PAVING UNDERWAY—Residents of Westwood and Forest Hills, accustomed to mud-ruffed roads for many years, watched with delight this week as workmen and machinery of the William Reed Construction Company of Durham laid down a plant-mix black-top surface on their streets. The paving machine, shown in action above on Dogwood Drive, moved along at the rate of several minutes as trucks dumped their six-ton loads of black-top mixture into the hopper. Each load produced a 10-foot wide paving strip, approximately 85 feet long. The nominee for the most unpleasant job of the season is the man who drives the machine, shown above sitting on his perch directly over the hot plant mix. It has to be laid at a temperature of about 300 degrees. Add this to the 90-100 degree weather we've been having and you'd swap jobs with him. The paving program will probably next week into the Stroud Hill area and later to the Roberson-Graham Street area. Patching work will be done after the regular paving is completed.

'The Tide Is Turned' On Summer Enrollment

"It looks like we've turned the tide," Summer Session Director Guy B. Phillips said this morning in reference to the increased enrollment this year for the second summer session at the University.

For several years the enrollment dropped off during this period of school. But this year, Dean Phillips said, it looks like enrollment for the second summer session will be up about five per cent over last year's total of 1,830 for this same term. The calculation was based on the increase recorded during the first session this year. There were 2,300 for the first session last year and 2,510 for the same period this year.

Although registration didn't close until 4:30 p.m. today, the registration was about 100 ahead of last year's total already at mid-morning. Examinations for the second session will be held August 24 and 25.

NEW HOPE BASIN?

The New Hope Creek basin in the Chapel Hill area figured in a speech at Lumberton by Senator-nominee Kerr Scott Wednesday night when he advocated a reservoir in the Cape Fear Valley similar to the Buggs Island reservoir.

The ex-governor reflected on the possibilities for the Sanford-Chapel Hill area if such a project were accomplished, and noted that it would alleviate flooding of the Cape Fear and open up the Fayetteville-Wilmington area to irrigation and industrial use.

AUTHORS OFF TO HATTERAS

Several local authors left today for the North Carolina Writers' Conference at Hatteras to be held Friday night through Sunday. Among those attending are Richard Walser of Raleigh, secretary; Noel Houston, general chairman, and his family; Walter Spearman, program chairman, and family; Mr. and Mrs. James Street; Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Davis, accompanied by Harry Golden who is to participate on the program, and the John Ehles and John Claytons.

HOSPITALIZED

Today's register of patients at Memorial Hospital includes John Ellis Bean, Mrs. C. A. Bream, David C. Briggs, Mrs. Fred Brilles, William Adams Brockman, Annie Elizabeth Burnette, Arlindo Farrington, Bessie Foushee, Mrs. R. G. Hall, Basel Jones, Mrs. Nathaniel Jones, Lillie C. Jones, Mrs. Sam C. Jones, Roxie Ann McKinney, Erle E. Peacock, Mrs. Charles C. Sugg, Mrs. J. W. Wilson.

COURTHOUSE NEARLY READY—Orange County's new quarter-million dollar courthouse in Hillsboro stands complete now, except for the finishing touches of painting here and there. Moving day for many of the county offices now in the old courthouse will be late next month or by early September at the latest. The county commissioners have already tentatively accepted the building from the general contractor, O. G. Thompson of Burlington.

Harvey Daniel Takes Job With Merchants Association

Harvey Daniell will succeed Mrs. Jane Smoak as Executive Secretary of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchants Association beginning August 1.

He was hired Monday night at a special meeting of the Association directors called by the committee for the selection of a new secretary — R. B. Todd, Joe Robbins, and E. G. Dangler. Mrs. Smoak resigned early this month to take another job here. Mr. Daniell began work in the Association office with Mrs. Smoak today.

More Complete Plans Given For Merchants' Annual Picnic

More complete plans for next Wednesday's annual employees and family picnic of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchants Association were announced today by Kenneth Putnam, chairman of the event.

The affair will be held at Camp New Hope, beginning at 2:30 p.m. Feature of the afternoon program will be a softball game between the north and south teams of downtown business firms. Columbia Street is the dividing line. Jack McDade of Electric Construction Company is captain of the defending northern team. Anybody interested in playing is urged to contact him so that both teams may be organized before next Wednesday. A trophy engraved with the team captain's name will be presented to the winning team.

Mrs. Kenneth Strayhorn, food chairman for the evening meal, has asked for a preliminary estimate of the number of persons who'll attend by this Saturday, so all merchants and others planning to go are asked to notify the Merchants Association office of their plans by Saturday. The picnic is open to all business and professional men and their employees and families, whether they're Association members or not.

The meal will include fried chicken, Brunswick stew, corn on the cob, sliced tomatoes, slaw, tea, lemonade, cornbread and rolls, and peach and apple cobbler.

Assisting in the games and entertainment program will be Mrs. Tom Murray, women's bridge tournament; Walt Baucom, horseshoes; Pokey Alexander, free bingo; and Tete Lloyd, square dance. Ed Norwood's string band will play for the dance from 9 till midnight.

Concert Series Ticket Put On Sale Today

Tickets to the Chapel Hill Concert Series went on sale today.

They're available—at the Graham Memorial office and Orange County Building and Loan. Mail orders may be sent to Chapel Hill Concert Series, Box 30, Chapel Hill.

