

Weekend In Review—The Community In Pictures

HARVEST FESTIVAL AUCTIONEER—Robert Nichols, auctioneer in Saturday afternoon's Harvest Festival staged by the Calvander Grange at Orange Church, shows varying expressions of salesmanship in getting a higher bid on a plate of home-grown tomatoes (left) and selling a jar of preserves (right).

News Leader Photos

MAIL LATE?—If the mail in suburban sections to the south and east has been late a number of times in recent weeks the above photo should serve to explain why. Albert Powell, carrier for City Mounted Route Four, is shown sorting out his mail at the postoffice before starting his morning rounds. It's estimated he has over 3,000 pieces to distribute in this single day's batch.
News Leader Photo

OUR NEWEST CITIZENS
LYNDON—AT ONE—Shown with her mother on her first day, September 18, is Lyndon Moore Vestal, daughter of Dr. Tom Vestal of 73 Hamilton Road. She's named for her grandfather and uncle. Dr. Vestal is an assistant resident in the hospital.
News Leader Photo

IT'S FIRE PREVENTION WEEK—A candid scene from one of Chapel Hill's most recent serious fires—the afternoon blaze that gutted the second-story apartment of Edgar Thomas at Pittsboro and McCauley Streets—serves as a reminder that Fire Prevention Week is a good time to check around the house for possible fire hazards.

WIDE SPRAY—The spread of the fire department's new adjustable stationary nozzle almost obscures the truck and the Filter Plant during a test of the equipment at the Filter Plant this past weekend. Combining the flow of three hydrant hoses the new nozzle, purchased through the town's recent bond issue, will throw a stream of water over 75 feet.
News Leader Photo

TOP NAPKIN SALESMEN—Wallace Williams (left), chairman of last week's Exchange Club paper napkin sale in the community, extends congratulations to the top salesmen in the annual profit-making project, Lester Foley (second) and Red Tyler (third), who sold about $600 worth of napkins while working as a team on their house-to-house rounds. Looking on at the right is Club President Pat Pope. The club netted over $500 in the project and sold 100 cases of napkins. Almost all 28 members of the club participated. Mr. Foley and Mr. Tyler will receive prizes at tomorrow night's meeting of the Club.
News Leader Photo

INAUGURATE NEW TV SERIES—Rare documents from the Southern Historical Collection of the University Library were shown in the first of a series entitled "Of Books and People," which began on WUNC-TV last week. James W. Patton (at left), director of the collection, discussed the books and manuscripts shown with Andrew Horn, UNC Director of Libraries, who will serve as host on the weekly program.
Photo by Sam Boone

TRAIN CHEST WORKERS — Charles Milner, Associate Director of the University Extension Division, has been appointed by Community Chest Chairman J. A. Branch to supervise training of the Chest's solicitors. Several meetings will be held in the near future for the orientation of the more than 300 volunteers who will carry on the joint fund appeal from November 1 to 9.

IN ONDINE—Being loved by an enchanting mermaid is the enviable problem of Hans, played by James Heldman, of Durham and Chapel Hill, in The Carolina Playmakers' production of Giraudoux's "Ondine", to run October 12 to 16 at the Playmakers Theatre.
Photo by Kai Jurgensen

GOOD GAIN BY TURNER—Chapel Hill's Jimmy Turner gets off for one of the longest runs of Friday night's Chapel Hill-Hillsboro Battle, which ended in a 7-7 tie.

UNLOAD IDLE GUNS

KEEP HUNTING A SAFE SPORT

NEW NOZZLE—Fire Chief J. S. Boone checks the nozzle on the Chapel Hill Fire Department's special long-range nozzle during a test of the new equipment at the filter plant this past weekend. The new attachment takes the pressurized flow of three hydrant hoses and squirts it out in a single stream at a rate of over 1,000 gallons a minute.
News Leader Photo

KIDS CAPERS—Ann and Angela Oakley—don't ask for the three-year-old twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Oakley of Carrboro, outdid the band majorettes themselves in promptly cavorting to the music during the half-time show of Friday's night's Chapel Hill-Hillsboro game at the Carrboro High School.
News Leader Photo