hundred miles, the fighting has now become most desperate. The advance of the Germans toward Warsaw, which is intended to relieve the pressure of the Czar's armies in east Prussia and Galicia, has already failed of its chief object. However, because of the almost unlimited supply of troops at the command of the Russian General staff enabling them to throw a new division against the Poland invaders while they continue other advances. The decision reached in this conflict is most important, not only to Russia and Germany but also to Roumania. It is felt here that Roumania would join Russia should the Kaiser be again decisively defeated. The centre of the battle is now at Lodz where the Teutonic allies are being attacked from three sides. Reports reaching here tonight add mystery to the battle going on in Kalish. There are no Russian forces in the vicinity but heavy firing of artillery and the infantry has been going on for two days. It is reported but unconfirmed that the Germans have engaged the Austrian forces following the refusal of the latter to obey the German officers.

THE GERMANS WANT KING ALBERT CAUGHT.

New York, Nov. 21.—That fifty thousand marks was the reward offered by the German military authorities for the capture of King Albert of Belgium, was the story told by Etienne Gourand of Michigan who arrived today from the front. He also declared that it is well known in Europe that Antwerp fell through the treachery of General Ansdard. Gourand was a trooper in the Belgian Dragoons which acted as the king's escort. He told how the king suspected his chauffeur of treachery when the latter drove the royal car toward the German lines and fired a bullet into his brain. When the man's body was searched a check for fifty thousand marks on the Reich bank of Berlin was found.

FRENCH AND ENGLISH TO BE INTERNED IN TURKEY.

Amsterdam, Nov. 21.—A Central News dispatch from Constantinople says that all subjects of France, England and Russia must prepare to be interned in concentration camps. All English and French schools in Turkey have been closed. The Turks are very much excited over reported news that their citizens have been taken from neutral ships and placed under arrest.

THE GERMANS ATTEMPT A DESPERATE ASSAULT.

Paris, Nov. 21.—Dispatches from the front tonight do not uphold the statement that "the day was exceedingly calm." These say that the Germans, under the cover of a blinding snow storm, attempted one of their most desperate and determined assaults of the campaign around St. Mihiel and Verdun. Five times in solid ranks they charged the French trenches. The Germans depended upon the snow to shield their intention but the French had taken the precaution to place outposts much further out than usual and these gave the main forces ample time to prepare for the Germans who were each time thrown back. Those who gained the trenches were annihilated.

SERIOUS CHARGE BROUGHT AGAINST N. Y. GOVERNOR

Veil of Mystery Lifted From The Pardon of Albert T. Patrick, A Murderer.

MILLING BROKER MAKES SENSATIONAL ASSERTIONS.

Claims Governor Dix Granted Clemency At Request of A Clique of Mine Manipulators.

New York, Nov. 21.—For two years the inhabitants of New York and other cities have wondered why Albert T. Patrick, who was serving a life sentence for the murder of William Marsh Rice, whose valet he was, was pardoned by Governor Dix.

The veil has been lifted and in the lifting the name of Governor Dix has been further besmirched and there are charges against him of a serious nature.

George C. Goodrick, a milling broker, today made an affidavit in which he stated that Patrick was granted a pardon at the request of a clique of mine manipulators in whose operations Governor Dix was interested.

The charge has caused a sensation and will be fully probed by the State.

CAPTAIN A. L. BRYAN MAKES A CAPTURE

NABS TWO MEN WHO ARE WANTED IN CARTERET COUNTY.

As a result of Captain A. L. Bryan's ability to run down criminals, Dan Nelson, colored, who is wanted for assault in Carteret county, is now in the county jail at Beaufort. A few days ago Captain Bryan learned that the man was wanted in Carteret and at once instituted a search which resulted in his arrest yesterday morning.

Sometime during last spring Nelson committed an assault on a white man at Beaufort by the name of Glover, and made his escape. After being arrested, Nelson stated that he had spent the most of the time since the crime was committed in Delaware, and only recently came to New Bern.

Sheriff Hancock, of Carteret county, came up to New Bern last night and carried the man to Beaufort. Joe Turner, also colored, was arrested yesterday by Captain Bryan, for an assault on another negro man at Beaufort. The word reached New Bern that he was wanted at Beaufort, and Captain Bryan made the arrest, but when the sheriff of Carteret county arrived yesterday afternoon, he stated that no warrant had been issued for him and he was released.

THE NEW YORK SUPPLY COMPANY'S STOCK BURNED

Early Morning Fire Causes Loss Estimated at About Four Thousand Dollars. Some Insurance.

STORE WAS OWNED AND OPERATED BY W. K. BAXTER.

Blaze Discovered at 2:30 This Morning By J. M. Harrison And Two Colored Boys.

Fire of unknown origin and which was discovered at 2:30 o'clock this morning completely destroyed the stock of the New York Supply Company contained in the two story brick structure at the corner of New and Burn street, entailing a loss of about four thousand dollars with about fifteen hundred dollars insurance. The stock was owned by W. K. Baxter while the building is the property of R. W. Williamson.

There are two stores in the structure. Kennedy's pharmacy occupies the corner store while Mr. Baxter occupied the other and on the second floor was a colored dance hall. Mr. Baxter left the building at 12:10 last night and at that time there was no sign of fire except a few coals in a stove which was used in heating the building and Mr. Baxter does not see how the fire could have originated from this.