Sell Only 1,800
Jimmy Wallace, Secretary of the series, said the goal is to sell 1,800 tickets — the capacity of Memorial Hall where all concerts will be presented. No more than this number will be sold and no one except series ticket holders will be admitted to any performances.

An intensive ticket sales campaign is planned for September 13-18, as soon as the University students return for the fall term. Mr. Wallace said that a number of requests for series memberships have been received from Durham and Raleigh. While these persons may join the series, he said, out-of-town sales will not be solicited generally until after the local campaign has been completed.

Schedule Listed
Here's the schedule of presentations for the coming year: October 20, American Chamber Orchestra — formerly the Vienna Mozart Orchestra; February 15, Salzburg Marionette Theatre; March 3, Walter Gieseking, pianist; and April 5, Jan Peerce, Metropolitan Opera tenor. William S. Stewart is president of the series, and Douglas M. Fambrough, treasurer.

Graham Memorial has underwritten the cost of the first year's series. After that it's expected the organization will be on a sustaining basis.

Mrs. Ed Davis Becomes Glen Lennox Secretary

Mrs. Ed Davis, wife of a University dental student, has succeeded Mrs. Henry O. Lineberger as secretary in the Glen Lennox Rental Office.

Mrs. Lineberger has moved to Raleigh with her husband. He has opened a dental office there. She's been secretary to Glen Lennox rentals manager C. E. McIntosh for the past three years. Praising her service in a news letter to Glen Lennox residents, Mr. McIntosh ended by saying "There is no way to pay for service like that, but as Steele said of one of his charming characters, 'to love her is a liberal education.' (Uneducated, common, or prissy people probably would say 'admire her.')

WILLIAM M. HARDY

William Hardy Takes New Job

William M. Hardy will become director of the division of dramatics in the English department of Texas Western College in El Paso, Texas, this fall.

The school is a unit of the University of Texas. Mr. Hardy has been affiliated with the Carolina Playmakers for about five years.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardy and their two children are at Boone this summer where Mr. Hardy is playing the lead role in "Horn in the West." They'll move to Texas in September.

Business Management Course Consulting Panelists Named

Fifteen North Carolina business leaders will serve on consulting panels of the fifth Business Management Institute to be held at the University July 26-30.

The Institute is held annually by the University's School of Business Administration to provide small business firms with an opportunity to upgrade their management practices.

Institute leader will be Robert G. Seymour, director, Bureau of Business Management, University of Illinois. Mr. Seymour served in a similar capacity in the 1952 and 1953 sessions of the Business Management Institute. He will speak at the morning sessions and will serve as moderator for the afternoon panels in which the 15 consultants will participate.

Discussion leaders at the opening session July 26, when the topic will be "Management's Joe," will be Lt. Gov. Luther H. Hodges, Leaksville, former vice-president of Marshall Field and Company; J. C. Cowan Jr., Vice Chairman of the Board, Burlington Mills Corporation, Greensboro; and George W. Dowdy, general manager, Belk Brothers Company, Charlotte.

"Profit Planning" will be the topic July 27 when discussion leaders will be: T. H. Davis, president, Piedmont Airlines, Winston-Salem; Willard J. Graham, director, The Executive Program, UNC; Gadsden E. Shand Jr., Small Business Administration, Charleston, W. Va. Discussion leaders for July 28 when "Money Management" will be the topic will be J. M. Atkins, president, R. S. Dickson and Company, Charlotte; A. K. Davis, Senior Vice-President, Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, Winston-Salem; and T. N. Grice, partner, W. M. Russ and Company, Raleigh.

Library Receives Memorial Book Collection Of Wolfe's Official Biographer, John S. Terry

The private library of the late John Skally Terry, Thomas Wolfe's official biographer, has been given to the University Library.

The 5,000 volume library was presented by Mr. Terry's sisters as a memorial to the well-known author-educator. It includes many first editions of Wolfe's works, as well as an oil painting of Mr. Terry done by Constant Van De Wall, his close friend and head of the New York University art department.

Miss Bessie Terry of Rockingham, speaking for the family, said in presenting the books to the Library here recently: "Giving his books to his beloved University at Chapel Hill would have been the wish of John, and we are happy to do this in loving memory of an outstanding educator, kinsman, and gentleman."

Co-donors of the books were two brothers, Harvey S. Terry of Whiteville and Charles C. Terry of Rockingham; and three nephews, Burton III, Beverly L., and Herman D. Terry.

Professor Terry was one of those rare individuals who excelled not in one field, but in many. Aside from being a teacher, he was an editor, author, and artist. One-man shows of his work have been held here at the University, as well as at New York University. Aside from painting, he did sketching and etchings.

He was born in Rockingham Nov. 19, 1894, the son of Edgar Burton and Jennie Skally Terry. (See JOHN TERRY, Page 8)

This oil painting of the late John Skally Terry, given recently to the University Library, was done by Constant Van de Wall, head of the Art Department, New York University, and a personal friend of Terry's. It now hangs in the Library's administrative office.

Two Professors Planning To Sue Catawba College

A man and wife—both college professors—said this week that they would sue Catawba College at Salisbury for alleged wrongful dismissal which followed a controversy over reported fund shortages. Dr. A. R. Keppel, Catawba president, and the school's board of trustees have been subpoenaed to a hearing at Hillsboro next Tuesday.
