SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother no Doubt Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months. I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.

At all druggists.

CHINA RESENTS ACTION OF JAPAN

Missionary Writes of Burning and Robbing Before Fall of Fortress

New York, Dec. 20.—A letter just received in New York from Robert E. Chandler, an American missionary in China, contains some interesting comment on the siege of the German fortress of Tsingtao by the Japanese and British forces. The letter was written before the fortress surrendered, and during the time that the Chinese government was protesting against the action of the Japanese in invading Chinese territory. Mr. Chandler expresses doubt that Japan really intends to restore Tsingtao to China after the war. The landing of troops, he says, was deeply resented by the Chinese and for a time it seemed as if there might be a clash between the Japanese and Chinese forces.

Tells of Burning and Robbing.

Mr. Chandler also refers to "burning and robbing," which the Japanese are alleged to have done in the Shantung peninsula, but it appears from his letter that he only mentions these as reports of the action of some of the Japanese troops.

The missionary says the Japanese troops spread all over Shantung, "making all sorts of demands, and robbing and burning when they were refused."

"I do not wish," he added, "to give too much credence to all the reports, any more than to those of German atrocities in Belgium and France—but where in the name of justice is the reason for anything of this kind taking place in a neutral country? Perhaps it may be claimed that the Japanese soldiers are not under control.

Japanese Goods Enter Free.

"At Lungkou the Japanese officers put out the regular Chinese customs officials, and began bringing in supplies and other goods from Japan duty free, and then tried to get the Chinese customs men to return, and give an appearance of regularity to the proceedings.

FAMOUS TREE BLOOMS ON XMAS

A very interesting group of Christmas superstitions clusters about plant and animal life. Tradition tells us that after Joseph Arimathea had begged the body of our crucified Saviour and had laid it in his now newly hewn tomb he left Palestine forever. Staff in hand, he traveled many weary months and finally reached Glastonbury, in England. Here he planted his staff, and in the course of time it sent out leaves and buds. On the glad Christmas morning the buds burst into a mass of exquisite bloom. Since that day of long ago the Glastonbury thorn never fails to be covered with delicate white flowers on Christmas morning. By the following day they have all disappeared.

A cutting of the Glastonbury thorn was taken to Buckinghamshire, where it became as famous as the parent plant itself. Thousands of people from near and far were wont to go to see the blossoming of the thorn on Christmas morning. When about the middle of the eighteenth century England adopted the Georgian calendar which brought Christmas eleven days earlier than under the older style of reckoning time, the common people were greatly dissatisfied. To their simple minds that had actually been deprived of eleven days of their mortal life, and mobs marched through the streets carrying placards bearing the inscription, "Give Us Back Our Eleven Days!" That they had been wronged became a conviction when the Buckinghamshire thorn failed to blossom on the new date, and when the people actually refused to attend church on the 25th of December the clergy in that part of England were forced to celebrate divine worship on both the old and the new dates.

In pagan time special deities were supposed to preside over the harvests, and the people sought in every possible manner to propitiate these powerful gods. In out of the way parts of Europe these trees are still formally invited to the Christmas feast. Taking acceptance for granted, the remains of the Christmas dinner are spread about the roots of the fruit trees. This ceremony is supposed to insure plentiful harvests the following autumn. In other places the trees were in olden times beathen with clubs to make them more productive.

"Through this opening now Japanese goods and Japanese trades people and other less reputable parties are pouring into the province.

"The Japanese seized the railroad station at Wulhsien, outside the delimited zone, then laid claim to the whole branch line leading to Chiananfu the capital of Shantung province, and have since occupied it. This action was on the ground that the Tsingtao-Fukien-Chiananfu line was German-built and largely German owned, and that the Germans had used the line for the transportation of soldiers and contraband articles.

Times Working For Peace.

"Every railroad in China has been similarly used by belligerents in the past few months, and the Japanese were at liberty to use this one too in an orderly way without German interference, since the Germans are pinned in a small circle at Tsingtao. The Japanese act as though they were seizing every opportunity to gain every advantage, great and small on Chinese soil. And Japan is fighting to preserve the peace of the Far East!"
