

Weekend In Review—

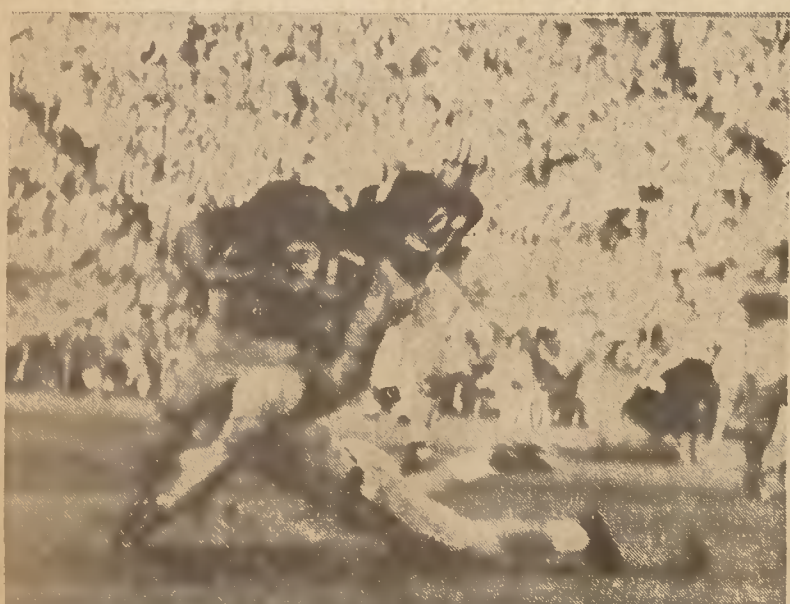

AT NEW METHODIST RITES—The Rev. W. L. Clegg (left), Durham District Superintendent of the Methodist Church, presents charter membership certificates in the new Methodist Church organized in Glen Lennox recently, to Dr. and Mrs. William Joyner, shown with others of the 70 charter members of the church at yesterday's formal opening services in the Glenwood Elementary School. At the right is the Rev. Kimsey King, pastor of the new church. A congregational meeting will be held tonight for the purpose of electing officers and appointing committees and commissions. TOP BULB SALESMEN—Winners of the intra-Jaycee competition for selling light bulbs in the club's house-to-house sale staged late last week were Chick Ehmgig (left), individual winner, and Joe Augustine (second), team winner, shown turning in his receipts to project co-chairmen George Coxhead and Gus Culbertson. More than 5,500 bulbs were sold to local householders in the gross sales totaling about $1,600. News Leader Photo

GOOD WISHES FROM SOONER FANS—Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson receives a 30-foot-long telegram for his team from well-wishers back in the Sooner state just before Saturday's ball game in Kenan Stadium. Presenting the long wire is W. J. Cook of Greensboro, Western Union district sales manager. At the left is messenger Clifton Jones. Mr. Cook also holds a similar long telegram for Carolina quarterback Buddy Sasser from his hometown fans in Corway, South Carolina. News Leader Photo

LOCAL WHATSIT—The extraordinary mass of skeletal steel-work against the sky provides a "Whatsit" for local spectators. Actually, the above photo is a worm's eye view of the old Carrboro water tank, now being torn down for reconditioning and re-erection elsewhere. Above, all but the lower ring of the framework of the tank itself has been removed. The removal job is expected to be completed this week. News Leader Photo