The blaze was discovered by J. M. Harrison whose place of business is nearby. Mr. Harrison smelled smoke and began an investigation. Two colored boys had in the meantime seen smoke coming out from the transom over the door of Mr. Baxter's place and it was discovered that the fire was in that building. An alarm was sent in and despite the lateness or rather earliness, of the hour, all of the local fire companies were soon on the scene and succeeded in confining the flames to the one building.

higher courts in the effort to obtain their freedom on writ of habeas corpus which was denied by District Judge Anderson in the Texas city.

The departure from San Antonio of the Atlanta detective is taken by local authorities to mean that the Inneses have determined to fight to the last to prevent being brought to Atlanta on the larceny-after-trust charges, on which they were indicted here in connection with the disappearance of Eloise Nelms Dennis and Beatrice Nelms.

To Fight to Last.

It generally is believed it will be several weeks before the legal battle in Texas ends, because of the announced intention by counsel for the prisoners to take the appeal on the habeas corpus through the United States Supreme Court.

Mrs. John W. Nelms, mother of the missing girls, while greatly disappointed at the delay, today was sanguine in the belief that the prisoners eventually will have to face a Fulton County jury.

Mrs. Nelms, rested from her trip from Texas, actively set out to attend to a number of matters connected with her business interests and those of Beatrice Nelms.

Confers With Adviser.

She re-established her headquarters in the office of her business adviser, F. M. Loveless, in the Candler Building, and had a long conference with Mr. Loveless concerning certain financial arrangements.

Mrs. Nelms came back to Atlanta with all hope gone that she will ever see either of her missing daughters alive.

"They are both gone forever. I've given up all hope," she said.

On her way to Atlanta, Mrs. Nelms stopped in Houston, Texas, and obtained the promise of Judge Thomas Lewis and Mrs. Frank Dwyer to come here and testify. Judge Lewis and Mrs. Dwyer rode on the train with the Nelms girls from New Orleans to San Antonio.

CAR LINE IS TO EXTEND TO DEPOT

TROLLEY CARS TO BE OPERATED TO GLENBURNIE PARK IN SUMMER.

While nothing definite has been given out, it is understood that the famous Glenburnie Park, located near the Eastern Carolina Fair grounds, will be thrown open to the public next spring and that a trolley car line will be in operation to that point. A track has already been constructed from a point near the former site of the West Box Factory in the northern part of the city and it is understood that the work of extending this down to the Union Passenger station will begin just after the Christmas holidays and will be rushed to completion just as rapidly as possible. Just what type of car will be used on the line has not been definitely decided upon but it is more than probable that the usual type of pole trolley will be utilized. Only a few months ago a pavilion costing five thousand dollars was erected at Glenburnie Park and other buildings are to be constructed before the resort is thrown open to the public. The park is located on the banks of the river Neuse and is an ideal location for a pleasure resort, in fact visitors to the scene have declared that they never saw a place with a better location. Complete plans for the addition to the line and the operation of cars to the park will in all probability be made public at an early date.

HARVARD WINNER IN GREAT GAME AT NEW HAVEN

Walloped Yale By The Overwhelming Score of 36 to 0. 70,000 Witnessed The Conflict.

GREATEST ATHLETIC ARENA WAS FILLED TO BRIM.

The Weather Conditions Were Entirely Favorable—Both Teams Played Well.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 21.—The contest of the season on eastern football fields the Harvard and Yale classic was staged here today before a gigantic assembly as the dedicatory game of the new Yale bowl, and resulted in a victory for Harvard by a score of 36 to 0.

More than seventy thousand ardent followers of the game filled to the brim this latest and greatest of athletic arenas for the championship contest of 1914. It was a record crowd bubbling over with intercollegiate rivalry and enthusiasm as well as eagerness for what proved the last word in football strategy. Harvard was a slight favorite before the struggle began although the improvement in the condition of the field after Thursday's storm narrowed the odds to nearly even money.

The forenoon weather conditions were entirely favorable for good football. The sky was clear and a light northwest breeze was puffing down from the Connecticut hills. It was snapping cold and the ground in the bowl was like asphalt early in the day. The forenoon was spent in welcoming the crowd of 70,000. The gathering of so great a multitude numbering nearly two full army corps occupied practically three days yet nine-tenths of those who came planned to leave within a few hours after the final whistle. The skirmish line reached Yale premises Thursday afternoon and last night and today the main army stormed New Haven. The city quickly capitulated and especially stockholders, hotel and restaurant proprietors and flower vendors.

From the railroad station which was the principal portal to the city, stretching far out toward Yale field for more than six hours there was an almost unbroken procession. The trolley service out to the bowl was far below the speed limit while motor vehicles which dashed into the city by the hundreds were shunted off on to the less crowded thoroughfares.

As certain raises the Yale management provided for the morning an intercollegiate cross-country championship run with fifteen college teams and a Harvard and Yale soccer game. These events were held outside the bowl.

The line up for the big game was as follows:

Yale	Position	Harvard.
Brann	Left end.	J. T. Coolidge.
Talbot	Left tackle.	Parsons.
Conroy	Left guard.	Watson.
White	Center.	Wallace.
Walden	Right guard.	Pennock.
Betts	Right tackle.	Trumbull.
Stillman	Right end.	Hardwick.
Wilson	Quarterback.	Lagon.
Ainsworth	Left halfback.	Maban.
Knowles	Right halfback.	Bradley.
Legore	Fullback.	Franks.
