

Wildcat Outlook 'Encouraging' Despite 6-0 Loss To Sanford

Chapel Hill High School football coach Bob Culton was "encouraged" by the showing of his team's opener there Friday night. "I think everyone is satisfied," he said. "The Wildcat's first home game on Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Carrboro Lions Park was a pretty good game at Sanford. He commended the backfield playing of Jimmy Turner, Gene Smith, and Clyde Campbell — who got loose for a nice 35-yard run. Standout in the line for their defensive play were Haywood Pendergrass, Tommy Hogan, and Richard Gunter.

Girls Aid In Work At Hospital

By MRS. BRUCE STROWD

Summer vacation was not a state of aimless idling for a number of Chapel Hill High School girls, who spent many hours giving invaluable service to Memorial Hospital and its patients. Wearing the cherry red smocks of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary, which recruited them and coordinated their services, they worked in physical therapy, the admitting office, X-ray department, the hospitality shop and the bandage room.
For their faithful and efficient labors the girls have won the grateful praise of the staff members and of Mrs. M. L. Jacobs, director of volunteer services. With the reopening of school these same staff members are wondering where they can turn for adult volunteers to fill the ranks.

Physical Therapy Service

Sixteen girls over 16 years of age gave more than 600 hours to physical therapy, the admitting office, the X-ray department and the hospitality shop. Several girls under 16, beginning age set by the Hospital and the auxiliary for service in these areas affecting patients, worked for 63 hours in the bandage room.
Paula Sturdivant and Rosemary McLaughlin working in physical therapy, piled up the greatest number of hours, with 146 and 113 respectively. Joyce Ray, whose labor of love was to patients in the admitting office, accumulated the next greatest number of hours, 64, but Jeannette Lacock, who divided her time between physical therapy and X-ray, was not far behind with 61 hours.
Others who worked in the four areas with patients were Vicki Greulich, Susan Greulich, Irene Markell, Karen Magnuson, Ruth Magnuson, Leah Fitch, Julie Demerath, Sharon Sullivan, Anne Riggsbee, Elizabeth Green, Lula Watson and Linda Logsdon.

As a gesture of appreciation for the fine work done by the high school girls, the physical therapy department, under direction of Miss Margaret Moore, gave a tea for the group as they closed out their vacation service.

Now Mrs. Raymond Kaighn, chairman of volunteer services, is looking for at least 16 women volunteers to replace the back-to-school aides.
