

WUNC's Making Name For Itself

By CURTIS GANS
In its three years of operation, WUNC, the University's radio station, operating on a frequency of 91.5 megacycles on the FM band, has made a name for itself among discriminating listeners in the area and as far away as Wilmington and Mt. Mitchell. Now beginning its fourth year, the station is hampered by lack of funds, but is currently operating on more power and longer hours than ever before.

STUDENT-RUN
With the single exception of the manager, John Young, WUNC is entirely student-run, with Ronnie Thomas, Butch Culbreth, Phil Goodman, Tom Spain, David Setzer, Miss Donna Ashcraft, Don Patterson and Jim Wilkins doing much of the administrative and technical work.

The station attributes part of its success to its policy of "informality with Dignity," and to the industry of its individual participants. The staff of the station is made up of some 35 students with varying degrees of professional experience. These students write, produce and direct their own shows.

Another policy of the station that has met with considerable favor in the area is to bring to the radio audience programs that would otherwise go unnoticed and unheard through other stations. Thus, WUNC broadcasts all major speeches and concerts held on campus, and such programs as "Let's Listen to Opera" run sometimes continuously for three hours.

The station is sometimes open to the cry that programming is too serious. However, this the station considers one of its main assets, and points with pride to a letter from an avid listener which said that WUNC is a "oasis in a cultural desert."

In the beginning of the summer, the station stepped up its power from 1,450 watts to 15,500 watts, but is handicapped by the fact its transmitting aerial is but 75 feet high.

The station is now operating a half hour a day longer than in previous years. Programming begins at 6:30 p.m. and continues to 11:30 p.m. The station is in operation seven days a week, and is closed only for Christmas and summer recesses.

The main problem of the station is financial. In the beginning, the station was a relatively small operation, but since it has grown, it has exceeding difficulty in living within the budget set by the Dept. of Radio, Television and Motion Pictures. The station is hoping for an increase in allowance from either the state or the university; however, none is in sight at present, according to a spokesman.

Yet, even without a large budget the station can claim a unique honor. This came in the form of a letter of praise to WUNC from a Duke graduate student, who said WUNC is so pleasing that many of the Duke students (including the writer) are listening to WUNC rather than the Duke campus station.

150 turned out for the fifth game of the current season, which left Chapel Hill undefeated in Conference play and with only a 6-0 loss to Sanford in the opener. Friday's game left Hillsboro, Chapel Hill, and Roxboro all tied for the loop lead, all three teams being undefeated in the conference. The locals will face Graham there this Friday night in a game which Coach Cannon expects to be tougher than the Hillsboro contest.

Early in the game Hillsboro recovered a bad pass from center which sailed over Chapel Hill Co-Captain Gene Smith's head and put the visitors in scoring position on the 12-yard-line. They scored two plays later.

The key play in Chapel Hill's third quarter drive was a 25-yard pass from Rudy Barker to Paul Cheek, who was downed on the Hillsboro 15. Three plays later Smith plunged through from the four-yard-line and Tommy Goodrich converted. Goodrich was hit in the head during the game and will be out of action for a week.

discharged as a first lieutenant. In the early post-war years he worked around the country for several road contracting firms, including one owned by Henry J. Kaiser. Returning to Chapel Hill, he formed a road and bridge contracting firm with Mr. Cobb in 1927 which they operated until 1944.

NEW EXHIBIT

A new exhibit in the University Library's main lobby is featuring the works of Jean Giraudoux, French novelist and playwright; photographs and scene design for his play, "Undine," and editions of De La Motte-Fouquet's German fairy tale, "Undine," upon which Giraudoux based his play. This exhibit was planned to coincide with the Playmakers' production of "Undine" to show the literary background of the play.

PTA Plans First Meeting This Thursday

The first meeting of the new year for the Chapel Hill Parent-Teacher Association will be held Thursday evening in the High School auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Association President A. K. King said that plans for the year will be made at the meeting, to be followed by a reception in honor of new teachers. Also, after the meeting, teachers will be in their classrooms in the schools to meet their pupils' parents.

It was reported at the meeting of the Association executive committee on last Thursday evening that about $1,900 was now on hand in undivided net profits from the PTA-sponsored Thrift Shop. This is to be distributed on a per capita basis between the Glenwood and Chapel Hill PTAs.

Mrs. Mary Turner Lane, chairman of the membership committee, said that new members would be enrolled and dues received from old members at this Thursday's meeting. She encouraged all parents, teachers, and other citizens interested in the improvement of educational opportunities for children to join the group.

Officers of the Association this year include A. K. King, president; Mrs. Frederic Cleveland, vice-president; Mrs. Reuben Hill, secretary; Mrs. Charlie Phillips, treasurer; Mrs. Marvin Allen, hospitality committee chairman; Mrs. Joe Galloway, finance committee chairman; Mrs. Christopher Bever, publicity chairman; and Baldy Williams, safety committee chairman.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS GROUP

The International Relations Group of the Community Club will meet with Mrs. S. E. Leavitt, 718 East Franklin Street, on Tuesday at 8 p.m. Prof. Sam Emory, who was a visiting professor to Finland for a year, will be speaker.
